APPLIANCE CENTER

Liberty Street Oakland, Md.

New Name Is Given To Pleasant Valley Recreation Area

The Pleasant Valley Recreation area near Bittinger has received a new name. It will be known in the future as the University of Maryland Western Maryland 4-H Center.

The center is operated primarily to provide facilities for educational activities of County and State groups participating in the program of the University of Maryland, Cooperative Extension service. The 4-H camp section is for private use only. It accommodates 80 to 120 persons.

When not in use by the University of Maryland Extension Service during the summer it may be reserved by organized educational groups.

The public picnic area provides facilities for daytime picnicking or swimming. There are picnic tables, fireplaces, pavilion, bathhouse and open area for recreation. There is no charge for use of the public area and no reservations are required.

Named To Committee

Miss Frances Grove, supervisor of public health nurses for this county, has been appointed a member of the regional committee of the Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare, according to Mrs. Peter H. Priest, Hagerstown, regional chairman.

The Maryland State Conference of social welfare is a state-wide group of lay and professional persons, organizations and agencies interested in all phases of social welfare programs for Maryland citizens. It is both a forum and an action body. It provides opportunity through its annual conference and annual regional meetings for its members to meet together for discussion of common problems and current developments in health and welfare fields. It promotes social action and legislation upon the direction of its membership.

Since the conference was organized in 1904 a two-day annual meeting has been held. The 1956 meeting on "Community Responsibility for Social Welfare" will be held June 7 and 8 at the Gilman School in Baltimore.

Model of An Atomic Power Reactor Will Be Shown at Meeting

Army engineers will display the model of an atomic power reactor for industrial use at the Spring Meeting of the Inter-State Commission on the Potomac River Basin on Friday, May 25, at Martinsburg, W. Va. The model will demonstrate the workings of a nuclear power reactor now being built at Fort Belvoir, Va., which will be in operation early in 1957, and will feature safeguards against contamination of the river by radioactive wastes. The workings of this atomic reactor is expected to alter the face of industrial methods in the future.

Earlier in the day, Colonel Ray Adams, District Engineer, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, will discuss the purpose and scope of the current Potomac River survey by the Corps, upon which will be based plans for the future development of the river. Of particular interest to residents of the upper Potomac Valley is the first phase of the survey, which concerns development of the North Branch of the Potomac River and its tributary streams. Public hearings have already been held in four towns in the drainage area of the North Branch, and studies of the river are now going forward. Specific recommendations will be made by the Army Corps for river development projects for purposes of flood control, low flow regulation, pollution and silt control, water supply, hydro-electric power, the development of fish and wildlife resources and recreational areas.

Other features of the Interstate Commission's meeting will be addresses and panel discussions on the progress of the treatment of industrial wastes to reduce pollution of the Potomac River and keep its waters clean and useable.

Discussion Groups Report For April Meetings

Seven Farm Bureau Planning groups reported activities for April to Merle A. Garletts, planning groups secretary, with the discussion topic being "Social Security—How Far Shall We Go?"

Most groups expressed need for more information. Farmers were reported reluctant to pay for social security on a compulsory basis.

Some groups felt social security discouraged thrift and personal effort by farmers. Others felt young farmers should be permitted a lower rate. Group 1 said a letter was being sent to Senators Butler and Beall in reference to bill HR7225, requesting no further increase in social security payments until full study of entire program is made.

They suggested 60 days of employment needed before deducting the social security tax from farm labor. One group suggested a farmer should have a few years to decide if he wanted social security.

One group reported it would not be practical to give farmers a choice of paying for social security nor possible to set a satisfactory age limit for deciding whether a man wants social security. They also advised older farmers getting his income up to the highest possible bracket quickly. Another felt that retirement benefits should be paid on highest income, whether it was paid on or off the farm.

One group suggested that tape recordings of good speeches presented at state and national conventions be kept available at the state office so discussion groups could borrow them.

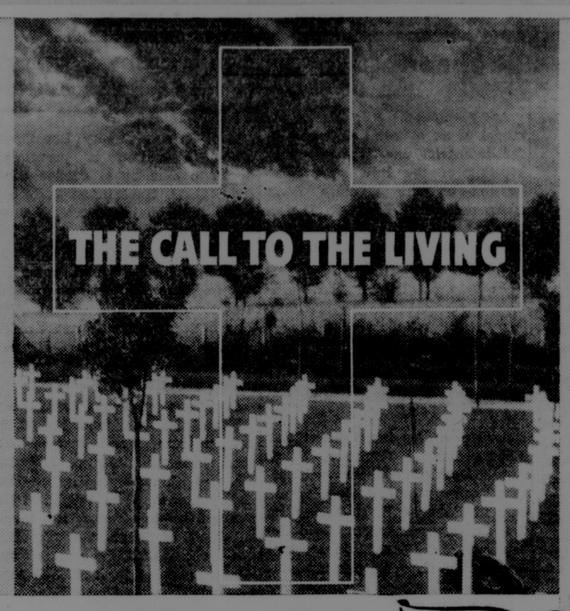
A double crackdown was threatened to halt a public feud among the U.S. armed services.



A cross—a hundred crosses—marking the graves of men who died in the service of their country. But why a cross?

Is this the symbol of our gratitude for the sacrifice they made for us? It is not!

Is this the emblem of democracy and freedom in whose cause they laid down their lives? It is not!

But this is the symbol of a crucified and risen Christ. The One who unfolded for mankind the truth of God's love, the truth out of which democracy, freedom, and sacrifice have come.

The cross on a soldier's grave is a call to us—a call to the living to fill our churches. It is a call to serve with eager and sacrificial devotion the Lord whose Truth men have died to preserve.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sending Spirit

Lesson for May 27, 1956

IF THE Descending Spirit is the story of the second chapter of Acts, the thirteenth tells part of the story of the Sending Spirit. People may be very much interested in the Descending Spirit but not enough in the Sending Spirit. People today like Simon of Samaria in olden times, want the Holy Spirit to descend into their hearts — but for the wrong reasons, sometimes. We want the Spirit to help us do what we want to do, to accomplish our plans, to make us persuasive and popular personalities. But the Spirit of God, although everybody's aid, is nobody's aide. The aide to a general is just the General's right arm, his tongue — whatever the General wants done, the aide is there to see it done. The Holy Spirit is no aide!

God Can Break Up Good Plans

The church at Antioch was going strong when the Holy Spirit broke into their plans. We don't know how the Spirit spoke to them, nor how they were sure it was the Spirit. But one thing is pretty certain; they must have had plans which the Sending Spirit broke up. Barnabas and Saul were what we would call today Associate Pastors of that big city congregation. They had been together there only a year, and that is a short pastorate. Very likely Saul and Barnabas both, along with the church, had plans of one kind and another afoot — good plans, evangelistic, sacrificial. But the Spirit said No. The Spirit had other plans. The church must set aside Barnabas and Saul, cut them off from their growing, successful work in the First Church of Antioch, and send them out as missionaries. They must go to parts unknown, to places not nearly so important as Antioch, to the backwoods perhaps. They must go out and endanger their lives, far from the peaceful busy streets of Antioch. The Holy Spirit has often come to men in disturbing ways. He often breaks up our best plans. The thing to remember is that God knows better than we do. God's Spirit never breaks up a good plan unless it is for the sake of his better one.

The Spirit Through the Church

The way the Spirit operated there in Antioch is instructive. The Spirit called Saul and Barnabas; also the Spirit spoke to the church. The command was given: Separate Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them. And the church obediently "laid its hands on" these two leaders and sent them out. The Sending Spirit often works in this way. Most missionaries today are selected and sent out by mission boards of some kind. The boards will not, if they know it, send any one to a mission field who has no sense of being called by the Spirit. But on the other hand, even if a young man feels the Spirit has called him, if in the Board's judgment he will not make a good missionary, they will not accept and send him. This is all in the wisdom of God. It gives a missionary today, and it gave Saul and Barnabas back yonder, a strong "lift" to know that the church is backing them up, praying for them, wishing them well, ready to send reinforcements if they fall by the wayside. Sometimes the only way a call of the Spirit comes to a man or woman is through the church. Older Christians ought to realize their responsibilities here.

The Church Through Men

God does not call all men to be missionaries. But he does call every Christian man, woman and child to be missionary. That is, missionary in heart and purpose. The church that is not sending and supporting missionaries, directly or indirectly, by themselves or through a board of missions, the church that is not out there on the firing line through its representatives, the church that doesn't even know there is a firing line, the church that spends all its money and all its interest on itself—such a church is not even a cousin of the kind of church we read of in the early days, like the Church at Antioch. The selfish congregation is contributing to the death of the church; the sending church is contributing to its life—its own and the life of the Christian fellowship around the world.

Electric Cooking is "WHITE GLOVE" Clean Cooking

Electric cooking is many things . . . for example, it's the easiest way of all to cook meals that your family will really appreciate. They'll say you're a real cool cook. Electric cooking is fast, too, and economical, dependable, and automatic.

But, when women who cook electrically are asked to point out the one thing they like best, they'll nearly always say, 'It's so clean."

How true! No other accepted cooking method is so "white glove" clean. If you don't own an electric range you're missing one of the better aids to better living.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The National Defense

Once again, the Congress is wrestling with the problem of an adequate national defense. Rightfully so, this has become an annual affair—particularly since there seems to be little uniformity of opinion as to the relative balance and strength to be maintained between the various military services. There is agreement neither among the armed forces themselves, in the executive departments of our Government, nor among the members of the Congress.

To further confuse an extremely difficult issue, claims are now being made that Soviet Russia has surpassed this Nation in air power, and in certain categories of air missiles. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have quieted these troubled waters with logic and reason, at least momentarily. Secretary Wilson says, with much emphasis, that the pattern of our defense program need not follow that of the Russians, and for obvious purposes of national security, the equation of our national defense cannot be precisely, or even suggestively, revealed.

The House of Representatives, last week, by a resounding final vote of 377 to 0 approved the President's defense budget of $33.6 billion, almost half of which will be spent by the Air Force. Such bi-partisan unanimity seems to reflect wide endorsement of the policies of the Eisenhower Administration, and all signs point to a similar vote in the Senate. This acceptance suggests that in matters military, the great experience of the President cannot be underestimated.

The common denominator in any defense program lies in the simple question—"What is Russia Up to Now?" To answer is to indulge in a game of international chess—a game of high stakes with liberty and humanity in balance. In the past year, behind a facade of artificial smiles, toothsome grins, and poor tailoring, Kremlin leaders have endeavored to "win friends and influence people." It is even rumored that the Russian army and military budget are to be drastically reduced. As in any game, timing is a potent weapon, and the timing of these events is, in my judgment, but part of the continuing communist plan of subterfuge, deviously intended to have us drop our guard. Though some may have been duped by this communist pose of friendship and pretended concern for world peace, we as a Nation must remain alert to the ways and methods of this atheistic conspiracy which would engulf us.

To meet this constant threat, I favor the finest professional forces we can maintain on the land, on the sea and in the air. In terms of defense for the future, we must be adequately and appropriately prepared always.

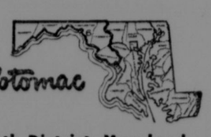
Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Private industry participation in the conversion of atomic energy to peaceful uses is a concern of our government. A major block is the difficult problem of insurance against costly accidents—a risk too great to be borne by private insurance companies. The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy is actively seeking an insurance formula which will provide adequate protection.

Another type of catastrophe insurance is also being considered by the Congress. It is flood insurance. Private companies feel they cannot handle the particularly difficult risks of flood insurance alone.

The Senate has passed a bill—frankly called "experimental"—authorizing a $5 billion federal insurance and reinsurance program. It limits liability to $250,000 for any one business loss and to $10,000 for a residence. Buyers of policies would pay 60% of the premium; the federal government would underwrite the rest (after June 30, 1959, the states would be responsible). The program is limited to participating states. I cannot predict the action the House will take, but no insurance program is a substitute for flood prevention and control.

A careful study of the various measures designed to bring retired government workers' annuities in line with current living costs leads me to the conclusion that Senator Carlson's bill comes closer to reality than any of the others. Consequently, I have introduced a companion bill in the House.

The House has passed a bill, almost identical with one I introduced, providing for an increase in annuity payments to District of Columbia teachers. During the debate I had the opportunity of recommending to the House—as a matter of fairness—that in the future, bills providing for increases for civil service employees and District of Columbia teachers should be considered at the same time.

I have recently introduced bills providing for (1) a revision of the Fish and Game laws of the District of Columbia to bring them in line with those of Maryland, and (2) to provide for established fees for commitment of patients to St. Elizabeths Hospital.

ON MY CALENDAR: I will attend the St. James Lutheran Church's Spring Dinner on May 25. I plan to speak on "Problems of European Migration." I expect to attend the dedication services at St. John's The Evangelist Church in Silver Spring on May 27. I plan to speak at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Exchange Club on May 28 on "The American Legion at Work."

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Thumbing through the notes and memoranda on my desk, I find a regular smorgasboard of information pertaining to matters of vital interest to all parts of the State.

I hope you enjoy the variety.

On top of the pile of reminders is an announcement that the date of the Baltimore convention for small business men has been changed.

Meeting on June 21

The new date, which was set so that the best possible speakers could participate in the meeting, is June 21.

A site has not yet been selected, but the 1,000 persons expected to attend will probably meet in the auditorium of a Baltimore high school—perhaps City or Eastern.

According to officials of Small Business Administration, which is sponsoring the conference for residents of the Maryland area, persons who attend the one-day meeting will learn the needs and procurement procedures of various Government agencies. The conference will be open to all interested parties.

Poultry Hearings Asked

Another item which merits the attention of Free State citizens, especially those in the poultry-growing areas of the Eastern Shore, is Senator Ellender's report to me that hearings might be held soon on a bill to provide for the compulsory inspection of poultry and poultry products by the United States Department of Agriculture.

I have been attempting to get prompt action on the measure, and Senator Ellender has informed me that my views have been forwarded to the subcommittee which is considering the legislation.

Laboratory Sought for Beltsville

Also in my stack of notes is a report that several Congressmen are trying to have the proposed $19,000,000 animal-disease research center of the Department of Agriculture constructed in the mid-West instead of Beltsville.

Since scientists, consultants and testing equipment are already readily available to the Beltsville location, it would seem logical to erect the new facilities there.

After all, many research experts are stationed permanently in this region, and it would be a lot more efficient to ship the animals to the scientists than to have the laboratory men make time—consuming trips to the animals.

I can assure you that I will do everything possible to see that the new center is built where it should be—in Beltsville.

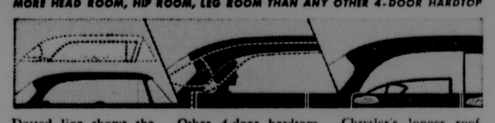
FIRST FULL-SIZE 4-DOOR HARDTOP!

MORE HEAD ROOM, HIP ROOM, LEG ROOM THAN ANY OTHER 4-DOOR HARDTOP



Dotted line shows the short roof typical of other 4-door hardtops. This means cramped head and leg room. Solid outline shows Chrysler's longer roof.

Other 4-door hardtops have short rear windows indicated by broken line above. Chrysler's windows extend all the way to the back of the rear seat.

Chrysler's longer roof, greater room, and better visibility are the result of two-part roll-away window. Rear segment rolls forward. Forward segment down.

All the airy openness of a racy convertible ... and the full size and comfort of a big sedan. That's the Chrysler 4-door hardtop.

You can get in and out as easily as in a sedan because the entrance area is full width. And you get full vision because the rear window comes all the way to the back of the rear seat.

Chrysler's ingenious new roll-away action rear window is the secret. It permits a full-size roof, and the rear seat is back where it belongs.

Income Tax . . . . .

There's a lot of talk these days on the income tax structure, and how it affects each individual taxpayer. We'd like to add our opinion.

The federal income tax begins at 20 percent, on the lowest taxable incomes. From there it rises fast until it reaches 91 percent in the high brackets.

A person might judge from this that people of large means pay most of the tax bill. But they don't. We learn from the Monongahela News that eighty-four percent of all income taxes collected come from the basic 20 percent rate, and only 16 percent from the surtaxes. As Graham Patterson puts it in Town Journal, "So the high rates are actually more destructive of income than productive of revenue."

A survey made by the American Institute of Public Opinion, shows that the public approves of the rate only on incomes of the lowest group. On higher income groups, it is the opinion of the people that taxes are more than double what they should be.

The "soak the rich" idea which many Congressmen seem to approve, is not the people's decision but the politician's idea. According to an Institute poll, if the public set the tax rate, the tax on a family man earning $5,000 a year should be not over $235 instead of the average of $420 he currently pays. The $50,000 a year man, if the public set the rates, would pay only $7,125 compared as against $18,294.

People should become educated to this income tax structure and make their ideas known to their Congressmen. We think that the present structure kills initiative and causes persons who could expand their business to decide against doing so.

In our system of government there should be no penalties for the industrious or the persons with the kind of zip that made this country a leader of the entire world.

Give some serious thought on how this program could be improved.

Tour of Farms Is Planned for June 13

Sound farm management as the key to success is the theme that will be given emphasis on a tour planned for county farmers on Wednesday, June 13. Those attending will bring a picnic lunch. Ice cream and coffee are to be furnished by the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange.

The tour will start at the Clark Schlossnagle farm near Hoyes at 9:30 a. m., where there will be a discussion of improved pastures and broiler production. Here also, women will visit with Mrs. Schlossnagle in her modern farm kitchen.

The tour will then travel to the Blaine Frantz farm at Friendsville where there will be some discussion of beef cattle production in charge of an Extension specialist from College Park. Landscaping the farmstead will be given some mention.

Picnic lunch will be held at the Dorsey Guard farm after which there will be an inspection and discussion of better forage. Here there is a planting of seven different varieties of alfalfa seeded in 1952 to study the merits of each for the county conditions. John H. Carter, county farm agent, who is responsible for this demonstration planting, will have an agronomist from College Park to lead this discussion. On the Guard farm also are well established brome seedings that will be discussed. It is planned to see the operation of putting grass into the silo.

The final visit will be at the Simon Tice farm near Grantsville where a cross-breeding program with dairy cattle will be discussed, along with results in the terms of increased production.

Any interested person is invited to join the tour, including wives of the farmers.

The Danforth Award is given annually on the basis of the student's contribution to leadership, social, physical, religious and scholastic areas. Senior teachers made the final selection of the students. There were five possible candidates for the boys and six for the girls.

Hamill Is Speaker For Memorial Day

Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., Oakland attorney, was the speaker at the Memorial day services in the Oakland cemetery yesterday morning. The services at the cemetery concluded the brief program arranged by the local American Legion Post and Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias.

Organizations gathered at the City Hall at 10 o'clock and the annual parade moved off about 10:30 o'clock. Included in line of march were the Southern High school junior band, the Mt. City Band, legionaires, Knights of Pythias members, National Guard, boy scouts, girl scouts, cubs, brownies and the Pony league baseball teams.

In addition to the main address which was delivered near the tomb of the unknown soldier, members of the legion decorated the graves of over 150 war veterans in the Oakland cemetery and three other nearby cemeteries, Red House, Pleasant Valley and Thayerville. The Pythians also decorated the graves of their deceased members.

Fishing Success Is Same as Last Year

Fishing success in most trout streams of Maryland on opening day, Sunday, April 15, was about the same as last year. It took about three hours to catch each fish and twice as many fishermen were out, as were out on opening day last year.

The survey was made by the State Game and Inland Fish commission.

Two areas were chosen for trout studies by the commission, the six miles of Big Hunting Creek, in Frederick county, and ten acre lake at New Germany. Three thousand adult brook trout were fin clipped and stocked in the creek one week before April 15, and 1,000 marked rainbow trout went into the New Germany lake.

In the New Germany lake 47 percent of the 1,000 marked rainbow trout were caught on Sunday. Seventy-three percent of the fishermen were men, five percent women and 22 percent children. Seven percent of the fishermen on the lake caught their limit, as against 14 percent in Big Hunting Creek.

The Lake situation apparently produced the greatest failure in fish caught, with 53 percent unsuccessful fishermen as compared to 29 percent in the famous fly stream. Fish catch per man hour was 0.3 fish per hour in the New Germany lake.

Business Conference Set

A business conference of the Terra Alta Circuit of the Ev. U.B. Church will be held at Underwood church on Sunday afternoon, June 3, at 2:30 o'clock, DST. A special dedication service will be held at 3 o'clock for the new church basement. Dr. T. L. Miles, conference superintendent, will be the speaker. Former pastors of the church and other ministers of the local area are given special invitations to attend. The public is invited.

National President of Christmas Tree Growers to Speak

M. C. Stewart, of Homer City, Pa., president of the National Christmas Tree Growers association and past president of the Pensylvania Christmas Tree Growers association, will be a speaker at the first annual summer meeting of the Garrett County Christmas Tree Growers association, to be held on Saturday, June 9, at the C. C. Helbig plantation in Deer Park.

Mr. Stewart is considered one of the leaders in the rapidly growing Christmas tree industry and has been associated with the industry since 1918. His talk will cover problems of tree growing as well as the outlook for the future.

Following Mr. Stewart on the program will be Phillip Berthy, extension forester for West Virginia, who will discuss shearing of pines to produce quality trees. Mr. Berthy, who has prepared several bulletins on the subject, will demonstrate the latest techniques in pruning trees to obtain maximum bushiness and symmetry, and will bring growers information on the industry in nearby states.

The afternoon meeting includes a tour of Mr. Helbig's fifty acre planting. A short business session will be held following the program. All persons who are raising or who are interested in raising trees are invited to attend the meeting which will get under way at 1:30 p. m., DST.

The Helbig plantation may be reached by crossing the B. and O. railroad tracks in Deer Park and proceeding one quarter mile on the Boiling Spring road.

November Ballot To Have Nine Questions

Ballots to be used in the November 6 general election will contain seven constitutional amendments and two referendums.

A summary of proposals to be submitted to the voters of Maryland, has been prepared by the Department of Legislative Reference.

The first amendment affects the time for county councils to meet and concerns only counties having a charter form of government.

The sound affects introduction of bills in the General Assembly. The amendment would limit the introduction of bills during the last 10 days of the even-year 30-day sessions and the last 20 days of 90-day sessions.

Approval by the Senate of the Governor's recess appointments would be modified by a third amendment. The new amendment would require that the nomination of a recess appointee be made to the Senate on the first day of the next regular Senate meeting.

The next proposal has to do with the time for the Governor to submit his budget to the General Assembly. At present he must submit it within 20 days after the Assembly meets for the 90-day session except in the case of a newly elected governor and then within 30 days after his inauguration unless such time is extended by the General Assembly. The proposal would strike out this exception for a newly elected governor.

Obsolete material in the Constitution of Maryland would be dropped by the next amendment. It would repeal or amend 49 sections of the Constitutian which by general consent are obsolete, outmoded or incorrect.

Absentee voting would be affected by another proposal. At present the Assembly may provide for absentee voting for voters who are absent at the time of any election. The amendment would allow the Assembly to provide for absentee voting by voters unable to vote personally because of physically disability "which shall confine them to a hospital or cause them to be confined to bed."

Compensation of judges of the Orphans' Courts could be affected by the last amendment. At present such judges are paid by the day for the time they are actually in session, as provided by law. The proposal would allow them to be paid as may be regulated by law.

The two questions referred to the voters concerns daylight saving time and whether or not a county liquor dispensary store would be made legal in this county.

Southern racked up nine hits in Monday's game, including a grand slam homer by Toby Colaw and a triple by Bill Deckman. Green smacked a three-bagger for Northern. Fred Colaw was the winning pitcher.

To Show Color Movie

"Sea Chasers," a full color movie showing a thirty-minute trip with the collection staff of the Miami Seaquarium, will be shown at the next meeting of the Garrett County Conservation association, to be held in the Oakland fire hall on Tuesday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

Herman Hickman, national sports personality, handles the narration, and describes many wonders of marine life and the thrill of big-time fishing.

New Faces to Appear At Summer Theatre

A new face and new talent which will appear this summer at the Garrett County Playhouse will be that of Ronald Yost, young actor who will join Gene Yell's company for the eight weeks summer theatrical season.

Ronald has a varied background in all types of theatrical work and will dispense his charms in several of the plays selected for production at the local summer theatre.

During 1951 Ronnie Yost toured Korea with the variety show, "Stars Without Bars," in which he kept the troops entertained with his fast-paced comedy routines.

In 1954, Ronnie played club dates throughout New Jersey and that fall, he enrolled at the University of New Mexico for additional theatrical training.

Last season, he appeared as Nicholas in Christopher Fry's play, "The Lady's Not For Burning," and played the part of Jules, one of the rogues in "My Three Angels."

Ronnie emceed "Quick on the Draw," a television quiz show over KOB for eight months and worked at the local military bases near Albuquerque in a comedy variety show.

At the University Theatre in Rodey Hall, Ronald Yost appeared this season as the Prince in the Children's Theatre production of "Cinderella" and portrayed Bernard Baxley in J. B. Priestley's play, "Laburnum Grove."

This spring he emceed the Jane Russell "Waif" show in Albuquerque.

Ronnie played King Creon in the Rodey Hall production of "Medea" this year and had one of the leading roles in "Born Yesterday" at the Old Vic Playhouse in Albuquerque Old Town.

Gene Yell's company of professional and semi-professional players will open July 3 for five evening performances in Noel Coward's "Hay Fever." The Business and Professional Women's Club is now conducting a season ticket sale.

Two Juveniles Are Held For Hearing

Two juveniles from the Underwood section, ages about 9 and 11, were arrested Tuesday afternoon after a chase which led east from town.

The boys were observed stealing items from several of the local stores. Both boys fled when they were discovered with some of the "loot" and were finally overtaken in a wooded area between the Dennett Road and the old Deer Park road, about a mile from Oakland.

After being questioned they were released but will be given a hearing later before either Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, sitting as a juvenile judge, or Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer.

Firemen Are Called

Oakland firemen were called about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning to extinguish a blaze in an automobile on the David Weber farm south of town.

The fire started on the inside of the car and not from the motor and the flames did considerable damage before being put out by the firemen by use of the booster tank.

Fire Chief Emroy Bolden said Mr. Weber was of the opinion that it might have been purposely set on fire.

Plans Complete For City Band Carnival

Plans are now complete for the carnival to be held at Oakland the week of June 4, it was announced by Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., president of the Mt. City Band.

The G. and B. Shows, with five rides, two shows and approximately 30 concessions, will be at the Manhattan hotel lot from June 4 to 9, inclusive.

A children's matinee is planned for Saturday afternoon, at which time all rides will be 10 cents.

A parade is scheduled for Friday evening, June 8. Already there have been ten fire companies and five musical organizations who have indicated they will participate.

The sponsoring organization will use all net proceeds for general band expenses.

Sunday Downpour Causes Anxiety

A downpour of rain most of Sunday brought streams in the Oakland area to flood stage and there were many anxious moments among the business people of town lest another flood of the business district occur.

Wilson Creek was filled to capacity and only the arrangement on Fourth street prevented the stream from overflowing. Some heavy planks over the Fourth street culvert backed up the water onto the Winters property, covering several acres, but it was enough.

Fourth street was raised several feet last fall, allowing for the emergency reservoir, and this improvement is given complete credit for saving the town from disaster. The water was just lapping the top of the roadway when the rain ceased and the level dropped rapidly after that. The Little Youghiogheny river was also filled to overflowing.

There was further rain Wednesday, but other than that the weather has been clear and fairly warm. Sunday's rainfall amounted to 2.75 inches.

In addition to the two choral selections to be sung by the senior girls' chorus, Samuel Moore, president of the Student Council during the past year, will read the theme entitled "We Are America," written by Barbara Moon which appears in the 1956 edition of the yearbook, The Highlander.

They will discuss the purpose and progress of rural development in the county, the national and county farm situation, the national and county home situation and factors to be considered in agricultural marketing in the county.

Probably one of the greatest things we need in Garrett county, according to John H. Carter, county agricultural agent, is to work and act together, striving toward our goal of improving the county. The county-wide meeting is planned so that the discussion will be on the economic and marketing situation here.

The County Extension staff is cooperating with the Rural Development committee in making plans for the meeting.

Senator Friend said no decision had been made on the winner of the scholarship to the University of Maryland or the one to Charlotte Hall. Also available is a scholarship to St. John's College at Annapolis, but he said there were no applications for this one.

Southern High Tops Elks 4-0

Southpaw Toby Colaw tossed a two-hitter and struck out 13 batsmen Tuesday as Southern High school concluded its 1956 baseball campaign with a 4-0 triumph over Elk Garden High school.

Singles by Paul and Danny Tasker were the only safeties yielded by Colaw who posted a 4-1 record in the conference. Toby also rapped a pair of triples in two trips to the plate. Fred Colaw had two singles.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Thoughts for a Graduate

"Once only I have my life to live. How best shall I do it?" That is the dramatic introduction Dr. Henry Drummond gives to his book, "The greatest thing in the world."

All over the land, young people graduating from our high schools and colleges will ask themselves this question again. I feel sure young people of every generation have asked themselves this same thing.

Most of them will want many things from life. Perhaps without putting it into so many words, they will want happy marriages, good jobs, nice homes and economic security. These are normal ambitions for all young people, in fact for all of us.

Yet, these things in themselves, wonderful as they are, do not constitute the summum bonum (highest good) of life. How do we know then how to find this superlative of life?

We turn for the answer to the New Testament. Among the many answers to this deep and searching question, there is a statement that says, "He who loses his life shall find it." What is meant by that seeming paradox? How could losing anything cause us to find it?

I am no theologian, yet I have my own ideas on that statement. All of us choose, or have chosen a life's work. By our own abilities, aptitudes and interests, we seek to find in what way we can best serve God and our fellow-man. With these purposes foremost in our minds, we seek to do well the work we have chosen.

But, underlying all of our work will be the all-important motives which prompt us. A study of the teachings of our Lord showed how important were the motives which prompt us to do the things we do. He said our motives must be to love, to share, to give, to serve. They make all the difference in the world to each of us. When we lose our lives in loving service to God and man, we find it in the larger sense. That is the key that opens the door for us to the abundance of like He spoke about so often. It opens to us life that is abundant, full, overflowing, filled with interest, enthusiasm and happiness.

A God-centered life will cause us to lose our lives in a cause greater than our own personal ambitions. It will open the door to the life of the spirit which gives meaning and depth to everything we do.

For all of our young people, I would hope for them most of all a new and deeper understanding of this wonderful spiritual truth. It can be the compass that guides their lives in this twentieth century, as it has in the past. They will know then how best they should live their lives.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic—

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflow*

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or spurt-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflow smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflow.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you press the pedal barely an inch—

The instant new full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

The "Farewell Fling," a "Sadie Hawkins" dance, sponsored by the senior class of Northern High school, Cove, was held on May 25 in the school cafeteria. This was the type of dance designed to "give the boys a break," as the girls paid for the tickets. The boys merely provided the transportation.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

FATHER'S DAY is celebrated this year on June 17th. Hundreds of famous quotations tell about the worth of Mothers, and we approve of every one of them, but surprisingly little has been written about Fathers, except jokes.

HE IS THE HEAD of the family, so he gets the headaches. He is the fellow who is usually put on the pan, if he doesn't bring home the bacon.

ALL CHILDREN are "Stomachs surrounded by curiosity—usually a pain in the neck when around, and a pain in the heart when they are not." What we seem to need most is a child labor law to keep children from working their Fathers too much.

FATHER'S DAY is usually the one day that everybody remembers this forgotten man, but we like fathers, and promise to take good care of them every day. We are happy about the fact that Fathers like our pharmacy, because they visit us often to secure the many things we carry for their health and comfort.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

We hear so much talk of juvenile delinquency and what we can do to prevent it, but are we hitting at the right point to make a showing?

We have wonderful schools and good books for our children to use and we try to pick the best teachers for the work, but I am afraid there is one thing we are overlooking. Our children attend school all day and they are taught the fundamentals of becoming a good citizen and receiving a good education, but when they are on the streets they can go into any newstand and pick up books and literature that can poison all the good that they have received from their books of knowledge and from their instructors who are very much underpaid.

Which is the most destructive—to poison a child's stomach or to poison his mind? We have good books and magazines but there are so many in circulation today that should be stopped altogether and parents should be very careful in what literature they put in front of their children. We as parents send our children to school to learn from the books that are put there for that purpose. Would we want to see some of these books of filth and vulgarity used in our schools? No, but they are sold in all newsstands to anyone who has the money to pay for them. If we learned of a saloon keeper selling our child a drink of liquor we would be ready to prosecute him, but they can go to a newsstand and buy lots of the literature they are selling and we stand by and see their minds poisoned.

I hope the parents of our great country, our churches and our president, who have made this a wonderful place to live in, will take up this and carry it nation-wide. I for one have just started this fight to help the youth of our country, and I need helpers.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

The American Farm Bureau Federation, with its nearly 2,000,000 member families and approximately 8,000,000 men, women and children on farms in the 48 states, wants the economics of agriculture to get back to the free enterprise system of supply and demand. A vast majority of the Farm Bureau membership live on family-size farms. The Farm Bureau as a whole, with only a comparative few dissents, wants to see the Government gradually withdraw its interference with the economic law of supply and demand. It is for flexible supports, and opposed to rigid high supports.

"Supply and demand continue to work when prices are fixed by government," the Farm Bureau explains in its educational Discussion Sheet No. 10, "but not to the long-run advantage of the farmer." We use the story of cotton to show what happens.

"1. We have produced more than we have sold. We produced an average of 15.1 million bales of cotton for the market years, 1951-54. Our markets at home and abroad took an average of 13.0 million bales those years, or 2.1 million bales less than was produced. Exports have been going down—from 5.5 million bales in 1951-52 to 3.4 million in 1954-55. The rate of shipment to other countries in the fall of 1955 was the lowest for nearly a century. Per acre yields have been going up—from 273 pounds pr acre in 1945-49 to 324 pounds in 1953, 341 pounds in 1954, and 416 pounds per acre in 1955.

"2. Production in other countries is higher than it otherwise would be. With our fixed prices, we held a price umbrella over producers in other countries, and helped encourage an increase of almost 100 percent in foreign cotton production.

"3. Foreign use of cotton is less than it otherwise would be. Foreign markets used 2.4 million bales (cotton equivalent) of synthetics in 1947. In 1954 they used the equivalent of 8.4 million bales. Our cotton has been priced out of the market.

"4. Our use of cotton is less than it otherwise would be. Raw materials like cotton compete at the first point of sale. So when a manufacturer can buy raw rayon to advantage against raw cotton, for instance, he will do so.

"5. Surplus stocks pile up in the U. S. Since producers are encouraged by an artificial price to produce, and consumers (at the first point of sale) are discouraged from buying, because of a higher price, we pile up surpluses. In 1948, we had a 3.1 million-bale carry-over; in 1950, 6.8 million bales. Today we face the prospect of a record high 14 million-bale carryover.

"6. Surpluses compel production control measures. But these measures haven't controlled the supply either here or in the foreign lands (where our controls can't apply.) Besides, acres taken out of a subsidized commodity generally go into other crops. These 'diverted acres' increase the supply of uncontrolled crops and livestock, and drive down the prices farmers and ranchers can get for uncontrolled products."

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Admire

Trace your life over that of someone you admire and see how you come out. Take someone like that dedicated Salvation Army lass who once spoke to the students of the University of Chicago. Her scoop bonnet concealed a scar where she'd been hit with a brick in an angry mob. She described her work, the dens into which she went to nurse the sick, feed the hungry, and cheer the sad. Her reason for doing this, she said, was because she was "constrained by One who spent his earthly life going out among the miserable, touching blind eyes so that they could see again and opening deaf ears so that they could hear again."

Even hard-hearted students and iceberg professors were melted by the simplicity of her story. Most were convinced the here was a woman whose dedication they could emulate.

How does your life look alongside of Maude Booth's, or beside the One who constrained her? Who do you admire, the word that can change your life?

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Coit E. Nicklow, who drowned one year ago May 31, 1955.

Do not ask us if we miss him,
There is such a vacant place.
Often we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of silence often flow.
Memory keeps him ever near us,
Though he left us a year ago.

Observe Birthday

The Akron Beacon journal of Thursday, May 17, carried the account of the observance of the 84th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Armada Enlow, which had occurred on that day. She spent the day quilting with the Ladies' Aid society at Pleasant Valley Methodist church near Akron.

The previous Sunday she was honored on Mother's Day as the oldest member in length of service in the church.

A native of Grantsville where she was born in a log cabin, Mrs. Enlow and her late husband went to Akron in 1906.

Six of seven Enlow children are still living. They are Lawrence, of Orlando, Fla.; Everett, Alvin, Ellsworth, Mrs. Martha Wellock and Mrs. Mary Ruble, all of the Akron area.

Ross C. Durst, of Cuyahoga Falls, gave additional information about Mrs. Enlow. She is the daughter of Ross and Martha Engle Compton. The old log cabin in which she was born later became the Compton school. It is still standing, about half way between Grantsville and New Germany and may be the only log school house still standing in the county.

She married Daniel Enlow, from the Hoyes area, who was well known in this county. He was killed in an automobile accident in 1943. Mr. Enlow as well as Mr. and Mrs. Compton are buried in Akron.

Ross Compton was a grandson of Robert Compton, General Washington's messenger boy, Mr. Durst says.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we pause during the year of special anniversaries and occasions to think about Memorial Day, a few thoughts cross my mind. The first of these, of course, is just what view God would have of such an observance among the affairs of His creatures.

In respect to what God must think, my first reaction to His revelation is this: Just because a person is dead is no reason to hallow him. There seems to run through the course of human history the trend to revere and honor a person, just because he has passed on to his reward, whatever that may be. This in ancient and modern religions alike, is particularly prevalent in the oriental peoples of the world. For instance, most of us realize the tremendous importance the Chinese people place on ancestor worship. In our western society, with its oft pagan funeral practices, the evidence of this oriental superstition is noticed in the funeral parlor, where people bend over backwards to say some nice thing about the body which is stretched out for the curious to stare at, in reflection of some mysterious, often misguided feeling of awe in the presence of the dead, as if they would perhaps "haunt" us if we are honest in our rendered opinions of these people, letting the chips fall where they may. I would think, and this is my own personal practice in regards to funeral sermons, that this would be the time to take stock of our own lives, examine ourselves in our relationship to our God, and of His promise of eternal life through the gift of His Son, and let the departed soul to the mercy of God, for this is the only thing we actually can do.

Rather than worship our dead, let us learn from them. I would think that an excellent way to observe Memorial Day would be to review the history of our nation, if time allows, a brief glance through the history of our world, looking at the basic movements within history, learning how better to conduct the affairs of our world today and in the future. Though we would perhaps want to do this sometimes, we cannot in any sense of the word "live in the past." We must live today and tomorrow. We can make today and tomorrow better by learning from yesterday.

When we apply this lesson to our own nation, we can look into the past and find other great nations, Israel of the time of David, Rome of the Caesers, the empire of Alexander the Great, and many others. They were all as great as our own nation, in their height. They all fell—need we look any further than the miserable example of Italy today—Greece today and the others to see this? And in modern times, look at the Great Britain of 1880 and look at her today, an empire that is slowly but surely crumbling.

When we look at these historical facts, the question can and must be raised, can this also happen to our great nation? If so, what can we do to prevent this? Whether it be a nation that consider, or an individual, one thing and only one thing matters—have they followed the Will of God in running their affairs. Israel learned through the horror of destruction and captivity, bondage and slavery, that all of their alliances with other nations were of no value if they would not follow the Word of the Lord. We should have learned through the stupidity of three wars in the past forty years that we can gain nothing by fighting.

Only where men are willing to follow God can there be, in the true sense of the word, peace. So, as we celebrate this Memorial Day, let us look into history, ancient and modern, search out the revelation of God, the weaknesses and strengths of other individuals and nations, and thus be prepared to make our world, and ourselves as individuals more like His children. This is our only hope.

Mrs. Grant Reports Year's Activities of Oakland Civic Club

"Knowing Your Community," was the theme carried out during the past year by the Civic Club of Oakland, and a resume of the activities of the club was presented Tuesday afternoon to the membership by Mrs. W. W. Grant. It was the final meeting of the club in its yearly program, and recently elected officers for the new year were installed.

They included Mrs. O. T. Graser, president; Mrs. Neil C. Fraley, vice president; Mrs. Grover Stemple, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Merrill Cargo, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Jones, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Grant, corresponding secretary. Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, president of the first district of Federated Women's clubs, was the installing officer and also read a report on mental health which she gave at the district meeting.

Mrs. Grant, in giving a summary of activities of the past year, pointed out how the club members had come to know their community in relation to driving safety, education, arts and crafts, music and poetry, civic affairs, its appreciation of the work of its citizens in the work with crippled children, the concern and interest shown for those who need help mentally and physically.

She listed the various meetings and speakers with Mrs. John S. Gardiner on highway safety, talent from Frostburg for music and poetry, Dr. Yokel on mental health, Felix Robinson and daughter and the Southern High Glee club for musical talent, Dr. Smith for living later years, honoring Miss Grace Jones for her work with crippled children, exhibits of arts and crafts, flower arrangements by Wilhelm Weber, and others.

She also spoke of other work of the club. Two wheel chairs owned by the Civic club are in constant use at the hospital. The blood program is in charge of Civic club members. Home Nursing courses were backed by Civic club members. The club supported the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Grant declared to the women, "All these activities have been accomplished because you as Civic club members have given of your time, your skills and your energy. A continuing program demands a continuing interest but as actively interested women we can, working together and by cooperating with our officers, make great strides in strengthening the work of our club.

"There is an old saying, 'Never underestimate the power of a woman.' If this be true, how much more can be done with many women working together. Do not underestimate yourselves. God does not underestimate women. He has given to us many gifts. Let us use them."

Prior to conclusion of Tuesday's meeting the first district president presented a book to the club, to be given to the Library in memory of Miss Alma Preinkert, a history of the Maryland Federation of Women's clubs. Approximately 35 women attended the session.

Two Student Poets Win National Honors

Two tenth grade students of Northern High school at Cove, were among the first in the annual High School Poetry Contest. The winners were Judith Hone, who submitted the poem entitled, "Moonlight on the Snow," and Shirley Fazenbaker, whose work was entitled "The Beauty of Winter."

Both girls are members of the 10-3 core section where the creative work is an encouraged part of the language arts program.

The first place winners who come from high school students over the United States will have their poems published in a book entitled "An Anthology of High School Poetry," and which will be available in the very near future.

The contest is sponsored by the National High School Association with its headquarters in Los Angeles, California.

The girls worked under the direction of Miss Kathryn Speicher.

Following is the poem written by Judith Hone. We were unable to get a copy of Shirley Fazenbaker's poem.

Moonlight on the Snow

By Judith Ellen Hone

The moon-light shines upon the snow,
And covers the land with a sparkling glow.
The stars are shining, big and bright,
And fill the sky with a radiant light.

The snow flakes fall swiftly to the ground;
It makes me so happy that I'm around.
The trees near the road stand straight and tall,
And make me love my land best of all.

God gave us this land just to love,
With other blessings from above.
So take it to heart, and do your part,
If you follow God's rules, you're being smart.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

"Taxes are Too High. . ."

This is the almost universal rejoinder to any conversation on the subject of taxes. It knows no limits, political or otherwise. It reflects the deep concern of many Americans for the spiral of burdensome taxes of the 1932-1952 period. It echoes each year the temper of most taxpayers, who "mad as a March hare" go about preparing their onerous income tax returns. It offers little comfort to the $2,000 a year wage-earner who must pay about 20 percent of his taxable income to the Government.

Indeed some say—"it will all be the same a hundred years hence." This challenge must be met. A significant measure of optimism can be found in the evidence that, within the past several years, the cost of government has been realistically decreased, a $7.4 billion tax reduction has been possible, the Internal Revenue Code has been substantially revised and greatly improved for the first time in nearly 75 years, and the Nation is enjoying an unprecedented level of prosperity. The discordant cadence of the New-Fair Deal of spend, spend, spend and tax, tax, tax has thus been neutralized. But, much remains to be done.

For too many years, tax has been pyramided on tax, and the resulting "Rube Goldberg" structure is threaded with many inequities, which frustrate the hopes and ambitions of those in low and middle income groups, obstruct incentive, and interfere with the expansion of business activity. Excessive taxation tends to discourage investment in enterprises which create more jobs. Excessive taxes stimulate monopoly and operate against the interests of small business to the detriment of the national economy. Excessive taxation is a forerunner of socialism. Yet, our tax laws are still complicated and discriminatory. The cry for a complete overhaul of our tax system gains in momentum.

It is in this setting that I have proposed the creation of a Hoover-type commission to conduct a long-range comprehensive study for the purpose of eliminating inequities and attaining more fairness and order in our taxation methods. This "Commission on Federal Taxation," composed of tax experts and competent citizens, would especially explore the impact of Federal taxes on individuals, small business and the national economy. Such an inquiry should, by no means, foreclose a reduction in personal income taxes, if conditions permit, prior to its contemplated completion in April, 1958.

All Americans must be permitted to retain as much as their hard-earned money as possible. We must be on with this essential task!

To Assume Duties As Board of Trustees Head

E. Ray Jones, Oakland attorney, and former Secretary of State for Maryland, assumed the duties of president of the Board of Trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan college in special induction ceremonies, Monday night at the annual Faculty-Trustee dinner at Buckhannon.

Mr. Jones succeeded Dr. Clyde O. Law, Wheeling businessman, who had presided for the past 24 years.

Mr. Jones, who has served on the board since 1932, was graduated from Wesleyan with the seminary class of 1907. He received his A. B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan and his Bachelor of Law degree from the University of Maryland. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Neither Peale Nor Pollyanna

To think positively is something that does not belong exclusively to Norman Vincent Peale and his followers. In a lively and friendly discussion one evening someone accused me of being one of Dr. Peale's believers. Truth of the matter is I thought positively before I ever heard of the man and while he may and has helped many people, I've never felt I needed him.

To me, he doesn't have one thing that the New Testament doesn't have; neither does he have any more than the picture window reveals through which I am now looking.

I do occasionally think negatively and it parallels over-fatigue, which makes me realize I haven't managed my life well. But for the most part I believe the way this Litany would have me believe (its origin I do not know.)

I believe in BEAUTY for I have seen the dawn—walked in the splendor of the morning sun and blinked at the brilliance of the day.

I believe in JOY for I have heard the songs of the feathered masters—the low laughter of the leaves and the everlasting chuckle of the mountain brook.

I believe in FULLNESS of life for I have seen the rain—watched it bathe the earth, the very air—I have seen the sky newly scrubbed and polished, blue from end to end—and I've watched the winter's snow drape tree and bush and hill in folds of white blinding beauty.

I believe in GOODNESS for I have known people—I have watched them live, love and labor—watched them hope, dream and pray side by side.

I believe in all these things because for every shadow I have seen a hundred rays of light—for every note of sadness I've heard a symphony of joy—for every ounce of bad I have found a ton of good—good in people, in nature and in the world. . . and I am thankful.

Pollyanna stuff? I think not.

Hi Day

"Hi Day" was planned for a day in camp where everyone said "Hi" to everyone he met.

Now that Oakland already has summer residents and guests on its streets, wouldn't it be a gala day to have a "Hi Day" in our community some day this summer?

Who knows but what it would do us all good.

Congratulations to all young people who are graduating this year! Receiving a diploma means you have fulfilled the academic requirements and met the standards of conduct of your schools. They, in turn, have given you a secure world for four years, with work and rules of conduct mapped out for you.

Now all this is changed in a day. The anchor has suddenly pulled up, and the world ahead looks insecure and uncertain. You now have to plan your own work, and set your own standards of behavior.

At this point, a church connection is a strong anchor to spiritual security. Let your Commencement mean a commencement of regular church attendance in the church you choose. Face the new world ahead armed with its firm hope and faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

To the West

Lesson for June 3, 1956

IN PAUL'S vision at Troas, his night visitor did not say, "Come over into Europe and help us." He only said "Macedonia." In fact, the word Europe does not occur in the story at all. Paul and his contemporaries were not conscious of moving from one continent to another when they set sail for Macedonia. Nevertheless it was a notable move. The Christian church was moving west, and it has never stopped permanently at any frontier. The little party that took ship for Samothracia was only one of countless groups of Christians westward bound. This was the first step in a great march. The Gospel was carried into every country in Europe, then into the Americas. Here in North America, as the settlers moved inland, westward and ever westward, as the frontier moved across the land the church moved with it. Sometimes the church itself did the pioneering, as the Roman church did in California or the Protestants in Oregon.

Dr. Foreman

Moving and Changing

Pea vines and people often change when transplanted to a different soil and climate. So it is with the church. The church at Antioch was different from the church in Jerusalem, and the church at Corinth was still different and by the time the church reached Rome and settled there, more changes could be seen. Churches in Northern Britain were not just like those of southern Italy. When the church came to America, there were further changes. To this day, a Presbyterian church in this country will be in many ways unlike the church of the same name in Scotland. English Methodists and American Methodists can easily be told apart. A distinguished English Baptist who is now serving in the largest American Baptist denomination has said in public how hard it was at first for him to feel at home here. Even in the Roman Catholic church priests who have been in America all their lives find some features of European Catholic churches rather strange, and vice versa. In America, too, as the church moved west it changed its ways.

Always the Same

"The more it changes, the more it stays the same," is a French proverb, which might well describe the church of God. It is quite true, the church has gone through many changes as it has moved westward with the years, but at heart, when it has had a heart, it has always been the same. (We say "When it has had a heart," because some churches have lost heart, or lost their heart, grown cold and died.) It would be quite a shock for a member of any American church east or west to walk into a meeting of the church at Corinth in St. Paul's time. It would be just as puzzling for a Corinthian to enter any American church—a great cathedral in New York or a country church forty miles from anywhere; neither one would be like his Corinthian meeting. But the heart of the church is the same. In Corinth, Kansas City or the Kentucky hills, wherever people are gathered together who love the Lord Jesus, who adore Him as Son of God and know Him as their Saviour, wherever those who love Christ are united to serve mankind in His name, there is the Christian church at worship and at work. Languages and forms differ, but the spirit of Christ is always the same.

Frontiers of the Future

When the church reached the eastern edge of the Pacific Ocean, had it come to the last frontier? Is there anywhere else to go? Of course there is. Beyond the Pacific are two vast continents. The Christian church has been so busy stretching westward that it has all but forgotten the "East"—which now is literally our Far West. Asia, Africa and the islands of the seas are our Christian frontiers, the frontiers of the future, and the church is (if yet only dimly) aware of them. The churches along these frontiers will be different from the churches "back home" as ours are different from Corinth and Jerusalem. But the Spirit will be there; for wherever there are true churches, there Christ lives and works again.

Twenty-three Students Make N. H. S. Honor Roll

Twenty-three students of Northern have made the Honor Roll for the third period. At the same time 131 persons were listed for Honorable Mention.

To be eligible for the Honor Roll a student must have all A's and three or less days absences. To be eligible for Honorable Mention a student must have grades of "B" or higher and three or less days of absence.

However, changes have been made in the requirements for the Honor Roll and Honorable Mention, and they will become effective next fall. These changes were made because the faculty and students felt that the old system was unfair. All requirements stay the same except for attendance requirements. Miss, Mr. Highlander are Named Janet Leighton and William Moore have been chosen by the seniors of Southern High school to represent them as Miss and Mr. Highlander III in the 1956 Highlander, school yearbook.

These two students were chosen as the ones who had made the most of their opportunities to attain scholastic achievement, to assume leadership, to expend their interests and abilities, to grow in character and to develop a pleasing personality. The above photo was taken at Muddy Creek Falls by Sam Moore and appears in this year's annual.

Other representative seniors chosen and pictured in the book are Douglas Smith, Shirley Yoder, Jack Roth and Delores Vetter.

"We Are America" is the theme of the yearbook and the theme is carried out through art, photography and copy. Delores Vetter, editor, introduced several new features, with color on the end sheets, more copy material, a Who's Who" section, and individual pictures of basketball and football players. The American Credo of the students is expressed in the copy written for the table of contents pages by Barbara Moon. John Luke, sports writer, wrote the copy for the sports section.

Beverly Winters, art editor, carried out the theme of the book in her cover design and in the art work on the division pages. All pictures in the book, with exception of individual class pictures were taken by Sam Moore.

Assistant editors for the book are Doris Lawson and Roy Paugh. Advertising was under direction of Pat Gortner. Janie Glotfelty was business manager. Miss Roberta M. Cogley, publication adviser, said the staff had spent many hours after school and during school working on the book and was an example of what could be accomplished when a group of students give the utmost of time and effort in order to serve their school. A copy of the book has been placed in the Ruth Enlow Library.

Farm Housing Loans Are Now Available

Ralph R. Peters, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, announced today that eligible farmers in Maryland may obtain farm housing loans from the Agency. Funds for the loans were recently made available by a supplemental appropriation.

Applications for these loans may be made immediately at the local office of the Farmers Home Administration.

The loans may be made for the construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings, including farmstead water supplies. Interest on the loans will be 4 percent per year on the unpaid principal. Repayment will be scheduled over periods up to 33 years. The loans will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm.

Applicants will be expected to obtain the building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the farm housing loan. The Farmers Home Administration will review the plans and inspect the construction as it progresses to assist the borrower in obtaining construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness.

The eligibility of applicants will be determined by the local county committees of the Farmers Home Administration. To be eligible, an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough income from the farm or from the farm and other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts.

The farm housing loans are made under the authority of Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. At present no additional funds are authorized after June 30, 1956. The Farmers Home Administration also extends credit for farm housing under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, as amended.

Your community hospitals must be ready round-the-clock to care for you and yours when civilian disasters come . . .

Right now, in a hospital near you, plans have been made to meet civilian emergencies. Fires and hurricanes, accidents and floods, will find hospital staffs ready—ready in many ways you might not suspect.

Surgeons, nurses, and key staff personnel are always prepared. But their preparedness, as your community hospital knows too well, is only the beginning of disaster planning. The hospital engineer must plan for emergency power. Dietitians must be ready to feed casualties, patients, personnel. Drugs and sterile materials must be bought and stock-piled.

Readiness to meet civilian disasters is a continuing day-to-day responsibility. It involves time, personnel and, very often, extra expense. But it is a responsibility your community hospitals accept. They must be ready.

You can be ready, too . . . through Blue Cross

BLUE CROSS membership gives subscribers an effective, low-cost way to budget in advance for hospital care. Today over 950,000 of your fellow citizens in Maryland belong to BLUE CROSS. Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Memorial Day is an occasion for special tribute to those who gave their lives in defense of their country. I am wondering if we ought not also use the Day as an occasion for remembering the causes for which they died. Our wars have been fought to preserve our liberty and a way of life unique in the history of the world. We honor all Americans who steadfastly fought in peace and in war to preserve their identity as individuals while joining mightily in furthering their ideals.

The work of Congress continues apace. Enactment of a revised farm bill has cleared the way for other legislative matters. I would like to point out that the farm measure comes nearer meeting the problems of the farmer than did the Congress' earlier attempt. But it falls short of a realistic solution to the needs of agriculture. I am hopeful the next Congress will provide legislation more nearly in line with a program of diversified production which will result in fairer prices to all.

Of interest to the business community is the bill to amend the Robinson-Patman Act with regard to the "good faith" defense in price discrimination. The pending legislation would make "good faith" a complete defense in meeting the prices of a competitor unless such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or tends "to create a monopoly."

One of the difficulties presented the House Judiciary Committee in its consideration of the proposed amendment stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is a lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bill. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.

At the coming general election the New Maryland absentee voting law will be in effect. Persons absent from the State or disabled and absent from the ward or election district will be able to cast an absentee vote this year. For information write to me care of the House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

On My Calendar: On Wednesday, June 6, I plan to drop by the Montgomery Youth Opportunity Camp's dinner-dance at the Congressional Country Club. Mrs. Hyde and I plan to attend the Allied Civic Group of Silver Spring's Annual Banquet that evening. We also expect to attend the Congressional Reception given by the National Order of Women Legislators at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington on June 7.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, 72-year-old daughter of the famous Russian novelist who wrote "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina," recently told a Senate subcommittee that she hoped the United States would not send a certain Soviet poet back to his native land.

"He would be killed," she testified matter-of-factly.

(The Countess, who has been an American citizen for many years, has used her extensive knowledge of Russian affairs to help various investigations and studies conducted by the United States. At present she is president of the Tolstoy Foundation, an organization set up to aid refugees from Iron Curtain countries.)

When Countess Tolstoy made her statement about the Russian poet, whose life might be in danger if he returned home, the immense, marble-walled hearing room used by the subcommittee conducting the hearings was only one-quarter filled, but it seems to me that her words should be brought to the attention of every American.

Timely Reminder

In a rather terrifying way, those four words—"He would be killed"—provide us with a timely reminder that there is an underlying ruthlessness in certain areas of the world which are now professing to be interested in peace.

I say that the thought is "timely" because it comes as we are thinking of Memorial Day and the sacrifices which have been made to keep our great nation free from tyranny.

While pausing to honor and pray for our hero-dead during this period we should also renew our determination to see that the liberty for which they fought on battlefields shall never be weakened by any peacetime inroads of false propaganda.

Small Business Conference

This week, in addition to my Memorial Day comments, I would like to mention another item of current interest.

As I have mentioned in past "Senate Cloakroom" newsletters, we have been working closely with officials of the Small Business Administration and the Baltimore Association of Commerce to make arrangements for next month's area conference on Federal purchasing and procurement procedures.

Now the definite time and place for the meeting have been set.

The one-day conference, which will be open to all representatives of small business in the Maryland area who are interested in obtaining information on government contract work, is to be held at:

Time—9:30 to 4:30, June 21.

Place—Eastern High School, 33rd St. Loch Raven Road, Baltimore.

Don't forget top-level representatives of various agencies will be on hand to explain what their departments need and how they take care of their ordering.

Perhaps, after attending the meeting, Marylanders will be able to obtain many millions of dollars worth of additional Federal contracts.

Word Inflation . . . .

Unusual but thought provoking would be two appropriate terms to use in describing a commencement address to college graduates which we were privileged to hear this past Sunday.

Fred M. Hechinger, education editor of the New York Herald Tribune, attacked the current "inflation of words" and the general lack of thought prevailing in America.

Because of the absence of meaning behind many words and expressions used today the commencement speaker said that "We find ourselves lost in a strange dead-end street of chatter."

How true this can be. How many times do we hear a person who gets on his feet to explain something, use the words "I mean," and then go into an explanation that is exactly the same thing he just finished saying.

The speaker urged his listeners to "say what you mean —and mean what you say."

How often we hear the "gusher" type who perhaps thinks she is paying you a compliment in becoming superlative over a commonplace occurrence, but you are downright positive she doesn't mean a word of it. How much better to be sincere with just a few well chosen words. It's really impossible to believe the careless user of meaningless phrases, so why waste the effort?

Why not use that effort in making a study of words and their proper meaning, and then use them to good advantage in wise selection. Not everybody, it is true, can paint the same picture by the proper use of words, but certainly almost anyone can improve himself, if he has determination.

So, first of all, determine to be sincere. That in itself will tend to deflate one's use of words. Then strive to keep from using the same old phrases over and over again. The commencement speaker called them "cliches."

Strike out on your own to achieve true originality in thought. And be sure you mean what you say.

Barn Destroyed Near Grantsville In Tuesday Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn and a large quantity of hay, grain and farm equipment on the farm of Ralph Mazier, located about nine miles east of Grantsville and one mile south of the Green Lantern Inn off route 40.

The fire started just before 5 o'clock Tuesday evening and the loss was estimated by the owner to be in excess of $15,000. He said the loss was not covered by insurance, since he carried only a small policy on the barn and nothing on the contents.

Mazier, who is employed as a timber cutter part time by the Curry Lumber company in Pennsylvania, was not home when the fire started but arrived shortly afterward.

The blaze was discovered by his son, Wayne Mazier, 23, who was operating a small power saw in a nearby building. He attempted to remove the equipment and two calves and a dog but the only thing he could reach was the tractor which he drove outside.

In the meantime his mother, who was in the dwelling nearby, telephoned the Grantsville and Frostburg fire companies. Grantsville responded with its pumper and tank truck and Frostburg arrived a few minutes later. Firemen from both units said the building was a mass of flames when they arrived. They confined their efforts to saving outbuildings, fences and other structures in the area.

Firemen remained there until after 9 o'clock. The barn was a balloon-type structure 40 by 60 feet. In addition to a quantity of grain, hay and straw, some of which had been baled, it contained two calves, a dog, a cultivator, plows, a grain drill, binders, a hay loader, a side delivery rake and other equipment, all of which was destroyed.

The Mazier family has occupied the farm for 17 years. There are seven children, five of whom are living at home. Besides Wayne, 23, they include Donna, 13; Gerald, 11; Dorla, 8; and James, 4.

Government analysts expressed belief the "sharp edge of inflation has been blunted."

Government Land Is Changed To State

Approximately 1,308 acres of land in this county have been conveyed to the University of Maryland by the Department of Agriculture, it was announced this week.

The transfer was made under an act which authorizes the Federal Government to convey to State agencies, without compensation, title to certain government-owned land on which the States have held long-term leases.

Charles L. Tebbe, regional forester for the department of agriculture, wrote: "in conveying this property to the University it is our sincere hope that it will continue to yield multiple use benefits to the people of Maryland.

The exact location of the ground so transferred has not been officially established, although it is almost certain to be the former Bittinger Recreation area, now known as the University of Maryland Western Maryland 4-H center. This tract of land has about the same acreage as that listed, but John H. Carter, county agricultural agent, has received no official word on the subject and could not be exactly sure that this property was the one transferred.

He did say that the recreatian area had been on ground owned by the federal government.

Carney, will present the diplomas to the following graduates of the eighth grade: Elaine Bittinger, Catherine Foley, David Gonder, Margaret Ann Martin, Carroll Miller, Carolyn Lee Miller, Patricia Powers, and Gerald Wine. Bear Hunters Successful

A bear hunt along the Garrett county border ended successfully on Monday morning after the animal had killed over 20 sheep the previous night. The story came to light when Merle Willard, of Oakland, one of the hunters, returned to his home here on Monday evening.

The sheep were being pastured on the Bill Forman place, just across the Potomac river from Garrett county. From the number of sheep it was determined that one bear and possible two had caused the devastation so the alarm was broadcast for veteran bear hunters to congregate.

They did so, about fifteen of them assembling about daylight Monday morning. It wasn't long until the dogs accompanying the hunters picked up the scent and from that time until midmorning the hunt became spirited. The dogs finally treed the animal and he was shot and killed by Rud Rohrbaugh. By making a "post-mortem" examination the hunters proved that they had gotten the right animal for his stomach was full of wool and chunks of mutton. They estimated the bear to weigh at least 300 pounds.

The hunt continued well into the day since it was supposed that a second bear was also in the vicinity. They roamed the area between Bayard and Davis, along the Stony River section, but their efforts to find any more were without success. There is a closed season on bear but the killing is lawful when the bears become destructive. The sheep that were killed were valued at approximately $700.

73 Farm Families Enroll In FFBL Program For 1956

Farming for Better Living enrollment in Garrett County for 1956 has closed with 73 farm families in the contest, L. Bush Swisher, area director of the Farming for Better Living program, said today. This is the same number as last year.

"The Farming for Better Living contest is now in its seventeenth continuous year of operation," Swisher said. "It is a promotion program sponsored by Chambers of Commerce, civic clubs and other groups to encourage farm families to increase their farm incomes by following those farming practices recommended by the Extension Service of West Virginia University. Experiences over the years show that the increased incomes of farmers participating in Farming for Better Living have increased the living standards of those families enrolled as well as their neighbors. Business men become better acquainted with the farm folks and have profited by their increased business. Town and country folks have benefited in the 25 counties in which the program is operating."

The Garrett County Farming for Better Living Council sponsors the Farming for Better Living program in the county. W. Dwight Stover, Oakland attorney, is chairman. Members of the council will visit the farm families enrolled to encourage them to complete the program this year. Mr. Stover said, "the farm folk who complete will be guests of the Council at the annual Farming for Better Living award dinner early in November. All Garrett County families enrolled in Farming for Better Living during the past three years have completed."

The following farm families have enrolled in Farming for Better Living in Garrett County for 1956: Mr. and Mrs. Jonas M. Beachy, Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Doerr, Mr. and Mrs. Robert and O. C. Glotfelty, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, Lucille and Nathan Glotfelty, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Haenftling, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Margroff, Mr. and Mrs. R. Deer Park Man Is Shot Accidentally

A 75-year-old Deer Park resident was reportedly accidentally shot in an unusual accident yesterday afternoon and was rushed to Garrett County Memorial hospital for treatment. He later was transferred to Memorial hospital in Cumberland for surgery.

He is William Brooks, who was injured when the shotgun he was using to kill crows in the vicinity of Eagle Rock near Deer Park, blew up in his face.

He was taken to Memorial hospital in Cumberland about 8:25 p. m., suffering from a laceration of the forehead between his eyes. It was surmised last night that he damaged one of his eyes as a result of the accident.

His condition was reported to be "fair". Deputy Sheriff James E. Frantz, who is investigating, said that he got a call from Mrs. Charles Strawser, with whom Brooks boarded, that the accident had occurred. He planned to continue his investigation today.

Mrs. Strawser related that the gun blew up in the victim's face as he was shooting crows.

Cassiday Is Given Two-Year Sentence

Ray Cassiday, aged about 40 years, was sentenced to serve two years in the House of Correction Tuesday morning by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, on a charge of larceny of a power saw.

The power saw was stolen last October 29 from Edward Moon, of near Fairview church, and for several months Sheriff Paul Fisher and Trooper Robert Henline have been working on the case.

Cassiday was arrested on the larceny charge on April 17, and had been held in jail since that time, awaiting action of the Grand Jury. He finally waived his right to indictment and requested an immediate trial before the court. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Fisher said that the saw was recovered recently near the Cassiday home near Henry, W. Va. Fisher said he was still investigating several other cases in which power saws had been stolen.

Cemetery Receives Clean-up Attention

The continuing activity of the Oakland Cemetery committee was given as the chief reason that the Oakland cemetery looked so well kept on Wednesday, May 30.

This committee, formed several years ago, includes Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman; Jack Treacy, treasurer; Miss Julia Rowan, secretary; with Herbert Leighton and Richard Davis as members of the executive committee.

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland provided $200 and the American Legion $10 towards the upkeep of the cemetery, and with this money the committee has endeavored to have taken care of the lots in the cemetery where no survivors remain to administer the proper care and attention. Miss Rowan said there were some 100 lots that fell in this category.

She said the committee planned to clean up these lots three times during the year, one time prior to the 30th of May, and two more times before September.

Industrial Committee For Mountain Top Is Being Organized

Plans to organize an industrial committee for the Mountain Top is in the making.

A preliminary meeting was held Tuesday night with John Abramson, from the U.S. Department of Commerce in Washington, D. C., assisting in the planning. Attending the meeting were the County Commissionerss, Mayor Russell Smith of Oakland, Carroll E. Miller from the Oakland City Council, representatives of the industrial committees from the Rotary and Lions clubs and the Chamber of Commerce, Senator Clifford Friend and some 45 to 50 farmers and business men of the area.

There was considerable discussion on the announcement that the Imperial Ice Cream company was closing its plant here. The Chamber of Commerce already has sent a telegram to the president of the company and Mayor Smith said he planned to contact some officials of the Fairmont Foods company.

Another meeting is set for next Wednesday at the Oakland Fire hall at 7:30 o'clock, at which time a complete program for setting up an industrial committee, county-wide in scope, will be outlined.

Purpose of the organization will be to bring new industry to the county and to keep what is already here. Service clubs are being asked to send two representatives. Business men and women and all interested persons are being urged to attend.

Arguments Heard Over Land Case

Arguments were heard before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on Monday concerning who actually has possession of four tenths of one acre of ground in the Red House section of the county.

In February of this year the Board of Education sold the abandoned Sunnyside School and the property upon which it stood, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Eisinger, of Washington, D. C., for $612. The sale was made after bids had been received for the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisinger had planned to remodel the building and use it for a summer home.

Mrs. Effie Stahl laid claim to the land. It had at one time been part of a tract of their farm.

Mrs. Stahl, through her attorney, asked that the court declare that the defendants had no interest in the school lot and that the deed that the Board of Education gave to Mr. and Mrs. Eisinger be declared null and void.

The defendants claimed that the real estate in question had been in the hands of the Board of Education since 1874, and that they had perfect right to issue a deed following the sale of the property.

Judge Fraley took the case under advisement and will render a decision in the near future.

Officers Investigate Wreck On Saturday

County and State officers were still investigating this week the cause of a wreck last Saturday afternoon in which an automobile went through the McKee property at the top of Columbia Hill, Mt. Lake Park, broke off a telephone pole and interrupted electric current.

The automobile was owned by G. Wells Bray. The investigation concerns who was driving the automobile at the time of the accident. Richard Russell Perando, one of the occupants and possibly the driver, was hospitalized at the Garrett County Memorial hospital, suffering from cuts and bruises but he was released Tuesday.

Invesigation is being conducted by Trooper first class Robert Henline, of the State Police, and Sheriff Paul W. Fisher.

The mishap caused considerable damage to a stone fence on the property and also to the automobile.

Races To Begin

Racing at the Deep Creek Speedway at McHenry is expected to get under way this Friday evening at 8 o'clock DST.

The races planned for last Friday were rained out. This week seven full races are being planned.

Miss Wright has received a scholarship appointment to Hood College, Frederick, and will enter that school in September. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright of Friendsville, she ranked second in a graduating class of 89. She has been prominent in music activities in Northern High school, was an office assistant during her senior year. She also is active in church work, serving as a director of one of the youth choirs.

Miss Wright is shown receiving her award from Miss Edith Brock, incoming president of the local branch of University women. Money for both scholarships was raised through the holding of a Food and Fashion fair in the Southern High gymnasium on May 3. The AAUW has professed its interest in furthering educational opportunities for young women and the local project is in line with that of the national organization throughout the country. In the past twenty-five years nearly two million dollars have been awarded in fellowships and international grants by the AAUW. The funds have come from income on an endowment fund as well as from yearly contributions by members. The AAUW fellowship program has been in operation since 1890. Since then about 1100 women have benefited from the program. Approximately half of the awards have been given to American scholars and the remainder to women from other countries. Currently about 30 American women scholars are aided each year by the AAUW through its national fellowships.

Imperial Plant To Close Doors

Will Continue To Make Cottage Cheese For Limitde Time Only

Intentions to completely close the Imperial Ice Cream plant of the Fairmont Foods company within a 90-day period, was announced this week by company officials.

The plant will cease receiving graded milk as of June 15, but will continue to produce cottage cheese for a three months' period.

Closing of the plant, which will affect eighteen employes, eighty milk patrons, and in fact the entire community, is due to excessive costs and other economic problems, it was pointed out by E. Paige Hickman, manager.

Due to a regulation of the Health Department which went into effect last August the plant was not permitted to use ungraded milk for the manufacture of ice cream, and it was found to be too costly to use the grade A milk for this purpose. "We simply have to move to an area where the hauling problem will not be such an item," Mr. Hickman said.

A letter to the patrons of the plant explain the problem the company has had since curtailing the milk receipts in order to comply with regulations in the state and counties where the milk was used and distributed.

The company contacted Maryland and Pennsylvania firms and it was announced that the H. W. Walker company, of Somerset, Pa., would buy all the milk and pay as much as the patrons have been receiving from the Imperial company.

Mr. Hickman said that effective June 15 his company would pay condenser prices for all milk received but that the quantity would be limited to what can be used in making cottage cheese. He said they would be able to handle 800 gallons a day, which is about a fourth of what is being handled today.

At the present time the company's eighty patrons have been bringing in approximately 78,000 gallons of milk per month which amounts to a monthly payroll of some $20,000. Prior to last August the company had about 300 patrons.

Mr. Hickman announced that as of June 15, six persons would be relieved of their positions. Albert Upole, Wade Janoske, James P. Kemphfer, Jr., Julian Erwin, Claude Rodeheaver and Jasper Purnell. Twelve other persons will be retained on a temporary basis and it was probable that these twelve would be transferred to positions in other plants of the territory. Mr. Hickman expects to be transferred to another operation on June 30.

This will mean a loss in payroll of about $55,000 per month, it was stated.

The plant began operations here many years ago as cooperative, and operated as a milk receiving station for a number of years prior to being taken over by the Imperial Ice Cream company. In recent years it has been a part of Fairmont Foods. Managers in recent years have been Prentice DeBerry and the late D. C. Updyke. Mr. Hickman has been manager of the local operations for the past six years.

The economic situation does not affect the Carnation company operations, since its product is processed and canned and comes under the Pure Food and Drug laws and is not regulated by State Health department laws.

Howard White, local manager of the Carnation company, which has a milk receiving station here, said this morning his company would accept any amount of acceptable milk at its local station.

Mr. Hickman stated that the closing of the local plant here would not affect the delivery of ice cream products to any of the local area.

To Induct Five

Five young men of this area will be inducted into the armed forces at the Fairmont induction station on Thursday, June 21, it was announced by the clerk of the local Draft board.

Those to report for induction are Thomas E. Bernard, Swanton; Charles L. Baker, Gormania; James H. Dunithan, Deer Park; Carroll E. Broadwater, Deer Park; Roy L. Sanders, Oakland.

Is Your Name THAYER?

Do you know that:

THAYER, an old and honored surname, is principally of English origin. According to a number of authorities on nomenclature, it is obtained from "Thierry" which was used extensively in ancient and mediaeval times as a nickname for the popular personal name "Theodoric." The latter is of both Teutonic and Anglo-Saxon origins, signifying in both instances "leader of the people."

ISAAC THAYER (1732-1814) who was born and died in Braintree, Mass., served as a captain in the Continental troops during the Revolutionary War.

Braintree, Mass., is apparently the ancestral home of a substantial segment of the present day THAYERS in this country, for the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has 56 listings of individuals, bearing the name of THAYER, who were residents of that town and heads of families at the time. Incidentally, the same census figures for Maryland contain no references to the name of Thayer.

THAYER Academy, a nationally known private school in South Braintree, Mass., was founded in 1867 by Brigadier General SYLVANUS THAYER (1812-1886) who was superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy for sixteen years, reorganized it and has since been known as the "father of West Point."

The first nominating convention (composed of members of both political parties) for Garrett County met at the Glades Hotel in Oakland on December 14, 1872. RALPH THAYER was one of the two secretaries of the convention and he was nominated for the office of Register of Wills.

F. A. THAYER was deputy clerk of the Circuit Court of Garrett County in 1878 and clerk to the County Commissioners in 1879.

JOHN M. THAYER (1847-1924) was judge, Supreme Court of Errors of Connecticut.

JAMES B. THAYER (1831-1902) was professor of law at Harvard University Law School.

CLARENCE H. THAYER is vice-president in charge of manufacturing, Sun Oil Company, Philadelphia.

PHILIP W. THAYER is professor of international law and dean of the School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT — that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!

Buick CENTURY 6-Passenger 2-Door Riviera

IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick—with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time—with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflow can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflow's newest marvel. The engineers call it "double regeneration." Lets you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure—you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new might of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a warm knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see—and feel—the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet—and the best buy yet, by far.

Shade Trees May Cause Lawn Problem

Shaded areas under trees frequently present a problem to homeowners who like to maintain a well-kept lawn. Here are some suggestions from Carl Johnson, University of Maryland landscape specialist for improving the turf in these shaded spots.

The principal causes of poor grass under trees, explains Johnson are competition from tree roots for moisture and plant food, the shading effect of the tree foliage and smothering by fallen leaves.

Competition for moisture and plant food, can be overcome by watering sufficiently to soak the soil to a depth of several inches during dry periods and by fertilizing. A heavier-than-usual application of fertilizer beneath the tree will take care of the tree's needs as well as the grass.

Use of shade-tolerant species of grass will overcome the shading effects. Red top, Chewings Fescue and trivialis bluegrass are three grasses that will tolerate shade, Johnson said.

Prompt raking and removal of fallen leaves is important to avoid smothering grass. Wherever possible, grass should be forced into rapid growth during the period when the leaves are off the trees in order to establish a strong turf before the area becomes shaded. This can be done by fertilizing and watering as necessary in the early spring and fall.

If grass will not grow in your shaded areas despite adequate fertilization and other precautions, then it will probably prove more satisfactory to plant a ground cover such as vinca, pachysandra or thyme, suggests Johnson.

Miss Graham will resume her studies at West Liberty State college where she will receive her B.S. degree next spring.

Store Excess Pasture For Future Use

Make silage out of excess pasture grass and feed it when pastures are short, or save it until next fall and winter, suggests John Dietrich, University of Maryland Extension dairyman.

Properly preserved grass silage is almost as good as pasture, Dietrich says, "and the cows really love it." In addition, silage is an economical feed and more nutrients can be preserved in silage form than in any other method of storing grass, he adds.

The dairyman says the grass will keep better if it is cut early when at the most nutritious stage. Cows like it better too, he says and they will milk better.

When the upright silos are filled, and more space is needed, Dietrich suggests making a horizontal silo. A horizontal, or trench type silo can be dug in a few hours with a bulldozer. There are close to 1,000 such silos in Maryland and some, which will hold 100 tons have been dug for less than $100.

Dietrich says an "above ground" horizontal silo should be used if the water table is too close to the ground surface for the trench type. The above ground silos may be make quickly by pushing up two parallel banks of dirt to form the sides.

More information on horizontal silos is available in the form of Extension Bulletin 155, "Horizontal Silos." This bulletin is available from county agent offices.

Milk, Dairy Products On Plentiful List

Milk and dairy products headline the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful foods list for June. Milk production is on the way to a new record in 1956 with production per cow well above previous records.

That excellent team—beef and onions—also is due to be plentiful in June. That means that there'll be steaks for outdoor cooking because the higher grades of beef will be in good supply. Or, for variety, try "beef kabobs." For these, thread alternately on metal skewers two-inch cubes of beef and one-inch pieces of onion. Brush with cooking oil and broil over hot coals, turning so the heat reaches all sides of the meat evenly. When done, slide the beef and onion off between halves of hot buttered rolls.

Other foods in plenty next month: Fresh grapefruit, canned cherries, rice, peanut butter, and canned tuna in oil.

Reports on Fun Carnival

The committee in charge of the Oakland Elementary Fun Carnival held on May 11, made its report this week.

Willard Elliott, chairman of publicity, announced that net proceeds amounted to $289.06 and that $200 had been turned over to the Oakland Elementary school for use in purchasing visual aids and other instructional material which is not available through the Board of Education.

The Parent-Teacher association now owns the booths and electrical equipment, and the only expenses in the future will be for prizes and incidentals, which will allow a greater profit for the school than was possible heretofore.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Nixon As An Asset

The type of campaign the Democrats plan to make this fall was somewhat stupidly revealed recently by Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National committee on the Sunday "Meet the Press" television program. Not that there was much of a secret about it, but the naive, not to say crude, manner in which this brash young Indiana politician proceeded to outline what he intends to do was, to say the least, unusual.

—o—

So far as the President is concerned, Mr. Butler affirmed that his health was bound to be an issue, that the Democrats would emphasize his "lack of leadership" and his "failure to keep his promises." This, of course, is what the Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver have been for weeks throatily asserting in their frantic effort to bag delegates for their August convention. It is also the theme upon which senators such as Wayne Morse, of Oregon, and Humphrey, of Minnesota, steadily harp. However, it seems more or less clear that this line is not really paying off. For one reason the health issue becomes ridiculous when compared to the Democratic performance of four times nominating the late F. D. Roosevelt, whose crippled and diseased state made him a vastly worse health risk than General Eisenhower, and the care taken to prevent his true condition from being fully understood by the American people contrasts most unfavorably with the complete frankness of this President and his doctors.

It is also true that the "lack of leadership" and "failure to keep his promises" allegations have fallen flat because they are so obviously partisan and so feebly supported that they are not taken too seriously even by the Democratic propagandists. Considering these facts, it is not surprising when Mr. Butler was asked what he had to say about Vice President Nixon's now openly announced candidacy for renomination that his avid eyes brightened and his voice became more vibrant when he said, "Oh, we are certainly going to train our biggest guns on him." At the moment that is the Democratic strategy. Mr. Nixon is to be made the villian. Already, the Democratic cartoonists and the "egghead" intellectuals are concentrating on selling the American people on the idea that if Mr. Eisenhower is reelected (which seems fairly certain) and should he die before his second term ends (which, according to his doctors, seems most improbable) then the diabolic Nixon would become President.

Of course, if these things happen that would be true—but not many balanced persons think either that they will happen, or if they did, that it would be unmitigated calamity. The truth is that in the past four years Mr. Nixon has been the target for one of the most venomous and vindictive propaganda attacks leveled at any public man for a long time, in which Mr. Stevenson has now joined. When, after his "big-gun" statement, Chairman Butler was asked whether he thought that Mr. Nixon had been a bad Vice President he dodged the question by declaring that Mr. Nixon in his campaigns had made shameful insinuations against his opponents. In effect, Mr. Butler said when he ran for the Senate and House in California he had charged them with being "subversive" and in 1952 had even reflected upon the patriotism of "that great President," Mr. Truman. Of course, this was not true. What Mr. Nixon did say was that the Truman Administration had been "soft" on communism. Certainly, no one who recalls Mr. Truman's frequent statements that the Alger Hiss case was only a "red herring" and who, among other things, remembers the manner in which he ignored the FBI's warning and information concerning the late Harry Dexter White, can feel that Mr. Nixon was not fully justified in what he said. Of course, when Mr. Nixon ran for the Senate his opponent was Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas. Mrs. Douglas, a very handsome movie actress, was not a Communist and no one said she was. Nevertheless, she was affiliated with some very left-wing organizations and was an ardent radical of the extreme New Deal and Fair Deal type. Mr. Nixon did not libel her at all, but he did beat her very badly.

Enough has been said to show that Democratic "big guns" from Mr. Butler down are all being primed for an assault on Mr. Nixon. But they have little material and a poor case. Nor is Mr. Nixon a helpless, tongue-tied individual. On the contrary, he is one of the most effective and hard-hitting campaigners in the country, as his political and journalistic critics will find out before long. There are already signs that instead of a liability to the President he will turn out to be an asset. He is able, honest, forthright and attractive. His record is clean. None of the charges against him can be made to stick. The Republicans are lucky to have him as the Eisenhower running mate. Certainly, Mr. Eisenhower thinks so.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

In the United States today we have nearly 170 million people who are free to dream and to try to make their dreams come true. This gives us a great creative force at work developing new ideas, new products, new inventions and new techniques of production. This is in contrast to a Socialist or Communist nation where a handful of "Economic Planners" do the thinking for the economic production and economic welfare of all the people. A companion factor in our wonderful success in America is our freedom to compete with the dreamer.

Not all of us can be Edisons and bring into being such great inventions as the electric light, the phonograph, etc. Yet our system permits others to compete with the Edisons. There are certain patent rights but they are always limited, and American ingenuity sparked by freedom has demonstrated again and again that there are many ways of doing things, and almost always there is a better way.

The automobile had been invented for many years, and there were many different kinds of cars on the market, when Henry Ford, an obscure auto mechanic, dreamed of producing a $500 car which the average family could afford to own. Cars were then selling for $3,000 and $4,000 which, in those days, was a small fortune. Only the very wealthy drove automobiles. But Ford had the freedom and the incentive to try out his ideas.

Ford brought into being the first mass-production assembly line and achieved the reputation of "turning out cars like a machine turns out link sausage (hot dogs)." Within a few years the Model T was selling for $375 and had become world famous. Millions of American families bought them. Yet, Ford did not have a monopoly on the market, or on production ideas. Other companies competed for the mass market. Chevrolet, Plymouth and others were successful. Through the years companies have come and gone. In my files are the names of 1,400 companies organized to manufacture automobiles in the past 60 years. The ones which have best pleased the consuming public have lived.

With our freedom to dream, and our equally important freedom to compete, the United States has far outdistanced the other nations of the world. Recently I asked the head of the political science department of Harding College to give me a list of the top wealth-producing nations of the world. Of course, America led the list. But the powerful fact was this: When I added up the value of production of the next 10 nations, I found that America produced more than all of them combined! What a dramatic measurement of the comparative advantage of our system!

Absentee Vote Law Is Now Effective

Qualified voters may now vote by absentee ballot if they will be unavoidably absent from the State on election day, according to a new state law which became effective June 1.

A qualified voter must submit an application by October 17 in order to cast an absentee ballot in the coming November 6 general election.

The absentee ballot will be available for qualified voters no matter what the reason for their absence from Maryland on election day but the reason must be cited in the application for a ballot.

Persons who are disabled or ill also may now vote by absentee ballot so long as the application is accompanied by a certificate from a physician.

The law for members of the armed forces has not been changed. They still may cast an absentee ballot whether previously registered or not. However, the wife of a serviceman who is away from this country may not cast an absentee ballot under the new law unless she is properly registered and therefore qualified to vote.

Married May 26 In Oakland

Miss Donna Jean Weimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weimer, of Mt. Lake Park, became the bride of Sherman Lee Miller, son of Mrs. Mildred Miller, Deep Creek Lake, in an open church ceremony Saturday evening, May 26, at 7 o'clock, in St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland, Rev. W. S. Patterson, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with vases of white gladioli and ferns, and lighted with tapers in candelabra standards. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Merritt Feather. Charles Briner sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," during the ceremony, accompanied by Mrs. Feather, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride's attendants were Miss Catherine Friend, maid of honor, and Sara Bell Burrell and Betty Brodus, as bridesmaids, all of Washington. Sharon Miller, Fairfax, Va., niece of the bride, was flower girl. Charles Miller, Newell, Pa., served as best man for his brother. John Gnegy, formerly of the Park, and Duke Smean, Fayette City, Pa., were ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a ballerina length dress of white embroidered crystallette over taffeta, fashioned with tight bodice, short sleeves, with matching gauntlets pointed over the hands. The veil of nylon net fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and baby's breath centered over a white orchid and ribbon streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls and earrings, a gift of the groom.

The attendants wore ballerina length dresses of lace in light orchid, princess style, with piping of satin. The maid of honor was in light blue and carried a nosegay of white and yellow pompons. The bridesmaids' nosegays were of orchid and white.

The flower girl wore a blue satin dress with a net over-skirt caught up in scallops held with satin ribbons. She carried a white lace basket.

Mrs. Weimer, mother of the bride, wore a mauve crepe dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Winters, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The theme was combined with white and yellow motif. The five-tiered wedding cake was topped with a bell, inside of which was a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Carlton Miller presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Harvey Winters served the cake. About one hundred guests were served.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1954. The bridegroom is a graduate of Brownsville, Pa., high school.

Thrill Tournament Set For Speedway at McHenry, June 23

The 1956 edition of the Tournament of Thrills, featuring the original World Champion Hell Drivers, will appear at the Deep Creek Speedway, near McHenry, on Saturday night, June 23, at 8:40 o'clock.

A world's record will be on the line during the show and the group of auto maniacs will attempt a host of hair-raising stunts throughout the 90-minute performance.

Bill Ward, motion picture stuntman, of Santa Monica, Calif., will attempt to set a new world's mark for broadjumping a new 1956 Ford stock sedan from one ramp to another. The stunt serves as the climax to the show and while Ward and his sedan are in mid-air, a second car driven by Larry Shaw of Oklahoma City, Okla., will pass directly underneath it.

Lucky Larry O'Brien, of Cleveland, O., plans to serve as a "human battering ram" by permitting himself to be driven head-first through a blazing firewall.

Two other stunters will drop from the back of a speeding car into pools of burning gasoline. The national roll-over contest series is also listed on the program with stuntmen rolling old jalopies, end-over-end and as many times as possible. Twenty-seven thrillers in all will round out the program.

Needy Children To Get Outing In Area

For the fifth summer, a large number of needy children of the city of New York will be given an outing among the farm people of Garrett county.

For two weeks these families will be hosts to the underprivileged children of the city and the children will live in the homes as members of the family.

Last year 166 children were cared for by Garrett county residents and a similar number is expected this year.

In New York the affair is sponsored by the Herald Tribune newspaper through its fresh air fund. On this side of the project the sponsors are mostly members of the Conservative Mennonite church but it is open to any interested family, regardless of religious beliefs.

Three trips are scheduled this year. The first group will arrive July 12 and leave July 24. The second group will arrive July 25 and leave August 8. The third group will arrive August 9 and leave August 22.

The Herald Tribune newspaper furnishes all expenses of getting the children to this area and taking them back to New York. The children are all insured during the time of the visit.

The local committee includes Ivan J. Miller, Grantsville, chairman, Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beitzell, Accident; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Yoder, Salisbury, Pa. Mr. Beitzel said this week the project gives the children an opportunity to mingle with people who live close to the soil, on farms or in small towns. If America is to remain a strong nation, we must nourish in cities the democracy whose grass roots were first planted in small communities. City children with this experience can aid in such nourishment."

He said there was hardly a town within 300 miles of New York that has not at one time since 1877 been host to Fresh Air children. There are currently more than 1500 active Friendly Towns with many families having hosts for three generations.

Persons interested in assisting in this program may contact Mr. Miller by telephone 4302, Grantsville; or Mr. Beitzell, at CHestnut 5-2022.

ONE WORD . . .
Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Living

Some unhappy folks put off living because they're afraid. Others are bored. They postpone their life until some fictional future date. Losing sight of the present, and the golden opportunities for rich living here and now, they deprive themselves of current joys which would give meaning and satisfaction to their day-by-day journey.

Jesus must have known this about people. He often cautioned them against it. "Be not anxious about tomorrow," he said. He must often have quoted the Psalms, especially where we find the text: "This is the day the Lord hath made. We will rejoice and be glad in it."

Let's not put off living, the word that can change your life.

Wool Collection Schedule Announced

The schedule for collection of the 1956 crop of Maryland wool has been announced by Amos R. Meyer, University of Maryland Extension marketing specialist.

The collection point for Oakland will be at the Southern States Co-op, and will be done on June 26.

Growers who are unable to get their wool to the collection point should ship their wool prepaid direct to the United Wool Grower's Association, Inc., Harrisonburg, Va., according to Meyer.

"Those who ship to Harrisonburg must be sure that a tag is placed inside the bag as well as on the outside, and the tags must show the owner's name and complete mailing address," Meyer says. "The town listed on the owner's tag must have a post office and growers should also write the name of the county, as several towns in Maryland have the same name."

Wool shipped directly to Harrisonburg will be weighed upon arrival and then graded by a qualified grader from Boston, and the advance check mailed promptly to the owner.

Meyer advises growers to make sure that sheep are dry before shearing, if the sheep have not yet been sheared. "And make your fleece as attractive as you can," he urges. "Each fleece should be carefully folded so as to have no loose ends on the outside, rolled with the flesh side out and tied with paper twine. Each producer's wool will be graded on its own merits as was the case in 1955, and payments will be made on the grade basis."

County agricultural agents or vocational agriculture teachers may be contacted for further information on wool handling.

Suzanne Oglesby to Return This Year To Summer Theatre

Suzanne Oglesby, who will be remembered for her performances last season at the Garrett County Playhouse, will return with Gene Yell's company of young professional and semi-professionals for the eight weeks' season this year.

Suzanne, who has just begun what is predicted to be a stellar career on the stage, will appear in several of the well-known plays scheduled for production at the Arden Boat Club, at McHenry.

Miss Oglesby hails from Tulsa, Oklahoma, where she participated in the Children's theatre. She has become a favorite of Rodey hall audiences on the University of New Mexico's campus where she is currently enrolled for academic and practical training in all phases of the theatre.

Although young in years, Suzanne Oglesby has already packed into her short career a variety of roles which shows off her versatile talents.

She has received rave notices from Albuquerque critics for her performances in Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning," "Playboy of the Western World," and "Laburnum Grove."

This past season at the campus theatre, Suzanne gave a portrayal of the revengeful wife in the Greek tragedy, "Medea."

Miss Oglesby will return to the Garrett County Playhouse with several of last season's performers, Leonard Drum, Tom Calkins, D. G. Buckles, Helen Camp, and Bonnie Barton.

Newcomers to the local theatre will be Ronald Yost, Donnie Welch, Robert Morris and Myron Herrick.

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Garrett County is now conducting a season ticket campaign. A $10 subscription entitles the ticket holder to eight performances plus a guest ticket. Each play will run five evening performances. Subscriptions may be obtained from members of the club or by contacting the Garrett County Playhouse, Post Office Box 301, Oakland.

Noel Coward's sophisticated and delightful comedy, "Hayfever," will open the eight weeks' theatrical season on July 3.

Accused of encouraging attacks on segregation laws, the National Association for advancement of Colored People was ordered by Alabama state court to stop doing business in Alabama.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their rain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

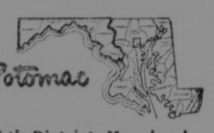
Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

I am gratified with the action of the Upper Potomac River Basin Board in endorsing my proposal that the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin be the agency to prepare a master conservation plan for the Valley. I am also pleased that the Board is in favor of the Commission requesting the member states to the Compact to enact legislation necessary to implement the plan.

I wish to commend the part that local conservation groups and individuals are playing in creating a widespread interest in ending pollution and conserving the resources of the Potomac River Valley.

We are all interested in promoting safety in the coal industry and in the protection of the lives and limbs of those who mine our coal. Safety in the mines requires real cooperation between the mine owner and the miner, as well as adequate enforcement of federal and state safety regulations. I am certain that the 6th District is pleased wih the reappointment of Edwin R. Price, of Frederick, to the Federal Coal Mine Safety Review Board.

Communities are discovering that major efforts directed toward traffic safety are paying off dividends to them. Not only are accidents with their consequent loss of life and injuries reduced, but communities are finding that they receive many additional benefits from a smoother flow of traffic. The National Safety Council has given special recognition to College Park, Mount Rainier, and Takoma Park for their safety records.

In line with increased safety on the highway is the new Highway Construction bill. In addition to modernizing and building safety into our highways, the bill will act as a stimulant to industry and employment in many areas of the country.

I would like to again call attention to the small businessmen of the 6th Maryland District to the meeting scheduled by the Small Business Administration in Baltimore on June 21. Firsthand information will be available on government contracts. Instructions on how to handle bidding on government contracts will be given by SBA officials.

On my calendar: On Saturday, June 9, I will be in my Cumberland office and Sunday evening will speak at the Elks' Flag Day exercises in Hagerstown. If the business before the House on June 12 permits, I will speak to the Columbia Heights Business Men's Association on the Metropolitan Washington transit situation. I plan to attend the annual picnic of the Western Chapter of the Maryland Motor Truck Association at Williamsport on June 13.

Travel Magazine Boosts The County

Under a title of "Panhandle Playgrounds," Joan B. Crawford gives a page or more of space to boosting Garrett county as a travel area. The article appeared in the June issue of "Travel."

Her first paragraph presents the invitation. "If you like a mountain vacation spiced with plenty of variety, where scenery is unsurpassed, the choice of outdoor activity virtually unlimited and the prices moderate, set your sights on the interlocked panhandles of West Virginia and Maryland. Here, just below the Mason-Dixon line, are mountain top playgrounds and scenic valleys where you can find all the thrills of water sports, the fun of fishing, hunting, riding, golf and tennis, a casual kind of night life, a lot of historical atmosphere, and the peaceful relaxation that goes with the easy, unhurried life of the woods.

The article then proceeds to mention Deep Creek Lake, its location, its activities, the accommodations available, the summer playhouse, the mountain streams, the swimming, boating, the golfing.

The article also calls attention to Herrington Manor, Muddy Creek Falls, and other interesting bits of information.

Fighting Paganism

Lesson for June 10, 1956

CHRISTIANITY has seldom if ever spread smoothly and easily like gravy over mashed potatoes. Its history is more like a river which meets with immense rocks and boulders which tear the water into foam and spray. As the Colorado river has to fight to make its way westward, so the Christian church has had to fight. It is not true that all men are eager for the Gospel and that all we have to do is to tell people about the love of God and they will all be grateful and glad to hear it. On the contrary, Christ has his enemies now as he did in Galilee, and has always had. The name "paganism" is sometimes given to everything in contemporary life and thought which is actively hostile to Christ and his cause.

Dr. Foreman

Did the church conquer paganism?

Already in the city of Ephesus, when St. Paul was the main preacher there, Christians ran into trouble. We sometimes think if we could get rid of our preachers and get the Apostles to take charge of our churches for a while, we would eliminate all our troubles; but St. Paul for one would not have agreed with us. We hear of opposition that became quite serious. Certain men "were hardened," "did not believe," and far from keeping their unbelief to themselves, "spoke evil of the Way" (i.e., Christian life) in the most public places ("before the multitude"). This is a sample of what Christianity, the Christian church and individual Christians, have to contend with in all ages of the church: hardened men, who are not only without faith but who will go out of their way to attack the Christians' faith. This is paganism; it has many forms but its spirit is always anti-Christian. The church both has, and has not, overcome paganism. It has won many of these enemies of Christ to become his followers, and is still doing so. It has taken the control of society out of their hands, in various times and places, as happened at Ephesus for a time. But the fact is, paganism is far from dead. In one form or other its attacks go on and on.

Missionaries of paganism

When an army stays for any length of time in a foreign territory, it usually leaves behind it words or phrases which the natives pick up, and which may become a permanent part of the local language. It was so with the English language. The Roman military occupation of England, which lasted into hundreds of years, left many souvenirs in the English language. One of the first words the Britons learned from the Romans was "wine" from the Latin vinum. (Incidentally, also, another word borrowed but not now used in English was a word for "buy" that comes from a Latin word for tavernkeeper.) So our very language bears testimony to the fact that the pagan Romans were everywhere missionaries of paganism, and that part of the gospel of paganism is, Liquor is a Good Thing . . . so let's all have more of it! Paganism still sends out its missionaries. On a slow boat to China not many years ago two men shared the same stateroom. One was being sent out by an American Christian church to preach the gospel of Christ. The other was a man who was keeping his son in college by selling liquor in China—sent out by a large distillery firm. Every convert made by the liquor-missionary was going to make it more difficult for the Christ-missionary; and also the other way around.

Paganism's progress

Christians too easily sit back in their easy pews and think, Paganism has been licked. St. Paul licked it, or Luther, or Wesley or somebody. We live in a Christian era, in a Christian land. Do we or don't we? There are some figures that ought to make us think. The statistics of the Internal Revenue Service of the United States, as analyzed by the Methodist Board of Temperance, show that for every church being erected in the U.S., seven retail outlets for liquor are being licensed. As of the latest count, there are 141,733 more saloons, cocktail bars and stores selling alcoholic beverages than there are churches, synagogues and temples combined. The breakdown shows 441,789 "spirits sources" as against 300,506 "spiritual sources."

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

Some of the most quoted and least understood passages of scripture are the Ten Commandments. The most common mistake that people make in these commandments is the tendency to limit them to the letter of the law. When this happens, we come up with a code that is too small to apply to all of the areas of our lives—and if we regard these as "The Word of God," we can very easily arrive at a belief in Him that is much too small. To use any passage of scripture, we have to enlarge upon it, apply it to our lives today, allowing the spirit of the written word to inspire us to greater heights, rather than to allow the letter to limit our growth in the Lord.

In this spirit then I will consider for the next eight weeks, a study of the ten commandments. The first commandment, recorded in Exodus 20:2,3, is this: "I am the Lord your God—You shall have no other Gods before me."

If we follow the letter of the law in this case, we could easily assume that most of the world is following the commandment of God, because most of us believe in one "God." The particular situation in which this commandment was given to the children of Israel was a situation in which these people were tempted to follow the gods of other nations.

In our nation, most people would say that they believe in one God, and Baal of the Canaanites, or Marduk, or Bethsaida-Mazda would hold no attraction for anybody. The fact is, however, although we have no problem of two or more supernatural deities in our land, we certainly can find many areas where God is not given the first place in the lives of the people.

The biggest competitor that God has for honor is the selfishness of the people that He has created. The biggest problems of man all root in his unwillingness to allow God and His Word the first place in his life. The thing that takes the place of God is the human person. Practically all of our drives, our motives, are aimed at pleasure and service for ourselves. When a man says that "money is the root of all evil," I would violently disagree with him. Money in and of itself is not sinful, it is when money becomes an end in itself, in the hands of greedy, power-mad individuals, persons who love themselves above anything else—here is where the sin in money resides.

Our Gods of today that we hold up in the place of the only true God are not supernatural. They are very much a part of our lives. They are the symbols of self-pride; the automobile that far outreaches the needs of a man for transportation, but has become a trademark for success—the closets that are filled with clothes not necessary and seldom used, except as a matter of showing off—the homes that have ceased becoming places where people love and live, but have become vehicles for the expression of pride in personal accomplishment. We live within, and for ourselves too much (not just in "this day and age," for this has always been man's problem). Each generation, each person has to learn anew the basic rule of life: THIS WORLD AND EVERYTHING IN IT BELONGS ULTIMATELY TO GOD—ONLY AS WE SERVE HIM AND HIS PURPOSES DO WE ACCOMPLISH ANYTHING "GOOD."

Take stock of your life right now. Where do you stand? Whom do you serve—your SELF? Or your MAKER?

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission

"Rude, Crude, Ignorant"

A recent incident of the highly publicized European tour of ex-President Harry Truman and his wife has thrown light upon two rather old, but none the less true, axioms of political life which the really wise politicians keep constantly in mind but which the not so smart ones occasionally forget—sometimes to their great discomfiture.

—o—

One is that continuous favorable publicity—particularly for a certain type of politician—can be a very dangerous drug; the other that soon or late any politician who unnecessarily talks a great deal is bound to make a mistake sometime. A short time ago Mr. Truman proved the correctness of both these well-founded beliefs. It was in Italy that Mr. Truman volunteered his opinion that in World War II the Salerno and Anzio campaigns had been a "ghastly failure," undoubtedly conceived by "some squirrel-headed general." It is assumed that when he made this somewhat bad-tempered comment Mr. Truman thought he was hitting at President Eisenhower, toward whom he has developed a curious personal dislike. Actually, the men chiefly responsible for the Allied Italian strategy were Sir Winston Churchill and Lieut. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, who was commander of the British 8th Army in the Italian campaign.

The day after the Truman remark there naturally came indignant repudiation of his statement by men in position to know. Sir Oliver emphatically declared that Mr. Truman was talking "nonsense." At his press conference, without mentioning Mr. Truman, the President mildly said that though he had nothing to do with the decision he did not think the Salerno-Anzio campaign could be called a failure inasmuch as it had pinned down 27 German divisions that otherwise would have been in France. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of our armed forces in Italy, merely said that he carried out orders.

Under this sort of barrage the courageous Mr. Truman hastily retreated. This, of course, was the only thing he could do, but the way in which he did it has not enhanced his reputation nor promoted him in general esteem. For, his first reaction was to make a flat denial. He had never said such things. He had been misquoted. A little later his secretaries came forth with the suggestions that the reporters had misunderstood him, that he had, perhaps, said something like that "as a joke." The reporters very firmly stood by their story. One, an Associated Press veteran of more than 30 years, the other a United Press representative of almost equal service, both men of established reputation, declared that Mr. Truman had been accurately reported, that he had been not in the least humorous, that notes of what he said were made in his presence, that he imposed no restrictions and that he distinctly had not been misquoted.

Following this, Mr. Truman said he was "greatly embarrassed," that he was "very sorry" and he begged the newspaper men who accompanied him to "straighten this out for me." Altogether it was a rather pitiable performance. All the cockiness which he has so widely evinced in the past few years had oozed out. He was, for the moment, chastened. With no desire to overemphasize this incident nor to attach great importance thereto, it does seem worth while to point out two things. One is that Mr. Truman's denial carries very little conviction. Whenever a politician gets in trouble for misstating the facts, his first reaction is to yell that he was "misquoted." The late Franklin Roosevelt did that so frequently that he lost the respect of some of his most ardent journalistic admirers. It is a very common political practice.

While Mr. Truman was President, it became almost a habit every time a newspaper man wrote critically about him to send the writer a personal letter calling him a liar. Since he left the White House he has received a great deal of publicity which he has obviously liked. As someone said the other day, he "laps it up like a puppy does warm milk." His books, articles, speeches and comment generally have been played up. This is the first real break he has made, and even in this he has been treated by the press better than he deserved. Perhaps one should not refer to a former President as a liar, but in the matter of his denials in this case, it does seem permissible to say that he "handles the truth carelessly." There is also some justification for recalling the comment of that distinguished elder statesman and Democrat, Mr. Bernard M. Baruch, when asked about some uncomplimentary and ugly remarks made about him by Mr. Truman while he was still President. Said Mr. Baruch quietly, "He is a rude, crude, ignorant little man."

Lifeblood of Egypt

THE STORIED NILE: Since the beginning of time, inhabitants of the African Continent have watched the ebb and flow of the mighty Nile as the gauge of their annual prosperity. The River Nile, the lifeblood of Egypt, has played an important role in the history of Egypt and Africa, both economically and politically, in many instances tipping the scales one way or the other. On both sides of the Nile in Cairo can be seen houseboats in which all conveniences can be found during the hot days in summer. The sailing boats, called Feluccas, add to the picturesque scene along the river, and are very popular with tourists for moonlight trips. The tall building shown in this picture is a modern hotel and has a well arranged roof garden overlooking the water.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Hardly a Status Quo

The ceaseless struggle between freedom and communism came closer to grips last week with the recognition of Red China by Egypt. Thereby, it is widely believed that the stage is set for another attempt to gain admission to the United Nations for Communist China. It is anticipated that out of the shadows of the Iron Curtain other countries will join in supporting this new drive to obtain a cloak of respectability for an aggressor nation.

This develoment poses many crucial questions, not the least important of which are these two: (1) What is the true relationship between Soviet Russia and Red China? and (2) How can this campaign in deceit be repulsed?

As to the first question, U. S. News and World Report Magazine has published a condensed version of a book, titled "At Last—The True Story of Red China," written by a businessman, released only recently after more than 30 years in that country, which includes these timely statements: "The fact is, China has been conquered almost as thoroughly as if there had been a direct Soviet military invasion, followed by the establishment of a Russian-model military government that could control the cumulative power of 580 million people. . ." Also, "Superficially it appears that the ties between the Soviet Union and Communist China are one of partnership based on an identity of interest rather than domination of one by the other. But the evidence presented in this book demonstrates that China today is a giant slave state being exploited by the Soviet Union to conquer all of Asia as a major step toward world domination." Obviously, to admit Red China to the United Nations would be merely to extend and strengthen the tenacles of world communism.

To answer the second point, it may become necessary for the United States to exercise the much discussed "veto" in the United Nations. The alacrity and frequency with which the Russians have used, or misused, this unusual power should dispel any moral or procedural reservations held by many Americans. Significant here is the incontrovertible evidence that the United States, in shouldering the burden in Korea, lost 33,000 young men with another 110,000 wounded or maimed—a costly sacrifice for the cause of freedom which Egypt and a few other countries blithely ignore in their mad haste to do "the devil's bidding."

I shall continue to oppose, with all the vigor I can summon, the admission of Red China to the United Nations. The American people must face this issue squarely.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL

United States Senator from Maryland

Fresh memories of the investigation of 1954's high coffee prices flocked back to me during the past few days as the costs of many vacuum-packed brands on store shelves went up.

As chairman of the Senate subcommittee which heard testimony on the coffee situation two years ago, I naturally felt extra curious about the recent price boosts. So I attempted to get information on the matter.

An analysis of the situation was supplied by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the Department of Agriculture.

No Coffee Shortage Predicted

According to a report released by the Department, there will not be any shortage of coffee this year.

That does not mean, however, that prices might not creep upward a little farther.

The reason for this odd situation lies in the fact that American coffee drinkers use a blend usually composed of Brazilian coffee and a milder bean.

Costs Higher for Mild Coffee

There is currently a bumper supply of the Brazilian product, but the mild coffee from other countries is reportedly less available.

Therefore, importers are believed to have offered higher prices for the mild coffee, and the increased payments were reflected in the Brazilian market.

Ultimately, of course, the higher costs were passed along to those of us who are coffee drinkers.

Situation to be Watched Closely

I am encouraged by optimistic predictions that this country's consumer prices will soon level off.

But I am disturbed by a comment in the Agriculture Department's report that the so-called scarcity of mild coffees appears to be artificial.

Following our 1954 investigation, coffee costs dipped sharply.

You can be sure that I will keep in close contact with the present situation to see whether it also might warrant a careful survey.

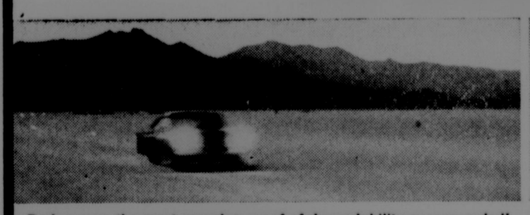
DEPENDABILITY? Let's face it! No car at any price can match the solid ruggedness you'll find when you . . .

DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE IN DODGE!



Dodge gave the most amazing proof of dependability ever recorded! In a grueling test of endurance at Bonneville, the '56 Dodge was driven at top speed night and day for 14 full days. It went over 31,000 miles at an average speed of 92.86 mph without a single breakdown!

The Dodge frame is built to take it! Massive box-section side rails extend the full length of the frame, are stronger than U-channel or I-beam types used in other cars. Short, rigid brackets anchor the body securely to the frame.

Dependable power on demand! 260 hp. aircraft-type V-8 whipped all cars in NASCAR acceleration tests.

Mechanically perfect! Dodge push-button driving with its fool-proof mechanical design is the most dependable of any on the road.

Dependable in little things, too!
- Electric Windshield Wipers Never slow down when you speed up!
- Weather-Proof Ignition System For fast, sure starts always!
- Independent Parking Brake Like having a second set of brakes!
- Safety-Rim Wheels For added blow-out protection!
- Safe-Guard Brakes Have two cylinders for surer stops!

A Searching Look . . .

A deep, searching look is due this week into this ruckus among the County Commissioners, caused in a very large measure by one Commissioner, Ervin A. Roth. The hearing on the bill of complaint filed by Mr. Roth against the other two commissioners, H. D. Swartzentruber and Aubrey C. Brenneman, has been held before Chief Judge George Henderson, and the judge, basing his decision entirely on existing laws, has declared that he will issue an injunction stopping these two commissioners from doing business with themselves in the future.

We make no apologies for the two commissioners. Technically, I am sure, they were in the wrong, but entirely, I am also sure, because of thoughtlessness, and nothing else.

So while we analyze the judge's decision, let us also weigh carefully his words explaining that decision. Judge Henderson placed special emphasis on the fact that there is no criminal intent involved. He indicated that the two complaints against Swartzentruber never should have been brought into court. They were minor items, one of them a purchase of a brief case by the roads engineer at Hub's Harness Shop for $16, the other an item of some $44 for three tarpaulins purchased during an emergency to cover and save a carload of cement when a hurricane was due here. Insofar as Brenneman was concerned the judge pointed out that in hiring his son, John J. Brenneman, to drill holes, that the county had suffered no loss, they had received full value for all money expended; that the price for drilling was reasonable and that his employment had probably saved the county money.

But in a judge's ruling, law is law, and must be interpreted as such. Had the two county commissioners wanted to enter a cross suit against Roth they could have done so easily and the net result would have been a decision against Roth for he also accepted payment from the commissioners

Decision On Plant Closing Not Definite

Mayor Smith Gets Statement Of Facts From Parkersburg Officials

No definite decision has been made to close the Imperial Ice Cream plant of the Fairmont Foods in Oakland, according to word received this week from two sources.

This statement was made by Russell L. Smith, mayor of Oakland, who had a conference with Fairmont Foods officials in Parkersburg one day last week. A similar statement was made by John A. Robins, president of Fairmont Foods, of Omaha, Nebraska.

Five statements of fact were outlined by Mr. Smith following his interview. He listed them as follows:

1. The Fairmont Foods company is faced with an economic problem in Oakland. This plant has now for some months shown a loss in its operation, and an exhaustive study is underway now to ascertain whether or not the plant can be made to operate profitably.

2. No decision has been made to close this plant, and until all studies are completed no decision will be made.

3. The company, in view of its monthly operating losses, much desires to reduce the amount of milk accepted at the plant, but it does not intend to simply cut off immediately the patrons from whom it has been accepting milk.

4. The company hopes that the studies now being made can be completed by the end of this month when a final decision can be reached as to the future of the Oakland plant.

5. The officials in Parkersburg have assured me that I will be kept advised as their studies progress.

Mr. Smith stated that when the story broke June 4th that the imperial plant in Oakland was to close its doors, it seemed everyone concerned, primarily the producers of the milk taken to the plant, were taken completely by surprise, and quite naturally, due to the seriousness of having no market for much or the greater part of the milk being produced, and the many conflicting views, charges and counter-charges going around.

Smith declared, "I felt it my duty to do my best to ascertain the true facts of the situation. Accordingly I contacted the officials in charge of the division of Fairmont Foods company which control the operation of this plant, made an appointment and was received by these officials last Friday, June 8, at their offices in Parkersburg."

The above five points were then outlined. Smith said these facts pertain as of today.

He said he felt the greatest help that can be rendered in the situation is for all to exercise some patience and to refrain from making statements about the situation until the facts are known. He said the above statemens had the approval of the Fairmont Foods officials in Parkersburg.

When it was learned last week that the company planned to close its doors Charles L. Briner, secretary to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce, sent a telegram to John A. Robins, president of Fairmont Foods, of Omaha, Nebraska, asking for facts as to the closing. Mr. Briner received the following reply:

"In connection with your telegram received yesterday we have not as yet reached a definite decision to close our Oakland plant.

"However, we are considering this action because it seems impossible to produce a profit from this operation and if our local management cannot find a way to improve its situation we see no other alternative."

Receives Her Degree

Elizabeth Anne Warnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Emmons Warnick, of Grantsville, received her degree of Bachelor of Arts at the 75th commencement exercises at Milligan college, Milligan City, Tenn., on June 4. Her major field of study was music.

Miss Warnick served as editor of the 1956 college annual, the "Buffalo," was business manager of the college chapter of Alpha Psi Omega; was a member of the intercollege debate team and manager of the girls' basketball team during her freshman year. She also was a member of the following groups during her four years there: Milligan college concert choir, the Footlighters, Hopwood chapter of Future Teachers of America, Youth organization, Service Seekers and Christian Service club.

Five Persons Hurt In Crash Not Serious

None of the five persons hurt Saturday afternoon in a two-car crash was seriously injured, it was reported by Garrett County Memorial hospital officials. The condition of all five was listed as "good" after they were admitted following the collision on U.S. 50, three and one-half miles east of Table Rock shortly before 3 p. m.

Pfc. Robert Henline of the Maryland State Police, investigated and said charges were being withheld pending the recovery of the patients.

He stated that the car driven by Carl Connor Padgett, 64, Parkersburg, W. Va., was eastbound when a westbound vehicle operated by Mildred Faye Morrison, 20, of Sandyville, W. Va., attempted to pass a truck on a hill where vision was not clear. The two cars collided head-on.

Padgett suffered chest injuries and Miss Morrison had a broken nose and multiple cuts and bruises.

Others in the crash were Robert Lee Smith, 64, Ashford, W. Va., broken rib on right side and face lacerations; Ethel Smith, 60, Ashford, lacerations of the forehead and multiple cuts and bruises; Bernice George Padgett, 58, Parkersburg, multiple cuts and bruises.

Stuntman To Try Longest Car Leap

Bill Ward, Santa Monica, Calif., stunt man, will attempt the longest car leap on record when the Tournament of Thrills, featuring the World Champion Hell Drivers appear in front of the grandstand on Saturday night, June 23, at the Deep Creek Speedway, McHenry, at 8:30 o'clock.

The car leap is billed as the "Rocket Car Leap of Death." Ward will drive a new '56 Ford stock sedan speeding up a long launching platform, catapulting his car through space and attempt to land on a big receiving rampway. While Ward's car is in mid-air, a second '56 Ford sedan driven by Larry Shaw, of Oklahoma City, Okla., will broadslide directly underneath the Rocket Car and between the elevations.

Besides the ramp-to-ramp leap, Ward will give an exhibition of hiski driving in which he will balance a '56 Ford stock sedan on two wheels for a distance of some 150 feet before settling the automobile back down on all four wheels on the race track.

One Way Of Showing Good Will To Tourists

There are various ways of showing good will to tourists. Here is a new one experienced by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mealy who recently returned to their home in the Park after a vacation in southern states.

Enroute through a town in Georgia Mr. and Mrs. Mealy were stopped by a policeman who presented them with a "summons." This summons gave them almost full reign of the city. Gasoline was offered, free tickets to all amusements and attractions in the area were given and they were showered with other courtesies.

Probing as to the "why" Mr. and Mrs. Mealy found that one tourist would be picked every so often and given this extra boost just as a good will stunt. Merchants bore the expense involved.

The gun, a .22 calibre rifle, was fired by Robert Moralee, 16, also of Steubenville. Both boys told that they were engaged in shooting at mark and that Jerry stepped in front of the gun as it was fired.

The two boys, along with other persons were occupying Sunset Cabins, on the McHenry inlet of Deep Creek Lake. The bullet went through the muscle of his arm. No charges were placed against Moralee.

Fire Damages Loch Lynn Restaurant

Fire of undetermined origin on Monday night damaged the Weimer restaurant in Loch Lynn Heights to the extent of $6,000 or more.

Oakland firemen received the alarm about 11:45, but flames were already shooting from the building. Fire chief Emroy Bolden said it was thought that the fire could have been caused by a lighted cigaret having been left upon an upholstered piece of furniture in the building.

Veryl Weimer, owner, had closed the restaurant and had gone to his home nearby. Before retiring he happened to glance out of the window and saw the flames. Bolden said it was a stubborn blaze and was difficult to fight. The fire attracted a large crowd.

A diesel engine and generator valued at $8,000 were also destroyed by fire at one of the mines of the Stanley Coal company near Crellin the following day.

Oakland firemen also were called to this blaze and they succeeded in saving a second diesel engine in an adjoining building.

Commissioners Enjoined From Doing Business With Selves

Judge Puts Emphasis On His Remarks That Case Was Not Of Criminal Intent

An injunction order that will enjoin two defendant county commissioners from doing business with themselves in future transactions, was ordered Tuesday by Chief Judge George Henderson, after hearing testimony on a bill of complaint filed some weeks ago by Irvin Roth, the third county commissioner.

At the same time however, the Judge was emphatic in wanting it understood that the case before him for trial was not a case in which there was any criminal intent charged.

Judge Henderson explained that the two items which were the cause of the complaint filed against H. D. Swartzentruber were minor transactions and were done for matters of convenience only.

He also pointed out in the case of Aubrey Brenneman that it was not a question of business being given by the County Commissioners to A. C. Brenneman and Son without due public notice. "No other bidders appeared so the contract was awarded to John J. Brenneman. When it was learned later that additional work was to be done by the drillers, the contract price was reduced."

The Judge continued: "I want to make it clear to everybody that nothing was done in any way which would appear to be a criminal offense."

He indicated that the county had gotten value received for any funds that had been spent with A. C. Brenneman and Son for drilling operations. But because of the situation in which it was testified that legally Mr. Brenneman was a partner of the firm, it was illegal to do business with that organization.

He added that as long as Mr. Brenneman is still a member of the partnership, even though he gets no profits, he may not do business with the County Commissioners.

In the testimony offered before the court both A. C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman contended that the partnership had been dissolved. But no records were avail-

Westernport Boy Dies After Crash

Head-On Collision Last Friday Puts Two Others In Hospital

A 17-year-old Westernport youth, who was graduated from Bruce High school last week, died last Friday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained in a two-car automobile accident which occurred near Swanton, in which two other persons were hospitalized.

Fatally injured was William Joseph Ross, operator of one of the automobiles. Injured in the mishap were David Kesecker, 16, of Keyser, passenger in the car driven by Ross, and Mrs. Mary Wills, 40, of Piedmont, driver of the other auto.

State Police said that Ross died as a result of a fractured skull and was reported to have died enroute to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

Kesecker, who was taken to the Oakland hospital, was reported in "good" condition. He suffered a fractured right leg, multiple cuts and bruises. He was transferred to Potomac Valley hospital in Keyser Friday evening.

Mrs. Wills, patient in the Keyser hospital, was reported in "fair" condition. She suffered leg, head and chest injures in the accident which occurred about 2:35 p. m. about one half mile north of Swanton on State route 495. Alvin Pearce, about 18, route 3, Keyser, a third passenger in the car driven by Ross, was reported to have sustained a slight hand injury.

The highway extends from Swanton northeast to Grantsville. Tfc. Robert D. Henline, of the State Police, who investigated, said that Ross was driving his car north on route 495 and Mrs. Wills was traveling in the opposite direction.

Police said the Ross car crossed the center of the highway and hit Mrs. Wills' car practically head on. She swerved in an attempt to avoid the accident, police added. Mrs. Wills is the owner of the Piedmont Ice and Locker Service in Piedmont.

Ross, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ross, was graduated with the 1956 class of Bruce High School May 31 and was an acolyte at St. James Episcopal church in Westernport. He was also a member of the Naval Reserve. He had carried newspapers in Westernport for about eight years.

Surviving besides his parents are two sisters, Mrs. Betty Martin, of Westernport; Miss Shirley Lee Ross, at home; and a brother, John Ross, at home.

Appeal Court Says Road Group Lacks Right to Use Land

The Maryland Court of Appeals ruled last Thursday that a strip of land along some property at Deep Creek Lake was not dedicated to public use and that the State Roads commission has no right to it.

The decision upheld a Garrett County Circuit Court decision which granted the owners of the lots in the Lake View area an injunction to keep the State Roads commission from using the land to widen route 219.

Originally the State Roads Commission had instituted proceedings to acquire the 20-foot wide strip, but later reached the conclusion that it had been dedicated to public use when the lots were first laid out.

In holding that the land was not dedicated to public use, the high court said it was not deciding any questions of title which might have to be answered later.

The days until that time had been mostly clear and fairly hot, with some rain coming however on Sunday evening.

Last night however, was different. There was a heavy downpour of rain along with constant streaks of lightning and sharp peals of thunder. As far as could be learned, there was no damage from the lightning striking any object.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Value of Senate Control

Nearly every day additional evidence of the great political advantage which accrued to the Democrats when they gained a majority of the Senate in 1954 is given. Their margin of control was only one and that temporarily disappeared some months ago when Senator Kilgore, of West Virginia, died. However, Democratic control was quickly regained, when the Democratic Governor of that State appointed a Democratic Senator—William R. Laird, 3d—to fill the vacancy. A majority of one is, of course, extremely precarious but is quite enough to hold the advantage and afford the propaganda facilities which did not exist before and come only with party control.

The most effective thing about the present Senate setup is that it not only has installed Democrats as chairmen of all standing Senate committees but it has enabled the Democratic majority to establish Democratic control over various special newly created "investigative" committees such as the one Senator Symington, of Missouri, now heads to probe the conduct of the Defense Department; the one Senator McClellan, of Arkansas, heads to investigate the lobby situation as it affects Congress and others scheduled to come into being before this session adjourns.

The chairmanships of these special committees give the Democrats the same sort of sounding board that Senator McCarthy had when the Republicans were in control and undoubtedly will be used in much the same way except, perhaps, that the exhibition of prejudice may not be so blatant. A significant example of the way in which these Democratic investigations are headed was given recently when Senator Jackson (D., Wash.), and second man on the Symington subcommittee, was on a television panel. For half an hour Senator Jackson had been pointing out the sins of omission and commission of Secretary of Defense Wilson. Also he explained, as Senator Symington had done in a Senate speech, how far ahead of us the Russians were in the development of ballistic missiles, long-distance bomber planes and other atomic weapons of destruction. In brief, he painted a most terrifying picture of our feebleness and failures. He gave, as had Senator Symington, a good many supporting figures. When he was through the able and experienced Mr. Richard Wilson, of the Cowles publications, who had questioned him, quietly said with a smile, "Well, Senator Jackson, if you and Senator Symington know all these things to be facts, why cannot you and he write your report now instead of going to all the bother and expense of taking testimony and hearing witnesses?"

—o—

This brought Senator Jackson up with quite a little turn. At once he began to expand eloquently upon the alleged openness of his mind and to declare that all he wanted to do was "get the truth to the American people." But he did not directly answer Mr. Wilson's amiable question. Also, he rather skidded away from queries as to how he and Mr. Symington got all these "facts" about our weakness and the Soviet strength. Although, in effect, he accused Secretary of Defense Wilson and the President of being lax and uninformed he took care not to make direct accusations. His chief annoyance seemed to be that Secretary Wilson had failed promptly to reply to a letter he wrote and the President had been slow in adopting some suggestions he had made.

—o—

Altogether Senator Jackson's performance was interesting in that it throws a clear light upon the character of these "investigations" which Democratic senators have launched and now control. With few exceptions, they are aimed at the Administration and will be used to promote Democratic prospects in the coming elections. They are partisan in their origin and are expected to provide campaign ammunition for Democratic candidates, writers and orators. Of course, it is true that if the situation were reversed with a Democrat in the White House, the Republicans would be doing the same thing in the same way. Republican senators, up for re-election, would be assailing a Democratic Secretary of State much as Senators Fulbright, the garrulous Wayne Morse and the tiresome Humphrey, of Minnesota, try to make villains and boobs out of the President and Mr. Dulles. They might even go to the same extremes of misrepresentation as the Democrats are now going in their effort to find a really effective campaign issue. So far these seem singularly ineffectual. Perhaps, the best answer to the propaganda flood from the Democratic side was that ironically given by the President at a recent press conference. "It constantly amazes me," he said, "how much information people seem to get on these military subjects that I cannot get at all." Coming from the Commander in Chief that really is amazing.

People Take Look At Themselves At Planning Meeting

Garrett Countians had the opportunity to take a look at their county at the meeting at Northern High school last Thursday night. This educational meeting was arranged by the County Rural Development committee of which H. Robert DeWitt, Oakland, is chairman, and Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, is co-chairman.

Mr. DeWitt welcomed those in attendance. Miss Annie Rogers, of the Extension service, College Park, reviewed the progress made in rural development in the county. Through the use of a flannel graph Miss Rogers pointed out the progress made at the three previous meetings. As a result of these meetings a seventeen-member Rural Development committee was organized to consider the total problems of the county, what is being done and what can be done to solve the major farm and home problems and the non-farm problems in the county.

Dr. Cabell Shull of the Agricultural Economics department, University of Maryland, presented colored slides on the economic outlook on both the national and county level. He pointed out that 33 percent of the families in Garrett county had incomes of less than $1,000 a year; 45 percent, less than $2,000; and 80 percent, less than $3,000. The average income for 4,775 families in the county for 1950 was $1,692.

Miss Joanne Reitz, home management specialist, Extension service, presented information on family living. She stated that approximately 32 percent of the houses in the county are equipped with private toilet, bath and hot running water; 27 percent of the houses have no running water. From census data she reported 86.6 percent of the farms having electricity, an increase of 8.1 percent since 1950. Forty-six and six tenth percent of farms reported having telephones, an increase of 18 percent since 1950. Thirty-one percent of farms had television, 35 percent had home freezers. Miss Reitz stated that this information is available from the recent census, copies of which are available through Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent.

Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of Maryland Extension Service, discussed factors which affect the agricultural marketing situation in the county. Many of his comments were based on his observations made during a recent two-day visit here. He pointed out that in establishing an adequate market the problem of obtaining volume, while at the same time establishing a market outlet, was a most difficult stage in economic development. He stated that marketing is generally considered inadequate by the producers because of the universal desire for better prices and also due to the lack of understanding by people as to what a good market is.

Dr. Nystrom also pointed out that agriculture had gone through three eras: first, the era of self sufficiency; next, diversification; and today, that of specialization. He said this county was rapidly moving into the period of specialization which requires more credit, know-how and better equipment for an expanded volume of business.

Dr. Nystrom commended the people of the county on their interest in taking a look at the county situation. He acknowledged the work being done by the Rural Development Committee and the Committee on Industry. He emphasized that teamwork was essential to accomplishment.

In his concluding remarks, Dr. Nystrom suggested a four-pronged approach to the problem of the county, in which the following should be considered: 1, agriculture, including all phases, production and marketing; 2, the possibility of establishing a women's market as an outlet for products made by the family; 3, human problem, education and opportunities for youth; and 4, industrialization, the development of new business opportunities.

Commissioners Are Enjoined

able to show when the partnership actually was formed or when it actually was dissolved. Both testified it had been a family agreement and since it had been done informally at first that they didn't feel it was necessary to make any official announcement when the partnership was terminated.

Attorney for E. A. Roth presented testimony to the effect that the assessment records showed Aubrey C. Brenneman as owner of the business, and that a trader's license was taken out in his name, and that a partnership return had been made for income tax purposes.

In rendering his decision and in emphasizing that this was not a criminal case the judge pointed out that Mr. Roth himself had signed several of the orders.

In the formal answer to the bill of camplaint several weeks ago it was also brought out that Roth had charged the county roads department for services rendered in connection with the distribution of surplus food. No cross bill of complaint in this respect was ever filed, however, by defendant County Commissioners.

The amended bill of complaint had asked the court to pass an order of injunction preventing and enjoining the defendants from entering into any agreement or making any contract they be interested in, directly or indirectly and that any and all such contracts or agreements so made be declared null and void.

At a pre-trial conference held in the court room on May 25, it was agreed by counsel on both sides that the matters of the purchases of H. D. Swartzentruber would not be gone into so far as testimony was concerned, since Mr. Swartzentruber had answered the charges against him in the formal reply to the bill of complaint.

These were the two purchases which were termed "minor" by the Judge on Tuesday. The one purchase concerned a brief case bought by the County Roads engineer for use in carrying numerous road papers, at a cost of $16. The other concerned an item of $44.40 for three tarpaulins used in an emergency to cover and protect a carload of cement at the time of a heavy downpour. This purchase was termed of an emergency nature and saved the county several hundred dollars.

Judge Henderson concluded by saying he would prepare a written opinion in the case.

A Searching Look . . .

for expenses involved in the distribution of surplus foods. Nobody expected Roth to do this work for nothing, but technically he is just as much at fault as the other two.

There is a feeling among quite a number of people that if the two county commissioners and one election board member had given in to the opposition and allowed a contract for voting machines to be awarded to the company submitting the most expensive bid, then everything would have been rosy and no bills of complaint ever would have been filed. But they didn't, thank heavens, and to our notion it has been a grudge fight all the way through, ever since that time. Now, since it is over, what has it gotten the county?

Well, just this. As a result the county is going to have difficulty in selling its proposed bond issue of $550,000 to any bonding company. Already companies are leary of a county where there is a lot of squabbling and suits of various kinds being filed in court at every turn.

But let's go a little bit further and get down to the bed rock reason just why this squabble is going on. From the simple fact that Roth was elected by the people of the county to do a job, and he is letting someone else do it for him. If he would just stand on his own two feet instead of having to hot-foot it down the court house hill for a consultation with a has-been political leader before he can come to any decision.

Actually that is the crux of the whole matter. A handful of persons are out to crucify Messrs. Swartzentruber and Brenneman just because they have not followed the dictates of what some individual has termed the "political ring." A few persons who claim to hold political life or death on this county are now in the process of attempting to run the county's affairs. And just where they would run it is not a pleasant thought, if they ever got their fingers on the inside track.

To re-emphasize once again, all three commissioners have been doing business with themselves, and an injunction will keep this from happening again. But it wasn't serious. No harm was done. No money was confiscated. The county got value received for all work done. They even got a discount in the case of Hub's two transactions, and a reduction in the cost of drilling from the original contract price.

All it would take to get things back to normal would be to have Mr. Roth do his own thinking and tell the persons who wield the political club over his head to go about their business. By the time another election rolls around he will find out that the voters are not so stupid. The entire truth of this squabble will be out in the open long before then, and these so-called political leaders will find themselves at the bottom of the totem pole.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

To continue our series of articles on the Ten Commandments, we consider this week the Second Commandment, recorded in Exodus 20:7: "You shall not take the name of the Lord in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain."

The other day, as I was sitting in the barbershop, a man used the name of the Lord in vain some nineteen times in a conversation with the barber that did not last more than about three minutes. I don't know whether or not he was aiming at setting a record in this event or not, but I think he came pretty close to doing just that. He seemed to be an everage man, dressed in clean clothing, and from the conversation, he seemed to be a part of some sort of traveling construction crew. At any rate, from the experience that I have had with working men, on the railroad as a brakeman—the sewer pipe factory as a wheel-barrow pusher—a ditch-digger on a construction gang—and as a member of the millwright's "bull gang" at a steel mill—he was typical. There seems to be a feeling among men who work at hard labor for their living that to be able to "cuss a blue streak" is a very important part of proving their strength and manliness. And this feeling is of course not limited to laboring men—there are plenty of doctors and lawyers who excell at profanity. Nor is it limited to men, for I have known women who have been as skilled as any ditch-digger at befouling their mouths with the filth of "gutter language."

My first reaction to this type of language is that it is a lack of intelligence on the part of the person who uses it. More than any other way, the ignorance of a person is displayed by the way they use the language of their nation, and their inability to express themselves in any other way than in filth shows that they have the mentality of a four year old.

Many times also, I have had the experience of some person using the Lord's name in vain and then, noticing that I was around, excusing themselves to me. As I have said many times, "You don't have to worry about me, though I hate to hear my Lord's name taken in vain, you will not have to answer to me for the sin. You had better worry about what God thinks when you take His name in vain." The answer to this question is clearly indicated in the phrase "The Lord will not hold him guiltless who takes His name in vain."

The sign of true manliness is not in how well a person can swear, but in how closely a person is willing to follow his Lord. Taking the Lord's name in vain is not just a matter of swearing, but it is a matter of how we live. When we live in and for ourselves, we are misusing the purposes of God when He created us.

We can also misuse the Lord's name by praying to Him and asking that our will be done. When we worship God, pray to Him, or address Him in any way other than with the spirit of following His will, we have been taking His name in vain. For He is not ours to control, He is not just our servant, He is our Lord, and as such He is in control, not we.

At any rate, call upon the name of the Lord often, but don't make the mistake that is made by the person who says, after using the Lord's name in vain, "Oh, I did not mean anything by it." Use His name and mean it, and in meaning to use it for your service by asking for His guidance, not for your destruction by asking for His damnation.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Loosening a clip on a stack of papers on my desk, I find notes and notices about job opportunities, tax refunds, new voting privileges and other items of interest to our Free State.

I will, therefore, devote this week's report to a series of timely reminders, hoping that you will find one or more of them profitable.

Police Positions Open

NOTE: Under new legislation passed by the present Congress, the District of Columbia is now recruiting for 237 additional police officers.

Starting salaries are $4,193, with automatic increases to $4,990 at the completion of three years of satisfactory service. All uniforms and equipment are furnished without cost.

Application cards—Form 5000-AB—can be obtained from any post office or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Residence requirements stipulate that while serving with the District Police Department, employees must live within twelve miles of the Capitol Building. Numerous Maryland communities lie within that prescribed area.

Gasoline Tax Refunds

NOTE: A recently enacted law provides that farmers can obtain a refund of the Federal excise tax (two cents a gallon) on gasoline used on farms for farming purposes.

Claims for the refunds must be made on Form 2240 and filed with the U.S. District Director of Internal Revenue for the applicant's district.

The proper forms are now available at offices of the Internal Revenue Service, at headquarters of county agricultural agents, and at many banks and post offices.

The first reimbursement payments will be made after June 30 in respect to gasoline purchased and used during the first six months of 1956, and subsequent refunds will be made for a one-year period from July 1 of this year to June 30, 1957.

Absentee Voting

NOTE: Voters "unavoidably absent" from Maryland on election day and persons who, because of physical disability, are "unable to be in the ward or election district" in which they would otherwise be entitled to vote can now cast absentee ballots, according to a new State law.

If a Marylander wishes to take advantage of the new provision concerning unavoidable absence he must apply for a ballot in writing or in person at least twenty days before the election.

Physically disabled persons must make their requests at least ten days before an election and must include an affidavit from a Maryland physician stating that they are mentally competent and that their disability is the reason they cannot be present.

Registered voters of Baltimore City who want to obtain absentee ballots under the new regulations can do so by applying to the Board of Election Supervisors, Fayette and Gay Sts. Baltimore. County voters can obtain theirs from the election boards in their county seats.

In the case of servicemen, absentee voting will still be handled under former regulations permitting them to participate in elections, and the new changes will not affect the procedure.

Poultry Bill Hearings

NOTE: Hearings on bills to provide for the compulsory inspection of poultry and poultry products by Federal inspectors will be held on June 8 by a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

NOTE: The Small Business Administration has issued a reminder that its conference for residents of the Maryland area who are interested in the needs and procurement procedures of various Federal agencies will be held from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., June 21, at Eastern High School, Thirty-third St. and Loch Raven Road, Baltimore.

Ample Water Needed For Irrigating

The first thing to consider in planning a farm irrigation system is the water supply, says A. V. Krewatch, University of Maryland extension agricultural engineer.

If a dependable water supply is close to the crop to be irrigated, one of the biggest problems is solved, he says. However, soil considerations, cost of operating the irrigation system and the value of the crops to be irrigated must also be considered, he adds. Land to be irrigated should be well-drained, well-aerated and in good physical condition to rapidly absorb the water applied.

Irrigation doesn't pay, the engineer says unless the crop is of high cash value or in the case of hays and pastures, stands are good and soils are suitable for irrigating. And too, he says there is no point in irrigating a large acreage and doing a half-way job. It is more important to concentrate on the better land and do a good job of irrigating rather than applying water after the soil gets dry and the crop growth is slowed down.

Putting on water to maintain good yields is not sufficient Krewatch says. Irrigation means increased plant growth and to have increased plant growth more fertilizer is necessary to replace the nutrients removed by the crop.

Another mistake farmers sometimes make is buying irrigation equipment "across-the-counter." The equipment should be bought to fit the farm he says and secondly it should be operated in accordance with the design of the farm and good crop practices should be followed. Each is dependent on the other he adds.

Additional information on irrigation is available from county agents' offices in the form of University of Maryland Extension Fact Sheet 71, "Irrigation in Maryland."

With The Guard

Another dance will be held at the local Armory Saturday night, June 16, sponsored by the NCO club of Co. "C." The public is invited.

This unit completed range firing of the calibre .30 M-1 rifle on Sunday, June 10, at Camp Dawson, W. Va. This firing was to rate an individual on his ability to fire the rifle at a target at a range of 200 yards. Sfc. Floyd O. Custer won Company honors by scoring 185 out of a possible 210, Capt. Arthur C. Calhoun, Company Commander, ran a close second with 183. It is through the kindness of the West Virginia Military authorities that this unit is allowed to use the range and billeting facilities of Camp Dawson. If using this camp were not possible, it would be necessary for this unit to travel by organic transportation to Fort George G. Meade, Md., to use the range there along with the majority of the 121st Engineer Bn.

We are happy to have back with us, Sergeant Richard F. Criss who has been attending a heavy equipment repair course at Fort Belvoir, Va.

The annual field training schedule has been received by this unit. The training this year will be very much the same as the training last year in that the emphasis will be placed on obtaining maximum effective training of the squad and platoon in general engineer work.

The 29th Infantry Division, of which Co. "C" is a part, will again conduct field training at Indiantown Gap Military reservation during the period July 28th to August 11, 1956, both dates inclusive. The Military occupational Specialty training is the responsibility of the officers of the battalion. Lieutenants James C. McRobie and Mahlon W. Yost will conduct training in demolitions while other battalion officers handle training pertaining to other phases of Engineer work.

Men between the ages of 17 and 18½ can still get information on the new six month active duty for training plan by coming to the local Armory at the corner of Eighth and High streets here in Oakland, or by dialing DE 4-3200.

The National Guard defends America.

Lt. Mahlon W. Yost

route 40 by the Board of County Commissioners was announced. The land is to be used for the new elementary school. Eight acres of land will be purchased from Charles Layman for $6,000. Hawkins said the architect was progressing with plans and promises to have them ready for bidding around the middle of August. The superintendent planned to accompany the County Commissioners and their attorney to Baltimore this week relative to the sale of the $550,000 bond issue for the building of the two elementary schools now being planned.

Among other action the Board:

Accepted resignation of Mr. Ford, janitor for a number of years at Loch Lynn; approved a request of Oakland fire company to place a siren on the corner of the annex building; awarded contract for window shades for Crellin, Deer Park and Red House to Acorn Associates, low bidder; approved request by football coaches for reimbursement for two weeks' work prior to opening of school in preparation for opening games, if money was available; approved employment of George McLaughlin, certified public accountant, to make audit of school board accounts at end of fiscal year June 30, 1956; approved purchase of nine-inch power lathe for metal shop at Southern; approved contract with Typewriter Sales and Service company, Cumberland, to replace 10 typewriters annually in commercial department of two high schools. This company was low bidder, supplying 10 Underwood machines at a cost of $1,000 plus old machines traded in.

Resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Herrod, of Southern, and Miss Jean Tiano, Northern, were accepted. Mr. Hawkins said all vacancies at this time were filled with exception of a music teacher for the elementary schools in the northern part of the county. In discussing the music program, he said both high school and elementary instrumental music programs would be continued on regular schedule throughout the vacation period.

Mr. Hawkins told the board that a substantial amount of metal to be used in the shop program of the two high schools had been secured at a nominal cost from State Surplus Commodities.

The Board also renewed the bus contract of Mrs. Julia Skidmore.

Receives Commendation

A 2c Richard W. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Parsons, of Hambleton, W. Va., and a former resident of Oakland, is spending a 30-day furlough with his parents prior to being transferred to Japan where he will be stationed for two years.

Airman Parsons was employed in The Republican office in Oakland prior to enlisting in the air force in July, 1955. He was given a commendation upon completion of training as a reciprocating engine mechanic at Sheppard air force base in Texas on May 15.

Parsons was an honor student of his class. The commendation read: "This achievement is indicative of your fine spirit and devotion to duty and should inspire you to new zeal and greater enthusiasm for any challenging task ahead."

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

I Have Seen Tomorrow

That's the way I felt when I saw a demonstration using the electronic oven with micro-wave cooking. And believe me, I like tomorrow!

I had only read a little about this great wonder so it was hard to believe my eyes. Like every new thing I had to question its safety, what it would do to food that in time might bring on a new problem with human beings, and many other things.

But it didn't take long to begin reasoning the other way. Imagine a five pound roast done to a turn while the salad was being prepared and the table set. Since it keeps on cooking after its removal from the oven the potatoes could be baked (about 4 minutes) and the frozen broccoli cooked (4 minutes) so that they are ready at the same time. And this is long period cooking. Thirty minutes if you please!

Flash Cookery

In a flash will be the trend. We saw a cake bake in three minutes, and SAW is the emphasis. Puff-f-f it came up; it was done. Not brown, however. Nothing browns unless its long period cooking. The thick slice of ham baked in six minutes had to be browned under broiler installed in this swank piece of equipment for that purpose.

Goody-Goody

Breakfast will be prepared in seconds. George will be able to get his own and I can sleep without any pull of the conscience. Just the thing I've been wanting—no pull of conscience, that is. He'll put his two slices of bacon between layers of paper towels and in 20 seconds he'll have the prettiest, crisp bacon he has ever had and he'll throw the paper away.

What? Waste that fat? Probably, things will be so easy our bodies won't need much fat. The egg will do in 20 seconds in a custard cup. Cocoa prepared in the cup in about the same time.

No Pots to Wash

"Now I think I'll get married," said a career woman by my side. "The drudgery has been taken out of homemaking."

There will be no pots and pans for food will be cooked in the dish in which it is served, and it doesn't get hot. The home economist handled the dishes with her bare hands, yet the ham sizzled and the cocoa steamed. Glory be, the oven stays clean.

Pop corn, on the cob, butter and salt were put in a cellophane bag and presto, you had a bag of pop corn. Yes, one can cook on or in paper, plastic or glass.

There'll Be A Change

I feel sorry for the makers of metal cooking utensils. Pressure pans in which I have put my trust will be passe. Some companies will go out of business unless they change over.

But we can be optimistic. Mr. A. D. Naylor would be. He once made a living shoeing horses. I doubt if he growled because Henry Ford had a brain storm. He just kept up with the times.

A New Way of Life

The biggest change will be in the way of life. It's up to those who believe in this good tomorrow to help set attitudes in thinking.

For instance the boys in this demonstration audience about which I'm speaking were every bit as enthusiastic as were the girls. Partly through the interest of science, partly appetite.

What will this do to home life? Home life is going to be different anyway. I liked what Paul Landis said last year at the National AAUW convention. As my memory recalls his words it is something like this:

No longer does a man need marriage for the "comforts of home." He can buy better made clothes than a wife can make. He doesn't need a wife to launder or repair them. He does need her to give him a family and to give him the companionship that is needed more today than ever before.

Dr. Landis explained how companionship was supplied by the big circle of family in an earlier period as folks remained in the community in which they were born. Today's family may be miles away from nearest relatives and that little family unit must supply many things that are basic to human happiness. Good thing the little woman can spend less time in the kitchen and laundry for she will need to know how to talk in terms of electronics, equations, world politics and sports. Her husband will expect as much from her as she expects from the inventions he made for her.

Bayard Voters Elect Lumberman Mayor

Bayard elected a new Mayor last Tuesday, giving 80 votes to Cecil Layton, in the lumber business, as against 23 for Nay Blocher, who was running for re-election.

There will also be three new members on the five-man council. H. R. Winters led the ticket with 93 votes; Elgin Layton got 59 and Lester Simmons 57, for the three new members. Councilmen re-elected were E. S. Nine, 56 votes; and H. E. Shaffer, 52 votes. Incumbents defeated were R. J. Boltz, 47; W. B. Cramer, 34. There were 10 candidates for council with the other voting being C. M. Fulk, 51; George Layton, 44; and George Fulk, 29.

Renamed without opposition was H. R. Fulk, Sr., as recorder. One hundred six votes were cast out of a possible 150 eligible voters.

Grantsville Area Man Faces Liquor Law Violation

A 35-year-old Grantsville area man was apprehended last Friday near Addison, Pa., and charged with illegally transporting and possessing untaxed alcoholic liquor.

Authorities said Neil C. Yommer has been released from Somerset County jail after posting $1,000 for a hearing before the grand jury. Authorities said Yommer, a buyer and seller of poultry products, was carrying eight fifths of liquor into the state on which Pennsylvania tax had not been paid.

Yommer's refrigerator truck was confiscated by the arresting officers who were agents of the Altoona office of the State Liquor Control board, and has been placed in custody of the state highway department at Somerset. Authorities said the Maryland man told them he had intended to deliver the liquor to a friend as a gift.

Argentine crushed a bloody 12-hour revolt by followers of Juan D. Peron, ousted president.

Veteran Actors To Return For Season at Summer Theatre

Leonard Drum and D. G. Buckles are two of the actors who will return for the 1956 season at the Garrett County Playhouse.

Drum will be featured in several of the plays chosen for the summer entertainment at the Arden Boat club at Deep Creek Lake.

Drum began his training for the theatre, as did Buckles, at the University of New Mexico. Drum went on for further study at Columbia university after obtaining a degree in drama and took additional theatre training at the American Theatre wing. He has been a member of the Globe Repertory company, the Manhattan Masquers and the Plymouth, Mass. Theatre. He has appeared in television's Omnibus, Suspense, Kate Smith and Kraft Theatre productions and has also taken his song and comedy act into night clubs.

Buckles, besides appearing in numerous plays at the university theatre in Albuquerque, has also appeared in several commercial movies in New York in addition to his stage work.

Gene Yell, director of the Garrett County Playhouse, announced that the theatre would be comfortably enlarged for the 1956 season. The schedule has been extended to eight weeks.

Noel Coward's comedy, "Hay Fever," opens on July 3 for a five performance run. In succeeding weeks will be George Kelly's "The Show-Off," J. B. Priestley's "An Inspector Calls," "My Three Angels," by Samuel and Bella Spewack; "Peg O' My Heart," Max Shulman's "The Tender Trap," and "Angel Street," by Patrick Hamilton. John Van Druten's "Bell, Book and Candle," will conclude the 1956 season.

The Business and Professional Women's clubs of Oakland, with Miss Mary Louise Helbig, president, in charge, is conducting the drive for a minimum of 400 subscriptions needed for the opening. A subscription ticket of $10 includes 8 admissions plus one guest ticket.

Grantsville Winner In Two Contests

Grantsville posted its third straight triumph at the expense of Wellersburg in the Pen-Mar Baseball league Sunday by the whopping score of 21-7.

Grantsville sluggers scored in six of the eight innings and racked up a total of 19 hits in routing Wellersburg which suffered its fifth consecutive defeat. Donald "Toby" Colaw, southpaw pitching star of Southern High of Oakland, made his first start for the Garrett Countians, left in the fifth with the score 12-5 in his favor and took the win.

William Junie Perry sparked the winners' attack with four for four, a double and three singles. Joe Wengerd smacked a triple and three singles and batted in five runs. Johnny Keister connected for two triples and a single.

In Saturday's game Grantsville defeated Flintstone 13 to 2. A home run spoiled a shutout bid by Grantsville's Donny Wilkinson as Ray Ralston of Flintstone powered one with a mate on in the fourth. The other home run was hit by Junie Perry in the sixth to drive in three runs.

Flintstone grabbed a 2-0 lead on Ralston's blast but the Sluggers came back in their half of the fourth to score seven runs, more than enough to coast to their fourth win in eight outings.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER

Pastor, Grace Reformed Church

Washington, D. C.

Hope

Your life's labor is lost without the help of hope. Lacking that, you can never satisfactorily chug through the chores of experience. Much of the hope you can have springs from the fact that God works the 24-hour shift changing lives for the better.

Here are some of God's favorite tools. The Bible is one, especially the familiar passages with which we grew up. The old Hymns of the Church are another, particularly those we learned at Mother's knee. God also uses the time-tested prayers, high above which stands the Lord's Prayer.

That prayer is still the center of our devotional life. Some say we've dimmed its effectiveness by repitition. Maybe so. Yet God still finds it useful in bringing deeper meaning and re-charged power into human life.

These are some of the tools the Almighty employs aroung the clock to change us from creatures of despair into children of hope, the word that can change your life.

God's Ambassador

Lesson for June 17, 1956

VERY few readers of this column have any chance of being appointed as the ambassador of the United States to any important foreign country. It isn't that you are not good enough. You are not rich enough. Ambassadors are expected to live in a high style. (Did you ever inquire what just one pair of striped pants, made to order, would cost you?) They are not expected to live on the salary the United States pays them. They have to live in mansions for which the mere housekeeping bill is enormous, they have to give parties and dinners costing more than you earn in a month.

Dr. Foreman

God's ill-housed ambassador

Strange as it seems, the ambassadors of God are not usually looked after in such sumptuous style. They always have housing, of a sort; but it is seldom palatial. Indeed one of them wrote, "If we have food and clothing, with these we shall be content." Nothing said about housing. One of the very greatest of God's ambassadors to this world suffered from something quite a bit worse than leaky roofs or lack of plumbing. If the Apostle Paul were to visit our town today, even people outside the church would want to have him put up at the best hotel in town, or entertained at the finest homes. Paul sometimes got this sort of treatment, but a great deal of the time, indeed for years on end, he would be actually in jail. Not only that, but he would have to wear chains on his arms and legs as if he were a member of a chain-gang. Strange to say, too, this did not make Paul unhappy or bitter. After two solid years of that sort of thing, some men might be willing to quit. But not Paul. Standing before a king, his hands weighted down so that it was hard to move, Paul said, "I would to God you were just as I am—except for these chains." He would not wish his chains on anybody; but otherwise he knew he was better off than a king, for he was still the ambassador of God. There is no higher place.

Spokesman for God

We must not blame God for the poor treatment his ambassadors receive. It is not his fault. But God's men understand this. Paul understood it, and went on speaking for God wherever he was. Some Christians might think that if Providence had dumped them in jail they could be expected to take a vacation from witnessing to their faith. But Paul knew that there never is a real vacation from being a Christian. There have been some peculiar characters appointed as ambassadors now and then by human governments; but no emperor, king or senate ever appointed a dumb man, to represent his country. There was a great convention of Christion business men in Louisville, Kentucky, last winter. Three of these men were on their way afterwards to the airport in a taxi. What would you have done in their places? The convention was over, business and families were expecting you home. No time, no place, for Christian work in a taxi, surely? But these men did see it that way. They talked to the driver, found he was not a Christian. Never mind the plane, they said, just drive us to your own home. There they talked with him, prayed with him, and he gave his heart to Christ. They missed the plane, but do you think they regretted it?

The chains still rattle

Actual iron chains do still imprison some of God's people. There are parts of the world where it is almost a crime merely to be a Christian. But even where that is not true, the men and women who represent God have to work against many kinds of handicaps. Sometimes it is only being thought peculiar, or superstitious. Sometimes it is having to work under a government which is unfriendly to religion, as is the case in some mission fields. Sometimes it is some local "industry" which is vicious and powerful and will strike back at any person, or group, religious or otherwise, that threatens to cut down their profits. Sometimes these invisible chains muzzle the mouth of a minister whose people will not let him speak up for his own Christian ideals. Well, chains may hold back God's kingdom; but they will never stop it!

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Great Conspiracy

The world is today witnessing a transformation in window dressing. With skillful propaganda and astute timing, the master puppeteers of the Kremlin are again embarked upon a campaign of duplicity, cleverly intended to lull the free world into an attitude of resignation—or an attitude of "let's get along with the fellows, they're not really scoundrels." It can safely be reasoned that the extensive travels of top communist leaders, the announced reduction in the Russian army, the latter day denunciation of Joseph Stalin, plus other equally transparent gestures, are part of the same old package but with a new design and new wrapping.

Time and again, the Congress has found that there exists an international communist conspiracy which, in its origins, its development, its persistence, and its present practice, is a world-wide revolutionary movement whose purpose it is, by treachery, deceit, infiltration into other groups, espionage, sabotage, terrorism and any other means deemed necessary, to suppress and subjugate western civilization. In the face of incontrovertible history and mounting evidence, there can be little dispute on this point.

With an agility which can only come from decades of double dealing, it is possible for the Soviet Union to pursue a policy of "peaceful coexistence" or a policy of sympathetic support of actions to undermine the cause of freedom—whichever is momentarily profitable. It can even be said that both ends can be simultaneously served—witness the pilgrimage of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to Moscow while at the same time top military representatives of the community of free nations are being invited to observe the Soviet Air Show in Moscow later this month.

You might ask—what can we as a Nation do to frustrate the international communist movement? And, indeed it should be made clear that the Soviets want us to lower our guard and that they want our attention distracted by side issues. The response to this question is contained in a more vigorous prosecution of anti-communist legislation, increased exposure of communist activities, and realistic warnings, widely publicized, of the dangers inherent in these new communist tactics.

Made no mistake—the objectives of the Great Conspiracy have not changed. In the words of J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation: "The Communist leopard frequently changes his spots, but the same blood—bad blood—continuously flows through his veins."

Along The Potomac

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The pending postal rate increase measure should be debated on its merits and not passed or rejected on the basis of political expediency. The bill is a major step in the direction of bringing postal receipts somewhere near the cost of carrying the mail.

Early Congresses recognized that the transmission of letters for the public was a service of the government and that the cost should be paid by the individual using the postal system. We have traveled a long way from this pay-as-you-go concept. Our postal deficit has grown to the point where it is costing the taxpayers almost a thousand dollars a minute to make up the difference between postal receipts and the cost of carrying the mail.

The House Interior Committee is currently holding hearings on the advisability of a coal research program. I have a bill before the Congress which would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to inaugurate a coal research and development program. It would provide for an immediate program without waiting for a House Committee review.

I am very pleased with the progress being made on the Little Youghiogheny Watershed Project. I am informed that a final plan has been agreed to by the local sponsoring organizations and the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service.

One of the major pieces of legislation relating to the social and mental health of the citizens of the District of Columbia is the narcotic control bill. I am heartily in accord with the purposes of the act. On the matter of penalties, I would like to quote my friend Rep. Edward T. Miller, who observed "It is the high probability of arrest, trial, and conviction," that makes the would-be offender pause. Strict enforcement of the law is a prime requirement in dealing with anti-social behavior in any community.

Further evidence of growth in the 6th Maryland District is the notice from the Federal Communications Commission that they have accepted and filed the application of Richard F. Lewis, Jr., of Frostburg, for a license to operate a radio station there.

On My Calendar: I plan to attend the installation of officers of Montgomery County Post 2958, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Thursday, June 4, at the Naval Medical Center in Bethesda. I shall attend the breakfast to be given by General Hauck at the Pentagon on June 15. I plan to be present at the dedication of the new Post building for the Wheaton Ground Observer Cerps on June 17.

Rudy, Jr., of the Junior Woman's Civic club, were awarded national certificates of appreciation for their organizations at a meeting of the Maryland Association for Mental Health last Monday at Crownsville State hospital.

The certificates thanked the two women for the campaign efforts of volunteers in their groups.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

What is so rare as a day in June?

James Russell Lowell, in his writings has left us this thought: "What is so rare as a day in June? Then, if ever, comes perfect days. Heaven tries earth if it be in tune, and over it softly her warm ear lays."

This June day as I write this, I think of these words, and how wonderfully they describe this month of June. The long hard winter is past, one that seemed reluctant to let go its grip. A tardy and rather dismal Spring did not bring much warmth, at least not here in our county. But, now the sun is warm, all of nature is beautiful and fresh and truly the rare days have come.

Each season of the year has its own particular type of interest and beauty but June is really the charmer of them all. It marks the culmination of the school year for our children. Graduation, school activities of all kinds are part of this month. We are again impressed by the freshness, eagerness and vitality of our young people. They are our promise of a bright future, a better world.

More brides choose June as the month for their weddings than any other month of the year. What is more touching than a lovely girl and her loved one taking their marriage vows reverently and happily before an altar? The month of June is a happy occasion for many of our young people.

It should be a happy time for all of us, whatever our age. Our graduations and weddings are past, only the lovely memories remain, but we can relive them again in the lives of our children.

June is a month of promise. The growing season has really begun, and all around us in field and flower and woods we see God's gift to us of beauty and loveliness. Let us not be too busy to fully appreciate this beauty all around us.

Isn't it wonderful that poets like Lowell have given us these word pictures which let you and I see more clearly these perfect days of June? And, if we are in tune with Heaven, then they will indeed be perfect, even as he said.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness and helpfulness during the illness and following the death of the late Scott Moon.

We also want to thank all who gave flowers and contributed the use of their automobiles for the funeral service.

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JUNE 21, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 17.

Challenge to All . . .

Every week we receive a brief article, "Pause for Reflection," written by James C. Ingebretsen, president of Spiritual Mobilization. They always have challenging thoughts. One in particular this week we felt was worthy of repeating in this column. It goes like this:

"Swiss mountaineers recently reported they had climbed Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, for the second and third times that it has been climbed. They also said they had made the first ascent of Everest's twin peak, Lhotse, according to a Reuters dispatch from Katmandu, Nepal.

"Among the world's physical mountains there remain few challenges to man's daring and fortitude. But in the spiritual realm there is still that towering peak called the Sermon on the Mount which stands as a challenge to every one of us. Its summit, 'Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect,' may seem as unattainable as the summit of Everest. But how many of us are even firmly camped on the Beatitudes, ready for a try at some of the steeper slopes?

"Here is a spiritual challenge to everything there is in us—an adventure that surpasses in difficulty and grandeur even the conquest of Everest. But we have a Guide who has been to the summit and who knows the way up. How many of us are willing to undertake this arduously difficult but tremendously thrilling climb with Him?"

Stunt Show Will Be Given Saturday

The original World Champion Hell Drivers will appear in their Tournament of Thrills stunt show at the Deep Creek Speedway on Saturday night, June 23, at 8:30 o'clock. Twenty-eight thriller events will be staged.

As the featured attraction Bill Ward of Santa Monica, Calif., Hollywood stunt man, will leap a new '56 Ford stock sedan from a launching platform to a receiving ramp. He hopes to establish a new world's record which would have to exceed 91 feet, if he is to do so. A second car will pass directly underneath as he attempts the jump.

Johnny Bruno, Pittsburgh, Pa., is expected to roll an automobile end for end as many times as possible. Other stunt men will be performing. Among other events on the program are a slide for life, all types of precision driving, hi-ski wingovers, balancing automobiles on two wheels, flaming firewall crashes and others.

Others participating will be Larry Shaw, a full blooded Cherokee Indian from Oklahoma; Ace Williams, Philadelphia; Lucky Lee Grable, El Centro, Calif.; Wild Bill Palmer, Flint, Mich.; Larry O'Brien, Cleveland, O.; Bobby Crosby, Boston.

The 90-minute show is the same that was recently completed as a movie and television short which is to be released to the public in October.

Gas Rate Hearing To Be Continued

An official of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas company said yesterday it might become necessary to ask for a new rate increase every year.

The statement was made by C. F. Waterman, assistant vice president and chief engineer for C. and A. which has asked the Public Service Commission for a new rate which will increase its annual income by $147,500 a year.

The case was continued until July 12, at which time protestants will present direct evidence.

Waterman said, "at the rate costs are increasing, I'm afraid we're going to have to come before the various commissions every year." Opponents to the rate increase questioned scores of figures and entries that make up the company's proposed rate base.

Rotary and Moose Cop Oakland Games

The Moose won its fifth game of the season, defeating Country Club, 12 to 5, and the Rotary Club downed Woodmen 11-5 in games played yesterday in the Oakland Pony League.

Dick Stuck had three hits and pitched five hit ball in leading the Moose to its triumph. Bill Butler had a pair of singles and Ches Browning a double for the losers.

Keith Butler with a triple and single was the hitting star for Rotary in its winning decision. Ken Jones, losing pitcher, had two of the Woodmen's three hits. Bill Stemple was the winning pitcher for Rotary. Glotfelty relieved Jones after the first inning and held Rotary to only one additional run.

A make-up game is scheduled for Friday with the Country Club playing the Moose at 6 p. m. Two games are scheduled for Sunday, starting at 2 o'clock. The Woodmen will play the Moose and the Country club will play the Rotary.

Marketing Problems Discussed by Group

The Rural Development Committee, meeting last Thursday evening, held lengthy discussions on marketing problems of farm and home products and commodities.

The meeting was held in the Extension office, Oakland. It was the opinion of the committee that there was a possibility of the women's market serving the need for both producers and consumers.

A committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, chairman; Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Mrs. Vesta Enlow, Mrs. Harold Bittinger and Miss Marie Bowman, to collect data and information, and evaluate the feasibility of setting up a women's market. Mrs. Kenneth Buckel was named to serve on the committee, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Daniel Klotz.

A dairy committee also was appointed for the purpose of securing information in relation to marketing of dairy products, which included William Wildesen, chairman; Claude Wagner, Jr., Ross Crowe, Clark Schlossnagle and G. E. Bishoff. H. Robert DeWitt was selected to meet with the Chamber of Commerce representing the Rural Development committee.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Miss Marie Bowman, George Bishoff, G. E. Bishoff, John H. Carter, Ross Crowe, H. Robert DeWitt, Merle Garletts, Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, Miss Ethel Grove, Lowell Loomis, Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Claude Wagner, Jr., and William Wildesen.

The next regular meeting of the committee was set for Thursday evening, July 12.

Miss Coral McRobie Heads Women's Club

Miss Coral E. McRobie was installed as President of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club at a dinner meeting held at the William-James hotel on Thursday, June 14. Miss Mary Louise Helbig, retiring President, was the installing officer. Other officers for the coming year are Mrs. Eva M. Ream, vice president; Mrs. Cleda Stewart, secretary; and Mrs. Mary McRobie, treasurer.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Eva M. Ream for having had perfect attendance at all club meetings during the past ten years. Mrs. Ream was presented a gift by the club.

At a short business meeting preceding the program a report was given on the State BPW Convention recently held in Salisbury.

A report was also made on the subscription drive now being conducted by the local club for the Garrett County Playhouse.

Summer Brings Cool Weather to Area

Today is the first day of the summer season, but there was no indication of it as far as the temperature was concerned.

Cooler air moved into the entire area over the week-end, dropping temperatures as far south as northern Florida, and there was a plentiful amount of rainfall.

The summer season officially started at 5:24 a. m., EST.

After a fairly hot Friday and Saturday there was a sprinkle of rain on Saturday evening and this was followed by rain most of Sunday with continued showers on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday appeared cloudy but warmer, but more rain was falling this morning and the fog was heavy.

Youth Is Sought After Auto Wreck

15-Year-Old Blamed for Mishap Which Injured Nine

West Virginia State police still were searching today for a 15-year-old boy who was identified as the driver of a car which collided with two other vehicles on U.S. route 219 near Silver Lake in Preston county, Sunday afternoon.

Nine persons were injured in the accident, seven of them hospitalized as the result of the three-car smashup.

West Virginia State Trooper W. Z. Sparks of the Kingwood detachment, who is investigating, said the accident occurred when one of the cars involved went out of control while traveling at a high rate of speed, smashed headon into another automobile and forced it into the path of a car following.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial hospital at Oakland were Lloyd Koontz, 30, of Boswell, Pa., the most seriously injured; his wife, Mrs. Marietta Koontz, 29; nine-year-old son, Randall Koontz; Arthur Pyle, 53, also of Boswell; his wife, Mrs. Edna M. Pyle, all passengers in the Koontz vehicle; and Jack Delaney, 12, of Baltimore, a passenger in the auto which reportedly caused the accident.

Koontz, who is reported "satisfactory" although the nature of his injuries is considered critical, suffered abdominal and chest injuries, a broken left leg and broken ribs. His wife sustained leg abrasions and lacerations of the head; his son, a broken right leg and body contusions; Pyle, head and face lacerations and a broken left arm; Mrs. Pyle, lacerations of the head and numerous contusions; young Pyle, cuts of the knee and hands, and Delaney, lacerations of back, arms, wrists and face.

Trooper Sparks said Jack Delaney's brother, Robert Delaney, believed to be 15 years of age, was the driver of the car which went out of control. He was treated at the Oakland hospital for minor injuries and left before he could be questioned. State police said last night they have a lead as to his whereabouts but said he had not been apprehended. It was believed Delaney had no driver's license.

Also treated for minor injuries were Mrs. Sally Eneix, 32, and H. E. Garrett, 82, both of Wolf Summit, W. Va., passengers in a car operated by Mrs. Eneix's husband, Paul Eneix, who was not hurt.

Trooper Sparks said the Delaney vehicle crashed into the Koontz car, although it had pulled nearly off the highway in an effort to escape the collision. The Koontz car was whirled around by the impact and forced into the Eneix vehicle which was following Koontz.

Total damage was estimated at approximately $1,600 by the state trooper.

The 1949 Ford driven by the Delaney youth was registered to Burl James Delaney of Baltimore. Charges in the accident will be handled by the Preston County Juvenile court.

Trooper Sparks said no charges would be brought against Koontz or Eneix, the other drivers involved. Koontz was operating a 1955 Nash Rambler and was driving south on the road with the Eneix car following.

Local Boys Attend Sportsmen's Club Outing

Approximately three hundred boys attended the three-day annual encampment of the Woodmen of the World Boys' Sportsmen's club last week on the Buckhannon river, 25 miles south of Buckhannon, W. Va. Cumberland and Oakland were among the clubs attending from this area.

The program included swimming, softball, track events, rifle marksmanship, horse shoes and movies. The Oakland club brought home a trophy for softball championship, and placed second in rifle marksmanship. The group also won several track events.

Campers from Oakland were Kenneth Jones, Junior Uphold, Garey Orr, James Cuppett, Gary Sell, Butch House, Stephen Harvey, Ronald and Charles Dilley, Delmer and Terry Sliger, Clifford Graham, David Custer and George Porter.

Serving s counselors from Oakland were Robert Orr, club director; Spencer Graham, Wayne Graham, Robert Sliger and Delmar Dilley.

Landowners Advised On Tree Shearing

Landowners who are raising Scotch pine for Christmas trees should shear them within the next two weeks, and the Red and White pine soon thereafter, if they wish to have bushy, well-formed specimens for the market. This information was released by the forestry department.

R. Thomas Thayer, assistant district forester, said the pines should be sheared or pruned during the growing season, and in the new growth. He said this was necessary so that new buds may be formed to take the place of those removed. It was stated that this applies only to the pines and not to the spruces which may be sheared from late July until early spring.

He explained that in shearing the pines, the terminal leader or top shoot is cut back to about 12 inches. The laterals or side branches are then cut back to make the general form of the tree symmetrical. It was emphasized that cutting should be done only in new growth at a time when the new needles are half as long as the old ones. The shearing, which is usually done with hedge shears, may begin when the trees are two to three feet high. The time of shearing varies from year to year depending upon weather conditions.

Thayer said he had additional information on shearing and Christmas tree production and that he would be glad to assist landowners in starting their pruning operation.

Mt. Top Shooters Win Doubleheader

Mountain Top sharpshooters defeated both their opponents in the Western Maryland League's double header smallbore rifle match fired Sunday evening at the Oakland and Fort Hill ranges.

Oaklanders boasted three possibles in Match No. 4 as LaVale was downed 1599-101x to 1570-70x. Winners at Oakland were paced by perfect scores from Merle McClintock, Alex Harvey and Randall Sims.

Fort Hill defeated Hercules 1588-94x to 1521-52x.

Mountain Top gave the Fort Hill gunners their first defeat in Match No. 5, 1597-112x to 1587-90x. Powered by possibles from Don Helbig and Merle McClintock, the Garrett Countians tied up Fort Hill for first place in the standings. Both matches were iron sight events fired at 50 yards and consisted of 40 shots each.

Attend Conference

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Jones spent last week in Ocean City, N. J., where Mr. Jones was in attendance at the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist church as a delegate from the West Virginia Conference. Approximately 300 delegates were in attendance from the Methodist conferences located in the northeastern part of the United States and the next four year program of the Church was adopted.

Mr. Jones was elected a member of the General Board of Education of the Methodist church. He was also elected a member of the Conference Board of Education at the recent meeting of the West Virginia Annual Conference and Lewis R. Jones was elected a member of the Conference Board of Pensions.

Gas Service For Loch Lynn Heights Is Being Improved

Improved year-round natural gas service in Loch Lynn will result from a pipeline replacement project now in progress there, the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company announced this week.

Some 1,200 feet of new 3 and 6-inch line is being laid through the center of town along an alley and Paul Street, manager R. H. Brown said. Costing over $3,200, the new feeder lines will replace smaller gas mains.

About 800 feet of the main feeder line in Loch Lynn is being replaced, the official said. Almost 400 feet of 3-inch pipe will be laid parallel to that line to bolster deliveries in part of the Paul Street area, he added.

"These lines will make more gas available to customers in all parts of Loch Lynn because each branch line serving a section of town is supplied gas from the new feeders on Paul Street," Brown said.

The new feeder will eliminate a bottleneck which previously developed in the smaller line when cold weather demands multiplied some 10-15 times over normal daily requirements, he added.

The project is part of C. and A.'s 1956 service improvement program designed to build up its gas supply and delivery network and make sufficient quantities of natural gas available to all customers in the most economical and efficient manner possible, he said.

Construction is under the supervision of manager Brown and gas company inspector Wayne Booth.

An Adequate Supply of Polio Vaccine Is Now Available

An adequate supply of polio vaccine to give the third or booster shot to children of the community is now available, it was announced this week by Dr. A. K. Jones, county health officer.

Those children who received their second shot in the school program last fall are now eligible for the reception of the third or booster shot. Dr. Jones suggested that parents of children who received the second shot six months or more ago should take their children to their family physician, or if this is not possible, to one of the health department clinics.

Booster shots will be given by the health department on the following schedule: Friendsville, on Mondays, from 1 to 3 p. m.; Grantsville, on Tuesdays, from 1 to 4 p. m.; Oakland, Tuesdays, from 9 a. m until noon; Kitzmiller, on Thursdays, from 1 to 3 p. m.

It was indicated that there is now enough polio vaccine available in Maryland to meet the demand for it, that the supply has increased to the point of reaching the "acceptance level." This means the point at which on a statewide basis nearly everyone who is eligible and willing to receive the vaccination is able to do so.

Dr. Jones said that the receiving of the third shot is where the immunization point climbs very rapidly.

Union Vacation Bible School Will Be Held in August

The Union Vacation church school for Protestant churches of Oakland and vicinity will be held in St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran church during the first two weeks of August, it was announced by Rev. Charles Carlson, pastor.

He said the August date had been set because it was the feeling that the young people would be more willing to attend and learn after they had some vacation from public school, rather than starting the vacation church school immediately after the public school closed.

Appointed to work with the pastor will be Mrs. Earl S. Lee, as lay director, who has had experience in Christian Education and was formerly superintendent of the Sunday Church School at St. Mark's.

The course for this year will be a study of the Bible and the Home, with the main emphasis being on helping both student and parent to have a more vital faith by relying more on the word of God in their everyday activities in the home.

Activity Begins At Summer Theatre Location on Lake

With Gene Yell, director of the summer theatre, having arrived in Oakland last week from Albuquerque, N. M., a renewed activity was immediately noted at the former Arden Boat club location at McHenry, where the eight plays are to be presented this summer.

The steel beam, which will permit an entire rearrangement of the seating capacity, already is in place and carpenters are now adding platforms for the 75 additional seats that will be available this year. For the first time Mr. Yell will realize his desire to have a "theatre in the round," since the steel beam will allow seating on all sides of the stage.

The stage will be somewhat larger, too, giving actors more space for acting than they had last year.

The actors and actresses are to arrive this Sunday and they will begin rehearsals Monday morning for the first play, "Hay Fever," by Noel Coward, which will open for a five-day run on Tuesday, July 3.

Mr. Yell said he planned to feature special exhibits each week in the lobby which will include paintings of local artists as well as some from New Mexico; also Amish rugs and Amish quilts.

He is planning to have three places this year where reservations may be made for a particular night. These reservations may be made at the Oakland Pharmacy, the Englander Pharmacy, and the William-James hotel. Reservations also can be made at the box office at the theatre which will open at 7:30 p. m.

Curtain time this year will be 8:30, Yell said. The campaign to obtain season subscriptions to all eight plays is continuing by the Business and Professional Women's club which gets a percentage of all season tickets sold to add to their community project fund. Subscriptions are available for $10 which allows a patron an admission to each of the eight plays, plus one guest admission.

Rev. Atwell Again Elected Chairman of Deep Creek Scouts

Rev. John J. Atwell was re-elected chairman of the Deep Creek district of the Boy Scouts of America, at the annual dinner meeting of scouters of the area held Tuesday night at the Mt. Lake Hotel.

Paul Muha was re-elected vice-chairman and Elmer Upole, of Mt. Lake Park, was re-elected district commissioner.

Operating committee chairmen also were re-appointed by Rev. Atwell before the close of the meeting. They included George Hanst, advancement; John Forman, organization and extension; Merritt Feather, leadership training; Fred Tichnell, camping and activities; Maurice Brookhart, finance; Dr. Thomas Lusby, health and safety.

The forty or more scouters present heard reports from chairmen of the operating committees and also reports from Mr. Upole, Wilbert Sifton, field executive, and heard greetings brought from James C. Warden, president of Potomac Council.

Principal speaker was the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D.D., Episcopal bishop of the Diocese of Maryland, who pointed out to the group just how important was the work in which they were engaged, that of helping to train youth.

He urged them to instill in youth a realization and appreciation of their heritage, that it was impossible ever to full repay the debt we owe to those who have gone before in forming that heritage.

He urged the leaders to make the scouts conscious of their responsibility to society and to instill in them the full realization of their purpose in life.

69th Birthday Observed

David H. Thomas, of Hazelton, W. Va., celebrated his 69th birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, near Friendsville, on Sunday, June 17, and was attended by all of his children as well as 92 other relatives and friends.

Relatives and Friends attended from Friendsville, Philippi, Cleveland, Tunnelton, Swanton, Hazelton, Canton, and Harrisburg.

Two Die In Wreck

Word was received by relatives in Oakland of the tragic death of Mrs. Frederick Townshend, Jr., and a 22-months-old son by burning following a collision as the Townshend family was enroute for a vacation about fifty miles from Parkersburg, W. Va., last Wednesday, June 13. Major Townshend and his daughter, eight, were critically injured with the daughter being badly burned. Both are patients in the Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Fred Townshend, Sr., who now resides in Parkersburg, was a former Oakland resident.

No Hearing Against DeWitt To Be Held

The case of Ervin Roth versus William Webb DeWitt, county roads engineer, no. 4636, equity, in the Garrett County Circuit court, will not be heard, as the result of a pre-trial conference with attorneys and Chief Judge George Henderson recently.

The bill of complaint filed by Mr. Roth had asked the court to pass a mandatory injunction requiring all funds received from the State for road expenditures to be deposited by the County Commissioners with the County treasurer and not to be expended by the Roads department except upon payment to the department by the treasurer after an order to pay from the County Commissioners had been given directly to the treasurer and entered upon the minutes of the Board of County Commissioners.

Attorneys for DeWitt filed a joint demurrer and answer to the bill of complaint which was the reason for the pre-trial conference.

Judge Henderson, in a written report filed June 12 in the Circuit Court here, declared: "After argument on the demurrer and after a general discussion of the whole matter, it was agreed that the only point at issue is as to whether or not the treasurer of Garrett county should handle all funds, including those received by the County Commissioners as road directors, which come from the state of Maryland from gasoline taxes, from racing funds, motor vehicles, etc. It was the final conclusion that the best way to get this point properly before the court was for the plaintiff to file a bill under the declaratory judgment act asking for the proper construction of the statutes involved and making as parties defendant the treasurer of Garrett County, the other two county commissioners and the County Commissioners, a corporation, sitting as the Garrett County Roads Board." The Judge asked that if this was to be done, that it be done quickly.

The agreement indicated that the bill of complaint as such would not be heard, amounting in substance to sustaining the demurrer entered by the defendant attorneys.

The suit would have attempted to entirely change the way that the County Roads Board has been doing business for the past ten or fifteen years.

Seniors Invited To Enroll at Frostburg

Graduates of Southern and Northern High schools were receiving letters this week from R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers college, acquainting them with the opportunities offered at the college and inviting them to enroll there in September.

The yearly cost at Frostburg is $1,210 but the student pays only $310. For those not having $310 there is a loan fund from which a freshman can borrow $100 the day he or she arrives on the campus, to be paid back at the end of the first year of teaching without interest. Secretarial work and dining hall work at fifty cents per hour is also available for needy students.

Mr. Hardesty pointed out that three thousand extra replacement teachers are needed annually by superintendents of Maryland, but that Maryland colleges currently were producing only nine hundred teachers.

In Maryland counties salaries vary for a Bachelor of Science degree from $2,950 to $4,750 in Garrett county to $3,400 to $6,000 in Baltimore county.

The letter to the high school graduates included mimeographed sheets discussing the college standards and other information most students want to know.

Husband Slays Wife, Landlord

Event Occurs Saturday Night At Turner-Douglas, Near Garrett County Line

A Preston county miner, Benton W. Alexander, 42, of Turner Douglas, just across the line from Garrett county, admitted Sunday that he shot to death his wife, Nora, and their landlord, Stephen A. Melish, on Saturday night.

Prosecutor James T. Dailey, Jr., said Alexander signed a statement admitting he shot them after finding them in the Alexander bedroom. The Alexanders, with two of their five children, had lived in the Melish home for the past month.

Dailey quoted Alexander that he, his 34-year-old wife and the 38-year-old Melish went on a drinking spree Friday night after he and Melish received their pay. Melish also was a miner.

They visited various beer halls across the Maryland line at Oakland and shopped at Crellin before returning to their four-room house Saturday evening.

The Alexanders and their two children slept in a double bed in one room of the house and Melish slept on a cot in another room.

After more drinking Alexander went to sleep on Melish's cot. When he awoke, the lights were out. In his room he found Melish and his wife asleep.

Alexander searched for his automatic .22 caliber rifle and finally found it under the bed. He loaded it in the pantry, returned to the bedroom, and turned on the lights.

Melish woke up and he shot him. He fired his other round at his wife when she woke up shortly afterward. Alexander then fired two more shots at Melish before going to relatives nearby, who called the police.

Sheriff R. W. Schooley of Preston county said both bodies were on the bed, apparently untouched. Both were shot in the head. Mrs. Alexander was fully clothed except for her shoes. Melish had on only his underwear. There were no signs of a struggle, Schooley said.

Held for Grand Jury

At a hearing in Kingwood on Tuesday Alexander was ordered held without bond for action of the October Grand Jury in Preston county on two counts of murder.

He is charged with slaying his wife, Mrs. Nora Alexander, 34, and Stephen A. Melish, 40. The hearing was held before Magistrate F. W. Pritt.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alexander were conducted from the Bolden Funeral home in Oakland with Rev. Ralph Jacks officiating. Burial was in Deer Park cemetery.

Mrs. Alexander was born at Freeport, W. Va., a daughter of Mrs. Tina Sisler Friend and the late Allen Butler.

Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Patricia Ann Dillsworth and Miss Arlene Alexander, both at home; three sons, James Robert Alexander, Benton Edward Alexander and Farris A. Alexander, also at home; two sisters, Mrs. Opal Watring, Terra Alta; and Mrs. Mary Sisler, McCoole; two brothers, Orval and Merrill Butler, both of South Bend, Ind.

Melish was born at Johnstown, a son of Andrew and Dorothy Yagersky Melish. He is survived by a brother, Johil Melish, Creighton, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Natalia, Butler, Pa.; Mrs. Helen Brisko, Connellsville, Pa.; and Mrs. Pauline Contensso, Detroit, Mich.

The body was taken to the Davidson Funeral home in Morgantown.

Funeral services for Melish were held Wednesday afternoon from the Davidson Funeral home with Rev. Edward A. Griffin, pastor of St. Ursula Catholic church, officiating. Interment was in Beverly Hills Memorial Gardens at Morgantown.

The public is invited.

Camp Area Recently Deeded to College

After nearly 20 years of operation by the University of Maryland on a lease from the Federal Government, the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area in Garrett County has been deeded to the University, according to John W. Magruder, county agent leader, and supervisor of the project.

The name of the area has been changed to "University of Maryland, Western Maryland 4-H Center." The 1,200 acre area is located 12 miles south and west of Grantsville, on route 495. Its elevation is 2,600 feet. Approximately 260 acres, including a 30-acre artificial lake, are used as a camp and the remainder is in woodland.

The center will continue to operate primarily to provide facilities for educational activities of county and state groups participating in the Cooperative Extension Service. Facilities for conducting educational work with 4-H groups in summer camps is its primary function. Agricultural demonstrations are to be conducted at the Center for observation by the people. Since space is available that is not needed for the above functions a public picnic area is provided. The 4-H camp section is for private use only. It accommodates 80 to 120 persons.

When not in use by the Extension Service during the summer, it may be reserved by organized educational groups. The public picnic area provides facilities for daytime picnicking or swimming in the lake. There are picnic tables, fireplaces, a pavilion, bathhouse and open areas for recreation. There is no charge for use of the public area and no reservations are required. Groups using the camping area are required to make reservations.

Purchased in 1936

The government purchased the area in 1936 as part of the program to buy marginal farm land and put it to some more useful purpose. John H. Carter, county agricultural agent, and others interested in developing the area as a 4-H camp, were instrumental in securing the area for its present purpose. During the depression, Civilian Conservation corps developed the area, building the dam, cabins and other facilities.

Since the beginning, 12,127 4-H and other youngsters have enjoyed the camp. Generally these groups have reserved the camp for one week. It is estimated that more than a million visits have been made to the public picnic area, mostly by people from the Western Maryland counties, nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Many school groups, family reunions, business firm outings, Sunday Schools and others come to the public area for an afternoon.

Does Not Compete

Mr. Magruder emphasizes that it is not the intention of the University in developing or operating the Western Maryland 4-H Center to duplicate or compete with the work of the Department of Forests and Parks. This department provides facilities for individual family unit camping, hunting, boating and fishing. The Department of Forestry and Parks has three such areas in the vicinity which are open to the public.

In developing the Center it was specifically planned to be a primitive, rustic camp where young people could come and live close to nature. The 4-H camp was designed to have sufficient barrier around it to provide seclusion and protection as an aid to those charged with the supervision of youngsters from over the State.

THE AMERICAN WAY

DANGERS TO FREEDOM

(By Gladstone Murray, guest columnist, is President of "Responsible Enterprise," of Toronto, Ontario, Canada.)

As ownership is fundamentally a spiritual idea indispensable to a healthy democracy, the principal enemies of individualism never relax their efforts to discredit and weaken property owners. The poison pens of the hacks of Socialism, Communism and Trade Union Syndicalism, continuously emit their venomous falsehoods. And the reason is clear. Eliminate individual ownership and you destroy freedom. The gangs of leftists then could take over and slavery would be universally established.

The chief immediate danger to freedom is what I call Syndicalism, the dictionary definition of which is a labour policy relying on strikes as the means of transferring all political power to Trade Union leaders. During 1955 there was a steady growing aggressiveness on the part of the Syndicalist element in Trade Union leadership. This development is quite foreign to the legitimate Trade Union tradition which is permanently established and respected in our structure of freedom. I mean the conception of a Trade Union as a friendly partner protecting wage-earners while recognizing economic realities. It would appear that personal power hunger is a decisive factor in nourishing the Syndicalism which has now emerged for all to see.

Monopoly is the major objective of most of those who frame and impose the policies of Trade Unions in North America. Monopoly is the power concept which denies the rights of individuals and deliberately destroys the opportunities for bona fide bargaining. The nature of the drive for so-called Union security is revealing. Union security in practice actually means the security of Union officers in their positions of monopoly power. When they ask for the "check-off" they are asking for the guaranteed preservation of their own positions of control. What they seek is security from the fear that their union would not survive as a voluntary organization—the fear, no doubt justified, that many members would quit the Union if they had the chance.

When a Union official asks for the power to have dues collected by the employer from everyone, just as the Government collects taxes, he is saying in effect that he seeks to rule individual workers with a monopoly power equivalent to that of Government.

Another characteristic of Trade Union Syndicalism is growing impatience with conciliation and mediation. Several Labour leaders of Ontario have condemned the conciliation machinery set up by the Province. These leaders regard conciliation as a waste of time and effort because they can usually get what they seek by the threat of a paralyzing strike.

There are unmistakable signs of unrest in the ranks of Unions. It would appear that an increasing number of individual Union members are becoming impatient with the treatment accorded them. When firm measures are introduced to curb Syndicalism there will be a warm welcome from the rank and file. For one thing I would like to see all Trade Unions required to incorporate and be subject to the same laws as regulate incorporated companies and corporations.

My final thought is this. Our basic hope lies in the fact that the free society has ultimate and eternal truth on its side. The order of the universe is fundamentally an order with a purpose—the only intelligent alternative to the irrationality of the Marxist dialectic.

I believe this time of strain may be emerging into a time of unprecedented greatness. The human spirit thrives on difficulties. Spiritual resources are the only unlimited resources. Our tradition is one of dedicated courage and we rely upon the power of truth. Thus is provided a prospect that nourishes growing confidence.

Big Torque of the Best Sellers

IT WOULD stand to reason that automobiles selling in the same league, so to speak, would be pretty close in their engineering specifications.

Like in "torque multiplication"—the twisting force a transmission delivers to the drive shaft. (The greater the torque multiplication, the greater the performance).

But what do you find?

You find that any '56 Buick with advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow delivers a higher torque ratio than any standard-production car in America.*

And you find that this high-torque performance is one reason for Buick's best-seller standing. For Buick is now more strongly positioned in the Top 3 of the nation's biggest-selling automobiles.

That's news—and there's plenty more where that came from. For the '56 Buick is jam-packed with new engineering and styling advances to make it the best Buick yet, by far.

That new Dynaflow, for example, brings you the world's only switch-pitch performance in cars—plus a new part-throttle getaway response that's swifter, surer, and a gas-saver to boot.

The new V8 engine is 322-cubic-inches big, and packed with the highest horsepowers, the highest compressions in all Buick annals.

There's a joyous new ride, too—a new steering magic—a new "sense of direction" in your every handling maneuver.

Thing to do is come see for yourself. That way you can also look at the prices that have helped move Buick to a new sales success—outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller ones.

Will you do that, this week?

Moose, Country Club Win Oakland Games

The Moose defeated the Rotary Club 7-4, and the Country Club blanked the W.O.W., 15-0 in Oakland Pony League games last Friday.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One great difference between the American economic system and Socialism is in the manner in which industrial management is selected. In a Socialist system the Government owns or operates the industries and thus takes over the job of choosing the managers of industrial enterprises. In America, through the workings of our private enterprise system, the purchasers, or the public, make the choice. In the Socialist nations, the choice almost always is governed by political considerations. In our system, the choice is based on ability and efficiency.

Our system screens out inefficient management. It screens not through the colored glasses of the politicians, but through the hard realities of the school of competition. When a product goes to market in America it is placed side by side with other products very much like it. The customer inspects them all. He selects the one he likes best on the basis of price, quality and service. The management of the company that made the product which the customer selected has scored a competitive victory over the management of the companies whose products the buyer passed by.

When many customers select the same product this means that the company which produces this product is satisfying the consumers. It also means that the other companies, which produce competitive products, are not satisfying the consumers quite so well. And to be successful a company must sell its merchandise. Thus management must be constantly striving to make a better product—at a lower cost. If it fails to meet the competition of the market place, it sooner or later goes out of business.

Alfred Edwards, of London, former member of the Socialist-Labor Party of Great Britain, wrote a Reader's Digest article in which he gave some of the reasons for his turning against Socialism. He said the Socialist Government chose a taxi-driver to manage one of the big coal industries in England—not because of his ability as a manager of a coal mine (he hadn't any such ability), but because he happened to be a loyal and popular member of the Socialist-Labor political party in power. He managed miserably, and everybody suffered as a result, but still he stayed in.

All areas of our society benefit from the system that brings to the helm of our industrial enterprises the very best brains and capabilities. The consumers benefit by having this efficient management constantly improving the products and cutting the costs. The employees benefit by the improvements in production machinery and techniques, in higher productivity and higher wages. Stockholders benefit through regular dividends from well managed companies. Our screened management, indeed, is another great plus-factor in the formula for America's unmatched living standard.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In the course of my readings in the daily papers, I have noticed a growing concern on the part of city church groups over the increasing amount of businesses that are open on Sunday. The fact that people are so greedy as to want to burn themselves out by doing business seven days a week is another indication of the paganism of the average man in our time. This attitude is of course not limited to cities.

In the third commandment, we have a guide in this matter. In the Exodus 20:8, we read the words: "Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy." As any intelligent person will quickly reason, there is some difference between the sabbath of Judaism and the Sunday of the Christian. For one thing, the official sabbath is on Saturday—and Saturday is still the "Holy Day" of the Jews, while Christians have their main services, normally, on Sundays. Another thing that is necessary to be shown is the clear fact that Christ, in many areas of scripture, particularly in His encounters with the Pharisees concerning healing on the Sabbath, cut through the complicated system of legal entanglement around the institution of the Sabbath with a higher principle. He showed them that, though they had been keeping the letter of the law, they had been far from keeping God's intentions. He showed them a much higher and greater life, a life in which every day was holy, a life in which every day was lived in God's Presence. In a very real sense of the word—every day deserves the same honor—every day must be lived in the spirit of holiness.

As an example of this, though we normally have our services of worship on Sunday, there is no reason that we cannot have just as effective a worship experience on another day. In some of the mission fields, where a man may have as many as twelve or thirteen or more churches in his parish, every day is Sunday, as far as his conducting services is concerned. In history, we find that John Wesley traveled up and down through England every day, holding as many as six and seven services daily, wherever he could find a congregation.

The problems of the everyday, average man are complicated by such things as the necessity to work on Sunday in order to hold his job. This was my experience in the Bethlehem Steel Corp., where I held a job on the millwright's bull gang for about a year and a half. And in our area where there are many farms, there are things that are necessary to be done every day.

However, there are too many people that use these exceptions to the rule laid down to excuse themselves from attendance at church, and go on from here to an attitude toward life which has no place set aside for God. There are actually very few who could not come to the services of the church sometime on Sunday. For instance, in my church, throughout the winter we have two services, one morning and one evening—and it is never overcrowded at the evening service, though there are many who perhaps could not attend the morning, but could be there for the evening service. Then during daylight saving time, we have two morning services, one at 8:15, and then another at 10:45, yet there are many who think more of sleeping in than of getting up a little earlier to attend church before they do things that perhaps have to be done on Sunday.

There are two basic things which I feel that the third commandment can teach us: first of all, it is a common sense commandment, in that the human body needs a rest from the physical activity of the week, or else it will be burned out. Secondly, it teaches us that we should, in the words of Luther, "so fear and love God as not to despise His Word and the preaching of the Gospel, but deem it holy, and willingly hear and learn it." The first part of this teaching should need no further explanation—as for "willingly hearing the word of God," examine yourself, and ask yourself the question, "Have I been 'despising' God, by manufacturing excuses for not going to the services of His House?"

Army Field Band To Play At Frostburg

In order to provide the residents of Frostburg and nearby towns with entertainment through the summer months, a group of area citizens have formed the Frostburg Community Programs with the assistance of R. Bowen Hardesty, president of State Teachers College.

First in a series of six features will be the U. S. Army Field Band on Sunday evening, June 24, followed by a local play in July. Two New York productions will be presented at the college later in the season with the players from the Jennerstown, Pa., Playhouse, and one production with the University of New Mexico Players. A local band concert is also planned in the program.

Organized in April, the Community Programs is open to any resident of the area with a fee of one dollar per person or two dollars for the family for the entire season. It is a non-profit group and has sold over 1500 memberships to date.

Is Your Name WILSON?

Do you know that:

WILSON, as a surname, has been popular in the British Isles for many centuries. It is of relatively simple derivation and signifies "son of Will." The latter, as is well known, is merely a diminutive form of William which was introduced as Guillaume into England by the Normans in the 11th century and has become one of the most popular of personal names.

Among the high ranking officers who served under George Washington during the Revolutionary War were Colonel James Wilson (1740-1790) and Colonel Benjamin Wilson (1747-1828) who commanded regiments respectively of Pennsylvania and Virginia troops.

James Wilson (1742-1798), a native of Scotland, was a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

There are Wilson Counties in Kansas, North Carolina and Texas.

The Wilson Cloud Chamber, originated by Nobel Prize winner Charles Thomas Rees Wilson of England, is a means for rendering visible the tracks of swift electrified particles. It has been of importance in recent researches in atomic physics.

Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., a college for women, was established in 1870 under the auspices of the Presbyterian church.

J. H. Wilson was made justice of the peace in Garrett County in 1876.

George W. Wilson was the Republican candidate for state senator from Garrett County in 1881. He was defeated in the election.

A. J. Wilson was a teacher in school no. 6 of Garrett County during the year ending May 13, 1881.

Woodrow Wilson (1856-1924) was the twenty-eighth President of the United States.

Fletcher Aloysius Wilson (1836-1907) was rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

James Wilson (1835-1920) was Secretary of Agriculture in the cabinets of Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Taft.

Irving W. Wilson is president, Aluminum Company of America.

Theodore Halbert Wilson is president, University of Baltimore.

David John Wilson is judge, United States Customs Court at New York City.

Edgar Bright Wilson, Jr., is professor of chemistry at Harvard University.

Charles E. Wilson is Secretary of Defense in the cabinet of President Eisenhower.

Rhode Island's Senator Green on June 17 became oldest member ever to serve in U.S. Senate. He is 88.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce predicted that 1956 would be biggest year for business.

Publicity Program Is Paying Off

The results of advertising and publicizing the beauty and tourist attractions of Maryland, particularly Western Maryland, were shown in statistical form this week by Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of Maryland Bureau of Information.

Poorbaugh revealed results of the program of publicity at a meeting of the Maryland Travel Council at Cumberland.

In 1951 the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ran an excursion to Garrett county from Baltimore and about 50 people were attracted. The following year the number increased to 350. Last year over 1,500 rode two excursions.

At the same time motorists began driving Western Maryland way in October and visited Garrett county in greater numbers than ever before.

Poorbaugh had reports from hotels, motels and gasoline station operators, showing their comparative cash business over a period of five years for October. Five years ago the records show October so far as tourist business in this area, was concerned, was a "dead" month. Last year, business people, especially around Deep Creek Lake, reported record business in October. Garrett county banks showed gains in deposits. Gasoline distributors reported more gasoline sold in Garrett county in October than in any previous month.

He told the Council this "Autumn Glory Time" idea of Gov. McKeldin's "only goes to prove that we can do business if we publicize what we have to sell."

TEMPLE OF A QUEEN: The date-palms of Luxor, on the banks of the Nile, wave enticingly all the year around but they wave with greatest vigor from November to April, when this fabulous site of ancient Egyptian splendor turns into a restful resort. Here are the ruins of the fabled "Hundred-Gated" Thebes, Greek for the ancient capital of Karnak, strewn with fantastic abandon on both banks of the placid Nile. The Temple of Queen Hatshepsut, the greatest of Egypt's woman rulers, lies on the West Bank of the Nile near the Valley of the Kings as shown here. The Temple, called Deir El Bahri, was once used as a monastery by early Egyptian Christians.

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Elephant and the Donkey

How is it that the elephant and the donkey are the symbols of the Republican and Democratic parties respectively? This question was asked by a recent visitor to my office, and with only a very sketchy knowledge of the correct answer, I sought out what is believed to be an authentic response.

The donkey as the symbol of the Democratic party was popularized if not invented, by the cartoons of Thomas Nast. He first used the donkey to represent the Democrats in a cartoon published in the January 15, 1870, issue of "Harper's Weekly." This cartoon portrayed Edwin M. Stanton, a former Secretary of War, who had recently died, as a dead lion being kicked over by a donkey labelled "Copperhead Papers." Under the picture were the words: "A live Jackass kicking a dead lion! and such a Jackass!"

Later Nast, a Republican reformer and crusader, used the donkey to typify the Democratic party specifically.

It is possible that Nast's use of the donkey for the Democratic party was not an innovation. Cartoons during the early 1830's portrayed President Jackson riding a "Jack (son)- ass." Others pictured Jackson's head on the body of a donkey. "The Field Piece," a Whig campaign paper, printed a woodcut on July 19, 1848, portraying the figure of a donkey on what was labelled the "Democratic platform." In 1864, General George B. McClellan, the Democratic nominee for President, was portrayed mounted backward on a donkey urged on by August Belmont and other Democratic leaders.

The elephant as the symbol of the Republican party was likewise popularized by Thomas Nast. On November 7, 1874, "Harper's Weekly" printed a Nast cartoon in which the assembled animals and birds of the forest—representing various newspapers, States and issues—are shown as being frightened by a donkey in a lion's skin crying "Caesarism," which alluded to the Democratic charge that President Grant was scheming for a third term. The elephant, labelled "Republican Vote," is also pictured as frightened and is running toward a pitfall loosely covered with deceptive planks labelled inflation, repudiation, reform, and so on. It was the cartoonist's way of making fun of his own party.

It is possible that the elephant had been used as a party symbol before that time. There is some evidence that an elephant was shown on one of the Lincoln banners carried at the Republican National Convention at Chicago in 1860. And it has also been claimed that the figure of an elephant was used on a badge of Salmon P. Chase, a Senator from Ohio, about the same time.

Southern Schedules Nine Grid Contests

A nine-game schedule featured by five home game contests has been announced by James DeMoss, head football coach at Southern High school.

The Highlanders open against Petersburg, W. Va., at the latter's field on September 7, and close out their season with Terra Alta at home on November 2.

Two of the principal highlights of the season will be a night contest with Beall High School on September 28, and one at Morgantown against St. Francis on October 5.

The only change from the 1955 schedule, during which the Red and White team ran up a record of three wins, four losses and one tie in their second season of varsity competition, is the addition of Northern High School to the Varsity schedule.

The Highlander Jay Vee team lost to this same Northern squad last season. The two varsity squads will clash on the Southern home field Saturday, October 13, at 1:30 p. m.

Though Coach DeMoss will only have four lettermen returning this year, the growing interest in Southern's newest sport, promises to bring an excellent array of talent to this year's gridiron, it was stated.

Mr. DeMoss and principal, Kenneth Johns, expressed an air of optimism when eighty boys from grades nine through twelve reported to a preliminary session prior to the closing of school.

Coach DeMoss will be assisted again this year by Carlton Hogue and Carl Schoonover. Although no definite plans have been made, it is hoped that a Junior Varsity Squad will have an opportunity to face two or three opponents.

The full schedule for the 1956 season appears below:

Friday, Sept. 7—Petersburg, W. Va., Away.

Friday, Sept. 14—Moorefield, W. Va., Away.

Friday, Sept. 21—W. Va. Deaf, Home, 1:00.

Friday, Sept. 28—Beall (night), Away, 8:00.

Friday, Oct. 5—St. Francis, Away at 8:00.

Saturday, Oct. 13—Northern High School, Home, 1:30.

Saturday, Oct. 20—Kingwood, W. Va., Home, 1:30.

Saturday, Oct. 27—Keyser, W. Va., Home, 1:30.

50th Anniversary — Food, Drug & Cosmetic Laws — A Half Century of Progress — Industry, Consumers, Government — A Healthy Nation is a Strong Nation

In 1906 the Federal Food and Drug Act became a law, making it mandatory that the quality, strength and purity of medicines measure up to claims on the label.

Even before this Act became a law, Rexall was voluntarily specifying the active ingredients and directions for use of medicines on their labels. Later, under the 1938 law adequate directions for use and active ingredients were required on the label. All Rexall products are labeled to comply fully with this law today for your protection.

"Toby" Colaw Heads Conference Hitters

Hitting safely in all eight games played by his team, Donald "Toby" Colaw, senior "cleanup man" of Southern High school, Oakland, turned in the highest batting average of the 1956 season in the Potomac Valley conference.

The southpaw pitcher-first baseman turned in a 4-1 slab record in the 14-school circuit and had the amazing batting average of .652, collecting 15 hits in 23 trips to the plate.

A team must play at least eight games to qualify for the championship race. Southern, the only Maryland school in the circuit, won six and lost two for a percentage of .750, tying for the runner-up spot with Keyser and Elk Garden whose records were 9-3. Moorefield High won the title with a 10-0 record.

Deckman, of Southern, stood 14th in a list of 87 players who had been at bat ten or more times. Holler stood 41st, Knotts, 56th; F. Colaw, 60th; and Glotfelty, 68th, in the standing of the 87 listed.

Toby Colaw also was the league's strike-out king with 71 victims in 44 innings and seven games. He had a one-hitter, two-hitter and three-hit game to his credit and set the season high of 18 strikeouts in a single contest. The Southern High athlete yielded 17 hits and walked 20 batsmen.

Mongold, of Moorefield High was high pitcher with a 5-0 record.

Colaw finished in a tie for third place with 4-1 record. Garrett had a 1-0 record. F. Colaw had a 1-1 record.

Reduce Hay Mishaps, Use Common Sense

"Common sense can prevent many haying accidents," says Guy W. Gienger, University of Maryland Extension agricultural engineer. "Operation of power machinery requires know-how and good judgment," he states.

With present widespread use of balers and field choppers, safe practices are a must. Available nationwide statistics, according to the National Safety Council, indicate that the harvest of hay claims more lives than the harvest of any other crop. Balers, field choppers, and moving machines are frequently involved.

For safer haying, Gienger offers the following suggestions:

1. Shut off the power before cleaning, oiling or adjusting any power driven machine.

2. Keep the power take-off and all other safety shields in place. They were put there to protect you.

3. Do not permit unneccessary passengers on loaded hay wagons. Falls from wagons, mows, silos, and stacks are far too frequent.

4. Handle tractors with care—particularly on public roads in raking and mowing operations.

5. Packing ensilage in trench silos with tractors has proved highly hazardous. Operators should be well qualified and aware of the dangers.

6. Pitchforks must always be handled with caution.

Hay safely. Don't contribute to the accident toll this year.

CRANESVILLE

The official board of the local Methodist church met recently for the first meeting of the new Conference year. Dwight Gibson was elected chairman for the new year and C. F. The first Monday evening of each month has been set for the regular meeting night.

Revival services are in progress at the Lake Ford Methodist church with the Rev. Daniel in charge.

Mrs. Gerald Daniel will meet with the women of the Parsonage Committee in the parsonage Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Acts 27-28.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 67.

Widening Circles

Lesson for June 24, 1956

THE doctor who wrote what we call the book of Acts must have known that his story was not the whole story. He throws his spotlight first on one leader, then on another; occasionally on a whole church. During more than half his book he follows one man, Paul. Luke could not have supposed—for his friend Paul would not have let him make such a mistake—that the story of Paul was the whole story of the church. But he knew that it is men who make history. Paul was both outstanding, and typical. He was outstanding in that there is no record in the New Testament of any leader as great as he. He was typical in that for him as for others, Christianity is not a quiet stand-still religion; it must move.

Dr. Foreman

Pioneers

In the book of Acts the reader sees Christianity moving always in one direction: west. It has been going west ever since. But there were already pioneers in other directions. To the north went missionaries into the countries now known as France, Holland, Scandinavia, Great Britain. To the south went the pioneer Christians who founded the churches along the southern side of the Mediterranean and even penetrated up the Nile. To the east went pioneers who brought the Gospel to what is now Iraq. It was not long before there were Christians as far away as India. The Book of Acts closes with Paul in the world-capital of Rome. But the story of the Acts of the Holy Spirit through the Christian church is still being told. It is an unfinished story. It will always be an unfinished story so long as there are persons yet to be won. Life Magazine carried a story about the martyrdom of some young missionaries to the Aucas, a tribe of Indians in darkest Ecuador. It is safe to say that most of the readers of Life had not heard of the Aucas before. Indeed most American church members had never heard of them. But the point is, some Christians had, and to hear was to want to go and tell them the story of Jesus. Now there are five dead missionaries, and five widows . . . but it is safe to predict that some of these will go back, and others will follow, and one day it will be as safe to live among the Aucas as it is on your own street. You cannot stop the pioneers.

A world religion

Why has the Bible been translated into so many hundreds of languages? Not for fun. They don't first translate the Bible into (say) Mayan, and then start looking for some Mayans to try it on. It is the other way around. First some missionaries go to the Mayans, and they win some to Christ. And then both the missionaries and the new Christians want a Bible in the language of the land, so some one starts to translate it into Mayan, and after some years of hard work there appears a Mayan New Testament. Some day the Old will appear too. Every translation of the Bible is evidence that missionaries have been at work. If the Christian religion had stayed where it started (it would have died, but let's suppose it lived) there would be no English Bibles, no Latin, no French, only some obscure dialect of Hebrew. The existence of Bibles in English points to the work of missionaries centuries ago who brought not only culture but religion to our wild ancestors.

Miles are made of yards

We talk about the spread of Christianity, and indeed it has spread around the world. But it never spreads any farther at one time than from one person to one person. Drop a stone into a pond and presently the ripples reach every shore. But the first ripple is hardly bigger than the stone. Every road, no matter how long, is made up of very short stretches. Every mile is made of yards, yards are made of inches. You can't cover ten thousand miles without covering every inch of all that distance. A plain church member calling on a neighbor and saying a good word for Jesus Christ may not feel like a "world Christian"; but that is what he is. If the world is ever won for Christ it must be man by man. No less a person than Billy Graham has said that the most effective kind of evangelism in the world is visitation evangelism: one plus one plus one.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Eleven American missionaries and businessmen are still being held prisoners by the Chinese communists.

One of them—the Rev. Paul J. Mackensen, Jr.—is a Marylander.

Perhaps those of us who either knew him or read of his detention can now be instrumental in helping him and the others obtain freedom.

Freedom Crusade

An opportunity for individual citizens to support the efforts which our Government is making to have the Americans released is now being provided through the Freedom Crusade, a nationwide letter-writing campaign to Chairman Mao Tse-tung, head of Red China.

Since numerous patriotic, civic, farm, education, labor and veterans organizations have been asked to back the Crusade, I made various inquiries to determine whether such support would actually do any good in the face of the communists' demonstrated unwillingness to respect many of our views.

Great Effectiveness Seen

The most optimistic persons connected with the situation feel that a deluge of letters to Red China would be extremely effective.

On the other hand, there are those who express uncertainty about the power of the letter-writing campaign, but who agree that "it certainly can't do any harm since it will show dramatically that the private citizens of the United States are behind their Government's negotiations."

Even that less enthusiastic attitude, it seems, ought to contain sufficent hope to inspire thousands of men and women to sit down at a table and open a message in behalf of their captive fellow countrymen.

Airmail Urged

According to the Very Reverend Harold W. Rigney, S.V.D., who launched the Freedom Crusade, letters should be addressed to: Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Peking, China.

In each letter, said Father Rigney, there should be the writer's name, occupation, union membership (if any), martial status, and courteous comments pertaining to the issue of having the eleven Americans released.

Father Rigney, a Divine Word missionary, was formerly a prisoner himself, and basing his ideas on his personal experiences in Red China, he has urged letter-writers to send their petitions by airmail.

"The misinformed Chinese will be astonished to see that so many Americans can afford airmail," he said. "In Red China a carpenter must work several hours to purchase an airmail stamp.

"Airmail postage to Red China is 25 cents per half ounce."

Prisoners' Names Listed

Marylanders naturally have a special interest in the detention of the Rev. Mackensen, who is a Lutheran missionary and whose home is in Baltimore. But the other prisoners should certainly not be forgotten in the letters. They are:

John Thomas Downey, New Britain, Conn.; Richard George Fecteau, Lynn, Mass.; Rev. Fulgence Gross, Franciscan, Omaha, Nebr.; Rev. John Alexander Houle, Jesuit, Glendale, Calif.; Robert E. McCann, Altadena, Calif.; Rev. Charles Joseph McCarthy, Jesuit, San Francisco, Calif.; Rev. Joseph Patrick McCormack, Maryknoll, Palmyra, N. Y.; Bishop Ambrose Henry Pinger, Franciscan, Lindsay, Nebr.; Hugh Francis Redmond, Yonkers, N. Y.; Rev. John Paul Wagner, Franciscan, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Remember the address to which Freedom Crusade letters should be sent—"Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Peking, China."

My own personal letter in behalf of the prisoners has already been sent.

EVERYBODY IS WELCOME!

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

From time to time I have expressed my appreciation of the work of the Soil Conservation Service in tackling and solving the problems of soil and water conservation. I am particularly pleased the Major General E. C. Itschner has told the Senate Agriculture Committee that the Army Engineer Corps "heartily endorses the land treatment program and subscribes to the contention that it will reduce the loss of topsoil and increase insoak, thus lessening the amount of sediment in our streams and reservoirs, and reducing to a minor degree the magnitude of floods."

I am happy to report that the Engineer Corps is proceeding with its study of the possibility of constructing a small local flood protection project on Bear Creek at Friendsville. A preliminary estimate of the federal cost of the project totals $50,000.

A major step toward the solution of the pollution problem in the Potomac River was taken when the House passed the Water Pollution Bill. If the measure passes the Senate, and I have high hopes it will, it will speed our cleaning up the River.

I have talked with the members of the Conference Committee on the District Appropriation bill with regard to retaining funds to install fishways in the Little Falls Dam. This is a necessary appropriation to insure this installation while the dam is under construction.

The House committee has taken favorable action on the measure providing for an increase in railroad retirement pensions. I am pleased that the bill reported is the same as the one I introduced.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has informed me that grants have been made under the Federal-aid Airport Program to Hagerstown and Rockville. The grant to Hagerstown is for the acquisition of land for clear zones and the construction of an extension to the runway and to relocate the highway. It is for $393,500. The Rockville grant is for $50,000 and is for the purpose of acquiring land and clear zones.

On My Calendar: I plan to be in Cumberland on June 23 and to be among the party welcoming the Virginia Jaycees as they pass through Western Maryland on their way to the Jaycee National Convention; and I plan to attend the other conventions in Cumberland that morning. I will attend the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Washington's annual jamboree in Bethesda on June 25.

Only white Amoco-Gas guarantees
no lead fouling

Power loss between the pump and the pavement is caused by Lead Fouling. That's a gamble you take with any leaded gasoline. Lead deposits on pistons, plugs and valves can waste octane power, cripple engine efficiency—and that's true of any leaded gasoline regardless of fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name. And no additive will remove those deposits once they form.

Amoco-Gas alone can guarantee no lead fouling . . . because it contains no lead, it can never leave the slightest lead deposit. Amoco is all gas. It can all burn, it's all power. 100% POWER! See the difference for yourself when you buy it—Amoco-Gas is clear white. See the difference when you use it—watch that mileage record improve!

So get all the high octane power you pay for—all that any car requires—with white unleaded Amoco-Gas—the only gas that Guarantees No Lead Fouling.

LOOK WHAT HAPPENS TO PISTONS:

LEAD FOULING
Crusty lead deposits on piston from road-tested engine run 42,168 miles with a nationally-sold leaded premium gasoline. When hot, they caused misfiring, wasted power.

NO LEAD FOULING
Piston from identical type engine after 45,423 miles—road-tested with Amoco-Gas. Note complete freedom from harmful deposits. Engine operated perfectly.

THESE UNRETOUCHED PHOTOS are dramatic, visual proof that only unleaded Amoco-Gas will not—cannot—build up harmful metallic deposits on engine parts. Only Amoco-Gas can pass this no lead fouling test.

Guaranteed
NO LEAD FOULING

UP AND OVER—Bill Ward, of Santa Monica, Calif., Hollywood stunt man, will attempt a world's record car leap from one elevation to another when Buddy Wagner's original World's Champion Auto Daredevils makes an appearance at the Deep Creek Speedway Saturday night in the Tournament of Thrills. Starting time is listed at 8:40.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

Humbugs And Hyprocrites

It is a little difficult not to be amused at the crocodile tears shed over President Eisenhower's condition by Democratic leaders, presidential candidates, left-wing columnists and commentators. Perhaps it is unfair to say that these hope he will not recover. But it isn't unfair to say that in their hearts they hope his recovery will not permit him to run again for the presidency.

That is a simple statement of fact. Moreover, it is perfectly natural. With Mr. Eisenhower heading the Republican ticket, Democratic prospects are exceedingly dim. Some Eisenhower enthusiasts think "Ike" can beat anyone the opposition puts up from a sickbed and without a speech. Of course, there is an extreme view not cherished either by the President or his more clear-headed political supporters. However, it is true that prior to his recent attack leaders of organized labor, meeting here, privately agreed that the Eisenhower election seemed so overwhelmingly sure that it would be silly for the AFL-CIO to indorse any candidate; that their only effective course would be to concentrate upon efecting favorable candidates to the House and Senate.

This feeling was reflected all through the Democratic party. Privately, most of its leaders—and some of its candidates—agreed that the chances of defeating Mr. Eisenhower were almost nonexistent. Then came the President's most recent attack and hope again flooded the hearts of his opponents. They came through, of course, with the usual formal statements of regret, tried hard not to make an indecent exhibition of their jubilation. Nevertheless, for them the whole political picture lightened and signs of it could not be concealed.

At once the Democratic nomination became more valuable. Aspirants, such as Mr. Averell Harriman, changed from his obviously false "inactive" status to a fervent degree of open activity. Friends of Mr. Stevenson, whose pious hope for the President's "speedy recovery" was well publicized, immedfately assumed that this "second attack" made it impossible for Mr. Eisenhower to remain a candidate. Right away they began a publicity drive to show how absurd it was for anyone to think the President now capable of serving a second term. They insisted that to suggest such a thing was against the "national interests," unkind to the President's family ond unfair to the President himself. From coast to coast variations of this tune were sung.

While this was at its height, with some of the more profound of the anti-Eisenhower journalists solemnly pointing out to the President the "clear path of duty" and rather insultingly urging him "to put the interests of the country above his personal political ambitions," the thirteen distinguished doctors who attended him joined in a statement that the operation had been a complete success, that his recovery was such that he shortly would be in better physical shape than before the operation, that there was no reason he should withdraw as a candidate. To say that this infuriated the Democratic management is an understatement. Almost literally it "burned them up." Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Mr. Paul Butler, practically "blew his top," insisting that now the President's health would be a major issue and the American people must have the "full truth." With every day as "Ike" gets better the resentment of his opponents increases.

One ardent columnist practically accused the thirteen eminent physicians of basing their report on their personal political preference rather than on medical facts. In his cheap way Mr. Butler referred to them as propagandists. Actually, the attitude of the Democratic leadership from its first phony regrets to its present ugly bitterness, is an absurdity seldom seen in politics. It is, of course, added to when one recalls that in 1932 the Democrats nominated a man warped and crippled by polio—and elected him four times. No responsible man will now contend that the "full truth" about his condition was ever given to the American people. When it is further considered that three of the present Democratic candidates for President have had either serious illnesses or operations, the whole business becomes ridiculous. Governor Harriman emerged from a hospital the day the President went to Walter Reed. The pious Mr. Stevenson a few years ago was twice operated upon—once for gallstones and then for kidney trouble. And finally, Senator Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, had a heart attack similar to that of the President. Add these things up and, while there certainly are humbugs and hyprocrites in both parties, it does seem that the President's recovery has stood those in the Democratic party out in a singularly unpleasant light.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Covet

To want what somebody else has just because he has it, without determining one's own need for it or one's own ability to possess it, is to violate the 10th Commandment. Such insatiable and unwise desire usually stems from one's spiritual discontent with himself, which he foolishly thinks he can amend by material possesstons.

Things must be kept in their right places. Preoccupation with the material robs the soul of the things of the spirit. "The life is more than meat and the body is more than raiment." That would be true even if Jesus didn't say it.

No wonder we are cautioned in the Scriptures that love for things is the root of all evil. No wonder that the final Commandment upon which the other nine rests is "Thou shalt not covet," the word that can change your life.

Rowlesburg Featured

"Ever been to Rowlesburg?"

If you happen to see a June issue of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad magazine you will be able to read an interesting article on the little community located in Preston County, W. Va.

According to the article the B. and O. pushed its way westward more than a century ago, across the densely forested mountain region.

One of the communities which was founded along the main line of the railroad is Rowlesburg, named in honor of James Rowles, B. and O. construction engineer, who surveyed and planned that section of the railroad. The article gives a vivid historical story of the community. One of the pictures accompanying the story shows a group of men having buckwheat cakes and fresh country sausage before railroaders start on their chores at Mrs. Howard's hotel. One of those shown in the picture is I. A. Proudfoot, father of Robert Proudfoot, Oakland pharmacist.

Miller fanned but was safe at first on an error by Keister, Spearman advancing to second. Johnson fanned but Thompson was intentionally walked, filling the bases. Dunn drove in three runs with a double, took third on a balk and came home with the fourth run on a wild pitch.

Junie Perry, who relieved Donnie Wilkinson in the 9th frame, was tagged with the loss. Wilkinson issued eight passes and struck out four while Perry fanned three and walked one.

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JUNE 28, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 18.

Early Reminder . . .

If we were to remark this week to "be sure and vote on November 6," there would be many who would feel that such an expression was entirely out of place, that the timing was poor, that it is four months until an election, and that there is no use to get all steamed up about one's responsibility to vote at this time of the year.

Well, it isn't out of place. If we have reflected even for a moment on the deep significance of Independence Day which will be observed next Wednesday throughout our nation, it is none too early to begin reflecting on how each of us can, come November 6, do his part to assert that independence and acknowledge our freedom.

The privilege of voting is one of our important heritages, made possible by our struggle for independence, in 1776, and unless we continue to exercise that privilege, the day will surely come when we will be unable to go to the polls.

The answer, to our way of thinking, is not the one in effect in Australia where voting in compulsory. We should not have to be made to vote—in fact that is not democracy's way of doing things. That practice should always remain voluntary but every person should be so filled with the importance of this right of franchise that no compulsion ever would be necessary.

There ought to be no need for checkers at the polls, no need to hire automobiles to bring in people to vote.

The one big thing to do right now is to begin informing ourselves on the campaign issues—and then firmly resolve that when election day comes, we will vote.

Statistics show that fewer than 44,450,000 independent and free Americans bothered to vote in the Congressional elections of 1954, less than 52 percent of those eligible. That is a sad, almost disgraceful commentary on whatever noble thoughts we entertain on the meaning of the Fourth of July.

Can't we somehow change this attitude?

Judge Elaborates On Opinion Given In Recent Case

An elaboration on the opinion of the court in regard to the injunction that would be issued enjoining the county commissioners from doing business with themselves, was filed in the proceedings in the Circuit Court during the past week.

The opinion was signed by George Henderson, chief judge, which set out the reasons more in detail than were listed two weeks ago following his oral opinion in the court room.

Concerning the two purchases by W. W. DeWitt, county roads engineer, from Hub's Harness Shop, Judge Henderson had the following to say:

"The first purchase was a brief case for $16.14 on which the profit was $4. The second was when tarpaulins were purchased in an emergency to cover cement during a storm. The price was $48.96 of which $9.45 was profit. There is nothing to indicate that Swartzentruber had sought regularly to do business with the County. It is clear these were isolated transactions done openly and without any intention of evading the law.

"Nevertheless the law is clear that such a transaction is not permitted and the defendant has participated directly in profits to the extent of $13.15."

Concerning the Brenneman transaction the following was among the opinion expressed:

Brenneman Case

"It may be that A. C. Brenneman takes nothing in the way of 'profits' from the firm but he still owns a half interest therein and he will until he is paid the full amount owed him by his son. There was

Scout Camp Dates Set July 22-Aug. 4

Dates for the two weeks' camping trip for boy scouts of Oakland Troop No. 31, and the Crellin and Turner-Douglas troops, were set last Friday night at a meeting of the Scout troop committee. The camp dates are July 22 to August 4, inclusive, and the camp will be held at the permanent scout camp area on Deep Creek Lake.

A tentative camp program was set up last Friday which will include study, instruction, swimming and recreation. Members of the troop committee are contacting certain individuals who have specialized in some field for the instruction periods. They are seeking Lewis Jones for knot tying, Bill Sharps for signalling, Don Helbig for rope splicing, Tom Thayer for Forestry, Sam Conrad for safety, Mason Callis and George Hinebaugh for first aid, C. W. Englander for astronomy, Jim Hanlin for nature, Rev. W. S. Patterson for special church service, and Rev. Charles Carlson for a talk on "Our Relationship to our God."

The camp will be in charge of Ralph Fauber, scoutmaster of the Oakland troop, and he will have several assistants. Other details are being worked out by members of the troop committee which include Kenneth Johns, chairman; George Hanst, Don Browning, Delbert Gnegy, Max Propst, Harold Ashby and James McHenry.

Members of the Lions club which sponsors the Oakland troop, will spend an afternoon in camp and have dinner there.

Forty or more boys are expected to attend.

President Eisenhower planned to attend a July 21-22 Panama City conference of American Republics.

New Teachers Are Named

Two new teachers were named recently for the county High schools. They are Joan Bortell and Lucy Kriechbaum.

Miss Bortell will teach English, history and Spanish at Southern High school. She was graduated from Wilson High school in West Lawn, Pa., and at present is living in East Sullivan, Maine. She was graduated from Kutztown State Teachers' college the latter part of May. She is a member of the National Honor society and Kappa Delta Pi. While in college she was in the drama club, contemporary affairs forum, intercollegiate conference on government.

Miss Kriechbaum will teach social studies and junior high school English at Northern High. She presently resides in Cumberland.

She was graduated from Allegany High school and Frostburg State Teachers' college. She was a member of Alpha Psi Omega, National Dramatic fraternity, Little Theatre, Maryland Singers, Year Book staff and did her practice teaching at Northern.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said both instructors are coming to the county highly recommended.

Firemen Complete Plans For Parade Here On July 4th

Many Organizations And Bands To Participate In Celebration

Oakland firemen have completed plans for a mammoth July 4th celebration which will feature a parade of tri-state fire companies on Wednesday evening, July 4. Parade time has been set for 7 p. m., DST.

Several bands and drum corps will participate in the parade, in addition to some twenty-five or more fire companies from the three-state area. Some companies will have their auxiliary units with them. Boy and Girl Scouts, Brownies, and other groups also are expected to participate.

The fire company has engaged the Clyde Smith Shows with numerous rides, shows and concessions for the entire week of July 2 to July 7, and they will be located on the Manhattan hotel lot.

The firemen have also arranged a dance, to be held on Tuesday, July 3, starting at 9:30 o'clock at the Moose Hall. Music will be provided by the Cavaliers. Admission will be $2 per couple.

Resolution Passed Committing Funds To Bond Payment

The Board of Education met Monday in special session in order to adopt a resolution committing the additional incentive fund money to be received from the State beginning next year to the repayment of the $500,000 elementary school bond issue to the extent required for full amortization of the bonds.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said such a resolution by the board was required by the bond attorney in preparation for the advertisement and sale of the bonds which is due to take place within the next week or two.

Hawkins said the architect promised to have the specifications for the buildings ready for bidding by the middle of August and the school board hoped to have the buildings under contract not later than October 1. By that time the bonds are to be sold and the money available to place the buildings under contract.

As indicated in the resolution, both buildings will be entirely paid for by funds for school construction coming from the state and will in no way affect the local tax rate. When completed the 12-room elementary school in Oakland will house grades 4, 5 and 6 in the Oakland area, and the eight-room school on route 40, at Long Stretch, will accommodate all children in grades one through eight in the Johnson, Finzel and Avilton areas.

Only other business before the board was approval of bids for some janitorial supplies, and a brief discussion on the ruling of the State Department that school buses must be purchased at 10 percent less than the list price, in order to bring about some uniformity in the cost of buses throughout the state.

Stunt Show Will Be Rescheduled June 30

The world champion Hell Drivers scheduled to appear in their Tournament of Thrills at the Deep Creek Speedway at McHenry last Saturday night, June 23, have rescheduled the event for Saturday night, June 30. The program was rained out last week and the many customers who had assembled were refunded their money.

The same attractions will be featured as were planned for last Saturday.

Accident Firemen Plan Holiday Event

The Accident Volunteer Fire department is having its annual Fourth of July picnic this year at Spoerlein's grove in Accident.

Following a parade at 10:30 o'clock activities will begin at the grove. There will be games, rides, and fun for young and old. Refreshments will be sold.

The Northern High school band will present a band concert in the afternoon. The public is invited.

New York Person To Address Banquet

Frank Ewing, of New Rochelle, N. Y., said to be the country's leading authority on Albert Gallatin, will make the principal address at the annual meeting of the Garrett County Historical society this evening in Grantsville.

Gallatin, a native of Switzerland, was a prominent financier during the early days of this country's history. He served as Secretary of the Treasury early in the nineteenth century, and was chiefly responsible for the formulation of the Treaty of Ghent following the War of 1812.

A turkey dinner will be served in the firemen's hall at 6:45 o'clock. Following the dinner, Miss Edith Brock, president of the society, will present the program.

Reservations indicate that almost 100 members and friends will be present, including representatives from other historical societies.

4-H Club Agent To Arrive Here July 1

Miss Johanna Magaha will officially begin her duties as assistant home demonstration agent in Garrett county on July 1, it was announced this week by Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent.

Miss Magaha is a graduate in Home Economics from Hood college, Frederick and has lived on a farm at Mount Airy. She has been an active member of the Frederick County 4-H club.

She will devote a large part of her time to girls' 4-H club work in the county. The University of Maryland, Extension service, with the cooperation and assistance of the County Commissioners, planned for this additional worker in the county.

The agreement with the County Commissioners was made in March after a request was made by Mrs. Ralph Buckel of Bittinger and other members of a delegation which apeared before the Commissioners. The Board at that time agreed to give the sum of $500 as the county's part for the agent. The balance of the expense is to be borne by the Extension service.

No Decision Yet On Plant Closing

No final decision has yet been reached on the closing of the plant of the Imperial Ice Cream company, it was stated last evening by Russell L. Smith, mayor of Oakland.

Mr. Smith said he had just completed a lengthy telephone conversation with S. C. Sherwood, division manager of Fairmont Foods, in Parkersburg, W. Va., and was advised that no final decision had as yet been reached about the plant.

Mr. Smith said he had extended an invitation to Mr. Sherwood to personally visit Oakland and get all the first hand information from the producers of milk as well as the distributors of their products in this area and to obtain any further information which might prove of value to the company in reaching a final decision.

He said Mr. Sherwood was making arrangements to visit Oakland during the coming week and as soon as a definite date had been set that the parties most concerned would be given an opportunity to present their side of the case.

Lake Park $130.33, Kitzmiller $152.23, Steyer $10, North Glade $34.11, Rock Lodge $42.20, Gortner $4.66, Finzel $11, Sand Run $24.50, Hoyes $22.50.

Opening Night Characters In Summer Theatre Production

Ronald Yost — Leonard Drum — Helen Camp — Tom Calkins — D. G. Buckles

Helen Camp, Leonard Drum, Ronald Yost and Tom Calkins are among the nine actors and actresses who will appear in the opening play of the Garrett County Summer Theatre which gets underway next Tuesday, July 3.

The Garrett County Playhouse, located at the former Arden Boat club on Deep Creek Lake, near Route 219, is set to open its eight-week season at that time.

The first play to be presented will be "Hay Fever," by Noel Coward, which will be given Tuesday through Saturday. Curtain time each evening will be at 8:30.

Other participants in the first play are D. G. Buckles, Suzanne Oglesby, Bonnie Barton, Donnie Welch and Mrs. Bernard Arnette. The latter, of Fairmont, W. Va., and summer resident of Mt. Lake Park, will play a minor role. Yost is the only new performer for the first week's play which the author considered as "his favorite play." "Hay Fever" is light comedy and concerns four week-end guests that drop in unexpectedly upon another couple.

Rehearsals have been in progress since Monday at Hemlock Hollow, summer home of Gene Yell, director, several miles south of Oakland.

Workmen were scheduled to go to the lake today to arrange the theatre and erect the additional seats now available because of the placing of a steel support beam which eliminates some center posts.

The new arrangement makes it ideal for "theatre in the round," and the stage will be viewed from all sides.

Fishing Considered Good Last Week

Bass and crappie fishing were considered very good last week by Sigurd Brantingson, regional fish culturist, who announced that his department is engaged in taking a creel census of the lake during the summer months. The creel census is in charge of Scott Kennedy.

J. C. Davis, of Morgantown, W. Va., caught a seven pound, 21 inch large mouth bass on June 18, the largest one reported for the week.

Brantingson also reported that D. Savage, of Silver Spring, on June 17 had caught a four pound, 19-inch small mouth bass. A 13-inch crappie also was caught June 20 by E. Diamond, of Baltimore. All were caught in the Thayerville vicinity in the evening, when the sky was overcast.

Brantingson said there were several limit catches of bass and that a few trout were being taken along with a few good catches of rock bass and yellow perch. He planned to issue weekly reports every Friday.

Holtschneider Catches One

A 12-year-old boy, Cecil Holtschneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Holtschneider, of Deer Park, also caught a four pound, 18-inch small mouth bass last Saturday in the lake.

Driver of Crash Car Is Located

A 15-year-old Baltimore youth who was driving one of three cars which was involved in a serious accident on U.S. route 219 near Silver Lake about two weeks ago, was located by West Virginia State Police in the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Police said the youth was on a week-end leave from the institution when he apparently took his father's car and collided with two other vehicles. Nine persons were injured and several hospitalized in Oakland following the accident.

The youth escaped before he could be questioned by state police. Officials said they would continue their investigation into the case. The youth told witnesses to the accident that he was driving without a license.

Six Days of Rain

Garrett county has experienced six days of rainfall during the past week, with a total let-down of 2.05 inches. This, in addition to 3.57 inches which had fallen previously in June, makes a total rainfall for the month 5.62. Several of the storms have been electrical ones.

According to Ralph Weber, veteran weatherman, south of town, the end is not yet in sight.

To meet service demands in Oakland the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Maryland, at a meeting June 25, approved expenditure of $43,000 for additional central office equipment and to increase the number of circuits between Oakland and Gormania.

This improvement is part of a $9 million expenditure for expanding and improving telephone service in Maryland. Only once before in the company's history has the board approved equally high expenditures in any one month.

Cars Derailed

Mail delivery was interrupted this morning as the result of a train wreck on the seventeen-mile grade about 11 o'clock last night.

Two loaded coal cars were derailed in the vicinity of Bond which tied up both tracks. The cars were headed for the east at the time of the wreck. Regular service was expected to be resumed by early afternoon, with the first mail of the day arriving for Oakland at 2:15 o'clock.

Several cars also were derailed at the Weber crossing near Oakland on Tuesday.

Samoa is all set for introduction of self-government next year, with New Zealand retaining control over defense, foreign policy and high court.

Clarifies Practice on Contract Awards

A clarification on the method of bidding by the Board of Education was made last week in a letter to a number of parents and patrons from Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

The clarification came as the result of a statement made by a person at a recent citizens' meeting to discuss plans for the school building program. At that time one person stated that it had been told to her that contracts for materials used by the School Board were awarded to the few and that it was useless for anyone other than those numbered among the favored few to submit bids.

Mr. Hawkins said such a statement was unfounded, unfair and untrue. He explained that the law requires the School Board to submit for bids all purchases the sum of which exceeds $1,000. Purchases of materials in amounts less than $1,000 may or may not be bid, in the discretion of the Board, he further explained.

Mr. Hawkins stated that the school board requests bids on very small orders and shops for good buys even when purchasing such items as automobile tires or a lawn mower. Every dealer in the county of the commodity to be purchased has an equal opportunity to submit a bid.

In support of his stand Mr. Hawkins included in the letter the record of invitations to bid, the bids received and the contracts awarded for materials and services for the present year. These include paint bids which went to Garrett Building Supply; asphalt tile bids, which went to Oakland Lumber; underlayment board bid which went to Acorn Associates, ascoustical tile ceiling bid which went to Acorn Associates; window shades bid for Friendsville and Oakland which went to A. D. Naylor and Company; shades for Red House, Crellin and Deer Park, which went to Acorn Associates; new car bid, which went to Sharps Motor company; new roof on Center street building which went to William Shirer; new furnace bid, which went to A. D. Naylor and Company; bid for ten new typewriters, which went to Typewriter Sales and Service; shelving bid, which went to Fred E. Beachy Lumber company; new classroom furniture, which went to Acorn Associates.

K. of P. Team Tops In Little League

The record of eight wins and one loss for the Knights of Pythias Little League team was more than enough to win the first half championship just completed.

The Lions club team was runner up with a record of five wins against four defeats. Moose was third with three wins and six losses while the Legion brought up the rear with a record of two wins and seven defeats.

On Friday evening the Lions will meet the Legion in the first game and the K. of P. team will play the Moose in the nightcap. On Tuesday evening, July 3, it will be Legion versus the Moose, and K. of P. versus the Lions. Game time is 5:30 p. m.

Clubs To Conduct Campaign For Aid To Mentally Ill

Doorbells ringing on behalf of the mentally ill will begin in Oakland within ten days as part of the national observance of the mental health campaign launched to expand mental health clinics and to raise the level of psychiatric service in Maryland's counties.

Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, chairman of Mental Health for the senior Civic club of Oakland, together with Mrs. Irvin R. Rudy, Jr., chairman of mental health of the Junior Woman's Civic club, will head the local committee for the fund raising campaign in Oakland. The dates of July 9 to 14 have been designated as the time for the house to house canvass.

The first district, Maryland Federated Women's clubs, has chosen mental health as its project for the year and is giving full support to the counties.

Dr. Philip Lerner, chairman of the special committee of the House of Delegates to study Maryland mental hospitals, issued this statement: "In the course of studying the mental hospitals with other members of my committee, I have become more than ever convinced of the urgency of the problem of mental illness and the need for public understanding and support of a progressive program. The Maryland association plays a valuable roll in providing leadership. This program is designed to control mental illness through education, expansion of clinics and support of better budgets for the care of mental patients. Of greatest importance is the fact that a portion of the funds raised in Maryland go for research. With adequate funds we can give those suffering from mental illness the same chance for recovery that we give those suffering from physical illnesses."

Mrs. Arthur J. Rawson, Frederick, chairman of the community clinics committee, reported that there were at present 12,000 patients in Maryland mental hospitals, some 4,000 patients would leave the hospital during the year and as many would be admitted. She said there were 150,000 individuals in the state suffering from some degree of mental disorder, and that emotionally disturbed children in public schools were estimated as "innumerable" by a special committee of the State Department of Education.

Southern FFA Group Attends Convention

The trip will enable the local FFA boys to compete against other boys of the state and will provide opportunity to learn more about FFA membership aims.

Leo Custer and David Otto will receive the Maryland State Farmer degree for their outstanding work on their home farms. Donald Bowers will serve as state reporter. James Kreyenbuhl, Donald Riley and Mayo Shreve will judge live stock. Gay Roth and Audrey Friend will judge milk. The boys are accompanied on their trip by George Lipscomb and Richard Bishoff, vocational agriculture instructors.

Association To Meet

Members of the Garrett County Conservation association will meet on Tuesday evening, July 3, at 8 o'clock at the Oakland Fire hall, it was announced. Refreshments will be served. Members are urged to attend.

MARRIED

Brown-Rumbaugh — Miss Linda Susan Rumbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Holsopple, of Hagerstown, and David Lee Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Martin, also Hagerstown, exchanged marriage vows in a ceremony in Hagerstown on Saturday, June 9.

The double ring nuptial service took place at two o'clock in the chapel of Haven Lutheran church. Rev. Frank P. Cauble officiated at the ceremony amid a chancel setting of potted palms, pink daisies and white gladioli.

Mrs. Frank P. Cauble, organist, and Miss Karolyn Rush, cousin of the bride, vocalist, presented a recital of wedding music. Miss Rush sang "Melody of Love," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon dress of sheer white dotted Swiss featuring a louvered bodice and bouffant skirt, offset with a matching cummerbund. Her frock was designed with a bateau neckline and three-quarter sleeves, and was worn with a matching dotted Swiss hat and white accessories. She carried a spray of white roses and baby breath arranged on a white Bible, a family heirloom which has been honored by seven brides.

Miss Patricia Iris Rumbaugh was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She chose a street length dress of pink mist silk organza patterned after the bridal frock with a louvered waist, capped sleeves and full skirt. She wore a floral bandeau of pink rosebuds and baby breath and wore a matching corsage.

R. Karl Shank, uncle of the bride, served as best man. Donald Frank and Joseph Wolf, both Hagerstown, were ushers.

Mrs. Holsopple wore a navy silk organza frock which she complimented with a white lace picture hat, white elbow gloves and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Martin selected a pastel blue linen dress, adding a small blue lace hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception in the social room of the church followed the ceremony. Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake which centered the bridal table. Mrs. R. Karl Shank and Mrs. Karol Rush, both aunts of the bride, were at the twin punch bowls.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for Winooski, Vermont, where they will make their home. For traveling Mrs. Brown changed to a navy and white striped seersucker suit with pink linen accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Brown is a graduate of Hagerstown high school, class of 1956. She was a former resident of Friendsville.

Mr. Brown, who attended Hagerstown High school, is now serving with the air force, stationed at Ethan Allan air force base, Winooski.

Among the guests were Mrs. Ben W. Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. Karol Rush, Nancy Karolyn and Robin Rush, of Friendsville.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

Democracy Depends on Growth

Dr. Earl Hawkins, in his commencement address to the graduating classes in this county said many wonderful and fine things. Commenting on the study of history, and its merit to us, he pointed out how that study shows us that the growth of democracy has been both slow and painful. I am sure he was correct, and that not only in the past but in the present and the future, it will be slow and painful, for it shows and represents our growth as individuals.

The practice of Democracy, in my opinion, is at once the most difficult and the most rewarding of all forms of government. Its success depends on many things, most especially on an informed and enlightened citizenry. Many of its difficulties lie in the fact that each one has a voice in the government, regardless of his ability or understanding. At the voting place, the vote of the near illiterate rates equally with those who have made lifetime studies of public affairs. It is our glory that such is the case, yet I am sure that all possible efforts should be made to correctly inform and educate our people to the responsibilities of self-government.

In spite of its weaknesses, and there are many, it is the most rewarding way of life, too. Under its way of thinking, its free institutions have made our people strong and given to us the great fruits of freedom. Wealth has been more equally distributed and the good life, in an economic sense, has come to the many rather than the few. It has not always been easy, but always rewarding. Many times difficulties and rewards seem to go hand in hand.

It works like the growth of an individual into maturity. That growth requires study, self-discipline, right motives, respect for other's rights and many other personality traits that tell others we have grown up and matured.

It is neither desirable nor necessary that we all think alike. Our great strength lies not in our sameness, but in our diversity. Therein is the greatest challenge for Democracy—to weld together that very diversity that makes us strong, into the co-operation that is needed to pursue progress, to initiate and carry out new and needed projects. Recent events in our county have shown a need for growth in this regard from many levels.

As time goes on, new methods of doing public business may need to be adopted. It seems to me those methods should be discussed and the pros and cons gone into thoroughly. Then, with the public interest in mind, if they are desirable, they should be adopted. That is a good and sound democratic procedure.

As I said before, I believe an informed public opinion is the best friend any person in public life can have. Therefore, every effort should be made to thoroughly acquaint our people as to the methods, procedures and net results of their conduct of public affairs. The average citizen should refrain from making irresponsible charges against those who serve us in public office. It is his duty to be sure of his facts before he speaks.

Behind the things we see happen in office we can cee the weaknesses common to the human race. A desire for power, old prejudices that should have gone out into the ash can long ago, come up to show their ugly heads. The facts are not always viewed objectively, by any means. Not only here, but everywhere that is the case.

I am reminded of a story about a man who came home from work, tired and anxious to have some peace and quiet. His small son was insistent upon having his father talk to him and play with him. Finally, the father gave him the pieces of a puzzle to put together. He felt sure the little boy would be happily busy all evening. Soon, to his surprise, the little boy returned, announcing he had put the puzzle together. Now, the front of the puzzle was a picture of the world, so the father was amazed that so small a boy could have placed all the pieces of a world together in so short a time. Surprised, he asked him how he did it.

The little boy replied, "Daddy, there was a man on the back of the puzzle and when I fit the parts of him together, the world on the front fell into place, too."

There is a lesson for all of us there. In the final analysis, the success of Democracy depends on the fitting of the man together, making him a whole, strong and good. That alone will make our world a whole and not a series of jangled pieces that tear us apart.

Warning Issued On Purchase Of Gunpowder

A warning was sent out during the past week from the State Insurance Department of Maryland regarding the practice of purchasing gunpowder for the self-loading of cartridges and gun shells.

Applications for licenses to manufacture, use or sell gunpowder and other explosives is obtained from the office of the State Insurance commissioner, 34 Hopkins Place, Baltimore 1.

A ruling from the deputy attorney general, Norman P. Ramsey, says that "fixed ammunition means ammunition in which the shot is attached to the powder charge and the definition cannot be extended to permit the sale by a retailer or manufacturer of smokeless powder to persons who wish to manufacture their own cartridges and gun shells. The very fact that the powder is separate from the shot indicates that the person buying the same intends to create fixed ammunition after purchasing the component parts.

The person purchasing the smokeless powder for the purpose of making cartridges and shells, is to our mind, clearly required to be licensed.

According to S. R. Pagenhardt, quite a bit of this has been going on around the county since the sharp increase in the cost of shells in recent months.

Leave For Training

Cadet Sgt. first class Gordon Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wright, of Friendsville, is taking his six weeks of R.O.T.C. training at Camp Meade. He had two years of R.O/T.C. training at Potomac State college and was a member of Roth honorary society there. He continued his training at West Virginia university where he also was initiated into "Scabbard and Blade," honorary military fraternity, in his junior year there.

John F. Hanst, senior student at Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, also left last Friday for Fort Meade where he is undergoing six weeks of R.O.T.C. training.

Shirt Plant Expansion For Grantsville Is Under Way

Owners of the Flushing Shirt Manufacturing company in Grantsville have contracted for an addition which will more than double the present floor space of the factory. This is being done in less than three years since the company began operations on September 1, 1953.

The company now employs 90 women and eight men who operate 68 machines and prepare, manufacture, inspect, pack and ship the products, the Flying Cross distinguished service uniform shirts. The operation is housed on 10,800 square feet of floor space in the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department building.

The addition, already under construction, will increase the floor space used by the company to 25,200 square feet. The addition is the same size as the original building, 60 by 120 feet, two stories high. It is being financed and built by the fire department at an estimated cost of $70,000.

Bernard Lippman, of B. Lippman, Inc., New York City, came to Grantsville three years ago to inspect the former pea canning factory building. He was not satisfied but Joseph F. Fahey, cashier of the First State Bank, suggested the fire department building. Firemen and other interested persons completed the flooring on second floor within a week without cost for labor. A lease was signed, giving the company the use of half the first floor and all of the second, just 3,600 square feet of the ground floor being reserved for the firemen as an apparatus room and fire hall.

The demand for the product became so great that expansion was necessary. The firemen have refinanced their entire operation with a new loan, have signed a new ten-year lease, providing sufficient revenue for the department to pay off its entire indebtedness in 11 years.

In recognition of his unselfish service in adjusting various difficulties with management problems, Henry L. Durst, Grantsville's fire chief, was presented with the Community Service Award for 1956 by the Grantsville Rotary club.

The company is considered a leading stylist in the uniform business. The firm now has the contract for all American Legion uniform shirts. It outfits state police forces and municipal employes, Consolidated Edison of New York and Pan-American, Capitol, Eastern and American Airlines including pilots and other employes. It does not have a contract with the U. S. government but makes uniforms for sale at post exchanges and for postal employes. The company has had no layoffs or shutdowns except for vacations since establishing the factory in Grantsville. Public relations is considered excellent.

The addition is scheduled for completion by October 1.

A Chamber of Commerce study shows that when a new factory locates in a town, for every 100 factory jobs, 174 other jobs are created, population increases by 296 people, retail sales increase by $360,000 a year, four new stores are established, 107 cars are registered and 70 telephones are installed. Overall personal income increases by $590,000 a year. The present annual payroll there is more than $200,000.

This was the 30th year Maryland homemakers have had the opportunity to enjoy "college week for women"—living in dormitories, eating in the dining hall, attending scheduled classes and assemblies and discussing common problems in homemaking, community living and world affairs. It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Gesell on Youth

For two years we've been waiting for Gesell's book on youth from 10 to 16 to get off the press and it is now in the Ruth Enlow library. I've had it on my desk for several days and find it as good reading as infant care a month before the expected heir. One of those books one refers to from time to time.

I couldn't begin at the front of the book. I had to jump quickly to the chapter marked—the 14-year-old. What I found there was most encouraging. A parent can put up with anything—even an 11- or 13-year-old when we know it's normal. Actually it didn't take Gesell to let me in on the secret that 14 is really a wonderful age—full of energy and exuberance, outgoing, friendly, fun loving, quite a different person from 13, thank goodness!

He is more friendly minded—even friendly to those not in his own gang. They are the life of their household, loving rock and roll records and much, much of it. There is laughter, singing and much noise. You know when he's in the house.

He is more family minded and gets along better with younger brothers and sisters than the parents realize.

When 14 gets angry it's a short explosive outburst. Not one to keep steam bottled up. He lets you know he's "mad."

The biggest trouble is trying to crowd everything into their lives. The busier they are the better they like it. Gesell says they need to be checked and planned with.

Both sexes are clothes conscious, although they budget their purchases wisely. Boys like shirts and sport jackets and girls never have enough skirts. It's the girls with the most clothes who "haven't a thing to wear."

They may eat with both elbows on the table but they are also beginning to sit with both feet on the floor.

It's really a wonderful age and parents with one will agree. Albert Schweitzer once said, "If all of us could become what we were at 14, what a different place the world would be."

—o—

The Thirteen-Year-Old

Of course one of the reasons we enjoy the 14-year-old is that we've just lived through the 13th year. Gesell uses the words, surly, moody, reflective, withdrawn. They not only pull out of the family group and go to their room but they often lock the door, the door that until now stayed open. Even more drastically, some push the bureau in front of the door.

It's a rough period for parent and child. The apron strings are being cut. The 13 may be embarrassed by mother when with friends. In fact she's quite critical of her mother, her hair-do, clothes, any little mannerism. Busy, tired father is "different" and is less likely to be criticized. Younger brothers and sisters usually irritate them.

Actually parents need to read this book if they have or are about to have a 13-year-old. It might help them pull through in a calmer manner—which is just what the youngster needs.

—o—

The Even Years Are Best

Life in the teens is made up of mountains and valleys. The even years are the high ones, the odd, low.

Ten, for instance, is the joyful golden age. He thinks his age in life is wonderful; neither too young nor too old. He is a happy member of the family. Boys obey their mothers, girls confide in them. Father's companionship now eagerly welcomed.

Sounds like it's perfect—but—"there is something about soap and water and the ten-year-old that doesn't mix." His room is a mess too, his stomach a bottomless pit. But he's sweetness itself.

—o—

Eleven

One of the most difficult periods for parents. That time of life when one parent begins to blame the other side of the family for the youngster's ways. A time to send them off to camp, to get them away from home; that period when a mother and daughter should be kept as far apart as possible. (feel any better?) "He wriggles, he wriggles a god deal. You almost get sea sick watching him."

The only good thing I seem to remember about eleven is that it will soon be

Happy Twelve

Life is wonderful. It all sounds like you're living in a bed of roses except that the wonderful life doesn't always include the family and says Gesell, "they have the shape of jelly."

Sometimes, having that shape under foot can get under your skin, some parents have found out.

Good Fishing!

Good native brook trout fishing can still be found in this county if the angler is willing to hike back into the mountain fastnesses, according to Gene Brown, writing in the Cumberland Sunday Times.

Recently, he said, two anglers, Jesse Walker, veteran Shallmar fisherman, and Bob Brown, of Kitzmiller, a district game warden, spent a day on one of these out-of-the-way streams and they hooked their limit of five each. One of the trout was 11 inches long and back about 50 years ago an 11-inch native trout was hard to find. "Anglers can have good sport by getting away from the well-beaten path where fishing pressure is heavy," he said.

Senate voted a billion dollar boost in the air force budget.

Writes Of Deep Creek Lake

"A mountain lake made to your order," is the way Myron Glaser describes Deep Creek Lake in the Washington Daily News of a recent issue.

He wrote, "Could you recommend a mountain lake near Washington where accommodations or cottages are available?" This question often has been asked of me.

"I never realized until last weekend that such a place is very much a reality at Deep Creek Lake, which is reached by the B. and O. or by auto from Washington via U.S. 40 or 50." He continues by telling of the shoreline and altitude of the lake, the nearby town of Oakland and also Mt. Lake Park and he brings in Muddy Creek Falls and Swallow Falls.

The writer stayed at Will O' the Wisp motel at the edge of the lake and told of the plans of the Promotion council to make the lake a year-around resort.

Mt. Lake To Elect

Two councilmen to serve the town of Mt. Lake Park will be elected on Tuesday, July 10. They will be elected for a two-year term.

Voting will take place from 1 to 7 p. m.

Candidates are John L. Fitzwater, Sr., and Earl J. Sebold.

Six County Towns Will Be Honored For Traffic Records

Six Garrett County towns are among the eighty Maryland towns to be honored for their outstanding traffic safety records on June 28 at a luncheon at Ocean City. Representatives of these communities are expected to be attending the annual convention of the Maryland Municipal league.

A plaque is to be presented by the National Safety council and the Maryland Traffic Safety commission. Mayors of these towns will receive these awards for having gone from one to five years without a traffic fatality.

The Garrett county communities listed are Accident, Mountain Lake Park, Kitzmiller, Grantsville, Oakland and Friendsville.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will present the awards.

One of the Maryland communities that has a long record of no traffic fatalities from automobile accidents is Accident. Accident is one of the safest communities in the entire United States in which to live insofar as automobile accidents are concerned. This community has completed five years without experiencing a fatality as a result of any automobile collision. Neither has there been a pedestrian death.

Governor McKeldin stated that the success of any traffic safety compaign depends upon the cooperation such as is demonstrated by these communities. He praised the work of the mayors and police chiefs and other interested citizens who have cooperated with the governor's traffic safety program.

Governor McKeldin also stated that the Maryland death toll had been reduced each year since he activated the Maryland Traffic Safety commission in 1951 despite the increase of over 300,000 more vehicles since then and the fact that the nation as a whole has shown an increase. He views with alarm, however the present trend in the death toll which is 228 so far this year as compared with 231 for the same period last year. He called on all citizens to go "Fourth" safely on the coming Fourth of July. He pleaded with motorists and pedestrians alike to "slow down and live."

Lutheran Church Is Being Redecorated

After a three months' period of concentrated effort, the members of St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran church in Oakland will worship this Sunday in a newly decorated sanctuary. Since April the plaster in the Nave, Narthex and other areas has been largely replaced and completely repaired; the roof has been completely replaced; and this week, all rooms, with the exception of the assembly room and classrooms in the basement, have been redecorated.

The roofing and plastering were done under contract with Kitzmiller and Edgar, local contractors, and the redecorating was done by the Seaber Art Decorating company of Westernport.

This is the fiftieth year that the congregation has been worshipping in this present building which was dedicated on December 6, 1906. The congregation was organized in 1850 and has had two other buildings in which to worship.

The pastor, Rev. Charles W. Carlson, and the congregation are in the process of making plans to have a fiftieth anniversary celebration for the present building during the first week of December.

Still to be done in the way of overhauling the building are a new set of doors at the entrance and a new floor for the Narthex.

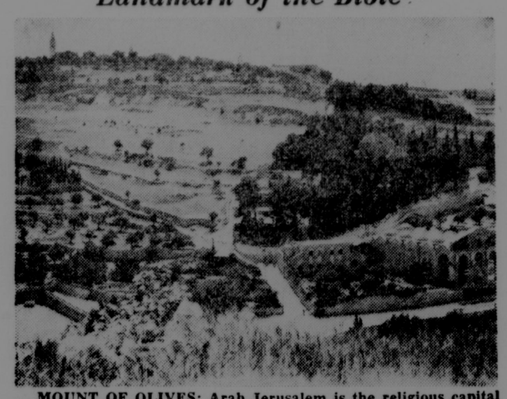
Landmark of the Bible



MOUNT OF OLIVES: Arab Jerusalem is the religious capital of the Kingdom of Jordan, one of the Bible Lands, and is divided into two parts: The Old Walled City containing the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and many other Christian shrines, and the modern city sprawling just outside the walls amid the hills of Judea. The modern city embraces the Garden Tomb, regarded by many Protestants as the true burial Place of Jesus. (Math 27:59). Shown in this picture are the Mount of Olives in the background, whence the Master is believed to have ascended into Heaven, the Stately Church of All Nations in the right foreground flanked by the Garden of Gethsemane and the seven-domed Church of St. Mary Magdalena, just behind the former church. Springtime has splashed this sacred site with all the colors of the rainbow.

Legion Team Wins One and Loses One

Oakland's American Legion Junior baseball team won one and lost one during the week's play.

Fort Cumberland team scored its third straight victory in the league by turning back Oakland in a game Tuesday halted by rain in the top of the sixth inning. The score was 5 to 1.

Oakland's lone hit was a two-bagger by Hinkle in the second inning.

Playing for Oakland were Tasker, DeWitt, Wine, Holler, Coleman, Sweitzer, Hinkle, Mussard, Paugh, Brag and Glotfelty.

In Saturday's game Oakland defeated Frostbury 8 to 7, on the Spiker field at Oakland. Frostburg played under protest from the fifth inning on. Frostburg's coach filed the protest in the fifth inning after a disputed call in the preceding frame. With Frostburg at bat, two out, runners on second and third and two runs in, a ball hit toward shortstop caught the base runner at second on the leg for the third out, but the coach claimed the runner on third had scored before the ball hit the other runner. The protest will be appealed.

Frostburg rallied in the last inning for three runs, two on Fleegle's two run homer, but the flurry fell short. Jim Sweitzer homered for Oakland in the second and hit a single to lead the winners. Ace Coleman was the winning pitcher.

Judge Elaborates On Opinion Given in Bill of Complaint

never any written partnership agreement, nor was there anything committed to writing in the summer of 1954 when the situation was said to have been changed. No books whatever were offered in evidence by either of the Brennemans.

"It was testified to by witnesses for plaintiff and admitted by Brenneman, that the trader's license was in the name of Aubrey C. Brenneman and John J. Brenneman, partners trading as A. C. Brenneman and Son; the reports to the Supervisor of Assessments for tax assessment purposes for 1953, 1954 and 1956 were signed and sworn to by Aubrey C. Brenneman and were to the effect that the drilling equipment was owned by A. C. Brenneman and others; A. C. Brenneman personally paid the 1955 taxes; the bank account is 'A. C. Brenneman and Son,' and either father or son can still draw checks against it; that after when he allegedly gave up his interest in the business Brenneman has taken orders for well drilling, has given estimates on prices and has selected sites for drilling of wells for various individuals. All this was done under the trade name of 'A. C. Brenneman and Son'; on advice of counsel Aubrey C. Brenneman filed a partnership return for 1955. However both he and his son said the return showed the son was entitled to all the profits.

"In all of the above transactions and in all the reports the name of 'A. C. Brenneman and Son' was used except in one instance when the bid was tendered under the call for bids to drill at the quarry. There the name of 'John J. Brenneman' was used.

Doesn't Decide on Intentions

"It is not necessary for me to decide whether or not A. C. Brenneman intended to violate the law. If he, being a partner in the drilling firm, did business with the county the law was violated.

"Nor do I have to decide whether he had ceased to have any right to share in the profits. Even if he had been a mere creditor of his son, under the facts of this case a transaction such as this would be held improper in certain states, though proper in others.

"It is quite true that the plaintiff, Roth, himself approved the contract with John J. Brenneman for the drilling of 1500 feet at $2.47 per foot. However, it is apparent that the true facts as to Aubrey C. Brenneman's interest in the drilling contract were not revealed to the other two commissioners at the time they approved the acceptance of the bid. It is this apparent concealment of interest which distinguishes the Swartzentruber and Brenneman cases.

"Since Roth's approval of the drilling contract for 1500 feet other facts have come to light. These show Aubrey C. Brenneman had retained his interest in the partnership and abundantly justified this Bill of Complaint.

Formal Decree Given

The formal decree stated that for reasons set forth in the opinion filed and dated June 19, it was ordered that the defendants, Harvey D. Swartzentruber, Aubrey C. Brenneman, and the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett county and such Board of County Commissioners sitting as the Garrett County Roads board, their agents, servants and employes, be enjoined from entering into any contract with or doing any business with any individual County Commissioner in violation of the provisions of sections 26 and 27 of Article 25 of the Code of Public General laws of Maryland."

Mr. Brenneman was further enjoined while he is a county commissioner from acting as such during any discussions of or actions by such board with reference to the balance which may be due to John J. Brenneman or to A. C. Brenneman and Son for drilling work performed at 'Bishop Quarry' under the drilling contract or contracts testified to in this case.

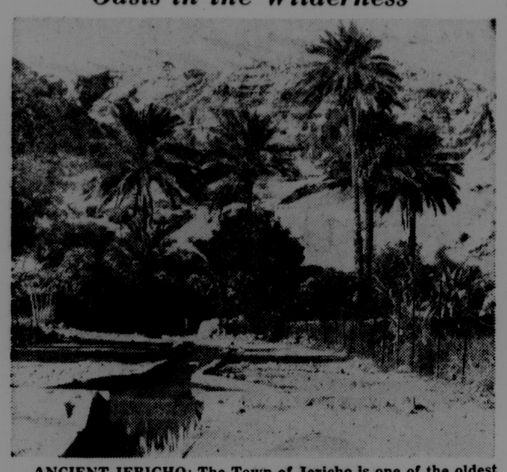
The Board was also temporarily enjoined from making any further payments on account of the drilling operations of John J. Brenneman or A. C. Brenneman and Son until the further order of the court.

The judge declared this temporary injunction would be dissolved upon proper proof that the proper legal amount due for such drilling operations had been determined by agreement between the parties concerned. He stipulated that Aubrey C. Brenneman could not sit as a County Commissioner for this decision.

Injunction Issued

The injunction which officially restrains the board members from doing business with themselves was issued June 22 and carries the same restrictions as were listed on the decree.

Oasis in the Wilderness



ANCIENT JERICHO: The Town of Jericho is one of the oldest settlements in the world, if not the oldest, and is among the memorable sights of the Kingdom of Jordan, one of the Bible Lands. Jericho was a flourishing town 6,000 year B.C. when other communities were small villages. The ruins of the Walled Town made famous by Joshua and his trumpets are still visible (Josh 6.4). Here is shown a verdant orange grove, guarded by waving palm trees and set in an oasis watered by a gurgling stream. In the background is the Mount of Temptation where Jesus spent 40 days and nights resisting the wiles of Satan. Barely visible between the palms is a small Greek-Orthodox monastery built into the cliffs. Not far away is the Dead Sea and the River Jordan where the Savior was baptized. This oasis is now blanketed with the flowers and blooms of springtime.

MARRIED

Gnegy-Roth—Mr. and Mrs. Webster Roth, of Horse Shoe Run, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Dale S. Gnegy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Gnegy, of Gnegy church.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized in St. John's Lutheran church at Red House Sunday, June 10, with Rev. William A. Renn officiating.

For the occasion, the church was decorated with white lilies and baskets of peonies and white carnations.

Organ selections were presented by Miss Gladys Harsh. Three selections were sung by Mrs. Eugene Flinn, "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of embroidered organdy. Her finger-tip veil was attached to her miniature hat of lace and seed pearls, with matching tulle mitts. Her attire was enhanced by a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom, and she carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and a shower of white streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Betty Wotring served as maid of honor. Her gown was orchid lace over taffeta, with headpiece of spring flowers and tiny orchid bows.

Bridesmaid was Miss Elaine Gnegy, sister of the groom, who wore a pink lace gown over taffeta, with headpiece of spring flowers and tiny pink bows. Both the maid of honor and bridesmaid carried a nosegay of assorted carnations, with matching streamers.

The best man was Glenn Gnegy, brother of the groom. Ushers were Donald Roth, brother of the bride, and Lorraine Gnegy, cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roth wore a pink dress of shantung. Mrs. Gnegy, mother of the groom, wore a pink print dress. Both wore corsages of pink rose buds.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for the couple was held in the social room of the church.

After a brief honeymoon to Virginia, the couple naw resides at 73 Alder street, Oakland.

Truck Crashes Into Keyser Ridge Home

An empty two-ton lumber truck, with its brakes gone, crashed into a four-room frame house on U. S. route 40 Saturday afternoon, just east of Keyser Ridge.

Both the truck, driven by Harry Weese, 27, of Arthur, W. Va., and the house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Beeman, were demolished.

Seven persons, most of them members of the Beeman family who were sitting on a porch on the east side of the building, were thrown to the ground by the force of the impact. The runaway truck hit the opposite side of the house while descending a steep grade.

Trooper Glenn Folk, Maryland State Police, said the brake failure on the truck was caused by a broken wheel housing and axle. Weese told the trooper he was traveling east and discovered he had no brakes as he began the descent of the steep grade.

Spotting an open field to the left behind a huge oak tree, Weese turned his racing vehicle off the left side of the highway in an effort to ditch the truck. He said he did not see the house, located off the roadway, until it was too late.

The truck crashed full into the living room of the frame dwelling and came to a stop in the kitchen. Only the rear wheels of the vehicle remained outside the building. No one was in the dwelling at the time.

The Beemans and neighbors were sitting on the porch at the time. Mrs. George Beeman later complained of back injuries and a bruised arm but the others apparently were unhurt. The heavy cab of the truck shielded the driver who also was not injured.

Trooper Folk said Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beeman, a son and daughter-in-law, had just arrived at their parent's home from Meyersdale, Pa. They and their two young children, a neighbor, Earl Butler, another son, John Beeman, and Mrs. George Beeman, the mother, were talking on the porch. The elder Beeman was not at home.

The force of the crash moved the small house 12 to 14 inches off its foundation and wrecked everything inside the home. Trooper Folk said estimated damage to the house alone was about $3,000. Weese carried property damage and liability insurance, the officer said.

Mr. and Mrs. Beeman are residing with neighbors until they acquire a new home. Trooper Folk said that no charges would be preferred.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Free labor is one of five key factors in America's unmatched economic progress. The other factors are freedom to dream, freedom to compete, screened management, and high investment in industrial tools. All are interrelated in the American success story. Take away one of these five factors and the other four cannot function successfully for long. The American citizen, born and reared in freedom, could not possibly produce to his full capability unless free to choose his job and to change jobs as he wished.

Our private enterprise economy preserves free labor. This is a significant fact which everyone should think upon. When we examine the workings of Socialism we see that sooner or later it must conscript, control and regiment labor in order to make the Socialist blueprint work. When a government makes the decisions on how much of what is to be produced—as Socialist governments do—it must be able to rigidly control the work force in order to meet the rigid production schedules.

England, with its Labor-Socialist government elected in 1945 presents an excellent illustration of how a government is forced to control labor if it controls production.

When Clement Atlee in 1945 was elected Prime Minister of England on a platform pledging that the government would take over the major industries of the nation, he made this significant statement: "No nation has yet succeeded in nationalizing its industries and at the same time avoiding compulsion of labor. But England shall avoid it."

The coal mines were taken over by the Socialist government in January, 1946. In February, 1947, 13 months later, England was confronted with a great coal famine. Half of all the wheels of industry were stopped for want of coal. As spring came and the heating needs were lowered, the government saw an improvement in the coal shortage. But as summer drew on Atlee knew awfully well he was going to face another coal famine when winter came. In the summer of 1947, Atlee addressed his Labor-Socialist parliament, and said: "Give me compulsion of labor." The hated Control of Engagements Act was put into force.

In our country labor is free, free to organize, free to bargain collectively, free to choose, to seek, and to quit a job. All of us must be alert and wary of encroachments on this great freedom—which has been a key factor in making America the most wonderful nation on earth.

Mr. Murphy moved to Friendsville in 1921 when he established the Yough Motor company which is now operated by his son, Ralph, who took over the operation in 1947 when his father retired.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were married June 20, 1906, at the home of the bride, in Frostburg, by Rev. A. H. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist church there. Rella Murphy was her sister's bridesmaid and Frederick Swadner served as best man.

Murphy began his business career in Frostburg, having been born in Garrett county about five miles away. When married he was employed at the Frank C. Speicher-Beachy Wedding Is Held

Miss Karolyn Kay Beachy, daughter of Mrs. Vena L. Beachy and the late Galen Beachy, of Grantsville, became the bride of Robert Harvey Speicher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Speicher, also of Grantsville, on Sunday, June 10. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence Whetstone, pastor, in the Grantsville Lutheran church.

Baskets of white gladioli, carnations, asters, baby breath, palms and lighted tapers in standard candelabra, decorated the chancel.

Mrs. Nevin Broadwater played a program of nuptial music and accompanied George Bittner, Frostburg, who sang "I Love You Truly," "O Perfect Love," and during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Luther C. Beachy, was attired in a ballerina length gown of embroidered nylon tulle over blush taffeta made with a high neckline, short sleeves and very full skirt. She wore long matching mitts pointed over her hands. The veil of imported illusion in bridal blush was attached to a small cloche and scattered with iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Jack Keim, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown of sheer pastel pink organdy had a bouffant skirt and white embroidery on the scalloped neckline and skirt. The headpiece she wore was a wedding ring of pearls with dotted pearl circular veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and white carnations with stephanotis center.

As bridesmaids Mrs. William Englehart, Johnstown, Pa., wore pastel blue and Mrs. Donald Hutchinson, Merchantville, N. J., wore pastel yellow. They carried cascade bouquets of Esther Reed daisies and baby breath with stephanotis center. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically with that of the matron of honor. Attendants wore single strand pearl chokers, white wrist length gloves and shoes matching their gowns.

Flower girl was Miss Gloria Keim, niece of the bride. Walter Kamp, of Grantsville, was best man and ushers were William Bender, Donald Hershberger, Grantsville, Gerald Beachy, nephew of the bride, was acolyte.

The bride's mother chose a light blue floral silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Speicher wore an aqua linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Beachy entertained with a reception for approximately 200 guests in the church social room. Missionary society members served refreshments. The bride's table was adorned with a four-tier wedding cake ornamented with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was served by Mrs. James Hahn, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Hazel Reckner, Mrs. Walter Kamp presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Daniel Hershberger was dining room hostess.

The bride was graduated from Grantsville High school, class of 1952, attended Catherman's Business school and until her resignation was employed at Fairchild Aircraft Division in Hagerstown.

The groom was graduated from Grantsville High school, served two years in the armed forces and is attending Catherman's Business school. He is an employe of Casselman Motor company.

Mr. and Mrs. Speicher left for Ocean City, N. J. The bride wore a beige sheath dress with matching cape, white and brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will reside at the home of the bride's mother.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Resh and Mrs. Philip Blocher, Frostburg; Miss Erma Wilmont, Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, daughter Patricia and son David, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yutzy and daughter Dee, of Mt. Savage.

The family "chauffeurs" are going for Ford in a big way for some mighty big reasons

That's why the lady loves a Ford

She loves the performance that makes Ford the world's largest-selling V-8!
Who wouldn't thrill to the extra "GO" that Ford knows so well how to pack into a V-8? The lady is no exception. And while she may be a bit hazy about the 30 world performance records that Ford broke, she knows that the 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8* in a Fordomatic Victoria is ready and able in an instant to whisk her away from traffic trouble.

She loves that look that says Thunderbird all over!
Any one with a flair for style knows that the "long, low look" is in and that the Thunderbird-inspired Ford is the fashion leader. Inside, too, Ford boasts new beauty with the richer fabrics, lovelier colors of Luxury Lounge Interiors.

She loves the protection of Ford's exclusive Lifeguard Design!
The lady heartily approves the sound common sense of Ford Lifeguard Design and appreciates the new peace of mind it brings when the family's on the move. New deep-center steering wheel and Lifeguard double-grip door latches are standard equipment. Floor-anchored Ford seat belts and Lifeguard padding for sun visors and instrument panel are available at reasonable extra cost.

She loves the way Ford S-T-R-E-T-C-H-E-S budgets!
Built-in extra value makes Ford worth a good deal more than its modest price . . . helps it hold on to its value, too! For example, a hefty frame with 5 heavy cross-members and K-bar bracing is the most ruggedly designed and built in the low-price field.

Come in and meet the lady's beau at your Ford Dealer's. Chances are you'll agree—she knows how to pick 'em.

Nine Letters

Lesson for July 1, 1956

THOUSANDS of Sunday schools for the next three months are going to be studying nine short but immortal letters. These letters are the forgotten parts of the New Testament, for many people. Out of the 27 "books" of the New Testament, all but five are letters. These nine—from Hebrews to Revelation inclusive—make up about 50 pages or one-sixth of the whole Testament. It would be worth the reader's while to make a special study of these letters this summer. Perhaps all the teachers in a Sunday school could chip in and buy a commentary or two.

Dr. Foreman

Letters from . . .

No two people write quite alike. All letters bear the mark of their writers even when they are unsigned. So it is with these nine. Some of them are signed, some are not. But the writers can be told apart without any trouble. If Hebrews and James were printed together without a break, a high school student should be able to notice the difference between them. The writer of the first letter is plainly a highly educated man, a man who is keenly interested in ritual and in the history of the Hebrew people. The writer of the second is less highly educated, but a more practical man all around. Not that his advice is any better, but he loses no time getting down to particular problems. The first man is greatly interested in theology, the second is so little interested in it that his letter has worried some people like Luther, for example, who wondered whether it really belonged in the New Testament. Or again, comparing Hebrews with the letters of Paul, the reader can see why scholars are for the most part quite certain that Paul never wrote this one. It is obviously written by a different kind of man—one who used a different vocabulary, went at problems differently, constructed a letter differently, quoted the Old Testament in a different way; indeed while all of Paul's letters are carefully signed, Hebrews is not signed at all. . . . So one may go through the rest of these letters seeing the writers through what they wrote.

Letters to . . .

Letters vary according to the persons to whom they are written. A woman writing to her mother, her husband, the tax collector and her boy at school will write four different kinds of letters. So these nine letters were written to different kinds of people. To be sure, some of them were sent to a pretty wide circle of readers (Peter for instance), but even so, that wide circle had something in common: in this case, suffering and persecution. Is it too much to suggest that the Christians John has in his mind's eye as he writes his letters are much more mature than the Christians to whom James writes his plain advice? Now the interesting thing is that the various kinds of Christians to whom these letters were addressed are matched by Christian types today. That is why one Christian will sometimes get more out of one part of the New Testament, while another Christian finds more meat in another part. And yet for all the differences there are some important likenesses, and the noticing reader will find them.

Letters about . . .

Few if any of these letters, or any others in the New Testament, are about "things in general." They usually speak to some particular problem, situation or trouble. The New Testament does not consist of a series of theological essays neatly arranged by topics. Rather, it consists of fairly short letters speaking to certain specific problems that had been distressing the readers. Some of these problems emerged in more places than one at the same time, just as happens today. In the short passages selected for special study in most quarterlies, two problems are highlighted, as the reader will find: false teachings, and persecution. In these times in which we live, with half the world in a ferment against Christianity, and even in the "Christian" part of the world a bewildering jangle and wrangle of sects and "isms" soap-boxing all over the place—the Christian church threatened by enemies without and "crackpots" oftentimes within, who can call the New Testament's themes out of date?

Automation's effect on both jobs and workers is being studied by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The study is further evidence of the impact of mechanization on individual and national problems. Such studies serve to focus attention on another aspect of the problem: namely, the scarcity of trained personnel in the scientific and engineering fields. Not only do we lack the manpower the new age requires, but we have failed in inspiring our youth to pursue careers in science and engineering.

Communities owe it to themselves and to the nation to develop programs which will aid our young people in understanding the requirements of an age of mechanization and the tremendous advances in science. Opportunities for employment are almost limitless and private industry is providing adequate salary incentive to scientists.

The federal government has been remiss in obtaining and in adequately providing for scientists. The House has taken a step in the right direction in passing and sending to the Senate a bill which will aid in the recruitment of scientific personnel.

The Civil Service Examiners at the Norfolk Shipyard, Portsmouth, Va., have made a very practical move toward helping young people become engineers through a work-study training program. Information and application forms may be obtained from any post office—ask for Application Card Form 5000-AB.

Both Senate and House committees have been holding hearings on retirement legislation for federal employees. I am naturally doing all I can to push my bill which increases annuities for government employees.

A measure just passed by the House will greatly benefit the farmer in simplifying credit facilities available to him. The bill would provide additional funds for emergency loans and authorize refinancing of existing farm debts.

The Secretary of Defense announces the approval for Fort Detrick of the construction of 63 military housing units to be built under the Capehart Act. Private contractors will plan and build the units.

On My Calendar: On June 30, Mrs. Hyde and I plan to attend the Fairchild Employee picnic in Hagerstown. I shall take part in the presentation of prizes to employees and speak briefly. That night I will take part in the 50th anniversary of C. & P. telephone service in Rockville and the "cutover" ceremony at the dedication of the company's new plant in Rockville. On July 4, Mrs. Hyde and I will attend the annual Takoma Park Independence Day celebrations.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life
By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Habitation

Respect God's limits and you'll not stray off-base into unhappiness. God has carefully and clearly marked the bounds.

Go to the Old Testament and read the sign: "The Ten Commandments." You can inscribe them on tablets of stone, but they aren't much good there. That's why God has written them into the universe and engraved them on the hearts of men in all ages.

Go to the New Testament and read the sign: "The Sermon on the Mount." Jesus preached that one and it hasn't yet been surpassed. Nor will it be. Love God and love men. Who can improve on that?

The Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount are signs of life and bounds of blessing. Follow and find your peace. Stray and lose your way. "God hath determined the bounds of habitation," the word that can change your life.

Mountain Top Team Takes Sunday Tilt

Mountain Top and Fort Hill won the Western Maryland League's sixth smallbore rifle match fired Sunday evening at the Morningside Drive range, Cumberland. The victories kept the two clubs tied for first place in the team standings.

Fort Hill downed LaVale 1590-100x to 1574-75x. Mountain Top clobbered Hercules 1595-94x to 1558-63x to post a fifth win. Possibles of 400-32x by Merle McClintock and 400-26x by Alex Harvey gave the Garrett countians a long edge in the scoring.

The match was a 40 shot course fired with iron sights at 50 yards.

Next Sunday will mark the beginning of the International Dewar series with LaVale scheduled against Mt. Top at Oakland. Hercules and Fort Hill will shoot over the Cumberland range.

Also firing for Mountain Top: G. L. Porter with a score of 399-19x; and C. H. Calhoun, 396-17x. D. Helbig and R. Sims also fired but their scores were not counted.

GO 4th SAFELY

Go 4th Safely. This is the highway safety campaign for the full week of July first to the seventh. All Police Departments, state and city officials, plus Military, Safety, Civic and Industrial leaders have joined with the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission's State-wide campaign to materially reduce the traffic accidents which usually occur during the Fourth of July Holiday.

This is part of the nation-wide "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE" campaign running from Decoration Day until Labor Day, but without the cooperation of the pleas made by the Newspapers, Radio and Television stations, the "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE" campaign will be a failure. It must win the all-out support of the individual motorist.

Independence Day will have little meaning if you or your family are involved in a motor vehicle mishap. Governor Theodore R. McKeldin pleads with you "DON'T LET DEATH TAKE YOUR HOLIDAY!"

Aurora Classes Hold Reunion

Graduating classes of 1941 and 1942 of Aurora High school, held a reunion recently at the Community building in Aurora. The Farm Woman's club served dinner to 31 adults and 13 children.

Following the dinner songs were sung and each one was asked to tell whom they married, where they live and how many children they have. Prizes were given to the ones coming the longest distance and having the largest family. A corsage was given to each girl of the '41 class made from their class colors and flower. The men were given a pink rosebud. A corsage of blue violets and gold ribbon was given to members of the '42 class. The group decided to have another class reunion in five years.

MARRIED

Eary-Feather—St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland was the scene Sunday, June 17, at 3:00 p. m. of the marriage of Miss Alice Ann Feather, of near Terra Alta, to Paul Allen Eary, formerly of Middletown, Ohio, now a resident of this county. Rev. W. S. Patterson performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Frank J. Feather.

The only church decoration consisted of white cut flowers and candelabra. Three vocal selections, "Through the Years," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer," were sung by Miss Carolyn Lewis, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Reid Feather.

The bride wore a white ballerina length gown of crystalette and imported chantilly lace, with a short veil of illusion. She carried a corsage of red roses on a white Bible. Her only attendant wiss Miss Janet Lee Heyer, who wore a yellow nylon ballerina gown, carrying a corsage of yellow roses. Serving as best man for the groom was Thomas Feather, brother of the bride. Ushers were Jack D. Friend and Lynn L. Lewis.

A reception at the church followed the ceremony. Those assisting were Mrs. Playford Ryan, Mrs. Kenneth Hardesty, Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer, and Mrs. Ralph Jackson. Immediately after the reception the newlyweds left for a short motor trip through eastern Maryland and southern Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Eary will reside near Oakland, where both are to be employed as teachers in the Oakland Elementary school.

Civil Defense Is Topic Of Discussion Groups

The topic for the May discussion of the county Farm Bureau was "Civil Defense—Does Everybody Care?"

No one seemed to have done much thinking or planning about Civil Defense, it was revealed. Several groups told about getting in a cellar or under cover, not looking at the blast and covering ones face. Another group suggested that every family should have a first aid kit.

All but one group felt that the army should not control civil defense at great and wasteful expense. Groups felt the Federal government should not be permitted to provide safety shelter in rural areas, since it was not practical. All groups indicated they would be glad to help out with evacuees if the need arises.

More money spent on educational programs, and holding more meetings by organized groups to inform people and train them, were advocated.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the annual Farm Bureau Planning Group wiener roast and program at the Lawrence Brenneman grove near Bittinger on July 10, at 8 p. m., with music, games and contests. Each group is being asked to present some kind of an act. Prizes will be awarded. The Farm Bureau will provide ice cream. Individual groups will supply wieners, buns, soft drinks and marshmallows.

Group Nine Meets

Group 9 met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckel, at Bittinger with twelve in attendance. The topic, "Let's Take A Trip," was led by Robert Buckel. Purpose was to acquaint farmers with the many summer trips and tours available, so they might plan their leisure time. The group felt that farmers could learn from others while others could learn from farmers. It was suggested that when planning a tour, to take a gift to the host—a farm product.

The group felt better quality farm products would help bring about higher net incomes. They also felt that with advanced research and technology providing ways of producing more with less, that the average farmer would have to have sideline employment. They didn't think 1975 farmers would have to be as specialized as surgeons or scientists but that all agricultural bulletins on new developments should be used.

They pointed out that even though farmers are too busy to take off some time, that it was a good idea to take a trip when the opportunity occurs. The group planned an outing and short trip in July. The next meeting is scheduled at the home of Robert Glotfelty.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Hounds and the Hare

Ancient history records the tale of Mithridates IV, King of Pontus and Bithynia (about 63 B.C.), who concocted a confection, composed of 72 ingredients, which he claimed gave him special immunity. Now, it would seem that Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, has hit upon a similar formula though the ingredients are considerably different and more in numbers. The principal ingredient would seem to be a curious blending of American dollars with the communist teachings of Karl Marx.

Just one year ago, the minstrels of the Kremlin, who wander with a purpose, journeyed to Yugoslavia. By way of a return engagement, only recently, Marshall Tito, with much pomp and ceremony, made a pilgrimage to Moscow. Simultaneously, on both occasions, this Government was being importuned to send more economic and more foreign assistance to Yugoslavia.

It is interesting to note that, since the end of World War II, the community of free nations has furnished Yugoslavia nearly $2.5 billion dollars in aid. Of this amount, the United States supplied an estimated $2 billion. In the sense that Tito has added more ingredients to his Mithridate, he has also obtained financial help from communist bloc nations totalling about $464 million dollars equivalent.

Singly, and together, these events are fully consistent with the duplicity which has sparked the spread of world communism. The plan of operation never changes. Such a double and deceitful game was once described as "to hold with the hare and run with the hounds" —or to run with the hounds as if to catch the hare, all the while being the secret friend of the hare. Those among us who have any doubts as to Marshal Tito's real motives might ponder the meaning of this old adage.

These two meetings have served to strengthen the Belgrade-Moscow axis—there can be little mistake about this. These two partners have again demonstrated a solidness of mutual interests—interests which fit the pattern of the international Communist conspiracy — interests which are contrary to those of the free world. Support of this point of view can certainly be found in the coming gathering of Tito of Yugoslavia, Nehru of India, and Nasser of Egypt, all of which has been carefully cultivated in advance by the Foreign Minister of Soviet Russia.

The need for a reappraisal of our policy with all of these countries is now more pressing than ever.

Living costs for American families are equal to all-time peak of 1953.

Byrd And His Bill

A few days ago Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, introduced a bill proposing a reduction of $3,000,000,000 in the ceiling on the national debt, now at the tremendous and unprecedented level of $281,000,000,000. At the same time he announced that this proposal is in accord with the views of the Secretary of the Treasury, which means of the White House, too. Also, it means that debt reduction will come before tax reduction—which, of couse, it should.

News items about debt and taxes make dry reading in the newspapers, but this one is certainly worth a good deal more public attention than it got. For one thing it is almost without precedent for any Administration to put debt reduction ahead of tax reduction in an election year. Another reason is that it is almost equally without precedent for the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, a Democrat, to see eye to eye on fiscal policy with a Secretary of the Treasury and a President, both Republicans. This combination makes it reasonably certain that the Byrd bill (already approved in the House) will be enacted before this session ends. It will be a more or less notable event marking, as Senator Byrd points out, the first reduction in the public debt for more than ten years.

It also will be interesting as marking an unusual achievement upon the part of Senator Byrd personally. If there is another like it in Senate history it cannot now be recalled. Since 1933 Senator Byrd has been fighting against deficit financing as practiced by the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman "Fair Deal." For 23 years his has been the most potent voice raised against irresponsible spending of public funds. Ofter his has been the only voice in his party raised against the waste of Federal moneys and the padding of the Federal pay roll. Even in the days when he was relatively alone in the Senate in warning against the dangers of inflation, inherent in the spending policies of Democratic administrations, he never once faltered. He was—and is—the most completely consistent man in American public life. And a good many people in the country think one of the soundest.

The firmness of Senator Byrd in fighting for his basic conviction that it is just as unsound for a nation to live beyond its means as for a family or an individual, and that the penalty is inevitable in all cases, has kept him in opposition to Democratic national administrations for a long time. All through the Roosevelt-Truman regimes he was out of tune with Administration policies. Particularly was this true of Mr. Roosevelt. It was early in the first Roosevelt Administration that the break came between him and the President. The latter, whom Mr. Byrd had strongly supported in 1932, revealed in 1933 the vast New Deal spending program. As the late Senator Carter Glass, then Senator Byrd's colleague from Virginia, said: "In his first six months in office Mr. Roosevelt repudiated every pledge made in his 1932 platform." The two Virginia senators lined up against the New Deal program.

One day while the Agricultural Administration Act (the so-called AAA, afterward declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court) was about to be voted on in the Senate, Senator Byrd was called to the telephone. "Harry," said a voice, "this is Franklin Roosevelt. I understand the Senate is about to vote on the AAA today. I hope you are going to support us." Senator Byrd replied: "Mr. President, I am very sorry I can't do that but I am opposed to the principle of that bill." "Well," said the President, "I would like you to vote for it, Harry, as a personal favor to me." "I am really very sorry, Mr. President," again said Senator Byrd, "but it is impossible for me to do that without violating my convictions." Immediately, the White House phone was hung up—and for thirteen years Senator Byrd neither heard from nor spoke to Mr. Roosevelt. He was never invited to the White House either for a conference or socially. Mr. Roosevelt simply never forgave him and lost no opportunity to belittle him.

But that disturbed Senator Byrd not at all. Nor did it hurt him in Virginia, where they continued three times to re-elect him as Senator—once without Republican opposition. He had no political or personal favors to ask of the President and no one snubs a Byrd of Virginia by not asking him to a dinner or reception. He did not become a party bolter like Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, and no one ever charged that he is not a Democrat. He is one of those rare birds—a politician who puts the interests of his country above partisan politics. The reason this bill stands so good a chance of passing is because there is now another man like him in the White House, though not of his party. It is a pretty fine thing for the country to have them working together.

White AMOCO-GAS Guarantees

no lead fouling

Lead fouling is a power-robber caused by lead that's used in all gasolines but one—and that one is clear-white Amoco-Gas. Lead in a gasoline doesn't all burn. Crusty lead deposits form and foul up engine operation—and that's true of any leaded gasoline regardless of fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name. These deposits waste octane power. And no additive in the world can remove them, once they form.

Amoco-Gas alone can guarantee no lead fouling . . . it contains no lead, it can never leave a single lead deposit. Amoco is 100% POWER—with all the high octane that any car can use. You'll see the difference when you buy it—only Amoco-Gas is clear white. And you'll see the difference when you use it—watch that mileage record improve!

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

The Government's shopping list includes everything from monkeys to glue.

That was shown clearly at the recent Small Business Conference in Baltimore when various Federal departments outlined their needs and procurement procedures to about 1,060 persons from the Maryland area.

To many of the small business men at the meeting, the variety of items and services being sought was completely amazing.

Unusual and Commonplace Needs

The Public Health Service for instance, was in the market for six Macacus rhesus monkeys "in first class physical condition."

More commonplace items such as screen doors, friction tape, potato chips, musical instruments and paints were on supply lists of numerous other agencies.

In a stack of bid invitations for private services needed by several Government operations, there were requests for vehicle-washing facilities and for persons to translate birth certificates and other documents written in any of 67 languages ranging alphabetically from Albanian to Yugoslavian.

Unique Skills Are Advantage

Representatives of Federal departments stated that small concerns are getting "from 60 to 65 percent of the military business which is within their capabilities" and "nearly one-half the dollar volume of the items costing $25 or more throughout the Government's civilian agencies."

"Small businesses often have an inherent advantage over big business," said Wendell B. Barnes, Administrator of the Small Business Administration, "since the production of some items depends largely on the unique skills found in the smaller concerns."

Current Data Available

The Baltimore conference was sponsored by the S. B. A., and the Baltimore Association of Commerce and it will be used as a model for additional meetings which will soon be held in other sections of the nation.

For Marylanders who were unable to attend the conference for this area, there is still a continuing opportunity to obtain up-to-date information on Government purchasing through the Baltimore branch office of the S. B. A.

Harry A. Barron, manager of the branch, said his office receives direct information on bids from 80 Federal purchasing agencies as well as additional data concerning the needs of other groups.

During the past month, approximately $5,000,000 worth of contracts were placed with Maryland businesses through the Baltimore office, according to Mr. Barron.

Mr. Barron's headquarters, which are open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., Mondays through Fridays, are in Room 307 of the Calvert Building, at Saint Paul and Fayette streets, Baltimore.

ONE WORD . . .

Can Change Your Life

By REV. ROBT. OLEWILER
Pastor, Grace Reformed Church
Washington, D. C.

Heart

There's a legend about a prince who had a crooked back. He said to his sculptor friend: "I want you to make a statue of me with a straight back so I can see myself as I might have been." The sculptor obliged and the prince placed it in a secret nook in the palace garden where he gazed longingly upon it every day. Each gaze set his blood tingling and his heart throbbing. Soon the people began to comment: "The prince's back is not as crooked as it was." Then the day came when he realized it had become as straight as that of the statue. He had become the man he longed to be.

Just a legend, but like most legends there's a thread of truth running through it. You can be what you know at your best you ought to be if you keep gazing upon God with all your heart, the word that can change your life.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In continuing our series on the Ten Commandments, this week we will consider the Fourth Commandment, recorded in the Book of Exodus: 20:12, Honor your father and your mother, that their days may be long in the land which the Lord your God gives you.

There has been a good bit written about the problem and implications of juvenile delinquency. From what I have been following over the past ten years, the pendulum of opinion seems to swing first to one side, then to the other; one article will blame parents for the problem—the next article will decry "this horrible generation of teenagers." To my way of thinking, based on what God has revealed to me, and to all who will take the trouble to read His Word, neither point of view is entirely accurate. It is neither the fault of the teenager or of the parent, but a combination of both.

In the first place, and this is the most obvious interpretation of the fourth commandment, children, by their very nature, need the strong guidance of parents. Almost without exception, parents' orders are meant to be followed. In the order of God's creation, this is the basic scheme of life: Parents have children through the gift of God, raise them, helping them to adjust to the problems of this world—then they, the children that is, in turn grow up and have their own children and raise them. This cycle continues throughout history—for how many generations it has been going on, we do not know for certain, but we know that it has been going on for a long time, and, God willing, it will continue for still a longer time in the future. Each new generation has to learn the basic laws of existence, and God has given us parents to help us learn these. There were many times when we as children were unwilling to follow the advice of our parents, and in most cases we have had to learn "the hard way" that they were right. Mark Twain commented on this unwillingness of children to follow the advice of parents in this manner: "When I was sixteen, I was sure that my old man was the dumbest man that ever lived. When I became twenty-one, I was amazed at how much the old man had learned in five years."

And so, children should follow the advice and guidance of their parents, for this is the way God intended for things to be. Yet there is still another side to this problem, as is so clearly indicated in Paul's Letter to the Ephesians, where he discusses the fourth commandment in this way: Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up in the discipline of the Lord. (Ephesians 6:4.)

How many parents there are who are unwilling to spend the time and effort to bring their children up in the "discipline and instruction of the Lord" I have no way of knowing, but I know that there are many right here in Oakland. I will never be able to understand the reasoning behind those in my own congregation who send their children to Sunday Church School, even drive them in their cars so that the children will not have to walk, and yet never set foot inside the church themselves. How can a child hope to grow in the Lord unless the parent, who has by far the greatest responsibility in the raising of the child, is willing to show the way. Too many parents allow the church to take over in the religious instruction of their children, never bothering to teach them by their own Christian example. How many homes are there here in Garrett County where the Bible has a role to play in the daily life of the home? How many homes where family prayer is a regular part of the routine? How many homes where discussions of the role of God in family living have a part? Unless I am greatly mistaken, no more than three to five percent.

And so we come back to the problem of juvenile delinquency, and for that matter any other of our problems of society. These problems can only be worked out when parents and children alike live in accordance with the Maker of this world, seeking out His Word, in His kingdom. If you are not a member of a church or have become inactive in your church, why not start back on the right track this Sunday. There is not a church in Garrett county where you would not be welcomed with open arms by people like you, people who cannot get along without God—people who have found their Lord, and are happy to share Him.

Curriculum Work Program Completed

The two weeks' curriculum workshop, sponsored by the County Board of Education, was completed last Friday with twenty teachers, county and state supervisors participating.

The air of the session was to revise and improve the present school program in English and Social Studies in grades one through twelve.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendents of schools, said the program as developed by the group would provide a solid body of content as well as continuity through each of the twelve years of schooling in the county. He added that visitors from the State Department of Education had complimented local teachers and supervisors for what they termed a "very fine piece of work."

Emphasis is to be placed on such subjects as Maryland History, World History, U. S. History, Geography, Problems of Democracy and Youth Problems. The study of American History will be the point of emphasis in grades five, eight and eleven. Maryland History will be dealt with in grades four and nine. The study of the hemispheres will take place in grades six and seven. World history in grade ten and problems of democracy in grade twelve. This program is to be accompanied by appropriate units in health, youth problems, occupational choices, family living and others.

All material developed at the workshop is to be edited and processed and placed in usable bulletin form, ready for teacher use by the time school opens in September, Mr. Hawkins said.

Participating in the workshop were Mary L. Aultman, Ralph Beachly, Roberta Cogley, Thomas K. Furlow, Virginia Glover, Mrs. Leona Hardesty, Mrs. Grace Hogue, Kenneth Johns, Mrs. Kathleen Layman, Lawrence K. Myers, Foster D. Bittle, Mrs. Mildred Nethken, Esther Opel, Mrs. Bessie Price, Justin Riggs, Mrs. Zeola Robeson, Mrs. Olga Rowan, Earl C. Savage, Kathryn Speicher, James Trickett, Mrs. Phyllis Williams, Edwin W. Elias.

It was predicted by Republican chairman Hall that Eisenhower would remain in race for second term.

Parent Delinquency . .

A cross section of American teachers reported last Thursday in Washington they believed student drinking had "definitely increased" in the past ten years. In their opinion, failure to carry out assignments had risen somewhat more markedly and that insolence to teachers had risen to a still greater degree.

The teachers blamed this condition on lax home conditions more than anything else.

But most of the teachers played down any idea that today's youngsters were going to the dogs.

Fundamentally, the subject gets down to one basic fact —parental delinquency, not juvenile delinquency.

Until the majority of parents feel the need for a steady hand of discipline during a child's early years there will always be this problem of delinquency. And no doubt there would still be some delinquency if every parent was firm, for there are those who would not listen to reason, even if it was pounded into them twice a day, 365 days of the year. They would be the exception, however.

As a general rule, if parents showed more concern with the conduct of their children, there would be a noticeable decrease in delinquency.

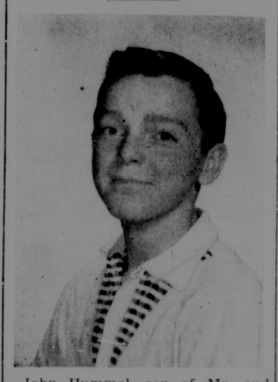
There is talk these days by many judges indicating that parents will in a large measure be responsible for the acts of delinquency of their children. If this became the general practice, you can bet there would be a radical change in the thinking of these usually indifferent parents.

But the picture is not too bad. A third of the teachers sampled said their pupils this past year were "exceptionally well behaved." Almost all tagged their young charges as just regular American kids—"reasonably well behaved, but difficult to handle on occasions."

So parents, just see that these "occasions" are few and far between.

Public Speaking Contest Is Won By County Boy

John Hummel Takes State Honors At Convention At College Park



John Hummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hummel, of New Germany, won the state F.F.A. public speaking contest conducted last Wednesday and Thursday at the annual Maryland State FFA convention held at College Park.

He was awarded $100 from the Future Farmer Foundation and will represent Maryland in the Tri-state contest to be held in this county late in July. The winner of this contest will represent the tri-state area in the Eastern States Agricultural exposition at Springfield, Mass., in October.

John, an honor student at Northern, had previously won a local contest from four Northern boys and was the winner in region 1 against boys from Southern and Flintstone schools. He developed a ten minute speech on the subject "A Look at Artificial Breeding of Dairy Cattle."

Second in the contest was David Harry III, from North Harford. His subject was "The Soil Bank Program." Third was Edward Holder, from Boonsboro, with a subject, "New Horizons."

Other Winners Listed

There were other local winners at the convention.

The Northern High Poultry team consisting of Max Bowser and Glenn Bowser, of Accident, won the first place banner in the State FFA Poultry Judging contest and will represent Maryland in the North Atlantic Regional contest to be held in connection with the Eastern States Agricultural exposition at Springfield, Mass., in October.

Richard Sisler, of Friendsville, won the second place banner in the State Tractor Maintenance and Operation contest. His written examination grade was the highest scored by any boy in this or any previous contest, it was announced.

The Milk Judging team consisting of Ward Umbel and Gerald Friend was third. Both boys received individual prize money. The Live Stock team consisting of Richard Lohr, Gary Fratz and Roy Rexrode, placed 7th.

The Soil Judging team which represented Region 1 and which included Larry Bowser, Ward Umbel, David Beachy and Glenn Bowser, placed 6th. The Dairy Judging team consisted of Floyd Georg, Robert Thomas and Bryson Thomas. George Bishoff represented Northern in Farm Mechanics and placed 5th in the contest.

At the annual meeting of the Maryland Association for Future Farmers of America, Gary Fratz was elected state secretary for the school year 1956-57. Ward Umbel, Richard Lohr, Gary Fratz and Forrest Jacobs were advanced to the State Farmer degree, which is the third advancement in the FFA program. The highest degree in National Farmer.

The boys were coached by their advisers, Lawrence Faith and Marvin Callis, vocational agriculture teachers. Paul Muha, principal, said both these men had done outstanding work as agriculture teachers at Northern and that their work with the FFA organization had been of great value to the boys and their fathers in developing the agriculture program in the northern school district.

Plan Farm Queen Contest July 28th

The Garrett County Farm Queen contest will be held this year on Saturday, July 28, at the recreation center near Bittinger, it was announced this week by Mrs. Orval Glotfelty, president of the Farm Bureau Associated Women.

Girls must be 16 to 18, unmarried, and live on three acres or more of farm land. Winner of the county contest will compete in the state contest which will be held at the Timonium fair on August 29.

The affair will be held in conjunction with the annual farm picnic scheduled for that day.

Decision to sponsor the event was reached at a meeting of the board of directors at Northern High school on June 27th. Mrs. Glotfelty said cash prizes will be awarded each contestant.

Mrs. Glotfelty said she would mail application blanks upon request and urged that entrants notify her as soon as possible.

County and State Highway Trade Now In Effect

The County Commissioners of Garrett County and the State Roads Commission have entered into a trading of highways which will become effective on Sunday, July 1.

The trade will have a tendency to consolidate the present state road system in the county and will put back into the county roads system a number of highways upon which traffic is no longer considered heavy. The county is receiving into its system 41.65 miles, while it is giving up to the state highway system, 7.19 miles.

The county will increase its mileage by 4.46 miles which will give it a new total of 726.06 miles. The State's loss will make a new total of some 159 miles.

Detailed information on the trade was released last Friday by W. W. DeWitt, county roads engineer. The agreement was reached through conferences by the County Commissioners of Garrett county with their roads engineer, and members of the State Roads commission. Mr. DeWitt said representatives of incorporated towns of the county also were called in when needed.

Garrett county will receive back from the state an old section of highway around the now unused Casselman River bridge, a distance of 0.39; a section of old 219 around Fred Alexander's home at Flatwoods, a distance of 0.18; a section of Maryland 38, from U.S. 219 at Sand Flat, through Deer Park where it will connect with the new section of road, a distance of 4.47 miles; a section of old 219, at the north edge of Oakland, a distance of 1.17 miles; Md. 394, from U.S. 219 at Gortner, easterly toward Hemlock Hollow, a distance of 2.04 miles; Md. 639 near White Church, on the Steyer road, a distance of 0.35; Md. 345, from U.S. 50 at Table Rock, toward Kempton, a distance of 0.95; and Md. 135 at Swanton, from the town of Swanton to top of hill at intersection of Bloomington road, a distance of 2 miles.

The State will take in a section of Maryland 495, from the Glendale-Bittinger road, from Green's Service station to the Rock Lodge-Bittinger intersection at Buckel's corner, a distance of 4.95 miles; and a section of Md. 38, from the Swanton intersection on the Bloomington road to the top of the mountain which intersects with the Oakland-Kitzmiller highway, a distance of 2.24 miles.

Fishing Conditions Last Week Were Poor

Extremely poor weather conditions accounted for the very light fishing of the past week, according to Sigurd Brantingson, regional fish culturist, who is engaged in taking a creel census of the lake during the summer months. The census is in charge of Scott Kennedy.

J. C. Davis, Morgantown, W. Va., caught a 19-inch small mouth bass weighing three pounds to head the list for the week. Andy Newman, succeeded in catching a 15-inch rainbow trout in Deep Creek Lake, at the big bridge. Davis caught his at Glendale.

Kennedy said a few good catches of trout and pickerel were made in the Thayerville area.

Five Are Injured In Auto Collision

Five persons were injured, none seriously as the result of an automobile accident on the road leading to the Silver Knob Sand company about 7 o'clock last Friday morning.

Hospitalized were the two drivers, also Rev. Early Dennis Foster who was an occupant of the first car; and Ernest Robert Shiffey and Charles Everett Friend, occupants of the second car. Rev. Foster and Shiffey had severe lacerations and the latter lost quite a bit of blood.

Two New Teachers Named

MISS IMOGENE GRIBBLE

MISS BERNICE IDLEMAN

Two new teachers were named recently for the two county high schools. They are Miss Bernice Idleman and Miss Imogene Gribble.

Miss Idleman, former teacher at Elk Garden, will become one of the Southern senior high school English and Social Studies teachers when school opens in September. Miss Idleman was graduated from Keyser High school and holds her master's degree from West Virginia University. She has also done graduate work at Colorado university. She is a member of the Keyser branch of AAUW and belongs to the honorary society of Kappa Delta Pi.

Miss Gribble is a graduate of Philippi High school, receiving her A. B. degree from Fairmont State Teachers college in June, with a major in music.

She will become head vocal music instructor at Northern High school.

Miss Gribble was vice-president of Alpha Delta Chi sorority, a Freshman counselor, president of Morrow Hall, member of the band, college choir, Women's chorus and F. T. A. Her background in music carries through both high school and college.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said both instructors come to the county highly recommended.

To Check Records For Cigaret Taxes

As a follow up to the program of the penny a pack tax on cigarets, the County Commissioners on Monday decided that after a year of the new law, an inspection of the dealers' records would be made to determine if they were correct.

During the first year of the tax which has just been completed, the treasurer collected $21,171.26, of which $1,469.25 was expense, leaving a balance of $19,702.01 which has been turned over to the Board of Education.

This was enough to provide each teacher of the county with a little over $100. When the tax first went into effect it was the hope of the officials that the tax would provide at least $150 per year as an extra incentive for teacher salaries. The cigaret tax was imposed for that purpose.

Joseph H. Welch, treasurer, said he carried 160 accounts of cigaret vendors in the county.

The formal action taken by the County Commissioners was in the form of a motion which said that after a year of the cigaret tax collections and as a follow-up program it was decided that the Sheriff or his deputy, accompanied by a representative from the county treasurer's office should make an inspection of the dealers' records to determine if correct returns are being made and if the county is receiving the full amount of the tax owing.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the County Commissioners, said it was imperative that the law be complied with.

During a discussion of the receipts for the present year it was pointed out that the seven percent of the total amount received which went for expenses included postage, cost of printed matter and wages. It was pointed out also that the method of using tax stamps that had been contemplated at first, would have cost around 17 percent to administer properly.

"The Show Off" Will Be Second Play

The opening play of the summer theatre, "Hay Fever," by Noel Coward, was having a successful run this week at the former Arden Boat club at McHenry. The show will be repeated tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night.

The play will feature Leonard Drum, Helen Camp, Suzanne Oglesby, D. G. Buckles, Tom Calkins, Bonnie Barton, and two newcomers, Myron Herrick and Bob Morris. Herrick and Morris are business manager and technical director, respectively, of the summer theatre.

To Test County For Brucellosis

Effective July 2nd, Garrett is one of four counties starting an area test for brucellosis in cattle, according to Dr. C. A. Turner, federal veterinarian in charge in Maryland. Federal funds are available for testing all cattle in these counties expect those in certified brucellosis-free herds and for vaccinating all calves between 4 and 8 months of age.

Under the plan all cattle must be accounted for as either being tested under the plan or being in a certified brucellosis-free herd that is being tested annually. Herds tested recently under the Plan A agreement need not be retested until the regular time.

Dr. Turner stated that an effort was being made to have Maryland classified as a Modified Accredited area. Testing in the county will be done by Dr. F. D. Custer and Dr. M. M. Mershon. Test schedule will be set up.

Seek Sealed Bids On School Bonds

County Is Offering Bonds Of $500,000 For Sale To The Highest Bidder

The County Commissioners are offering through advertisement this week the sale of $500,000 Garrett County Public School Bonds.

Sealed bids are to be received by the Commissioners until 11 o'clock a. m. on Tuesday, July 17, at which time they will be publicly opened and read and the bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder, for cash.

The bonds are to be dated August 1. The issue will consist of five hundred bonds, each of the par value of $1,000 and shall bear interest at the rate fixed in the accepted bid. The interest will be payable semi-annually.

The bonds are to mature and be payable over a period of 24 years from date of issue.

The bonds are being issued pursuant to the authority of Chapter 11 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at the March session of 1956.

The proceeds of the sale of the bonds are to be used for the construction of two new elementary schools in the county and exclusively for school purposes.

Under provisions of the Enabling Act and resolutions passed by the County Commissioners, provision is made for the levy of an annual tax on all assessable property in the county sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal and interest on the bonds as they become due and payable. In addition to the proceeds of taxes there will also be available for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds the sum to be received annually by the Board of Education from the State of Maryland under the school construction incentive fund plan established by an act of the assembly of Maryland in 1956 which sums the board has agreed to remit to the county to the extent that they be required for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds.

Included in the advertisement which appears in today's issue of The Republican is the explanation that the county consists of about 668 square miles of territory, has a population of approximately 22,000; that the assessed valuation of property is $31,057,861; that the net outstanding bonded indebtedness of the county, exclusive of the present issue, but including the indebtedness due the state for school construction purposes, is $1,746,432.94. It further declares that the county has never defaulted on any debt.

The request for bids is signed by Harvey D. Swartzentruber, president of the Board of County Commissioners.

Pleads Guilty To Charge

Charles Lee Sharpless, of Kitzmiller, pleaded guilty to charges of shoplifting in the F. A. Smouse store at a hearing before Trial Magistrate W. O. Bitzer in Oakland on Monday morning. Sharpless was arrested Saturday.

He was given a suspended ten day jail sentence by the magistrate. Sharpless declared it was the first time in his life he had ever done such a thing and couldn't understand why he had done it.

Edward Smouse, store manager, said there had been an unusual amount of shoplifting in recent weeks and he hoped that this arrest would put a damper in the activity.

Unusual Sales Promotion Leads To Search For Culprit

Authorities are on the lookout this week for Sam Harrison, colored, a helper on a furniture van that broke down on Negro Mountain last week, who indulged in some unusual and unauthorized sales.

The sales were consummated after Harrison had spread the word around that it was necessary for him to return to Chicago and that he would sell the furniture at a bargain.

And quite a bargain it was, from the list of merchandise that was finally rounded up Sunday from five reportedly unsuspecting purchasers.

For instance, according to State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt and Sheriff Paul W. Fisher, Guy Frickey paid $10 for a bedroom suite, two overstuffed chairs, a maple coffee table, two end tables, record player, mirror clothes rack, and a box of clothing.

Carl Richter paid $12.50 for two chairs to a breakfast set, a baby cedar box, a box of tools, a sled, a box of silverware, a rocker, hobby horse and electric sweeper.

Emerson and Cecil Sebold paid $12.50 for two children's chairs, two kitchen chairs, a television set and stand, two tarpaulins, kitchen wall clock, and a television light.

Mrs. Lee Beachy paid $5 for a sewing machine and two lamps.

John Riley, of near Cove, paid $12.50 for a foldaway couch, an RCA record player, bathroom scales, a dinette table, and a maple chest of drawers.

Furniture was new and valued at $2,000. Harrison apparently received $52.50.

The story was unfolded by Messrs. Pagenhardt and Fisher, along with Trooper Glenn D. Folk, of the Maryland State Police, early this week.

James Edwards, Jr., colored, of Northern Van Lines, Inc., with headquarters in Rockville, was enroute from Detroit, Mich., to Rockville, with this load of new furniture. Sam Harrison, his helper, was employed by Edwards. The van broke down on Negro mountain on June 22nd, and the tractor and trailer were towed to Casselman Motor where the tractor underwent repairs. Edwards left for Rockville on June 23rd for another tractor, leaving Harrison in charge.

Edwards returned to Grantsville on the 26th and found that his merchandise had vanished. He notified authorities and a search was instituted immediately. When it was learned that Harrison had no authority to dispose of the property the purchasers cooperated with authorities and some of it was recovered last Thursday, and the balance on Sunday. Edwards then left for Rockville.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Harrison through the office of C. S. Zeller, trial magistrate. No other warrants were issued, according to Pagenhardt.

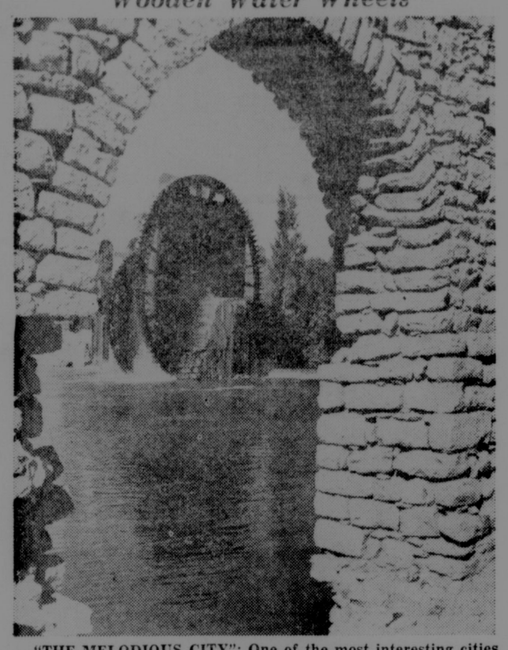
Wooden Water Wheels



"THE MELODIOUS CITY": One of the most interesting cities in Northern Syria is Hama, located about half-way between Damascus and Aleppo. This ancient community is nestled among willows and poplars on the banks of the Orontes River, Hama's most distinctive feature are the 2,000 year old wooden water wheels which scoop water from the river and deposit it on the land to irrigate crops. The creaking of these day and night without ceasing has given Hama the name of "The Melodious City."

It's a Great Time to Buy a Buick

(And at the Best Buy Yet!)

WHAT'S IN IT for you—if you step out and buy yourself a 1956 Buick right now?

Well, first of all—the time is right.

Right now, your present car is at its peak worth.

And, with the whole summer and almost half of '56 still ahead of you, you'll get more enjoyment out of a spirited new Buick this year—if you buy now.

Second, there's the matter of how much more automobile your money buys in the best Buick yet.

We tell you flatly that nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get so much bounty for so little booty.

For example, take the beauteous big '56 Buick SPECIAL pictured here.

It's one big reason why Buick now ranks in the top three of America's best-selling cars. Yet, you'll find it priced right close to the well-known smaller cars.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy—or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in—before another sun sets—and get set with your best buy yet?

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

Maryland Traffic Safety Commission says "Don't let this happen to your family".

When the 1956 Slow Down and Live highway safety campaign opens Tuesday evening, May 29, 1956, at 6 o'clock, it will be almost a last ditch stand against the most terrible year of traffic deaths in the history of the motor vehicle.

The second nationwide campaign extends from the eve of Memorial Day through Labor Day at midnight. "The records of the states show that highway deaths in open country driving reach the highest level of the year during July and August. This is the vacation season when our highways should have their safest and most pleasurable use. We haven't been able to stop the rocketing death trend in the early months of 1956. By stepped-up enforcement, promotion and public cooperation, perhaps we can stop the trend this summer", said Mr. Paul E. Burke, Executive Director, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The Slow Down and Live campaign concentrates on the traffic violations associated with speed—those acts of the driver grouped as a "complex" for being "in a hurry". The sponsors of the program point out that the effort is not aimed at speed alone but at improper passing, following too closely, failing to yield right-of-way, excessive speed and speed too fast for conditions. The program has been endorsed by the Governors of the 48 states and the Territories in a Joint Declaration signed by all Chief Executives.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

As we continue our series on the Ten Commandments, we consider this week the fifth commandment, which is You shall not kill.

This statement, in its primary implications, seems to be simple indeed. Yet, in these four short words there are far-reaching challenges to every man that God has made, and He has made all of them. In its simplest meaning, it is a command not to commit murder. Very few are those who commit murder, in comparison with those who do not, in the legal sense of the word. The problems of crime are great, and murder happens to be one of them.

However, to me, there are far more implications to this commandment than just murder. Almost three weeks ago a boy, fifteen years old, saw fit to drive an automobile at a rate of speed that did not allow him to have control of the car. As a result of this, nine people were seriously injured. None died, thanks to the skill and the combined facilities of Garrett County Memorial hospital and its doctors and nurses. But three of these people are still in the hospital, a man is going to be away from his job for a long time; a nine year old boy is going to have to endure about two months in a cast without the ability to bend his body, a woman is going to have to carry severe bruises with her for perhaps another two months, plus the heartache of worrying about her family as they recover. Was this murder? Perhaps not in the legal sense of the word, but certainly a breach of God's law about human relationships! Whose fault was this? No one person can be blamed. Certainly the boy has the greatest responsibility—but what about his parents? What about the churches of his community? What about the penal institution at which he is undergoing guidance after apparently a series of misdemeanors? All these bear part of the blame.

Things like this go on every day, in Oakland and throughout the country. In Oakland I wonder that it does not happen more often, when I see on my way home to lunch cars screeching around the corner from Second to Pennington, cars heading up Second street at forty-five, fifty and more miles per hour, driven by some who regard themselves as leading citizens in the community. Although a lot of the trouble in driving comes from young people, a lot of trouble has come from those who are supposed to have reached the years of maturity. We can legislate about speed laws, we can add to the police force, but the only answer to the problem is the responsibility of the individual, who lives in the presence of his Lord, caring not whether there is a policeman watching him, but knowing only when he can drive sensibly will the streets and highways be safe places on which to drive and live.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright by The Baltimore Sun and reprinted in The Republican by permission.

The Limit Is Off

Among other things which this Congress is not going to do that it should do is enact legislation limiting the amount of money that can be spent by "special interest groups" in any political campaign for any candidate. There are two reasons no action will be taken at this session about this. One is because neither party has a working majority; the other, because this is an election year.

The man who has most vigorously called attention to the need for legislation on this line is Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.) of Arizona. The group most strongly opposed is composed of the present labor bosses of the AFL-CIO. The event that has most clearly outlined the issue is the decision of a Federal court in Detroit nearly five months ago which held that there is no legal limit to the amount of union funds that can be spent by the union officials in support of candidates for Federal office. In this case the union did not deny charges that its funds had been spent as specified in the indictment. Nevertheless, the court held that there exists no law prohibiting such spending on the part of such "special interest groups."

According to Senator Goldwater, this decision means a great deal to the average voting citizen, but it especially means a lot to labor-union members. For example, it leaves the labor-union bosses with full power to expend for political purposes as much money as they please of the dues paid by union members. The fact that a minority of these members oppose the candidates and causes favored by the bosses gives them no rights at all. There is not a thing they can do about it. In 1950 many thousands of union members in Ohio voted to re-elect the late Senator Taft. But their money was used against him. For another example, in 1952 something like 40 per cent of the union-labor vote was for Mr. Eisenhower; yet all the money which the union bosses put into that campaign was used in behalf of Mr. Stevenson and the Democratic party.

The new union merger of AFL and CIO controls the dues money of more than 15,000,000 members in the country. Recent statistics indicate that the annual dues collected by labor unions approximate $500,000,000 annually. "Does anyone suppose," asks Senator Goldwater, "that the citizens of this country would be able to resist the political force that can be generated by such an overwhelming fund? Or does anyone suppose that certain union leaders who have already shown a strong desire to use their muscles on the American political scene can now be expected to show reasonable restraint in the use of such funds?"

For some time past one of the bleats of the Democratic managers has been that the Republicans already have much more money than the Democrats and thus are able to pre-empt the expensive radio and television time for their cause. However, when one considers that this Detroit decision destroys all restrictions upon union political expenditures and that the most conspicuous and politically potent of the labor bosses is Mr. Walter Reuther of the CIO it does seem that this Democratic bleat has a somewhat hypocritical flavor. Because, Mr. Reuther is a very influential man in the Democratic party. Through his protege, Gov. Soapy Williams of Michigan, he controls the Democratic machine of that State. He is also a vice president of the left-wing Americans for Democratic Action and a personal friend of the good Adlai.

More than onyone else Mr. Reuther will direct the political activities of the AFL-CIO organization this fall. Already he has built what is probably the most costly publicity and propaganda machine ever known. It includes regular radio and television time, magazines, columnists, newspapers and a vast outpouring of miscellaneous literature. Nearly all these instruments are slanted on the Democratic side. The reason, of course, is that for the last twenty odd years, the labor bosses have consistently expanded their influence within the Democratic party and to a considerable extent have taken it over.

Undoubtedly, the Detroit decision enhances Democratic chances in the coming campaign, so far as they can be enhanced by the use of money. As Senator Goldwater points out, there are many ways in which money can be used. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Eisenhower is stronger among the rank and file of organized labor than he was in 1952, it is conceded that the leaders are mostly against him. No wonder Republicans—and some Democrats who regard the extension of labor boss domination of their party as a menace—say that the time has come to rewrite the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. But that will hardly be done this year.

THE AMERICAN WAY

A GREAT EMANCIPATOR??

(By George Peck, Chairman of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

Frankly, I'm puzzled. In my mail one morning not so long ago there were two letters. The one castigated me on the score that I am anti-organized labor; the other bawled me out as its writer accused me of being pro-union labor. Now, it is impossible for me, or any other individual for that matter, to be both pro and anti-union labor. Why then do two readers deduce two such diametrically-opposed opinions from reading my comments on unions? That's what I ask myself and can hazard only one possible answer.

Repeatedly over the years I have said that I am for organized labor, but just as often I have said that I am opposed to the racketeering, dictatorial element that has seized the leadership of so many of our labor unions. Let's put that another way: I'm pro-union labor when the unions are conducted to help their members and not to serve the selfish interests of their leaders; I'm anti-union labor when the unions are conducted for the sole benefit of their leaders to the detriment of their rank-and-file members.

Let me quote what I wrote some 20 years ago in the very first column in which I discussed labor unions: "As to organized labor, I'm all for it. I recognize the right of workingmen to bargain collectively, but insist that this be done without dictation, coercion, domination or interference by either government or union bosses. I do deplore the fact that a small minority of union labor's leadership is made up of selfish men who are exploiting their members."

As time marched on and more and more unions were captured by racketeers, I amended the latter part to read: "I do deplore the fact that such a large proportion of union labor's leadership is made up of wicked, selfish men who are enslaving their members." But let me make it crystal clear, I am still for union labor.

And somehow this brings me to a statement made recently by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. He was talking about union labor's participation in the forthcoming national election campaign. Said he in part:

". . . Labor has come a long way in this country despite bitter employer opposition. Yet, the opposition we face today is even more formidable. The scene of the battle is no longer the company plant or the picket line. The scene has moved into the legislative halls of Congress and the State Legislatures. On these fronts we have taken a beating in recent years, first with the enactment of the Taft-Hartley Act and other restrictive Federal legislation, and more recently with the passage in eighteen states of the misnamed 'right-to-work' laws. These laws are a threat to the very existence of unions, since they are aimed at destroying union security. Our fight for their repeal is a fight for life."

It is too bad that the man honored with the top job in the merged AFL-CIO did not inherit some of the statesmanship of Samuel Gompers, the "George Washington" of the union labor movement in America. Gompers repeatedly warned that union labor must steer clear of political activity and that it would destroy itself if it resorted to force in recruiting its membership.

What the union labor movement needs today is an "Abraham Lincoln," a "Great Emancipator" to preserve the great gains that it has made and to prevent it from destroying itself through unstatesmanlike, greedy leadership.

Mr. Meany must learn that labor unionism can never attain the security he so earnestly desires for it by forcing men to join through the instrumentality of the "Union Shop." He must be made to realize that there is no place for compulsion in the American scheme of things, that any organization or organizations that resort to force nurse withing their bosoms the seeds of their own destruction.

The way for labor unions to attain security is to make themselves so attractive that workers will knock on their doors pleading for admission. And that, Mr. Meany, can only be accomplished by purging your movement of the self-seeking racketeers that surely as night follows the day, will destroy it.

The Congress of the U.S.A. is of a mind to give Mr. Meany great help toward that salutary goal. He can, if he will, be the "Great Emancipator" of the union labor movement in joining wholeheartedly with the Congress as it embarks on a crusade to emancipate the "enslaved" workers of America.

The American Way

BY GEORGE PECK

A book has just been published that every American taxpayer should read. It is the joint effort of two authors: Neil MacNeil, for many years one of the top editors of The New York Times; and Dr. Harold W. Metz, a recognized authority on the Federal Government who has made several studies for the Brookings Institution.

The book is entitled: "THE HOOVER REPORT, 1953-1955." In this concise and readable volume, Messrs. MacNeil and Metz, who incidentally were the Hoover Commission's Editorial and Research Directors, have ably epitomized the Commission's major recommendations. They have divided the book into four parts: The Tools of Government, Big Government, The Big Spender and Overseas Economic Operations.

As readers of this column are aware the Congress unanimously created the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government to investigate the National Government's operations. Former President Herbert Hoover was again called on to direct this big job on behalf of the America which he loves and has served so well over a long period of years.

The Hoover Commission was sworn in at the White House on September 29, 1953. It included besides Mr. Hoover such distinguished Americans as Herbert Brownell, Jr., Attorney General; Arthur S. Flemming, Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization; James A. Farley, former Postmaster General;—all named by President Eisenhower. It also included distinguished Senators and Representatives, statesmen and educators, named by Vice President Nixon and Speaker of the House, Rayburn.

The Commission found inefficiency and waste to the tune of billions of the taxpayers' dollars, rampant bureaucracy, infringement of American liberties, and widespread competition with private enterprise. The book gives a thorough accounting of these findings.

Undoubtedly, every reader of this column is aware that the Federal Government has grown to tremendous proportions. But I wonder just how many of us realize just how big. The Hoover Commission found and it is so reported in "THE HOOVER REPORT" that our Federal Government employs 10,000 lawyers, spends 4 billion dollars annually on paper work alone, owns one-quarter of the land area of the 48 states, has 244 billion dollars in loans, guarantees, insurance and other contingent liabilities. Those are a few of the gigantic realities of our government today. Big Government affects the economic activities of every wage earner, business man, farmer, producer and consumer! Big Government can and does tax our salaries and incomes, cigarettes and gasoline—but more than that, it issues directives that affect our liberties.

Mr. Hoover says of this book: "One of the important purposes of the Commission was to open the doors of understanding of the functions of our government to our people at large. They are a lesson on civil government of significant educational value. And this book is a condensation of those lessons and the arguments over them. One reason for the high standards of this presentation is the men who did it. . . .These two authors attended every one of the scores of Commission meetings and many Task Force meetings. They know more about the work of the Commission than any other mortal. They are both men dedicated to the Service of the American people."

If your bookstore doesn't have "THE HOOVER REPORT," a copy can be obtained from the publisher—The Macmillan Company, 60 Fifth Ave., New York 11, N. Y.—price $6.00. MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Coal—by the ton

There are standards

Lumber—by the foot

Wheat—by the bushel

Land—by the acre

Gasoline—by the gallon

for advertising, too!

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising investments on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

The bride had for her maid of honor her sister, Miss Mildred Knotts, while Joe DePollo, of Thomas, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her mother.

Oakland Moose Win Over Woodmen

Oakland Moose, first half champions, launched their second half campaign in the Oakland Pony League with a 10-3 win over the Woodmen on Monday. The winners chalked up 10 hits, including two doubles and a single by Terry Colaw and a two-bagger and two one-base knocks by Billy Kelley.

Wayne Callis limited the Woodmen to five hits, two of which were credited to Dick Snyder, struck out seven and issued four bases on balls. Sam Glotfelty, Woodmen hurler, fanned 10 and gave up four passes.

In the final game of the first half race on Friday the Woodmen edged the Moose 7 to 6 with Sam Glotfelty being returned the winner over Kelley. The Moose copped first half honors with an 8-1 record.

It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Role Playing

The term role playing is being used and more more. It's quite a clever way of getting people to think through a problem when they meet for discussion.

A psychologist told a group of young people recently that to be well adjusted and happy people they would have to learn to keep their various roles separated, which was a new slant on role playing. It took a little while for me to catch the idea. Then it made sense.

The big executive, for instance, plays one kind of role in his office but when he comes home, if he has the know-how, his role will be that of father and husband. Which makes him about the same kind of guy that a million other men are. He may have a hobby which he again keeps separated from his other roles; a hobby that brings out skill and interest, another side of his personality.

It is hard for many of us to change our roles. When a son said, "at school we always get served half a chicken," he may have to be brought sharply back to the family group with "at home a chicken serves the entire family."

Or the little gal who's just been a princess at a festival. It takes a real one to exchange the gown for jeans and pull weeds all day.

—o—

Accept Yourself

Then he also said we need to learn how to accept ourselves. In the words of Popeye, "I am what I am, and that's all I am."

Haven't you seen people who thought they were the cat's meow when all the time you knew they were just a mountain pussy.

The woman who's 50 and tries to look and dress like sweet sixteen. Or the man who drives a Cadillac when he can barely afford a car at all. All role playing—but not their true roles.

Kinda fun to think about, isn't it?

—o—

That Girl Again

Speaknig of roles there's another one this week that's being played and played well.

Summer theatre goers of last season remember Helen Camp's role as Madame Arcati. Well, she's at it again in Noel Coward's "Hay Fever." Wouldn't doubt but what we'll remember her this year as Judith Bliss. Comedy is truly her role and Hay Fever is comedy. That gal can make me laugh out loud!

It's nice to have the players back. They were all on their toes. Wasn't a slouch in the bunch. Some had smaller roles, but we know from last year a lesser role one week means a strong one the next.

—o—

The Audience

Even we, the audience, have a role too. Knowing full well that an audience is three fourths the success of a speaker, I only wish I knew how to be the kind of audience summer players need.

One thing for sure—a little fellow of 5 or 6 enjoyed the play so much his laughter rang to the rafters. Good, joyful child laughter that was shaking him.

Later I learned he was being amused by his grandmother, Mrs. Bernard Arnette, who played the role of the Irish maid. She was having fun too.

Mrs. Arnette, who is a well-known decorator around Morgantown and Fairmont and spends the summer in the Park, is quite a lovely lady. The little fellow must have liked her in the role that really isn't her role.

First Performance Follows The High Standard Of 1955

The opening performance of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" follows the high standards set last summer by the Garrett County Playhouse. Coward's wit and the talents of the players induce an almost constant chuckling, with occasional recesses for smiling or guffawing. In this play each member of a Bohemian-living family having no common ground of interest or companionship, invites a week-end guest who is certain to rub the others the wrong way. As it happens, in the atmosphere of the Bliss household, each person soon has a falling out with his special friend, and turns to someone else for relief, with resulting hilarity. The visitors, aghast at the inhospitality of the family, finally beat a hasty retreat.

Coward's wit ranges from the sarcastic ("Let's stick to social conversation since we can't do anything intelligent.") to the ridiculous ("You're wonderful, you're magnificent, you're tawny.") Some of it would be better appreciated by Britons. Much of his humor fortunately is made funnier by the actors. The variety and range in their facial and vocal expressions is worth the study of several performances. As master in this field, Helen Camp carries the day. Her part as the mother is difficult, requiring her to shift between affectation and natural acting, and she does so with skill. When she prods situations to a dramatic peak and suddenly changes the subject, she wrings the most out of the acting, lingering a little bit before she breaks off, just to tantalize the audience, apparently. Her performance is a treat.

Leonard Drum, as the noncommittal guest, and newcomer Donnie Welch, as the bashful, clumsy girl whom Papa Bliss is studying, both turn in fine performances. Their scene of attempted conversation, flawlessly executed, is a high spot in the play.

These three are backed by excellent help from the rest of the cast. Ronald Yost, the artist-son, is convincingly unsettled as he lolls, fidgets, and bounces, and occasionally throws in some sage comments. The daughter, as played by Suzanne Oglesby, is a bright-faced, vivacious lass who doesn't know what is going on, but wants to do something about it nevertheless. Bonnie Barton as the sultry siren, has a sophisticated, aloof, and sometimes caustic part to play. She is very effective when breathing and sighing her lines. D. G. Buckles is cast this time as a smoothie who is not so smooth. Even so, he is good in this change. Tom Calkins as the father doesn't have much chance to excel, but like Helen Camp, he is fine in discerning between moments of play-acting and real acting. Mrs. Arnette as the maid is wonderfully saucy, especially when she aims a defiant kick at a pair of galoshes.

The play suffers from an abrupt ending, which is cured externally by a fast curtain call. But such shenanigans as occur at the ending could probably go on forever, so perhaps Mr. Coward cut off at the right place. At any rate, he has said enough by this time. Events move so rapidly that the play is over before anyone wonders what on earth hay fever has to do with it, anyway.—G. Henry Hanst.

It's Always Summer

IN YOUR HOME
with Electric Radiant Heat

It's like sitting in comfortable sunshine, when you have an electric radiant heating system installed in your ceilings. And what's more, you can control the warmth to your heart's desire. Individual thermostats in each room permit different temperatures according to your likes . . . warmer livingroom, cooler bedroom . . . just the right temperature for cozy relaxation, working or sleeping.

It's inexpensive to install, too. No need for an expensive chimney, no space wasted for furnace or pipes. And there are no radiators to interfere with furniture or draperies. You'll be amazed at the added comfort that even distribution of electric heat provides . . . no cold corners or air currents that carry dust. It does not dry out the air like other central heating systems do.

For more detailed information on electric heating for your home, talk with your architect, electrical or heating contractor, or call our Electric Heating Specialist.

happy vacations begin in a Chevy

You'll love to travel in it, because it loves to travel! When you get this Chevrolet out on the road, you'll want to keep going—and so will the whole family.

Of course, even in a Chevrolet the happiest vacations may involve one or two minor problems. Like fidgety small fry who want gallons of water and keep asking if you're almost there. The big things, though, are beautifully taken care of by this roomy Chevrolet's smooth and easy way of going. That's for sure.

The fact is, few cars at any price hold the road with Chevy's grace, with its solid feeling of stability. And with horsepower up to 225, Chevrolet moves out like a whiplash, for safer passing. It's no wonder that so many people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevrolet! Stop by soon for a ride.

Welfare Expense in May is $25,247.50

Seven hundred nineteen individuals received $25,247.50 through the Garrett County Welfare Board during May, according to the monthly report of Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare. The total did not include costs of administration.

The report showed the total was ten less than the number receiving assistance during April and the total amount was $327.98 less than the total for the previous month.

Largest percentage of the total expenditure for May went to Dependent Children where 350 children in 118 families $9,814.05, an average of $83.17 per family. There were nine new applications for assistance with four cases being added and three cases cancelled.

Two hundred nineteen persons received $8,991.71 under Old Age Assistance department, an average of $41.06 each. There were four new applications with three cases added and seven cases cancelled.

Five blind persons received $279.75. One hundred persons listed as permanently and totally disabled received $4,294.79, an average of $42.95. There was one new application in this category with one case being cancelled.

Twenty-five persons listed under general public assistance received $907.70, an average of $36.31. There were three new applications with five cases being added. Twenty children listed under Foster Home Care received $959.50, an average of $47.98. There was one new application and one case added.

Throughout the state the total payments for May amounted to $1,718,637, which compared with $1,723,530 for the previous month and $1,691,708 for May a year ago.

Army calculated that "several hundred million" deaths would result from radioactivity if U. S. ever launched a full-scale nuclear assault on Communist world.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

While thousands of Independence Day speeches echo through the land, our great Free State can feel justifiably proud that it is again matching patriotic words with deeds.

I refer specifically to Maryland's participation in the Freedom Crusade, the nationwide letter-writing campaign designed to help obtain the release of eleven Americans being held prisoners by the Chinese communists.

Americanism Demonstrated

Quite a few of our Free State citizens have said that they have written to the Red government in Paking, asking Chairman Mao Tse-tung to free the missionaries and businessmen who are still in communist jails.

There could be no finer example of true Americanism.

Actually, by writing such letters in behalf of their fellow citizens, participants in the Freedom Crusade are demonstrating vividly that a pledge made in the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776, has not been forgotten.

That promise—the last words of the Declaration of Independence—was:

". . . we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our fortunes and our sacred Honor."

Newsmen Aid Campaign

Such unity was vital to the life of our new nation.

It is no less necessary today.

Through the Freedom Crusade, Americans are reaffirming their faith in the bond which was established so strongly 180 years ago.

Many Marylanders joined the Crusade after reading about it in the Baltimore "Catholic Review."

Thousands more learned of it through Louis Azrael's widely-read newspaper column, and through the cooperation of other newsmen in the State.

Marylander in Group

Remember, one of the Red prisoners is from our own Free State.

He is the Rev. Paul J. Mackensen, Jr., a Lutheran missionary from Baltimore.

To try to help him and the other Americans, write to "Chairman Mao Tse-tung; Peking, China" requesting in a courteous manner that the prisoners be returned to freedom.

The Very Rev. Harold W. Rigney, S.V.D., who originated the Freedom Crusade, has urged that the letters be sent airmail because "the misinformed Chinese will be astonished to see that so many Americans can afford it."

West Virginia boosted its cigaret tax from 4 to 5 cents per pack.

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

There are three very real factors challenging the very existence of our great American system with its freedoms, its incentives for individual advancement, its unmatched living standard, and its constant dynamic surge of progress. They are (1) the natural lethargy of human nature, (2) a powerful, well-directed, world-wide Communist conspiracy to dominate the world, and (3) a powerful, well-financed effort to undermine the foundations of our freedom through infiltration of every segment and function of our American society.

The fact that lethargy is a human characteristic is found throughout the history of the human race. At no spot on the earth's surface has good government or a good economic structure been preserved for very many generations, through all human history. Greece lost her Democracy, Rome lost her Republic. The fall of these two world leaders of their day, one after the other, didn't come because either of them had fulfilled her mission. In each instance the fall came because human lethargy in time replaced the citizenship interest which had created a new kind, and better government than had existed in the past.

Rome's fall ushered in the period known in history as the Dark Ages and the human race stagnated for nearly a thousand years. When we examine history we find the rise and fall of 19 different civilizations; and in each instance where the citizenry itself had a part in creating the mode of life, the apathy of the citizens led finally to the fall.

We in America are now six generations from George Washington and Patrick Henry, both of whom represented the height of citizen interest in a government providing individual freedom. Through the years we have lost much of our love of freedom. We are affected with much complacency. We are trusting that our children will just catch Americanism like they catch the mumps and the measles. We're moving gradually toward bigger and bigger government with more and more dependence on central government.

Personal freedoms are being restricted in proportion to the growth of big government. It is a simple equation: What power the government has it must, of course, take from the people. When the Federal Government takes over a new responsibility—whatever it may be—people must give up that responsibility. And when they give up a responsibility and become dependent upon the government for that particular thing, they lose independence, freedom.

Yes, apathy, human lethargy is one of the great threats to all we hold dear in America. Is your interest in freedom active?

Report Made of Deer Age-Weight Study

A report of the deer age and weight study during the 1955 season has been released by biologists of the State Fish and Game commission.

Biologists were present at six checking stations located in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Cecil and Worcester counties. As the deer were brought in they were weighed and their age was determined by tooth replacement and wear based on methods developed in 1949 by Dr. Severinghaus, well known deer biologist of New York State.

A total of 2,269 deer were registered during the season of which 473 were weighed and their ages determined. The age and weight together with the date and county were recorded for each deer and later compiled.

The data accumulated from deer examined during the 1955 hunting season has been partially analyzed. Cecil county deer are the heaviest of the three regions studied while those of Worcester county are the lowest in weight. Cecil county also has the greatest proportion of young deer in the herd indicating a higher production of young deer than in Wodcester county which has the lowest production of young deer. In Western Maryland the average weight for deer from 16 to 17 months old was 104 pounds, for 19 months, 111 pounds, and for 30 months, 122 pounds.

V. F. Flyer of the State Games division, makes the following observations:

One method of determining how close the deer are to the carrying capacity of their locality is to examine the habitat and the extent of browse. This method requires a great expenditure of time and effort. Without a very careful appraisal the amount of deer browsing is not readily apparent until the danger point has been reached and a browse line appears. A more satisfactory method for estimating the balance between the deer and their environment is to let the deer speak for themselves. The age composition of the herd and the average weights of deer reflect the relationship of the deer to their environment. As the herd begins to become overcrowded the average size of deer of various age groups becomes smaller. The overcrowded herd also has a lower percentage of young deer than does the herd that is not so crowded.

Since Maryland's first deer season in 1932 when 35 deer were reported shot, the legal kill has gradually increased until 2,660 deer were shot in 1955. This increasing yearly kill primarily reflects the growth of the Maryland deer herd. The deer herd cannot keep on growing forever. If the herd increases too much it may consume more than the yearly production of its food plants. As a result of too large a herd the region may end up being able to support a considerably smaller herd than would have been possible if the deer had been prevented from eating themselves out of house and home.

The ideal management situation would be to keep the deer herd at the point permitting the maximum harvest. This point is difficult to determine accurately and probably fluctuates to a large extent. It is worthwhile to try to keep the herd at this level because the deer have the greatest recreational value at this point, yet they have ample food and cause less damage to farm crops or forest plantations than occurs when the deer are overcrowded.

Animals Needed For Four Summer Plays

Since members of the Garrett County Playhouse company have arrived here, they have started a talent search among the animal kingdom.

Four of the plays to be produced this summer include in the scripts parts for a cat, whitefish, two dogs, a chicken and a snake.

Gene Yell, director of the Garrett County Playhouse, said every member of the company will take part in auditioning the menagerie which will appear in "Bell, Book and Candle," "The Tender Trap," "Peg O' My Heart," and "My Three Angels."

He thinks his company of professional and semi-professionals from the University of New Mexico's University Theatre is capable of selecting the very best in the local animal kingdom to appear in the four shows.

John Van Druten's comedy of a witch in love, "Bell, Book and Candle" calls for a talented felix domesticus. The whitefish plays an important part in Max Shulman's Aladdin's dream of the life of a bachelor in the big city, "The Tender Trap."

Two smooth-coated canines are needed for Hartley Manner's "Peg O' My Heart," a drama of a poor Irish girl who suddenly becomes an heiress. A chicken and a snake play prominent roles in "My Three Angels," the story of a trio of angelic rogues who commit mayhem and madness in bringing good fortune to a modest family in a penal colony.

Wit and fun are outstanding characteristics of the four plays slated for summer production at the Garrett County Playhouse.

Drama, farce and mystery are also included in the other plays which will complete the 1956 season. They are George Kelly's "The Show-Off," J. B. Priestley's "An Inspector Calls," and "Angel Street," by Patrick Hamilton.

In addition to the members of the 1955 company, several new faces will appear in the productions this summer. They are Ronnie Yost, Donnie Welch, Robert Morris and Myron Herrick.

Miss Welch, in addition to her acting duties, will be in charge of props; Robert Morris, technical director and Myron Herrick as business manager.

Returning players include Leonard Drum, Tom Calkins, D. G. Buckles, Suzanne Oglesby, Helen Camp and Bonnie Barton.

Important that Belt Tension Be Correct

Belt tension or tightness is a critical factor in the life of a belt and efficient operation of the equipment, reminds G. W. Gienger, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. It may be too tight or too loose, he said.

A loose belt will wear out quickly because of slippage; too tight a belt may ruin bearings, reduce belt life and waste power. Flat belts on close coupled equipment should have a tension of approximately 40 pounds of pull per inch of width of belt.

V-belts require less tension. One should be able to depress the V-belt at least a half inch midway between pulleys. An appreciable sag on long belts is desirable because the weight creates the tension.

When belts slip, the cause may be too narrow a belt, pulleys of too small a diameter, too stiff a belt or not enough tension.

Leather belts should always be run with the hair side to the pulley and nothing should ever be used on them except neatsfoot oil applied sparingly to the flesh side.

Rubber belts can be conditioned and kept flexible by applying a light film of caster oil. A very thin mixture of red lead and raw linseed oil is recommended for canvas belts.

Use the sticky type of belt dressing only as a last resort, cautions Mr. Gienger. It usually wastes power and often gums up pulleys and peels belt surfaces.

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Price Of Leadership

Mrs. Harry B. Poppe, of Darien, Conn., has written a poem called "You Can Be A Leader." It is worth reading and thinking about, and I am quoting her exact words on the subject.

If you are one who has ideas
Of things that ought to be,
If with others you can share
And explain them patiently—
You can be a leader.
If you can broach to others
The new and the untried,
And with courage and good humor
Stem the skeptic tide—
You can be a leader.

If you are one who's not afraid
To press your special cause,
If those who might dishearten you
Never make you pause—
You can be a leader.

If you can stand upon your feet
And speak with steady voice,
And fearlessly present your views
You should indeed rejoice, for—
You can be a leader.

If you have the vision
Of a wider, greater goal,
And you can induce the others
To a co-operating role—
You can be a leader.

If you can persuade each one
To take and do a job,
Instead of doing it yourself
With many a groan and sob—
You can be a leader.

If you can expect the best
Of all who work with you,
And overlook the slights and hurts
That may be given you—
You can be a leader.

If you really do like people
And meetings are your "dish"
If to serve on more committees
Is indeed your wish—
You can be a leader.

If you can keep your spirits up
And not depend on "breaks,"
If you can listen to the critics
And learn from your mistakes—
You can be a leader.

If you can ease a situation
With a friendly, winning smile,
If a calm and gracious manner
Is your own special style—
You can be a leader.

If you can look on leadership
As a chance for you to grow,
And can foster those occasions
Through which others, too, may grow—
You can be a leader.

If you can look at leadership
As serving at your best,
Forgetting personal power and glory
Then you will pass the test, and
You can be a leader.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

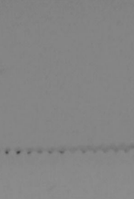
Son of God

Lesson for July 8, 1956

ONE thing the Christian church has believed from the beginning: Jesus is divine. Now the Bible never says that in those words. A more vivid and personal way of expressing it is the Bible way. There he is called Son of God. Theologians have written volumes on top of volumes to explain what it means to call Jesus the Son of God, and some of these volumes are pretty hard to understand. It is important to look into the Bible itself and see what is said there. The letter to the Hebrews (one of those nine letters at the end of the New Testament), in the very first sentence, gives Jesus the title of Son; but does not finish the sentence before beginning to explain a little what is meant by this.



Dr. Foreman

God Speaks by a Son

The first thing we are told here is that God, who has been speaking to men for thousands of years in various ways, has at last spoken to us by a Son. Jesus Christ is God's answer to man's questions, he is the answer to man's call for help, he is God calling to us. Men have long wished the sky were not so silent. They wish they could read the inscrutable mind of the most high God. Well, God has spoken, he has given us his last and best Word. And this Word is not in the form of a textbook, not in the form of an answer-book for all the riddles of existence. God's message to man is not a creed, however good it may be. His message is in a Person, a Life. We want to know what God thinks. We wish he would say something. Well, God has said . . . and what he says is Jesus Christ.

Through Him, the World

The line that divides all things that exist into two different kinds of things, the first and most important line, is not the line dividing spirit from matter. The real dividing-line is that which runs between Creator and Created, or to put it in another way, the line between God and everything else that is. When you take time to think about it, you can see that only God can be on the creator-side of creation. God alone, of all that exists, is because he is and not because something or somebody else made him be. Every man must say to himself, "If it were not for such and such a person, or such and such an event, I would not be here." But God could not truly say a thing like that. He does not depend on something or some one else for his very existence, as we do. It is by his good will that we are in the universe at all; it is by his will that the universe is here for us to be in. Now the letter to the Hebrews declares that Christ is God's active agent in creation. In the simple words of the writer, we read that through the Son, God created the world. No wonder the early church soon saw that this puts Jesus on the God-side of that line dividing Creator from Created. This is part of what we mean when we say that Jesus Christ is divine.

Reflection and Stamp

Another part of what we mean is expressed in those two words "reflection" and "stamp." The old Greeks had a story about a creature called a Gorgon, with snakes for hair, so horrible that the very sight of her turned the beholder to stone. Only when a brave man thought of going up to her, not looking directly at her but into a mirror, was any one able to enter her presence and live. In quite the opposite way, God is not too horrible, but too holy, for mere men to gaze at. We too need a mirror to reflect the unbearable glory of God; Christ is that reflection. He is likewise the "stamp" of God's nature. He is as it were God's signature, his handwriting, his personal seal.

"Therefore . . . Closer Attention"

The divinity of Christ, of which these sentences in Hebrew are only a few of the New Testament testimonies, was never thought of, in those clear early days of the church, as a mere doctrine in a book. It meant and means something intensely practical. If Jesus is really divine, then, we cannot just take him or leave him. If he is God's Son he is no more optional than God is. Deciding for or against him is the most important decision in life. What he tells and teaches is not "one man's opinion," is not even the voice of genius; it is the Voice of God.

No. 4651 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure the passage of a decree for the sale of the real estate of Wilson L. Camden, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, situate in the Town of Mountain Lake Park, Election District No. 16, Garrett County, Maryland, and for a distribution of the proceeds arising therefrom among the creditors of the said Wilson L. Camden.

The bill states:

That the said Wilson L. Camden was, during his lifetime, seized and possessed of Lots Nos. 1301, 1305, 1307 and 1303 and also one triangular Lot on the West side of O Street, all in Mountain Lake Park, improved by a two-story frame dwelling, and being the same which was conveyed to Mary M. Camden, wife of Wilson L. Camden, by deed from DeWarren H. Reynolds and wife, dated June 28, 1912, recorded in Liber E. Z. T. No. 67, folio 127, the said Mary M. Camden having died intestate on November 23, 1941 and the said Wilson L. Camden having inherited a one-third interest in said land as surviving spouse, the remaining two-thirds interest the said Wilson L. Camden having acquired by deed from Paul Murkland et al., the remaining heirs of Mary M. Camden, dated September 7, 1950, and recorded in Liber R. L. D. 161, folio 556, all references being to the Land Records of Garrett County; certified copies of both deeds are filed with the Bill; that while so seized and possessed of said real estate, the said Wilson L. Camden died on April 24, 1955, intestate, leaving surviving him as his only next of kin and heirs-at-law, five first cousins once removed, they being Camden Ramsburg, Jr., of 115 3rd. Street, Frederick, Maryland, whose wife is Ingebord Ramsburg; James Taney of 212 High Street, Salem, Virginia, whose wife is Carrie Taney; Samuel F. Hollifield, who has since departed this life, leaving as his only heir-at-law, his daughter, Frances H. James, widow, 3724 Tudor Arms Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland; William J. Hollifield, widower, 2109 Garrison Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland, and James Hollifield, whose last known address is Baltimore, Maryland, and whose present whereabouts and marital status are unknown; that all of said defendants are of full age; that Wilson L. Camden left a personal estate in the amount of $749.42 which amount, after payment of expenses of administration and inheritance taxes was sufficient to pay the complainant only $261.22 out of the total amount of his claim for services, $690.10, and is likewise insufficient to pay the claims for past due real estate taxes, medical and nursing services rendered the decedent as well as other creditors; that a certified copy of the "First and Final Accounting" and a copy of the "Passed Claims Docket" in the Estate of Wilson L. Camden, Orphans' Court for Garrett County, Estate No. 3073, is filed with said Bill.

The Bill then prays for a decree for the sale of said real estate for the payment of the claim of the complainant and the other unsatisfied creditors of Wilson L. Camden and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 3rd day of July, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 3rd day of August, 1956, give notice to the said absent defendants, Camden Ramsburg, Jr., and Ingebord Ramsburg, his wife, James Taney and Carrie Taney, his wife, Frances H. James, William J. Hollifield, James Hollifield and the heirs of Wilson L. Camden, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 18th day of August, 1956, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

County Commissioners Of Garrett County, Maryland

SALE OF $500,000.00 GARRETT COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOL BONDS OF 1956

DATED AUGUST 1, 1956

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, at their office in the Court House, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, until 11:00 o'clock A. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on

for the purchase of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00) aggregate par value serial maturity coupon bonds known as "Garrett County Public School Bonds of 1956."

At 11:05 o'clock A. M., E.D.S.T., on said date, said sealed bids will be publicly opened by said County Commissioners of Garrett County in their office as above, and said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder, for cash.

Said bonds will all be dated August 1, 1956. The issue will consist of five hundred (500) bonds, numbered consecutively from No. 1 to No. 500 inclusive, each of the par value of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), total $500,000.00, and the bonds shall bear interest at the rate or rates fixed in the accepted bid, as hereinafter provided, said interest to be payable semi-annually on February 1 and August 1 in each year, accounting from the date of the bonds until their respective maturities, in accordance with interest coupons to be attached thereto. Said bonds will mature and be payable over a period of twenty-four years from date of issue, in the order of their consecutive numbers, in twenty (20) equal annual serial installments of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) par amount each on August 1st in each of the years 1960 to and including 1979.

Said bonds are issued pursuant to the authority of Chapter 11 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at its March Session in the year 1956, and in accordance with proper proceedings duly had and taken by the County Commissioners of Garrett County.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the time of payment, at The First National Bank of Baltimore, Baltimore, Maryland.

The bonds will be issued subject to registration as to principal only at the office of the Treasurer of Garrett County, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, Registrar.

The proceeds of the sale of these bonds are to be used exclusively for school purposes in Garrett County, as set forth in the Enabling Act and in a Resolution duly adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and to pay the costs incident to the issuance of the bonds, and for no other purpose.

Bidders are requested to specify with their bids the rate or rates of interest to be paid on the bonds, on which rate or rates their bids are based and submitted. Said rate or rates of interest shall not exceed the annual rate of three per centum (3%) fixed by statute and must be in multiples of one-eighth or one-tenth of one per cent. Bidders may specify more than one rate of interest to be borne by the bonds, but may not specify more than one interest rate for the bonds of any one maturity. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate or combined rates of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than 97 and accrued interest for the bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate or rates of interest, the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest price will be accepted. Where the bids of two or more bidders are identical in all respects, the bonds will be apportioned equally between all of such bidders, but if this shall prove unacceptable to the County Commissioners, then said Board may, in its discretion, determine to which of said bidders the bonds will be awarded. The lowest rate or rates of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the County of the bonds so issued, from the date of their issue to the last date of maturity of any of said bonds, by adding the dollar amount of interest payable on each bond to maturity under any proposal and (a) adding to the total thereof the amount of any discount below par in the bid price, or (b) deducting from the total thereof the amount of the premium offered to be paid for said bonds in any such proposal.

The right is reserved to the County Commissioners of Garrett County to reject any or all bids. In the event any question arises as to the regularity of any bid, or its conformity to the terms of the advertisement, the decision of the County Commissioners shall be final and shall bind all interested parties.

Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to "County Commissioners of Garrett County, Court House, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland," and marked on the outside, "Proposal for Garrett County Public School Bonds of 1956," and must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of "Treasurer of Garrett County Maryland," for $10,000.00, to secure the county against any loss resulting from the failure of the particular bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the deposit. Checks deposited by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them when the bonds are awarded to the successful bidder.

Accrued interest will be adjusted to the date of the delivery of the bonds and payment therefor.

These bonds are issued upon the full faith and credit of the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and said full faith and credit is irrevocably pledged to the payment of the maturing principal and interest of said bonds.

Under the provisions of the Enabling Act and resolutions duly passed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, provision is made for the levy of an annual ad valorem tax on all assessable property in Garrett County, sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal and interest on said bonds as they respectively become due and payable. In addition to the proceeds of said ad valorem taxes, there will also be available for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds the sums to be received annually by the Board of Education of Garrett County from the State of Maryland under the School Construction Incentive Fund Plan established by Chapter 1 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at its February Session in the year 1956, which sums said Board of Education has agreed to remit to the County to the extent that they may be required for the payment of the principal and interest on the bonds, on condition that they be pledged to and applied on account of such payment.

Under existing laws, these bonds are exempt from State, County and Municipal taxation in the State of Maryland.

The bonds will be delivered to the purchaser within a reasonable time after the sale thereof, at the office of the County Commissioners of Garrett County in Oakland, Maryland, or at any incorporated bank or trust company in the City of Baltimore, Maryland, without expense to the purchaser. If the purchaser shall specify any other place of delivery, such delivery shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

The legality of this issue of bonds will be approved by Niles, Barton, Yost & Dankmeyer, Esqs., attorneys-at-law, Baltimore, Maryland, and W. Dwight Stover, Esq., attorney for the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and the Approving Opinion of these attorneys, together with a no-litigation certificate dated as of the date of the delivery of the bonds, and the other usual supporting papers, will be delivered upon request to the purchaser of the bonds without charge.

Garrett County consists of approximately six hundred and sixty-eight square miles of territory and has a population of approximately twenty-two thousand. The assessed valuation of property for purposes of taxation for the 1956 tax year is $31,057,861.00. The net outstanding bonded debt of the County, exclusive of the present issue, but including indebtedness due the State of Maryland for school construction purposes, is $1,746,432.94. The County has never defaulted on any debt. If further details are necessary, they will be furnished upon communicating with the Clerk to the County Commissioners, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland.

Sen. John Marshall Butler

The Olympic Ideal and the Ideal Olympic

With well-documented evidence, it can be quickly proved that Russian "athletes" are forced by the Soviet police state to participate in the gigantic communist sports offensive; are exiled to Siberian prison camps for failure to conform to the rigorous Soviet "athletic" routine; participate in Olympic games competition only to advance the political cause of international communism; and resort to various forms of deceit and foul play to win Olympic honors. In view of these indisputable truths—regardless of whether or not Soviet "athletes" are subsidized by the State—it is obvious they do not participate voluntarily, are not amateurs, and are not even athletes. With the pproach of the 1956 Olympic games, these evidences must be placed in clear focus.

It is my opinion that the manner in which Russian "athletes" are ruthlessly hammered into human weapons—under the constant threat of inhuman punishment—to advance the cause of atheistic communism is morally wrong. And, for us to provide them—without so much as a protest—with the valuable forum of the Olympic Games only serves to compound that moral wrong.

The rules of simple reason and common logic dictate if the cherished Olympic ideal is to be preserved, we must continually strive to bring about the ideal Olympics. This is not accomplished when we allow fear or a spirit of hopeless frustration, in the face of Russian prostitution of values, to force us into abject retreat. "To sin by silence when we should protest makes cowards of men."

Some will argue that our record—as regards professionalism and amateurism—is not perfect, and that for this reason it comes with poor grace for us to protest against the Russians. But, the internal condition of American athletics is a matter for American athletic officials to handle. If their house needs cleaning, it is a job for them to do—it is not within the scope of legitimate government concern.

I will say, however, that this fact in no way alters the basic principles involved. Because we are not perfect ourselves does not necessarily disqualify us from attempting to perfect the Olympic Games. If such a theory were sound, it would seem to follow that unless a Christian were a veritable saint, he would be ill-advised to endeavor to advance the cause of Christianity. And, the cause of morality and Christianity, surely we all agree, must be our primary concern if true peace is to become a reality.

Grantsville Gets Heavy Thunderstorm

A severe summer thunderstorm struck the Grantsville area around 8:30 o'clock Monday night and although no heavy damage was reported, roads were covered with streams of water.

Accompanied by flashes of lightning and thunder, the cloudburst-like storm broke following a hot, humid day. The storm appeared to be localized in the Grantsville area as weather observers in Oakland reported only a light rain here. Temperatures in Oakland reached 86 degrees, highest of the year. Unofficially the mercury ascended to 90 degrees in Grantsville.

Gusts of wind swirled about the area and about an inch of rain fell in about an hour.

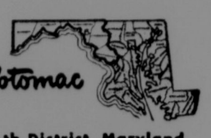
Along The Potomac



Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The Fourth of July is rightly one of our most important holidays. It is interesting to note that Thomas Jefferson thought that the day that would be remembered would be July 2. That was the day the Continental Congress approved the resolution declaring the colonies free and independent. The day we honor is the one on which the Declaration of Independence was signed.

The Declaration of Independence is a unique document in that it not only set forth the reasons which impelled the Colonies to declare themselves free and independent, but it also set forth the basic principles on which the new government was to be built. The Constitution became the instrument for preserving the basic rights outlined in the Declaration of Independence.

Marylanders will be pleased to learn that my bill providing for another District Judge for our state is included in the Omnibus Judgeship bill. The need for another judge in Maryland is great. I have presented the Congress with the information necessary to substantiate our request for the additional judge.

It now seems likely the bill will pass.

Funds in the amount of $3,400,000 have received final approval by Congress for continuation of the work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

The House Judiciary Committee has favorably reported a bill which clearly recognizes the right of states to prosecute subversive activities within their own boundaries. The measure corrects court rulings which have held that only federal law would apply in instances such as Pennsylvania's attempt to prosecute the Steve Nelson case. The reported bill specifically says that state laws on sedition shall not be nullified by any federal law unless the Congress clearly spells out its intention to do so.

I am happy to report that the Water Pollution Act is at the White House awaiting the President's signature. It is a major step in the direction of providing Sixth District residents and all those living in the Potomac River Valley with good clean water.

On My Calendar: On July 8 at 2 p. m., I shall appear on Joe McCaffrey's television program over WMAL-TV, Channel 7.

Grantsville Loses

Mt. Savage defeated Grantsville five to one in a game played Saturday tieing the two teams for fifth place in the Pen Mar league.

Grantsville was limited to three hits. The win marked the first time in three years that Mt. Savage has beaten Grantsville. Until Saturday the Sluggers had won 11 straight since 1953. Mt. Savage scored three runs in the first inning.

Perry, with singles in the first and ninth innings, and Joe Wengerd's fourth inning double were Grantsville's only safeties. The fielding gem of the game was a leaping catch by Slugger third-sacker Fred Colaw on Dawson's line shot with the bases full in the first.

Zihlman won over Grantsville on Sunday via the forfeit route when Grantsville was unable to field a team for the game scheduled at Zihlman.

Recreation Areas Get Many Visitors

Approximately 10,000 persons took advantage of the facilities of the three county recreation areas on Sunday and huge throngs are expected to visit the areas on the Fourth of July.

A check with personnel of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks showed that the largest number of persons visited New Germany where around 4,500 picnickers, sightseers and swimmers went for recreation. Approximately 3,500 persons visited Herrington Manor and about 2,500 traveled to Swallow Falls. There are approximately 200 persons camping out in from 35 to 40 tents at Swallow Falls.

The 16 cabins at Herrington Manor and 10 cabins at New Germany are all in use.

Premier Chou En-lai reasserted Red China's determination to take over Formosa.

Lead fouling is like a leaky gas tank

If your gas tank looked like this, you'd get it repaired mighty fast. But when lead fouling does its dirty work under your car's hood you're wasting gas . . . just as if the tank leaked.

Lead fouling is caused by lead deposits that form on pistons, valves and plugs. And lead deposits come from only one thing, gasoline with tetraethyl lead in it. That's true of any leaded gasoline regardless of its fancy color, fancy pump or fancy name. What's more, no additive in the world can remove these fouling deposits, once they form.

One gas . . . just one . . . contains no lead, can never leave a lead deposit. That's Amoco-Gas, the only gas that's all gas. It can all burn, it's all power. 100% POWER! And it guarantees no lead fouling with all the anti-knock power that any car can use. See the difference for yourself when you buy it . . . Amoco-Gas is clear white. See the difference when you use it . . . a mileage record you can brag about!

Weak and Flabby . . .

Writing in The American Magazine, John B. Kelly asks a startling question. Are we becoming a nation of weaklings? he inquires.

Mr. Kelly, who was U. S. director of physical fitness during World War II and was a famous athlete in his own right, says that "American youngsters today are weaker and flabbier than those in many other countries, and they are growing softer every year." He cites the results of a scientific study of more than 7,000 children, ages 6 through 16, in this country and in Europe.

Almost 58 percent of the American youngsters failed in one or more of six basic strength and flexibility tests, as against 8.7 percent for the Europeans.

Shocked Mr. Kelly asks, "Why should this be the case?" He feels our children get better nutrition and medical care than those of most other countries. The answer seems to be that our children are leading increasingly stationary or sitting lives. They ride instead of walk. They devote more time to the TV set than to sports. They sit back and want to be entertained instead of going out on their own for recreation. It looks like in this case the blessings of "the more abundant life" can be a real danger.

Mr. Kelly believes the problem can be solved. He believes that schools should grade students in physical fitness just as in other subjects—and insist on passing marks. To quote him directly, he says, "Our pioneer forebears made this nation what it is because they possessed great physical strength as well as mental and spiritual hardihood. We can become strong if only we try."

Maybe the man has something!

Extensive Plans Made For Pony League Play-Offs

Extensive plans are being made for the Pony League district play-offs which are scheduled to be held in Oakland on Saturday, July 21.

Two games will be played here on that day between the Pony League all-star team of Oakland, and a team from Fairmont, W. Va. The first game is called for two o'clock. If there is rain on Saturday the games will be played at Oakland on Sunday afternoon.

Radio station WMMN, of Fairmont, W. Va., has asked for space to set up its equipment to give a play by play account of the games. Four umpires from Cumberland have been obtained to handle the decisions.

A decisions committee has been named consisting of Harrison Stewart, Richard Wolfe and Ray McManis. Donald Stemple, president of the Oakland Pony League group, said a certifying committee also was to be named to check the records of all the boys playing on both teams.

Team managers Pat Turney and Bill Finch have had the fifteen players who were chosen last week to represent Oakland in practice sessions at every available moment.

Speakers Secured

Two speakers have been secured for the pre-school teachers' meeting scheduled for Thursday, August 30, at Southern High school.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said he had obtained Dr. Vernon Anderson, new head of the Department of Education of the University of Maryland, and former Congressman Calvin Johnson, now of Upper Marlboro and public relations man for Remington Rand.

They will participate in the program for teachers, who will be preparing for the reopening of the schools.

Bible School Dates Are Definitely Set

The dates for the Union Vacation Church School have been definitely set for July 30 through August 10. This school is sponsored through the Mountaintop Ministerial Association, Rev. W. W. Patterson, D.D., president. The funds for the school were raised through offerings received at the Union Lenten services held in the local churches.

The school this year will be operated at St. Mark's Lutheran church and parish building, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Lee, and the pastor of St. Mark's, Charles W. Carlson. The course of study to be followed this year will be the material published by the United Lutheran Church for Vacation Church Schools, under the general heading, "The Bible and the Home." The particular courses of study are: Nursery, "Three Years Old At Home"; Beginner, "Come Lord Jesus"; Primary, "I Stand at the Door and Knock"; Junior, "House Hunting in the Bible."

In order to better faciliate the operation of the school all students who plan to attend are to register before the school opens. All regular Sunday Church School students of Oakland are to be registered at their Sunday Church School, on Sunday, July 15. Those unable to be at their schools that Sunday, or any children of the area who perhaps do not attend a Sunday Church School here may register for this school in the basement of the Lutheran church either Monday or Wednesday, July 16 or 18, from 10:30 a. m., until 12 noon. If any person cannot for any reason register at any of the times set up, Mrs. Lee should be contacted.

Additional Teachers Named

MISS RITA McKENZIE

PAUL EARY

Two additional teachers were named recently for the Oakland Elementary school. They are Miss Rita McKenzie and Paul Eary.

Miss McKenzie will become third grade teacher in the school in September. She is an additional teacher required by the anticipated increase in enrollment.

Miss McKenzie was graduated from Allegany High school and received her degree from Frostburg State Teachers college in June. While in college she was active in the Future Teachers organization and Women's Recreational association. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said Miss McKenzie had made a creditable scholastic record in both high school and college.

Mr. Eary will teach sixth grade, replacing Mrs. Alta Duling, who is being transferred to Southern High school.

Mr. Eary has one year of teaching at Middletown, O. He is a graduate of Terra Alta High school and received his degree from Morris Harvey college at Charleston. He also has done special work in business education at West Virginia Wesleyan.

Mr. Eary recently wed the former Miss Alice Feather, who also is a teacher in the Elementary school. Mr. and Mrs. Eary now reside near Cranesville, W. Va.

Complaints Were Order of Business At Council Session

Complaints were the order of business at a good portion of the monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland held on Monday evening at the City hall. There were complaints of dogs running at large, water from streets running into private properties, maggots in the garbage cans, and suggestions that the town do something about numbering the houses.

In regard to the dogs, the council planned to place a final notice to dog owners in The Republican today, and the street commissioner was authorized to make necessary improvements to keep water from running onto the properties of Reynold Ashby and Ervin S. Smith.

As for the maggots in garbage cans, the complaint was lodged by Carlton "Tick" Hinebaugh, who has the contract for garbage removal for the town. He was told to keep a list of the persons whose garbage cans are unduly obnoxious so that the council could write letters to them, asking them to keep their cans cleaner.

Donald M. Browning, postmaster, asked the town to do something about numbering the houses with some uniform system, to ease the burden of the postoffice department. Further information is being sought in this respect.

A number of other items of business were disposed of.

The city agreed to assume cost of trucking dirt from an improvement project at the rear of Leighton Brothers garage and Imperial Ice Cream plant. The two companies are bearing expense of a bulldozer and shovel in doing work which will alleviate conditions caused by dust and water and soil erosion in back of the two buildings. The dirt is to be used on Fourth street by the town.

Wheat Marketing Quota Referendum To Be Held July 20

Eligible wheat growers will have an opportunity to vote for or against marketing quotas for the 1957 wheat crop on Friday, July 20, according to an announcement by H. Robert DeWitt, Chairman of the County ASC Committee. The present large supply of wheat has made it necessary for a referendum to be held to determine whether or not the marketing quota program, with penalties for excess wheat, which is now in effect will continue for next year's crop.

All voting will be done at the County ASC office which is located at 63 Third Street in Oakland. Voting hours are from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m., daylight time.

All farmers who plan to harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain from one farm in 1957 are eligible to vote.

If marketing quotas are approved by two-thirds or more of the farmers voting in the Referendum nationally they will continue in effect for 1957. If quotas remain in effect those farmers who harvest more wheat than their acreage allotment and also more than 15 acres will be required to pay a penalty on the excess wheat. Price support at a level between 75 percent and 90 percent of parity will be available to all farmers who do not exceed their wheat acreage allotment if marketing quotas are approved. Marketing quotas and acreage allotments apply to all wheat to be harvested as grain, regardless of what the wheat is to be used for, and also to mixtures of wheat and other grains.

If marketing quotas are not approved there will be no penalties for producing excess wheat, however, in this case the level of price support will drop to 50 percent of parity for those farmers who harvest within their acreage allotment. Wheat acreage allotment notices were mailed to wheat growers in June, Mr. DeWitt stated.

Plans Reviewed On Elementary School Buildings

The Board of Education, in joint meeting with the County Commissioners on Tuesday morning, July 10, reviewed preliminary plans for the two new elementary schools that are to be constructed in the county.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the architect had promised to have plans completed and ready for bids by August 15.

The Board of Education plans to have both buildings under contract by October 1.

One of the schools will be constructed in the Long Stretch area, for pupils of the Avilton and Finzel sections. The other school will be erected on ground adjacent to the Southern High school.

Both boards also discussed the grading project in rear of Southern High school which is to be completed this fall.

Other Business Enacted

Other business was enacted at the meeting of the Board of Education which was attended by all three members, Ross Speicher, president; Dr. Ralph Calandreila and Maurice Brookhart.

The board discussed with members of the Executive committee of the School Bus Operators association the new ruling concerning the cost of new school buses. Buses are to cost not more than 10 percent less than the list price of the body and chassis. The board agreed with bus drivers that heavy chassis equipment was desirable for most routes in the county, and indicated it would ask the State Department of Education to see that such are allowed for this county.

In other official acts the board approved sale and transfer of a bus now owned by Ira Gilpin to Jonas Beachy, and instructed the superintendent to investigate the possibility of consolidating the Paul Cullers route with other nearby routes; accepted resignation of Charles Gillis, art instructor and approved appointment of Miss Bernice Kolb as his replacement; approved advertising for bids on new sedan delivery truck to be used by Watershed Project Given Approval By Agriculture Dept.

The Little Youghiogheny Watershed project has had official approval by the Department of Agriculture and the project plan for the work is in final stages, according to Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, of Washington.

Instituted by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and the County Commissioners of Garrett County, the program planned will include a series of small dams and stream channel improvement in the Little Youghiogheny river.

The Little Youghiogheny river and Wilson Creek cause flash floods in Oakland periodically and the watershed project is designed to eliminate these floods.

Rep. Hyde said that, with committee approval of legislation cutting the waiting time from 45 days to 15, there is no reason why the project cannot be approved before Congress adjourns.

The two successful candidates will be sworn in on Friday evening. Hold-over members of council are Emile Germain, Delbert Bittinger and Edward Tasker. H. M. Weeks, mayor, has another year to serve.

Ritchie has been a member of the City Council for three years, having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of a councilman who moved away, and being successful in being elected to that position two years ago.

Toby Colaw Gets Farm Contract From Pittsburgh Pirates

Donald "Toby" Colaw, Southern High school's first baseman, has been signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League and will report next March to Brunswick, Ga., to train with the Bucs' farm clubs there.

Colaw was signed by George Sisler, supervisor of Pittsburgh's scouting staff after working out twice at Forbes Field and playing on a Pirates' prospects team against a Pittsburgh semi-pro nine.

Toby throws and bats left-handed and hit .625 in the Potomac Valley conference in six games this past season. He also pitched, winning four games and losing one, striking out 71 batsmen in 44 innings, including 18 in one game.

Toby is 18 years old and is a native of Crellin. He was a three-letter man at Southern, playing basketball, football and baseball. He also has played for Grantsville's American Legion team and is now playing first base for the Grantsville Sluggers of the Pen Mar league.

Toby was also in consultation with the Cincinnati Reds, prior to signing with the Pirates.

Specialists Secured For Scout Program

An impressive array of talent has been secured to give the boy scouts of Oakland, Crellin and Turner-Douglas a well rounded program of instruction when they go to their annual summer encampment on July 22 for two weeks.

Two instruction or study periods are scheduled for almost every day of their encampment and during these periods the scouts will have the opportunity of hearing specialists discuss various phases of scouting. Included in the group will be four first aid periods by Mason Callis; safety, Corporal Sam Conrad; forestry, Elmer Upole; astronomy, C. W. Englander; nature, Jim Hanlin, of Keyser; knot tying, Lewis R. Jones; "Our Relationship to Our God," by Rev. Charles E. Carlson; signalling, William Sharps; splicing, Donald Helbig; forest management, Thomas Thayer. An early service for Sunday, July 29, also is set with Rev. W. S. Patterson delivering the sermon. Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, will give the scouts a physical check-up this Thursday evening at regular scout meeting.

For recreation the scouts will have softball, volleyball and horseshoe tournaments, a field and track meet, swimming meet and other activities. The Lions club, sponsoring institution, will meet there on Thursday afternoon and evening, August 2, while the Cub scouts will gather there on Wednesday evening, August 1. Other features also are planned for the campers who will remain at the site until Saturday evening, August 4.

Facts On "Second" Job Will Be Collected

Special questions designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job, will be asked in the July current population survey. The questions will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment. The survey information will be collected in the Oakland area during the week of July 16 by Mrs. Olive E. Claar, of Cumberland.

"Inspector Calls" Will Be Third Play

"The Inspector Calls" will be the third play to be offered by the summer theatre players at the Garrett County Playhouse at the former Arden Boat club at Deep Creek Lake. This will be presented next Tuesday through Saturday, July 17 to 21, with Gene Yell directing.

Starring in their various roles will be D. G. Buckles, Tom Calkins, Bonnie Barton, Suzanne Oglesby, Leonard Drum and Robert Morris. Miss Helen Camp, who had outstanding roles in the first two plays, will be given a rest. Her part this week in "The Show-Off," is the longest part for a woman of any American stage play.

"The Show-Off" will be repeated tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night. This play is considered a young classic of the American theatre. Called the first real comedy of character by an American dramatist the human and moving drama has had a universal appeal not only for its audiences but for many of the great actors of our time. In the past few years it has been done on radio, TV and in the movies, starring respectively Alfred Lunt, Jackie Gleason and Red Skelton.

Next week's offering was written by J. B. Priestly which Mr. Yell terms an engaging play with an air of mystic unreality.

Mr. Yell announced that in order to make it easier for the management to follow the wishes of the audience he was installing a suggestion box in the lobby to receive ideas that any person may have concerning improvement of the program.

He reminded people of the new reservation system where patrons can now make reservations at the Englander Pharmacy, the Oakland Pharmacy or the William-James hotel during the day, or at the box office after 7:30 p. m.

In the lobby of the theatre this week will be found an exhibit of paintings by Aza Stanton, local artist. It is the plan of the theatre management to have different exhibits each week which will include Amish bedspreads and quilts and other features.

Attendance during the first week's show, "Hay Fever," totaled 524, an increase of 121 over the first week last year.

2 Days Without Rain

If today ends without rain the county will have experienced two complete days without rain, and for the season of 1956, that is something!

We have had a variety of weather during the week with Friday both rainy and sunny, Saturday fairly clear most of the day; Sunday, raining after dinner and Sunday night; Monday, clear early but later raining in the evening and turning cold on Tuesday and continuing to rain.

Wednesday was clear and fairly warm, but today gave promise of being another day fairly clear and without rain. The thermometer dropped to 52 degrees during the cold spell.

The afternoon program at 1:30 o'clock, will be presented by visiting quartet, duet and choirs. The public is invited.

Imperial Plant To Discontinue Milk Processing

Producers Given Opportunity To Dispose Of Their Product Elsewhere

That the Imperial Ice Cream plant of the Fairmont Foods company in Oakland would discontinue processing of milk within sixty to ninety days, was announced yesterday morning by S. C. Sherwood, of Parkersburg, W. Va., southeastern division manager. The plant will still remain a distributing point for ice cream, it was stated.

Mr. Sherwood made his announcement following a meeting with forty or fifty milk producers of the area, held Tuesday evening at the Oakland fire hall. At this time Mr. Sherwood announced that opportunity would be given for half of the producers to transfer delivery of milk to Clarksburg, while the balance of the producers would be given an opportunity to dispose of their milk in other channels.

The fifteen or more regular employes of the plant are being given an opportunity to be transferred to other plant operations of the company in other cities. Paige Hickman, plant manager, will go Clarksburg where he will be a quality control supervisor.

Mr. Sherwood said this decision had been reached only after considerable study of the problem, and that it was entirely an economic condition, and one that could not be helped under present government regulations.

The company has had eighty or more patrons who had been bringing in about 78,000 gallons of milk per month, amounting to a monthly payroll of some $20,000. Prior to last August, the company had about 300 patrons.

Bob Price, assistant to Mr. Sherwood, accompanied the latter to Oakland Tuesday and participated in the discussions with producers, local business men, and Mayor Russell L. Smith.

Erval Ream was honored on a "This Is Your Life program," directed by Delbert Gnegy.

It was announced that on Thursday evening members of the club would meet at the Boy Scout camp on Deep Creek Lake to get the barracks in proper shape for the scouts' two weeks' camping period which begins on July 22.

Cottage Damaged

The log cottage of R. W. Schreiber, of Duquesne, Pa., located in the Houck addition of Deep Creek Lake, was considerably damaged by fire last Saturday morning about 11:30 o'clock, following an explosion of a hot water tank, heated by coal oil.

The cottage was occupied by Mrs. William Servick, sister of Mr. Schreiber, at the time, and she was down at the water's edge when the explosion occurred.

The Oakland firemen were called and succeeded in putting out the blaze but not before the kitchen, dining and living rooms were damaged to the extent of $3,000 to $5,000.

Oakland firemen also answered an alarm Tuesday evening when a county building used for heating tar, ignited from an overheated stove. Damage was slight.

One Man Looks At God

(By Charles W. Carlson, Pastor, St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oakland Maryland.)

In our series on the Ten Commandments, we come this week to one which has reached tremendous proportions as a social problem for our time. It is: "You shall not commit adultery."

Just how many breaches there are on this commandment every day, I have no way of knowing, but the fact that, as a result of a recent study by the NCCCUSA, one out of every 3.2 marriages made in 1955 will end in divorce by 1965 seems to indicate the general attitude toward faith in each other in marriage. There is no avoiding the statement of God Incarnate that "Whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery," and from His other statements, the same thing would definitely apply to men.

Another indication of the general attitude toward disregard of this commandment is the fact that our services issue, as standard equipment, what they refer to as a "VD Prevention Kit" to all men who leave the post on a pass. Some officials apparently argue that it is better to have our servicemen protected from disease. Personally, I feel that it would be a far more valuable project to teach servicemen respect for the sanctity of their bodies, setting up standards for moral betterment, rather than excuses for moral degeneration. As for me, I feel that any man who commits adultery deserves to get VD.

The trouble with problems of this kind is that parents, schools, churches and others who should be responsible for shaping the attitudes of young people growing to the years of maturity have not in too many cases, accepted their part of this vital area of education. Too often, fathers tell their sons just to be careful in the sowing of their wild oats, and ignore the basic code of God that we should have sexual relationships only with our husband or wife. Too often the facts of life are avoided in the instruction that parents give their children, as some taboo subject that is never discussed in "nice" families.

The plain and simple fact is that we have been created just as we are, with the basic drives that go with being parents of children built right into us. God certainly did not intend for us to live the lives of celibates, else He would not have equipped us as we are. The trouble comes up when we refuse to follow the ground rules that He laid down for us. A baseball player has to "go by the rulebook," or he does not play ball. Man has to follow the code of conduct set down for him by God's creative plan, or he just does not get along as he should.

It is the responsibility of parents primarily, with the help of public schools, churches, the services into which our young men are taken, many times against their will, to combine in their efforts to present God's rule for man's conduct in regards to the sixth commandment, and for that matter, in all of the other areas of life. Only by seeking out the guidance on Him Who made us can we ever solve the problems of marital infidelity, divorce, and all of the other ugly implications that go along with committing adultery.

Marks Sky Watch Event

Mayor Russell L. Smith, of Oakland, signed a proclamation this week marking the observance of the fourth anniversary of "Operation Skywatch" by the local Ground Observer Corps during the week July 8 to 14.

The proclamation was presented to Mr. Smith by T/Sgt. Frank Carbone, U. S. air force, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Four years ago the GOC was placed on Skywatch 24 hours by the Air Defense Command. During this period civilian volunteers have manned the air defense filter centers and the observation posts are continuing their work even though at times it means sacrifice on their part. The Oakland observation post, located near Southern High school, is one of 205 posts that report to the Pittsburgh Air Defense Filter center.

The Oakland post is in charge of Rev. John J. Atwell. Other posts in Garrett county are at Hoyes Corner, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Jones; at Hoyes Run, in charge of Merrill Cargo; Savage river dam, in charge of F. D. Glass; Swanton, in charge of Gail Warnick. Another post is proposed at Red House, to be in charge of Rev. William A. Renn. The ground observer activities are directed by the Civilian Defense organization, and the county director of this group is Fred Tichnell, Oakland.

Makes Proclamation

Mayor Smith officially proclaimed the occasion, declaring that:

1. The Ground Observer Corps is a vital part of the air defense system and Civil Defense.

2. The Ground Observer Corps is engaged in protection of the people of the United States and this community.

3. Since Oakland was a part of the Ground Observer Corps and was in need of additional volunteer civilians, it was deemed proper to accord official recognition to this planned observance.

Mr. Smith further urged in his proclamation that the residents of the community assist the local observation post by volunteering to work several hours spotting aircraft.

Fishing Conditions Improved Last Week

Weather conditians and fishing improved during the week at Deep Creek Lake, according to the weekly news bulletin released by Sigurd Brantingson, regional fish culturist, and Scott Kennedy, creel census taker.

Bill Snodgrass, of Waynesburg, Pa., was listed as catching the largest fish of the week. He hooked a small mouth bass 21 inches long and weighing four pounds on July 4, at McHenry. He used a casting rod and flatfish for bait. Walter Mummert, Oakland also caught a brown trout about 16½ inches in length and weighing two pounds at the breast of the dam on June 30, while Frank Mihelaid, Clairton, Pa., on July 4 caught a bluegill 10 inches long and weighing one pound at Thayerville. All three were caught while the sky was overcast.

Mr. Kennedy said a Mr. Sines of Friendsville had caught 17 nice crappies by using minnows. One fisherman was consistently making nice catches of rainbow trout by using light leader, small hooks, small worms and fishing about 30 feet deep.

This creel census program was started recently at the lake to determine as nearly as possibly the fishing conditions from week to week.

Brantingson said that the catch of a dozen or so chain pickerel in the lake two weeks ago were the first reported this year. They were among the fish stocked early this spring in a program designed to cut down the number of yellow perch in the lake.

A test on Hoop Pole run of the lake last September determined that the lake was "polluted" with yellow perch to the detriment of other species. He said as far as he knows no one has caught any of the walleyes which were also placed in the lake as predators of the perch. The walleyes are considered good fighting fish when hooked and are said to be excellent eating.

Introduce Bill To Establish Park

Senator J. Glenn Beall and Representative DeWitt S. Hyde (Republicans of Maryland) on Tuesday introduced identical bills which will establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park from Great Falls to Cumberland. The Park will be developed for wildlife propagation, wilderness conservation, and public recreation.

The federal government now owns 4800 acres of land along the C and O Canal and this bill will give authority to acquire an additional 10,200 acres.

The bill provides that the Secretary of the Interior shall work with the State of Maryland and its political sub-divisions in exchange of land and granting easements for rights-of-way.

Section 2 of the bill authorizes the construction of a scenic parkway connection between Maryland Route 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va. and the Long Ridge Road near Woodmont, Md., such parkway connection to be a part of the C and O Canal National Historical Park.

"Although there is doubt, at this late date, that Congress can act on this bill," they said, "there is so much public interest and sentiment for such a park that we hope this legislation can be approved. At any rate, this will give the agencies an opportunity to prepare and submit reports to the respective committees for future action."

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Among the three chief factors which have placed our nation and its way of life in jeopardy, individual apathy should rank first, and the Communist Fifth Column should rank second, and the Red military threat third. In our last two columns we have pointed up the danger of the inertia of American citizens and have discussed the astounding growth of Red Russia's strength—in territory taken over, in people enslaved, in resources. And now—the Fifth Column.

The Fifth Column is like a malignant disease attacking the body of our nation—largely hidden and seldom properly diagnosed. When it seems that the American people are going to awaken to its dangers and stamp it out, it changes its appearance, like a chameleon, and many people are fooled again.

The influence of the Fifth Column, in the Institute of Pacific Relations and elsewhere, was a dominant factor in the loss of China. This paved the way for the Korean War, its terrible cost and the final tragic compromise with the world-wide evil that calls itself Communism. An unbroken array of America's top military leaders who served in Korea have now testified before Congressional Committees that sinister forces were at work in this country manipulating decisions which overruled what was best for America in Korea—giving, in each instance, a victory to the Reds.

It is now known that Harry Dexter White in the Treasury Department was the architect of the Morgenthau Plan demanding unconditional surrender of Germany, an action which put the Russians into East Germany, put Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia and others behind the Iron Curtain and made the Russians so secure in Europe that they could then concentrate on Asia. This resulted in the loss of China and the Korean War. And Attorney General Herbert Brownell has identified White as one of the most strategic Communist agents in America.

It is now known that Alger Hiss was stealing American secrets for the Communists at the very time he was shaping the organizations of the United Nations so that Communist Russia would expand its power, its world prestige and its American base of spy operations. Just last week, testimony was brought out identifying two Russian officials of the U. N. Delegation as active spies in America, recruiting an espionage corps, offering tempting big money payments for aid in their damaging work.

When any force is loose in a nation, threatening the security of the people, the people should get together and stamp it out. We would not think of permitting a carrier of diphtheria, scarlet fever, or any deadly disease to run at large—claiming freedom to infect and kill. We shouldn't permit Red Fifth Columnists freedom to infect and to work for the destruction of our nation.

Plans Move Ahead For Farmers' Picnic

Plans are progressing for the annual Farmers' picnic and 4-H rally day, to be held Saturday, July 28, at the Western Maryland four-H center near Bittinger.

Activities are to begin at 9:30 a. m., with the tractor operators' contest. There will be demonstrations by boys and girls, booths, an animal show, the farm queen contest, a dress revue, games and other activities.

Will Send Entry Blanks

Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, Accident, president of the Associated Women of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, who is in charge of the Farm Queen contest, will send enrollment blanks to any girls in the county interested in entering. Girls must be 16 to 18 years of age, live on a farm of not less than three acres. Each girl who enters the contest will receive a cash prize, it was stated.

The Play Reviewed

"The Show Off," a period piece of the 1920's, being presented this week by the Garrett County Playhouse, has all the astonishing reality of a visit backward in time to those roaring days. Epitomized by the character of the show-off himself, Aubrey Piper, those times evoke either wistful, nostalgic appreciativeness or belittling revulsion, depending on whether the viewer is a son of the '20's or a son of the '50's. Fortunately, all of us have a tinge of the '20's, and that makes the play enjoyable.

Moreover, the play has such generality of mood and everyday language that each of the characters becomes someone we actually know. They become so familiar that some of the second-act humor palls, but a sparkling third act shakes off the dullness.

Author George Kelly's plot is relatively uncomplicated: Amy Fisher falls in love with Aubrey Piper, despite the unconcealed distaste for him the rest of the family has. Mr. Fisher doesn't like the show-off to slap him on the back or interrupt his quiet evenings; daughter Clara doesn't like Piper's representing himself as an office boss instead of the clerk he is; inventive Joe Fisher thinks the show-off is a nut. Mrs. Fisher, the most vociferous of the family, dislikes him for all these reasons, and more. Amy listens to none of them and gets married. When the Pipers have to vacate their apartment and Papa Fisher suffers a fatal stroke, Aubrey, unabashed by the legal consequences of his reckless driving in a borrowed auto, moves into the Fisher house and matter-of-factly takes over. Actually doing some good for once, he helps young Joe's chemical discovery to bring a fat profit. And so, amidst mixed opinions of the family, Aubrey Piper becomes a fixture in the household, a show-off to the end. If he were to reform, he would probably do so in Act 47 or thereabouts.

The show-off is flamboyant, bragging, ingratiating, carefree, exaggerating, and good natured, a person who overestimates his own importance, considers himself versed in all knowledge, and ignores the possibility of his ever doing wrong. The exacting specifications for such a part are fulfilled admirably by Leonard Drum. His inimitable actions add much to the development of the playwright's characterization. In his own cane-swinging, hip-wiggling way, he cavorts and prances to some step halfway between a soft shoe and a chorus line's sashay. He makes himself at ease with the outlandish movements and gestures which enrich the role. Occasionally his laugh and his look betray a trace of shame, which show all the more the character of any show-off. Even his cigar smoking seems contrived by an expert to look like a beginner trying to smoke like an expert. The actor's subtleties, lending touches of pitifulness to an otherwise ridiculous person, are welcome.

At odds with the character of the show-off is that of Mrs. Fisher. She is a pessimistic soul, not intentionally, because she has seen all this stuff about young love before, and she knows what usually comes of it. Her remarks come in an I-told-you-so vein, but she can quickly discard these to lend some motherly affection, usually smothering it in her preoccupation about running the household, however. This character probably has the best lines in the play, and it is through her that much of the humor and much fo the show-off's personality come into focus. They would focus only hazily without Helen Camp's acting. At different times she is weary, sarcastic, vehement, sympathetic and coldly challenging. (Her "Listen, boy" lines are priceless.) She chatters expertly, and moves as if a lifetime of domestic burdens clings to her. Her deadpan humor, becoming almost cynical at the play's end, is delightful in its delivery.

Suzanne Oglesby as Amy performs well, especially in the sad scenes, then her acting is poignant, and in laughing at Piper, when her mirth bubbles out joyously, filling the house.

D. G. Buckles, complete with accent, plays the quiet father so well that his understandable outburst of temper, notwithstanding the words, is startling. Playing Joe, Robert Morris has a bit of woodenness in his speeches, but is good at portraying reflective youthfulness. Clara, acted with precision and completeness by Bonnie Barton, is a warmed-over, uninteresting person, a sort of catch-all for surplus traits the author couldn't give to anyone else.

The bit parts are sharply drawn and smartly carried through, with Tom Calkins serving as Clara's pensive husband, Frank Hyland; Myron Herrick doing the gossipy Mr. Gill; and Donald Lamb, with his melodious, radio-trained voice, making the perfect suave insurance adjuster. The overall performance leaves no doubt that Director Gene Yell pulls the whole thing together.—George Henry Hanst.

County Campfire Program Scheduled

A county-wide campfire program has been arranged for all four-H clubs of the county and will be held on Wednesday evening, July 18, at 8 o'clock, at the Western Maryland 4-H center near Bittinger.

All club members of the county have been divided into eleven Indian tribes as follows: Bittinger boys and girls, Cayuga; North Glade boys and girls, Cherokee; McHenry boys and Accident girls, Huron; Asher Glade boys, Oneida; Grantsville senior boys, Seneca; Sunnyside boys, Delaware; Corunna boys and girls, Crees; Loch Lynn girls, Creeks; Ryans Glade boys and girls, Mohawk; Monte Vista girls, Chocataw; Chicasaw boys and girls, Chicasaw.

Leaders planned that those attending will assemble at the flag pole by the dining hall and move, as a group, to the campfire site.

The leader or head of the campfire council circle is known as the "O Chief." Clubs are to sit together as tribes with each tribe having a chief. Rules of the campfire are to be observed which include the following: Everyone remains silent until the fire is lit by the fire tender. The "O Chief" then asks for rules of the campfire circle. Following the rules the song leader will lead group singing. After this the circle is open for stunts, challenges, skits and songs from the various tribes.

Dr. Friend plans to equip his office to treat fractures, impactions, and other types of oral surgery. He will open his office again on Tuesday, July 17.

His wife and two children, who had accompanied him to Louisville, have returned also and are reoccupying their home at the Deep Creek village.

Take Thine Own Measure

With the mounting mercury of election year fever, the voters are importuned to support conflicting political tickets. What yardstick should be used, they ask? Quite often the test of a political administration does not lie in comparing benefits given to particular groups in our population. It does not lie in sweeping conclusions from bits and pieces of data. The true test is found in the general effect the administration has on the national interest and the well-being of the people as a whole.

The barometers of national well-being are not difficult to find. Does the nation enjoy peace? Is the nation secure from external danger? Is individual freedom preserved? Is the nation prosperous? Is there plenty of work at fair wages for all willing and able to work? Is the government operated economically and free from corruption? It is in the answers to these questions that the true measures of well-being in a nation are indicated.

Few events are more important to the "average man"—the people as a whole—than war and peace. When a nation goes to war, it is the rank and file of people who pay the heaviest price. Their sons do the fighting and compose the biggest list of dead and wounded. They and their succeeding generations pay the astronomical cost in money. They suffer the shortages and privations of wartime economy. The nation suffers a tremendous loss in resources, many irreplaceable forever. The life of the nation is deeply upset and its troubles continue long after the last shot is fired.

While no political party can be absolutely charged with blame if the nation becomes involved in war, the diplomacy and the foreign policy of a particular administration have a great bearing on the course of the future. With a nation as powerful as the United States, the influence of its diplomacy and foreign relations—in an electrified atmosphere of changing conditions—also has a strong bearing on whether the world generally remains at peace or sinks into war.

In the view of the Chairman of the British Conservative Party from 1946-1955, after an exhaustive survey, emotion more than any other single factor sways the voter. He says: "People ask themselves which is the party that will give the least disturbance to the ordinary way of life. Which will prevent unemployment, which will give security for children, for health, for savings? Which will give government that won't disturb domestic lives and will occasionally act as Santa Claus?"

A. B. C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE

Married June 23 at Accident

Miss Joanna Elizabeth Glotfelty, daughter of Mrs. Lena Glotfelty, of Accident, became the bride of Donald Charles Ringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ringer, also of Accident, on Saturday afternoon, June 23. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 2:30 o'clock in St. John's Lutheran Church with the Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor, officiating.

Bouquets of mock orange blossoms, peonies, mountain laurel, white carnations and larkspur, together with lighted candles, decorated the altar.

George Bowser, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Owen Bach, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was attired in a ballerina length star lace gown, ruffled over slipper satin, with tight bodice and short jacket topping the gown. Her finger tip veil, edged in Chantilly lace, was adorned with beads and sequins and attached to a royal crown. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid to which was attached a shower of white satin ribbons caught with clusters of white lilies.

Miss Dorothy Ringer, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length nylon gown of light aqua tulle. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Reed Richter, cousin of the groom, was best man. Wayne Collier and Emerson Frazee were ushers.

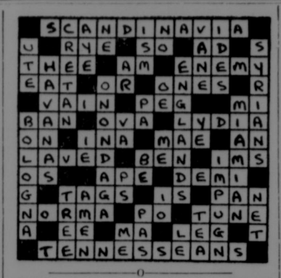
Mrs. Lena Glotfelty, mother of the bride, was attired in a beige dacron dress with white accessories. A corsage of white carnations completed her costume. Mrs. Ringer, mother of the groom, wore a pink nylon afternoon gown with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Accident Fire hall. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. The cake was baked, decorated and served by Mrs. Edwin Richter. Mrs. Ross Speicher served the punch, assisted by Miss Kathleen Rush, Miss Iva Kathryn Speicher, Mrs. Herbert Ringer and Mrs. Walter Bowman.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High school, class of 1953. The groom is also a graduate of Northern High school, class of 1954.

For traveling the bride wore a pink shantung dress with pink accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls the young couple will reside on the farm north of town, recently purchased by the groom.



It Runs Through My Mind

BY POLLY J. HANST

Words to Think About

Miss Dorothy Emerson, state 4-H club leader, rolled out a sentence at the workshop she conducted here this spring that's good enough for a famous quotation.

She said, "You can't love what you would like to have until you have loved what you have."

Then in some other generation a man by the name of McIntosh wrote or said a sentence that is a sure tonic for a case of the dumps or self-pity. There's been a lot of times I've needed it.

"Be satisfied with what you have, but not with what you are."

There's Still a Challenge

Our son was leaning against the kitchen door reading aloud an article in Time about this wonderful future that seems to be sticking its head above the horizon. It's full of new inventions and know-how for easy living.

Equipment that will sort, wash, iron and fold laundry. Something else that will scrub and polish a kitchen floor in minutes. A spray for foods that will keep them indefinitely. A button will open and close the windows all over the house (no doubt they'll get around to a thought wave that will close them when you're away from home when a storm comes up.)

As he read on I kept thinking—isn't that lush? Taking for granted that we'll all have these expensive things (we usually do get them in time and on time).

Then the horrible thought came over me just like I was the older generation, "What in the world will we do then?" And the boy leaning against the kitchen door said enthusiastically, "Why, then we'll learn how to live together."

I'll settle for that.

The Show How

Watching young people perform is the most satisfying sport in the world—especially when they are someone else's children. That's probably why I still enjoy 4-H club work so much, for the "show-how" is important in the program. Share the fun and make your own entertainment is also highly stressed.

This week at the county demonstration day four young girls gave their first demonstration which was a foursome instead of a team. They made potato salad with each having some part to do, as cubing the potatoes, peeling and dicing the eggs, arranging the garnish, etc.

The day may come when they will give a better one but I doubt if they'll ever have any more fun. They enjoyed their own mistakes so much that their sense of humor was downright contagious and they had us all holding our funny bones.

When one of them taking a tomato said, "First I'll take the core out of this egg," they got audience response that George Gobel or the best of them would envy.

Natural, unspoiled charm—one of the choicest things in human beings—and I was feasting upon it!

From time to time I have seen the nation's top demonstrators, but if I were given the memory of just one, I would choose the quartet of young girls from Bittinger as the most perfect demonstration of them all for having a whale of a good time before an audience.

The Show-Off

Ah—that was a good play—me thinks. Good lines, good movement and good acting. I much preferred it to Hay Fever.

Always have wanted to go back stage after a play to meet the actors—yet I've felt somewhat in awe of them. This week I had the opportunity and found them to be like the rest of us at the end of the play.

Helen Camp looked tired. No wonder. The role she played had more lines than any female role in any American play, but I'm sure lines and acting were small potatoes to her in comparison to walking all evening in those high, laced, sharp toed shoes (Mary Riggs' wedding shoes).

I've worn those shoes for Hallowe'en and it's worse than ironing all day over a hot fire.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Burlin Holler, of near Oakland, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rita Louise, to Howard Neil Sweitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sweitzer, Swanton.

The open church wedding will take place on Sunday, July 22, at 9 o'clock p. m., at the Crellin Union church.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1956 and is employed at the H. P. Store in Oakland. The prospective groom is a graduate of Southern High school, class of 1954, and is employed as a telegraph operator by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robb Honored On Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mrs. Robert Harold Jones, of Atlantic City, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Bradley Jones, of Orange, N. J., entertained a small group of friends last Friday, July 6, honoring the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell Robb, of Fairmont, W. Va., upon the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The event was held at Green Gables, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Robb, at Deep Creek Lake, where the Robbs are spending the summer.

A few close friends from Fairmont, Oakland, Deep Creek Lake and surrounding sections called to extend felicitations during the afternoon. The serving table was arranged with a gold cloth cover and yellow roses were used extensively in the decorations. The golden motif was carried out in all the appointments. The party was held on the porches and gardens of the summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Hoyt Jones, Cleveland, O., parents of Eben Bradley Jones, joined the family group for the celebration. There were four generations represented, Mr. and Mrs. Robb, their daughter, Mrs. R. Harold (Ann Estelle) Jones, her daughter, Mrs. E. B. (Ann) Jones and baby daughter, Susan Robb Jones, aged 8 months.

The marriage of Louise Potter, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roland William Potter, and Charles C. Robb, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Laing Robb, of Wheeling, took place in Fairmont July 6, 1906, in the home of the bride, with the Rev. Dr. Herman Stoetzer officiating.

Mr. Robb was engaged in business in Fairmont many years and retired in the late years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robb have been prominent in church, social, club and community affairs in Fairmont in the passing years and have legions of friends there and elsewhere.

street near the Third street corner. It agreed to remove a parking meter on Liberty street, near the corner of Second and to substitute a sign limiting parking to fifteen minutes for loading and unloading. It granted a permit to Ralph Hess, Jr., to place two underground gasoline tanks, 3000 gallons capacity, at the Leighton Brothers and Ray Teets garages; gave permission to Emroy Bolden to erect a dwelling 26 by 40, in the Davis addition to the town at a cost of $10,000; gave permission to Harman's Shoe Shop to hang a sign above the sidewalk on Alder street.

Bolden also sought water and sewer service but it was pointed out a survey was needed first for the health department.

The C. and A. Gas company sought permission to lay 1,250 feet of 8-inch pipe, 1210 feet of 6-inch pipe and 400 feet of 4-inch pipe from Fourth and Center streets, to extend north on Fourth to Pennington, west on Pennington to Proctor, southwest on Proctor to Center; and also to bore across Fourth and Second streets to install 40 feet of 10-inch casing on each street for the new 8-inch line, for the betterment of service to Oakland customers.

The permission was refused until the manager consulted Robert Maroney, chairman of the street committee.

Receipts for the month totaled $13,106.91, including $138.45 from water, $5,268.63 from taxes and $7,699.83 from miscellaneous. In the latter were $4,665.57 for traders' licenses, $748.75 from parking meters, $745 from beer licenses and $1,150 for electric bond and coupons.

Expenditures amounted to $14,076.45 which included $775 for police, $1,597.57 for water supplies, $1,236.49 for street labor, $579.97 for street supplies, $606.05 for state accident fund, $1,275 for electric bond and coupons, and $4,972.56 for the Garrett County Roads department.

To Attend Convention

Members of the Oakland congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses are planning to attend one of forty conventions outlined for the summer throughout the United States, Canada and Britain. They will attend one scheduled for Pittsburgh, Pa., July 19 to 22, at Forbes Field.

More than 15,000 are expected for the occasion. Mr. Weber said members in the Pittsburgh area are trying to find enough rooms in private homes to meet the demand of the delegates who will be attending from thirteen states. Purpose of the convention is to train all of the witnesses in the most practical use of the Bible.

Most of the ones from this area will be traveling by automobile to the convention, although a few would go by bus and train. A weekly program of the group is held at Kingdom hall in Loch Lynn Heights.

maintenance supervisor, with present sedan delivery to be traded in; renewed bus contract of Mrs. Cora Glotfelty for another five years; accepted the deed for another lot adjacent to Kitzmiller school as gift from Kitzmiller Lions club; voted an increase of $5 per month for all full-time custodians who have been in service for one year or more, and an increase of $10 per month for two regular maintenance men.

Mr. Hawkins reported an ample budget of about $24,000 had been provided for textbook and instructional materials for the coming school year and that most of the materials needed had been ordered for September 1 delivery.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Peggy Haines as secretary to the superintendent, and approved recommendations of the superintendent for reorganization of the office staff. No one is to be employed to replace Mrs. Haines. Miss Lucille Tasker becomes the secretary to the Superintendent and Mrs. Margaret McComas is office coordinator.

George McLaughlin, certified public accountant, was retained to make the annual school board audit.

Mr. Hawkins said he was planning, along with Miss Kathryn Speicher, Northern High, and Mrs. Bessie Price, Southern High, to attend the annual meeting of the Associated Public School Systems, to be held at Columbia university in New York the first week in August.

Rules and regulations for the use of county school buildings are to be discussed by the board at the next regular meeting in August.

Rotarians Are Entertained By Summer Theatre Actors

Members of the Oakland Rotary club had a sampling of the talent currently producing plays at the Summer Theatre at McHenry.

Among those on hand last Friday to present their novelty numbers were Bonnie Barton, Donnie Welch and Leonard Drum. Gene Yell, director of the Summer Theatre, gave a short talk, explaining to the Rotarians that the capacity of the theatre had been increased and that the group was presenting eight plays this year instead of six.

He also revealed that attendance had steadily improved as the season progressed last year and that they were able to pay all bills but were without profit from their first year's work. He told the Rotarians he hoped for an increase in attendance this year.

The price per play remains the same as last year. Rotarians are planning to have a theatre night soon when all members and their Rotary Anns will attend one of the plays in a group.

The camps will remain open until August 24.

Camp Paradise on Deep Creek Lake, for boys, ages six to seventeen, under direction of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Register, of Clinton, N. C., is also open for the summer season. The camp is located between Glendale bridge and Paradise Point.

New Park Area Is Being Prepared

Garrett county's new state park is now in the early construction stage, it was announced this week.

The area, which will cover from 1,200 to 1,500 acres, will be known as Deep Creek State Park and is located along the lake front between Meadow Mountain run and Cherry Creek inlet, opposite Cabin lodge, and was acquired last year from the lands of Fulcher P. Smith.

Crews employed by the Maryland State Department of Forests and Parks have been working at the site for about a month and have been clearing the area for parking facilities.

The Board of County Commissioners last week let a contract for construction of an access road which will be about seven-tenths of a mile long.

Improvements to the land will cost about $62,000. Some of the facilities will be completed by the end of this summer and the entire park is expected to be ready for use by next summer.

Lumber for picnic tables has been ordered and should be received soon. Some 100 picnic tables and 50 fireplaces are to be built. An acre of ground has been cleared in preparation for a comfort station and tile field work soon will get under way.

A self-service bathhouse is expected to be constructed soon. There will be two parking areas at the site and a contract has been awarded for grading the areas.

Funds are available to clean up the beach for swimmers. The work is to be done this fall when the water level of the lake drops. Provisions also are to be made for hiking, swimming, boating and picnicking, as well as tent camping.

This is the first state park to be established in the county, although there are three recreation areas, New Germany, Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor.

Mt. Lake Park Is Eliminated From State Highway Map

The residents of Mt. Lake Park are very unhappy. The name of their town has been omitted from the 1956 Maryland official highway map, and they are wondering why.

Property Owners of Lake Have Meeting

Problems of importance to Deep Creek Lake property owners were discussed at the semi-annual meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners association, held Sunday, July 1, at the former Arden Boat club at McHenry. Gene Yell, director of the Summer Playhouse, offered the club house as a meeting place.

Law enforcement on the lake was discussed by Joseph Minke, game warden for the State Game and Fish commission, while Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, explained laws governing placement of wells and sewage in the lake area.

An organization to improve safety factors in regard to the use of small boats, known as the United States Power Squadron, was discussed, and a number of those interested registered to attend a school for improvement of boating conditions, to be held at the cottage of Ralph Marshall, on Paradise Point.

There was a moment of silence honoring the memory of members who had died during the year. One of those honored was the late Santo Bonadio, oldest member of the group, who passed away early this spring.

The annual meeting will be held in September at which time officers and directors will be named. Present officers include Mrs. Gomer Gibson, president; Dr. F. C. Robinson, secretary; first district directors, F. J. Coogan, Dr. W. B. Mehring, R. J. Bush, Dr. F. C. Robinson, Miss Patricia Locke; second district, Dr. T. G. Bennett, E. W. Corrin, W. F. Mahon, George W. Meyer, W. S Wysong; third district, Mrs. Gomer Gibson, Dr. T. G. Chattaway, F. C. Clayter, Ralph B. Marshall, M. G. Thompson.

In a letter to the State Roads Commissioner by J. Gordon Mealy, many of the good things about Mt. Lake Park are pointed out.

A copy of the letter is published below:

Mountain Lake Park, Md.
July 7, 1956

Mr. Norman M. Pritchett,
Chief Engineer,
Maryland State Roads Commission,
Traffic Division,
Guilford Avenue,
Baltimore, Maryland.

Dear Mr. Pritchett:

I have just been presented with the 1956 Maryland official highway map, which naturally I am very proud of, because I have lived in Maryland practically all of my life.

I have lived in Mountain Lake Park since 1945 and this is the first time I have ever known any Maryland highway map to be issued without "Mountain Lake Park" being listed in the above mentioned official map, as well as any map issued by commercial concerns.

Mountain Lake Park is incorporated, with a governing body elected by the city residents. The city has a Civic Club, Library, Boy Scout Club, Post Office, many good streets, natural gas wells, and all utilities, as well as the Mountain Lake Hotel being operated by very efficient management. Our city also has a population comparable to any other Garrett County city, and has number 135 and 560 state highways transversing our streets.

I, and many of the Mountain Lake Park residents, are wondering why you decided our city unworthy of being listed on this Official Map, the results of which make us very unhappy.

Sincerely yours,
J. Gordon Mealy.

HOLD TIGHT!

Ever find yourself caught out in the middle of a storm with your umbrella blowing itself inside out?

There you are, clinging like mad to that frail bit of cloth and metal . . . and you realize that if the wind gets one whit stronger your "protection" is going to blow right out of your hands.

Fortunately, it doesn't hurt to get wet, so losing your umbrella wouldn't be much of a tragedy. But when you're caught in one of the other types of storms life deals out . . . a storm that buffets at your inner sense of security . . . or your idea of right or wrong . . . a storm that tries to undermine your marriage, or your career . . . or a storm of sickness or strife . . . then it's a very different matter.

How fortunate that in those more difficult moments, you don't have to rely upon something as flimsy as an umbrella. How fortunate that you can turn to the Church and find in it solace, protection, courage, and the faith to keep going. You will find that the Church is a shelter that will always protect you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Savior of Men

Lesson for July 15, 1956

THE Bible does not say that Jesus saves men from hell. It does say that he saves men from their sins. This is much more important; for suppose a man were saved from hell but not from his sins? Perverted by sin, such a man would carry his own hell with him even through the gates of heaven. Christ is the Saviour of men here and now, not in the future alone, but in the living present. In the Bible the word "save" means, first of all, to rescue. Christ as Saviour comes to the rescue of men who are chained and beaten, men who are the victims of their worst selves, bondsmen of the devil. Your worst self hates your best self. Left alone, your best self has a very slim chance, if any. You need to be rescued from yourself, and Christ is the rescuer every man needs.

Dr. Foreman

Sin-bearer

How does Christ rescue men? The Bible suggests, and the church echoes, many answers. Let us look at three. Christ rescues men by taking their sins on himself. As a modern Christian writer (Hordern) puts it, he "took the rap" for mankind. As St. Paul put it, "He who knew no sin was made to be sin, for us . . ." In a long-ago battle for Swiss independence, the story is that one of the front-line soldiers seized as many of the enemy's spears as he could gather in his arms, and forced himself on them, thus making by his death a gap through which his fellow-soldiers poured to victory. In North Carolina, when the United States government was about to punish the Cherokee Indians for an alleged crime, their chief Junaluska offered to give his own life if the government would let his people go. So he was killed, and his people went free. These are imperfect illustrations of what Jesus Christ did as sin-bearer, as self-giving Sacrifice. He "tasted death for every one." That does not have to be done twice.

Example

Another way in which Christ saves is by just being himself. Once there was a school-room in which the small boys and girls seemed to learn a courtesy, a graciousness of manner, which children in other rooms did not learn. Some one who wondered how the teacher did it, and who knew how hard it is to teach some children even the ABC's or of politeness, asked one of the boys how the teacher did it. "She don't teach us at all," the small boy said. "She just walks around, and we feel as polite as anything." A well-known "Spiritual" sings, "I want to be like Jesus, in my heart." Jesus saves men from their sins by so inspiring them that they know there is nothing better than to be like Him. If you are learning to play the piano, you don't learn best by listening to poor pianos poorly played. You learn by listening to a master-pianist, a real artist. Now there is an easy way of misunderstanding this matter of Jesus saving us by his example: it is to suppose that we must every day compare him with ourselves, keeping (so to speak) a chart on which our "spiritual progress" is charted every day—20% like Jesus in 1955, 25% in 1956, and so on. That is absolutely the wrong way to do it; all you become is a Pharisee. The right way is to keep our mind fixed on Christ, so to love him in sincere earnest, that we shall grow more and more like him, one may say almost without knowing it. True saints are not self-conscious.

Unseen Guest

Once Jesus invited himself to dinner at the house of a very shady character named Zacchaeus. After dinner Jesus said, "Salvation has come to this house," and we know that Zacchaeus began to be a different man from that afternoon. In the last book of the New Testament a picture is drawn of Christ standing outside a closed door. "If any one hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in . . ." So Christ saves men by being their permanent unseen Guest, by being the Inner Companion whose very presence is a saving power. Christ is Saviour, not alone by what he does for men, but by what he does in men. Being "saved" is more than knowing or believing; being saved is becoming, by his invitation, host to the Lord of all.

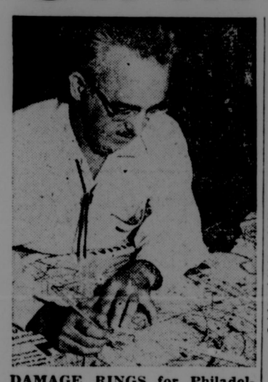
FACTS AND FIGURES on "casualties" and "damage" to target areas have been fed into an electronic computer such as this for Operation Alert 1956 to get a lightning-quick picture of the bomb-damage assessments in the 76 target areas throughout the nation. Evaluated data from target areas goes by wire to the operations room at FCDA Headquarters. (U S Air Force Photo)

On the Alert, 1956



DAMAGE RINGS for Philadelphia-Camden "blast" are plotted during last year's Operation Alert, just as they will be this year, in concentric rings from the point the bomb hits. In addition to simulated bomb "casualties" in the 1956 Alert, the Civil Defense directors will seek to minimize fallout "casualties" by swift shelter commands on the basis of predicted and monitored fallout patterns. (Battle Creek Enquirer and News Photo)

Nationwide Test To Be July 20-26

For seven days in July, Operation Alert 1956 will confront civil defense planning with the type of problems that would arise out of a mass nuclear attack on the U. S.

THE THIRD ANNUAL training exercise, scheduled for July 20-26, will enact on a nationwide stage some of the civil defense measures which would be taken if this nation were suddenly attacked by bombers and submarines capable of wiping out millions of persons and dozens of cities in a day.

Plans call for 76 cities, air bases and Atomic Energy Commission installations to be hit by 125 mythical nuclear bombs. These would include 39 hydrogen bombs rated as high as 5 million tons of TNT equivalent each.

More than 30 Federal agencies will cooperate by evacuating key employees and operating from emergency sites. Coordinated by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, State and local CD organizations will carry out training exercises as if the attack were real.

JUNIOR SPACEMAN and Davy Crockett were among the two-thirds of the population of Bangor, Maine, which took part in a test evacuation during Operation Alert 1955. The test was typical of the ways local communities are expected by the Federal Civil Defense Administration to tie in their local civil defense training with Operation Alert 1956. THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

A Question of Level

As the November election draws closer the character of the Democratic campaign against President Eisenhower becomes increasingly clear. The poverty of real issues is driving those who oppose him to unprecedented extremes in the discussion of his health, to really vicious denunciation of Vice-President Nixon and a general disregard of the facts.

To be fair about it, this strategy did not originate with the Democratic National Committee, though the committee has embraced it with considerable enthusiasm. Certainly it helps cover up the intellectual bankruptcy of the Democratic management and gives it a "line" when none existed. Actually the sponsors of this lowgrade program are composed of the small but widely read group of New Deal-Fair Deal columnists and commentators. They were all Roosevelt worshipers, Truman partisans and leftish in their slant. There are many persons opposed to Mr. Eisenhower in the country but this group seems the only one which genuinely harbors hate toward him.

It is this group that accuses his doctors of politics when they agreed there was no physical or mental reason he should not continue as a candidate. It was they who originated the phrase "part-time President," and who discuss him as though he were a feeble-minded child whose "close advisers," for their own evil and selfish purposes, are keeping him misinformed. All of which, of course, is ridiculous. The distressing thing about this to the Eisenhower enemies is that the more bitter they become and the more they bleat about the President's health, the stronger the President seems with the people—as shown by the Gallup polls since his operation, by the reaction of the Democratic governors at Atlantic City and in other ways.

Leaving discussion about this special group of anti-Eisenhower publicists and taking up the attacks from individuals, it is unpleasant to report that one of the most inexcusable recently came from Senator William Fulbright, of Arkansas. Senator Fulbright is one of the outstanding members of the Senate. His integrity is beyond question, as is his intelligence. He is a friend and supporter of Mr. Adlai Stevenson and is recognized as a man of culture, character and courage. All of which makes it more disappointing to those who expect such a man to keep his campaigning on a high level, devoid of phony statements and unfounded charges.

Yet a short time ago Senator Fulbright in a Senate speech assailed Mr. Eisenhower for the "cancellation" of the visit here of Indian Prime Minister Nehru and called the postponement of the conference between them a "deliberate snub". He also used the word "tragic" in this connection, and in an alarmed voice referred to the "cancellation" as a shocking setback to our international relations." Now, certainly Senator Fulbright knows better than this. Certainly, this is the sort of thing he ought to leave to Chairman Paul Butler and his less scrupulous journalistic friends. This is the sort of distortion which Mr. Fulbright out to be above. It is distressing to find he is not.

It is hard to believe that Senator Fulbright did not know that Mr. Nehru, and not the President, initiated the exchange of messages that led to the postponement of the conference and that it was prompted by his thoughtfulness concerning the President's condition. His note was not only courteous but cordial, and the President's reply was warm and friendly, extending a new "urgent invitation" for a meeting in the near future and expressing his grateful thanks for the thoughtfulness of Mr. Nehru; also declared he was "looking forward eagerly" to the visit of Mr. Nehru in the near future. How anyone could interpret this exchange as a "deliberate snub" is hard to understand. To speak of it as a "shocking setback to our international relations" seems an absurd exaggeration. It is on a level with the alleged effort of the "staff" of the Republican Policy Committee to intimate that the Communist influence is in favor of the Democrats—an idea promptly repudiated by leading Republican senators.

No signs of indignation about this so-called "shocking setback" were evinced by other Stevenson supporters who appeared willing to let Senator Fulbright have all the credit for his discovery, nor was there any evidence of excitement among either the politicians or the public. The only effect seemed to be regret among some of Mr. Fulbright's friends that he had made such intemperate charges with so much finality and so little foundation. Of course, the question was asked that if this sort of attack could come from Mr. Fulbright, unquestionably one of the best of those supporting Mr. Stevenson, what can be expected from the Mitchells, the Butlers, the Reuthers, and, for that matter, the good Adlai himself when the campaign is really on?

Benson Salutes 16-Year-Old Winner Of Contest To Grow Canning Crops

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson honored William Rockefeller, a 16-year-old Phelps, New York, farm boy, by awarding him a special plaque for his outstanding achievement in winning the first canning crops contest. William grew over 40 tons of beets on two acres of land, more than twice the yield his father produced on similar ground, and sold his crop to a cannery at a profit of over $1000. The contest, jointly organized by the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association and the National Canners Association, was the first in an annual series of such competitions designed to interest young people in farming and the particular needs of the canning industry.

The plaque was presented at the National Canners Association convention in Atlantic City, where Secretary Benson gave a brief address, praising William for his successful work and expressing his approval of the contest and its purpose. William followed up with a speech of his own in which he explained the methods he used in growing the beets. He worked carefully and scientifically at every stage of the project and got all the helpful advice he could from his local Future Farmers of America chapter, of which he is president, as well as from his high-school agriculture teacher and his father.

The 1955 contest was a pilot program in seven states, but in 1956 the canning crops contest will be national and cover every state where canning crops are grown. All boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 21 may participate without belonging to any organization or paying any fee. When they enter the contest, they receive automatic membership in NJVGA and may get guidance with their crop raising and marketing from FFA or 4-H if they belong to either of these groups. High school agriculture teachers, local 4-H leaders or NJVGA headquarters (103 French Hall, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Mass.) will distribute entry blanks on request. As for prizes, there will be not only a national winner, but winners on the state and regional level, too. William Rockefeller says he hopes to win another award this year, but it looks as if he'll have plenty of competition.

Rotary Takes Game In Pony League

Bill Stemple won his sixth game of the season without a loss Monday as Rotary club launched its second half campaign in the Oakland Pony League with a 5-2 victory over the Woodmen.

Stemple yielded one hit, a single by Sam Glotfelty, opposing pitcher, fanned five and issued nine passes. Glotfelty yielded only two blows, one a double by Malone, whiffed 13 and walked three.

In the second game of the twin bill the Moose trimmed the Country club by the score of 8 to 2 behind the three-hit twirling of Wayne Callis, who struck out seven and gave up seven passes. Callis also belted a two-run homer and single while Dick Stuck had three singles. Sanders, Devers and Browning accounted for the losers' three safeties.

THE AMERICAN WAY

BY GEORGE PECK

WAYNE AND GRACIE

On August 4, 1955, the Federal Power Commission authorized the Idaho Power Company to proceed with the building of three power dams on the Snake River. That should have settled the matter, but not for Wayne and Gracie.

The FPC had been confronted with two proposals:

(1) A Federal proposal to build just one huge hydro-electric dam on the Snake River on the border of Idaho and Oregon, at a cost of $465 million to the taxpayers of the U.S.A.

(2) A proposal of the Idaho Power Company to build three smaller dams on the Snake River with private capital and at no cost to the taxpayers of the U.S.A.

As aforesaid, the FPC ruled in favor of power development on the Snake River by the investor-owned Idaho Power Company, over the Federal proposal to develop that power with public funds. And again as aforesaid, this should have settled matters, but didn't. The public power zealots refused to accept the FPC decision. Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Representative Gracie Pfost of Idaho have introduced bills to cast aside the award to the Idaho Power Company and have the Federal Government take over the job. This despite the fact that Idaho Power has been working on the project for over seven months.

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce sees politics as the only reason for the drive in Congress to replace the private construction of Hells Canyon with a Federal project. In its release of June 25, 1956, it points out:

"If the Federal Hells Canyon project should be authorized and started, however, the private development would, for practical purposes, have to be stopped. Moreover, the millions of dollars spent and the work done to date (by Idaho Power) would be wasted because the Federal project would be located at a different site than the first dam under the company's plan. There is the probability, too, that the taxpayers would have to bear this loss since the company (Idaho Power) is proceeding under a duly authorized Federal license."

In its release the Council states that account should be taken of certain facts:

(1) FPC's granting the license to Idaho Power Co. was no hurried action. It was made after lengthy hearings and study and after both opponents and proponents of private power had been heard.

(2) There is very little difference in the power producing capacity of the company's three dams and the proposed single Federal dam—the former 767,000 kilowatts as compared to 785,000 kilowatts for the Federal dam. The Federal project would cost a quarter billion dollars more than the Idaho Power Co. project.

(3) The FPC found that other benefits, such as flood control, navigation and recreation, "could be effectuated to about the same extent under either the private or Federal plan of development." The Commission noted, however, that under private development these benefits "will be realized without expense to the U.S.A."

(4) The Commission concluded that the private company's three dam project "is best adapted to a comprehensive plan" for developing the Snake River in the Hells Canyon area. It also stated its judgment that "The United States itself should not undertake the development of the water resources of the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake River."

Anyone who reads my column regularly knows that I am definitely opposed as a matter of fundamental principle to electric power development by any arm of government, be it Federal, State or Municipal. But boiling this Hells Canyon business down to how the pocketbooks of my fellow Floridians and me will be adversely affected if the Idaho Power Co. award is thrown into the ashcan, I'm up in arms. If the award is turned over to the Federal Government, it will cost us taxpayers of the State of Florida, $8,234,460 to provide electric energy to the citizens of Idaho and Oregon.

Now, much as I love the good people who live in Idaho and Oregon, I am not enthusiastic about the prospect of paying part of their electric bills. I have a hunch that citizens of the other 45 states and many even in Idaho and Oregon feel the same as I about this proposal to saddle further politician's power on the nation. To anyone who may care to inquire, I'll be happy to tell him how much Federal power development on the Snake River will cost the taxpayers of his State.

Meanwhile, I respectfully suggest that you write your Congressman and two U. S. Senators to tell Senator Morse and Representative Pfost to go "fly a kite" with their un-American, unrealistic and unfair proposal to further socialize our American economy.

Camden Ramsburg, Jr., and Ingebord Ramsburg, his wife, 115 3rd. Street, Frederick, Maryland; James Taney and Carrie Taney, his wife, 212 High Street, Salem, Virginia; Frances H. James, 3724 Tudor Arms Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland; William J. Hollifield, 2109 Garrison Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland; James Hollifield, Address unknown.
No. 4651 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure the passage of a decree for the sale of the real estate of Wilson L. Camden, late of Garrett County, Maryland, deceased, situate in the Town of Mountain Lake Park, Election District No. 16, Garrett County, Maryland, and for a distribution of the proceeds arising therefrom among the creditors of the said Wilson L. Camden.

The bill states:

That the said Wilson L. Camden was, during his lifetime, seized and possessed of Lots Nos. 1301, 1305, 1307 and 1303 and also one triangular Lot on the West side of O Street, all in Mountain Lake Park, improved by a two-story frame dwelling, and being the same which was conveyed to Mary M. Camden, wife of Wilson L. Camden, by deed from DeWarren H. Reynolds and wife, dated June 28, 1912, recorded in Liber E. Z. T. No. 67, folio 127, the said Mary M. Camden having died intestate on November 23, 1941 and the said Wilson L. Camden having inherited a one-third interest in said land as surviving spouse, the remaining two-thirds interest the said Wilson L. Camden having acquired by deed from Paul Murkland et al., the remaining heirs of Mary M. Camden, dated September 7, 1950, and recorded in Liber R. L. D. 161, folio 556, all references being to the Land Records of Garrett County; certified copies of both deeds are filed with the Bill; that while so seized and possessed of said real estate, the said Wilson L. Camden died on April 24, 1955, intestate, leaving surviving him as his only next of kin and heirs-at-law, five first cousins once removed, they being Camden Ramsburg, Jr., of 115 3rd. Street, Frederick, Maryland, whose wife is Ingebord Ramsburg; James Taney of 212 High Street, Salem, Virginia, whose wife is Carrie Taney; Samuel F. Hollifield, who has since departed this life, leaving as his only heir-at-law, his daughter, Frances H. James, widow, 3724 Tudor Arms Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland; William J. Hollifield, widower, 2109 Garrison Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland, and James Hollifield, whose last known address is Baltimore, Maryland, and whose present whereabouts and marital status are unknown; that all of said defendants are of full age; that Wilson L. Camden left a personal estate in the amount of $749.42 which amount, after payment of expenses of administration and inheritance taxes was sufficient to pay the complainant only $261.22 out of the total amount of his claim for services, $690.10, and is likewise insufficient to pay the claims for past due real estate taxes, medical and nursing services rendered the decedent as well as other creditors; that a certified copy of the "First and Final Accounting" and a copy of the "Passed Claims Docket" in the Estate of Wilson L. Camden, Orphans' Court for Garrett County, Estate No. 3073, is filed with said Bill.

The Bill then prays for a decree for the sale of said real estate for the payment of the claim of the complainant and the other unsatisfied creditors of Wilson L. Camden and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 3rd day of July, 1956, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by having a copy of this order inserted in some newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 3rd day of August, 1956, give notice to the said absent defendants, Camden Ramsburg, Jr., and Ingebord Ramsburg, his wife, James Taney and Carrie Taney, his wife, Frances H. James, William J. Hollifield, James Hollifield and the heirs of Wilson L. Camden, warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 18th day of August, 1956, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

County Commissioners Of Garrett County, Maryland

SALE OF $500,000.00 GARRETT COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOL BONDS OF 1956

DATED AUGUST 1, 1956

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, at their office in the Court House, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, until 11:00 o'clock A. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on

TUESDAY, JULY 17, 1956

for the purchase of Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00) aggregate par value serial maturity coupon bonds known as "Garrett County Public School Bonds of 1956."

At 11:05 o'clock A. M., E.D.S.T., on said date, said sealed bids will be publicly opened by said County Commissioners of Garrett County in their office as above, and said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder, for cash.

Said bonds will all be dated August 1, 1956. The issue will consist of five hundred (500) bonds, numbered consecutively from No. 1 to No. 500 inclusive, each of the par value of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), total $500,000.00, and the bonds shall bear interest at the rate or rates fixed in the accepted bid, as hereinafter provided, said interest to be payable semi-annually on February 1 and August 1 in each year, accounting from the date of the bonds until their respective maturities, in accordance with interest coupons to be attached thereto. Said bonds will mature and be payable over a period of twenty-four years from date of issue, in the order of their consecutive numbers, in twenty (20) equal annual serial installments of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) par amount each on August 1st in each of the years 1960 to and including 1979.

Said bonds are issued pursuant to the authority of Chapter 11 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at its March Session in the year 1956, and in accordance with proper proceedings duly had and taken by the County Commissioners of Garrett County.

Both the principal and interest of the bonds will be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the time of payment, at The First National Bank of Baltimore, Baltimore, Maryland.

The bonds will be issued subject to registration as to principal only at the office of the Treasurer of Garrett County, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, Registrar.

The proceeds of the sale of these bonds are to be used exclusively for school purposes in Garrett County, as set forth in the Enabling Act and in a Resolution duly adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and to pay the costs incident to the issuance of the bonds, and for no other purpose.

Bidders are requested to specify with their bids the rate or rates of interest to be paid on the bonds, on which rate or rates their bids are based and submitted. Said rate or rates of interest shall not exceed the annual rate of three per centum (3%) fixed by statute and must be in multiples of one-eighth or one-tenth of one per cent. Bidders may specify more than one rate of interest to be borne by the bonds, but may not specify more than one interest rate for the bonds of any one maturity. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder naming the lowest rate or combined rates of interest named in any legally acceptable proposal and offering to pay not less than 97 and accrued interest for the bonds. As between bidders naming the same rate or rates of interest, the proposal of the bidder offering to pay the largest price will be accepted. Where the bids of two or more bidders are identical in all respects, the bonds will be apportioned equally between all of such bidders, but if this shall prove unacceptable to the County Commissioners, then said Board may, in its discretion, determine to which of said bidders the bonds will be awarded. The lowest rate or rates of interest will be determined on the basis of the lowest interest cost to the County of the bonds so issued, from the date of their issue to the last date of maturity of any of said bonds, by adding the dollar amount of interest payable on each bond to maturity under any proposal and (a) adding to the total thereof the amount of any discount below par in the bid price, or (b) deducting from the total thereof the amount of the premium offered to be paid for said bonds in any such proposal.

The right is reserved to the County Commissioners of Garrett County to reject any or all bids. In the event any question arises as to the regularity of any bid, or its conformity to the terms of the advertisement, the decision of the County Commissioners shall be final and shall bind all interested parties.

Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to "County Commissioners of Garrett County, Court House, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland," and marked on the outside, "Proposal for Garrett County Public School Bonds of 1956," and must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of "Treasurer of Garrett County Maryland," for $10,000.00, to secure the county against any loss resulting from the failure of the particular bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the deposit. Checks deposited by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them when the bonds are awarded to the successful bidder.

Accrued interest will be adjusted to the date of the delivery of the bonds and payment therefor.

These bonds are issued upon the full faith and credit of the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and said full faith and credit is irrevocably pledged to the payment of the maturing principal and interest of said bonds.

Under the provisions of the Enabling Act and resolutions duly passed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, provision is made for the levy of an annual ad valorem tax on all assessable property in Garrett County, sufficient in rate and amount to pay the principal and interest on said bonds as they respectively become due and payable. In addition to the proceeds of said ad valorem taxes, there will also be available for the payment of principal and interest on the bonds the sums to be received annually by the Board of Education of Garrett County from the State of Maryland under the School Construction Incentive Fund Plan established by Chapter 1 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at its February Session in the year 1956, which sums said Board of Education has agreed to remit to the County to the extent that they may be required for the payment of the principal and interest on the bonds, on condition that they be pledged to and applied on account of such payment.

Under existing laws, these bonds are exempt from State, County and Municipal taxation in the State of Maryland.

The bonds will be delivered to the purchaser within a reasonable time after the sale thereof, at the office of the County Commissioners of Garrett County in Oakland, Maryland, or at any incorporated bank or trust company in the City of Baltimore, Maryland, without expense to the purchaser. If the purchaser shall specify any other place of delivery, such delivery shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

The legality of this issue of bonds will be approved by Niles, Barton, Yost & Dankmeyer, Esqs., attorneys-at-law, Baltimore, Maryland, and W. Dwight Stover, Esq., attorney for the County Commissioners of Garrett County, and the Approving Opinion of these attorneys, together with a no-litigation certificate dated as of the date of the delivery of the bonds, and the other usual supporting papers, will be delivered upon request to the purchaser of the bonds without charge.

Garrett County consists of approximately six hundred and sixty-eight square miles of territory and has a population of approximately twenty-two thousand. The assessed valuation of property for purposes of taxation for the 1956 tax year is $31,057,861.00. The net outstanding bonded debt of the County, exclusive of the present issue, but including indebtedness due the State of Maryland for school construction purposes, is $1,746,432.94. The County has never defaulted on any debt. If further details are necessary, they will be furnished upon communicating with the Clerk to the County Commissioners, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

The Little Youghiogheny Watershed Project, which is so important to Garrett County, has been approved by the Department of Agriculture. The project plan is in its final stages. With Committee approval of legislation cutting the waiting time from 45 days to 15, there is no reason why the Project cannot be finally approved before Congress adjourns.

Congress has approved an increase in the overall ceiling for small flood control projects which the Army Corps of Engineers is authorized to initiate and complete without specific Congressional approval. The amendment raises the ceiling from its present $3,000,000 to $10,000,000. Total cost permitted for individual projects has also been raised from $150,000 to $400,000.

The flood control project on Bear Creek at Friendsville is to be constructed as a part of the small flood control projects by the Army Engineers. Rapid progress is being made on approval by the Corps of Engineers for this flood prevention work. The total cost is estimated to be $50,000, well under the limits of the amended Flood Control Act. A plea of insufficient funds by the Engineers is no longer an obstacle to this worthwhile project.

Various bills to revamp the federal retirement program are now before Congressional committees. Each has its own merits and my hope is that an acceptable bill will be worked out and reported to the floor for consideration by the members of the House and Senate. But I would like to call attention again to the fact that bills now being considered do not include increases in annuities for the federal worker who has already retired. I believe the Congress will fail its duty if it does not bring the incomes of these retired individuals more in line with the current cost of living.

On My Calendar: Mrs. Hyde and I will attend the annual Carrollton Manor picnic on Wednesday, July 18. I also plan to attend the Montgomery County Real Estate Board's Seventh Annual Summer Outing at the Manor Country Club on July 19 after the House has adjourned for the day.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

"Except in time of war or during a national emergency proclaimed by the President," the Senate and the House of Representatives must adjourn each year by the last day of July, according to the Legislative Reorganization Act.

Most of my colleagues on Capitol Hill agree that the present session will probably end prior to that legal deadline, but recently I made a routine inquiry to see what procedure would be followed if important business did detain the present Congress until August.

The answer was: "None."

National Emergency

The reason, I was reminded, is that our country is still officially in a state of "national emergency" proclaimed in 1950 by Mr. Truman, who was President at the time.

Even under ordinary circumstances, the time limit which was imposed on Congressional sessions by the Legislative Reorganization measure of 1946 could be extended by the mere passage of a resolution by both Houses.

Speaking of adjournment, it is also interesting to note that in case of disagreement between the two Houses as to a time, the Constitution authorizes the President to "adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper."

No President has ever exercised this power, and there is some question as to whether it might not apply solely to special sessions which he himself called.

Precautionary Measure

The condition of "national emergency" which I mentioned in connection with this discussion on adjournment should not be confused in any way with a state of war.

Under an emergency proclamation such as the one which has been in effect since the Korean conflict, a great many provisions of law are automatically kept in force to permit the Government to take necessary action promptly.

The condition has been maintained as a precautionary, stand-by measure.

Gallery Passes

One last word, now, about adjournment.

Many Marylanders have told me that they would like to see a debate or discussion on the Senate floor.

Since the 84th Congress is now in the process of winding up its business, anyone who wishes to visit the Senate while it is in session should do so within the next week or two.

Passes permitting visitors to enter the Senate gallery are available in my office—Room 443, Senate Office Building. We will be glad to have you drop in to pick them up.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 80. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JULY 19, 1956. PER COPY, 8c. NUMBER 21.

Fundamentally Sound . .

Garrett county is fundamentally sound. This was demonstrated Tuesday when bonding companies made two favorable bids for the purchase of $500,000 in school bonds being offered for sale by the County Commissioners. Both bids were very close and persons with a thorough knowledge of financial matters declared both bids were very good and felt the county should feel encouraged over the matter.

Our bonded indebtedness is held within proper bounds, even with this additional half million dollars added to the total, and does not run more than seven percent on the assessable base. Bonding company representatives said the price quoted for the bonds was excellent, showing that the companies had faith in the integrity of the county.

Under the present plan the entire bond issue of $500,000 will be liquidated from funds provided by the state through an additional incentive fund for schools so that there will be no additional burden upon the taxpayers insofar as their county tax rate is concerned.

Along with this knowledge it is nice to know that the financial world is aware that Garrett county is a good risk—that its integrity is unquestioned—that its reliability is assured.

Garrett county's economy is fairly constant and steady. We have had our ups and downs in coal. There are ghost towns here. But what property value was lost in these ghost towns has been more than made up in property on Deep Creek Lake. Our agriculture remains fairly even, with new possibilities in cold weather crops. All typs of farming are being given increasing attention. Our lumber is somewhat depleted but with care this industry could be regained with proper planting through the years. Our assessable basis is rising from year to year.

Garrett county's value as a recreation and resort area is becoming more widely known each year. The lake has brought astounding resort development, and there just isn't any argument that our climate is unsurpassed. (Kindly disregard the unusual rainfall which is pretty general over a wide area this year.) So let's continue to boost our county. It's a good place in which to be alive.

Pennsylvanians To Operate Local Ford Dealership

Mason Glotfelty Sells Business To Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc.

Mason J. Glotfelty, Ford dealer in Oakland for the past twenty-ine years, has sold his business to the Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., effective July 25, it was announced this week.

Principals in the new dealership are Harold S. Bierer, formerly of Point Marion, Pa.; and Willis T. Shaffer, formerly of Indiana, Pa., both experienced business men. Mr. Bierer has been a Ford dealer and farm equipment dealer in Point Marion for a number of years, while Mr. Shaffer was service manager for a dealership in Indiana.

The sale included his Ford automobile, Ford truck and Ford farm equipment business, presently located on Third street, near the corner of Green.

For eighteen years the local business was operated under the trade name of Reckard and Glotfelty, and for the past three years Mr. Glotfelty has operated the business by himself. Prior to coming to Oakland Mr. Glotfelty spent ten years as a salesman for Jim Evans at Terra Alta. For several years the company was also Gulf gasoline and oil distributor and for several years had the Allis-Chalmers dealership. The company added the Ford Tractor and Equipment business on January 1, 1950.

The Ford garage has had only two locations in Oakland. The first was at the corner of Oak and Third streets, and in 1949 the concern moved into the present location on Third street, which consisted of a modern garage building 82 by 147 feet.

In an advertisement in today's issue Mr. Glotfelty makes his formal announcement giving July 25 as the effective date of the change. His future plans are uncertain at present. Mr. Glotfelty has been an active member of the Oakland Rotary club and the Methodist church during his business years in Oakland.

Turkey Growers Plan 3rd Annual Festival

A turkey dinner is to be served with all the trimmings, and tickets are being limited to 700, it was stated.

Tickets are available from members and also at Broadwater store, Fratz store, Accident; Arnold Fox, Friendsville; Casselman Motor Co., Stewart Stahl, Grantsville; Hoyes Community store, Hoyes; Clover Farm store, McHenry; Oakland Pharmacy, Acorn Associates, Oakland; Buckel's store, Bittinger.

Adult tickets cost $1.50, children, 75 cents.

Entertainment again will be furnished by the Bittinger Mountainaires, an instrumental trio.

Joint Chiefs of Staff said manpower needs now can be cut because of introduction of new weapons.

Additional Teachers Named

CATHERINE J. HARRIS

WILLIAM UMBEL

Two additional teachers were named recently for Garrett county schools. They are Mrs. Catherine J. Harris and William K. Umbel.

Mrs. Harris, a recent graduate of Frostburg State Teachers college, has accepted the position as first grade teacher in Crellin. Mrs. Harris was the former Catherine Shertzer and was recently married to Francis Harris, who will be the new principal of the Loch Lynn school. Mr. Harris taught last year at Northern High school. Mrs. Harris will replace Miss Joan Patterson who resigned in June to get married.

Mr. Umbel, of Markleysburg, will begin his teaching career in mathematics at Northern High school when school opens in September. He is a graduate of Uniontown High school and has his Bachelor's degree from West Virginia university. Mr. Umbel majored in mathematics and engineering, and while graduating in 1951, just decided this year to enter the teaching profession. He will replace Charles Bennett who was transferred to the mathematics department at Southern High school.

Dick Travis Will Be Football Coach At Southern High

Will Replace Coach James DeMoss, Who Will Go To Montgomery County

Richard Travis, of Aurora, W. Va., was employed this week by the Board of Education as the new football coach at Southern High school to succeed James DeMoss, who resigned to accept a teaching position in Montgomery county, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Travis formerly taught and coached in Garrett county schools before returning to his home community of Aurora about four years ago. He is a graduate of Fairmont State and received his M.A. degree from the University of West Virginia. In addition to his coaching duties at Southern High, Mr. Travis will teach eighth grade mathematics.

Albert Ringer will become the senior high school math teacher to replace Mr. DeMoss.

Travis played football at Potomac State college but after one year at that institution left for military service where he spent three years in the European theatre. Travis played football while in the service and upon his return to civilian life played one year of semi-pro football in Connecticut for the Fairfield Lions. He later entered Fairmont State Teachers college but was not eligible for college football.

Travis faces a difficult job at Southern in completely rebuilding the team since all but a few players from last year were in the June graduating class. He has indicated he will start a junior varsity program as well as a varsity team and said he hopes to have at least sixty boys from all high school grade levels for the opening practice. The first call for practice for the nine-game 1956 season will be on August 15.

In his task of preparing the team for the coming season Travis will be assisted by Carlton Hogue and Carl Schoonover.

Advance Entries Indicate Superior Tennis Tourney

Advance entries in the Mt. Lake Park's annual tennis tournament have indicated that the Mt. Lake Park Tennis club's 35th Western Maryland Championships will be the best in fifteen years, it was announced this week by officials.

A long list of entries was announced. Phillip Neff, defending champion, is returning, as is Fred McNair, runner up last year and No. 2 player in the Middle Atlantic section. Charles Channing, one of last year's players and McNair are the present Middle Atlantic doubles titleholders.

Henry Barclay, winner of the Western Maryland championship several years ago, will be on hand to play in the doubles event with Alex Keiles, while Buddy Adair and Doyle Royal will form another doubles team.

Al Lujack, brother of Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame fame, will be among the players. Lujack is president of the Touchdown club of Washington.

Among the other entries are Larry Middlecamp, Henry Foss of the Columbia Country club; Hugh Lynch, Washington; Frank Harty, a ranking Middle Atlantic player; Ralph Whittaker, both of Richmond; Johnny Harris, University of Michigan tennis team; Robert Burgess, Hyattsville; Louis Altmark, New York City; Ronald Ryan, Wheeling, W. Va.; Dave and DeWitt Miller, Hagerstown; Glenn Workman, Jr., and John D. Fox, Keyser; Fred Wright, Jr., and Fred Wright, III, of Hagerstown.

The social committee has arranged a number of events for the week, chief among them being the annual Tennis dance which will be held at the Mt. Lake Hotel on Saturday, August 4. Johnny Costa and his orchestra, of Pittsburgh, well known in television circles, will furnish the music. There will be an open house at the Allegheny House on Wednesday, with a party at the Oakland Country club and a corn roast also scheduled during the week.

Drawings will be made on Monday evening with the first matches scheduled to get underway on Tuesday morning.

The annual Mt. Lake tourney is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis association, which is observing its 75th anniversary this year.

Custody of Child Given to Mother

The custody of a daughter of Charles L. Paugh and the former Bessie L. Paugh, was given to the mother, now Mrs. Edgar Powell, of Buffalo, N. Y., following a hearing in the Circuit Court here on July 16, before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

The child had expressed a desire to the court that she be permitted to live with her mother.

The child formerly was in custody of the father, who is unemployed at present.

There were two petitions filed in the case, one November 11, 1953, and one June 4, 1956. Both petitions said the child was being neglected. An answer to the petitions denied the allegations.

Judge Fraley's decision was rendered on July 16th.

Vandals Are Busy

Vandals were busy during the week at two widely separated spots. They destroyed property at the Little League baseball park on Saturday night, punching holes in the siding of the refreshment stand and breaking into the soft drink cooler.

At the Garrett County Playhouse at McHenry vandals also entered the building there, moved the loud speaker from its accustomed place, stole some theatre masks that were on display in the lobby, attempted unsuccessfully to force open the soft drink cooler and put other property in disarray.

Guards to Camp

Members of the Oakland National Guard unit are planning to leave next Saturday, July 28, for Indiantown Gap, Pa., for their annual fifteen-day encampment.

Plan To Develop Home Industries Is Inaugurated

Farm Women To Establish Market To Operate For Five Saturdays

The Rural Development Committee for Garrett county is instituting a plan to develop home industries here which they hope will result in many farm people being "in the dough" literally as well as figuratively.

This committee, at a meeting last Thursday, developed the idea of a rural women's market, to be conducted for five Saturdays, beginning, Saturday, August 4, at which time they would offer for sale fresh, canned or preserved goods, possibly frosted fruits and vegetables, meats, poultry, eggs, crafts and other ready-to-eat foods such as cakes, pies and bread. The final Saturday would be September 1.

The market is to be located at McHenry in the Bowman Boat barn, along route 219, and women from all over the county may sell their produce there.

Women who are interested in participating in this project may contact any committee woman in her area. Prices are to be set by the committee which will be determined by surveys and posted in the building.

Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, said the project was being tried at this time to determine the amount of interest shown by farm women of the county in selling, and measuring the response of those desiring to purchase. The project will be continued in the future, if sufficient interest is shown, she said.

Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, McHenry, is chairman of the committee. Members of the committee are Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, Friendsville, co-chairman; Miss Marie Bowman, McHenry; Mrs. Cecil Bittinger, Mrs. Harold Bittinger, Oakland; Mrs. Leslie Guard, Friendsville; Miss Ida V. Engle, Mrs. Guy Stanton, Grantsville.

In addition to a report of progress made by the Rural Women's Market committee, other business was discussed at the meeting last Thursday. William Wildesen gave a report of the Dairy committee. He said the Dairy committee would continue to collect data and information on dairy markets and when completed the information would be published in a report.

Attending the session were Mrs. Harold Bittinger, Mrs. Cecil Bittinger, Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Miss Marie Bowman, Mrs. George Coddington, Ross Crowe, John Carter, H. Robert DeWitt, Miss Grove, Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, Mrs. George Hanst, Miss Ida Engle, Lowell Loomis, Miss Johanna Magaha, John Magruler, Mrs. Clark Schlossnagle, and William Wildesen.

The next meeting of the committee will be held Thursday, August 9, at 8 o'clock, at the Extension office.

My Three Angels Is Forthcoming Play

"My Three Angels" will be the fourth play to be offered by the summer theatre players at the Garrett County Playhouse at the former Arden Boat club at McHenry. This will be presented next Tuesday through Saturday, July 24 to 28.

Starring in this production will be Tom Calkins, Leonard Drum, Bob Morris, Helen Page Camp, Suzanne Oglesby, Bonnie Barton and Myron Herrick, while local actors participating will be Aza Stanton and Don Lamb.

The play concerns the activities of three convicts from a penal colony on French Guiana, in trying to make life easier for a store operator whose business has not been very profitable.

The play, "An Inspector Calls," will be repeated tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday night. This play brought a change of pace to the playhouse. Gene Yell, director, said the ingenuity of the plot of J. B. Priestly, the author, and the deftness of his characterizations, offer a challenge to the understanding and skill of the actor.

On exhibition in the lobby this week are a number of bedspreads which were produced by Mrs. Noah Zook, Misses Annie, Grace and Freda Lichty, of the Gortner community.

Attendance during the second week's show totaled 514.

IN THE DOUGH—Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, McHenry, chairman of Rural Women's Market committee of the Rural Development Program, works with a batch of dough, illustrating how she will prepare for the home industries project being inaugurated whjch she hopes will result in many farm people being "in the dough" literally as well as figuratively. Mrs. Glotfelty heads the group of women preparing to conduct a rural market at McHenry starting Saturday, August 4, and continuing for five Saturdays.

County Will Use Paper Ballots

The County will use paper ballots for the General Election in November, it was decreed by the Board of Supervisors of Elections at a meeting held last Friday afternoon.

The law passed at the 1955 session of the legislature stipulated that voting machines would be used throughout the state of Maryland by the general election of 1956, unless unusual circumstances existed.

At last Friday's meeting, the Board of Election Supervisors stated that "unusual circumstances did exist," and said that paper ballots would be used.

The board also extended credentials to election judges and clerks for the balance of a two-year term. They had formerly just been certified to take care of the primary election.

The Board of Supervisors approved a bill of $100 filed by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., for services as attorney.

Hospital Board Is Reorganized

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Board of County Commissioners, was elected chairman of the Garrett County Memorial hospital board of directors, at a reorganization meeting of that group on Monday evening. He succeeds A. G. Gortner.

Miss Irene Sharpe was appointed secretary and E. Ray Jones was appointed attorney to the board. Mr. Swartzentruber named the following committees:

Executive: H. D. Swartzentruber, chairman; Virgil T. Steyer, Hubert Friend, J. Edward Helbig and Aubrey Brenneman.

Finance: Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, chairman; A. G. Gortner, Dr. James Feaster, Hubert Friend.

Building and Grounds: Mrs. E. Z. Tower, chairman; Aubrey Brenneman, Ervin Roth, J. Edward Helbig, Virgil Steyer.

Professional: J. Edward Helbig, chairman; Mrs. William Ritchey, A. G. Gortner, Hubert Friend.

Joint Conference: Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, chairman, Dr. James A. Feaster, A. G. Gortner, J. Edward Helbig.

Mrs. Ritchey was recently appointed to the board taking the place of Mrs. Walter Campbell. J. Edward Helbig was named by the Garrett National Bank to replace Floyd Leighton. The First National Bank renamed A. G. Gortner as its representative on the board.

Two Pretty Days

The county experienced two pretty days again this week—but not in succession. Sunday was fair and warm, as was Wednesday but in between those times there was rain and more rain. Rain also fell early this morning. Tuesday was cloudy with some prospects of clearing up. The sun shone for a brief period—and it rained again.

County Receipts Show Increase In Estimated Revenue

Garrett county's receipts of estimated revenue for the first six months of 1956 are showing a surplus over and above receipts for a similar period of 1955, according to a statement of receipts and disbursements of county funds made this week by the County Commissioners. The figures do not include money received from the county tax rate.

All categories except the state forestry department and magistrates fines show an increase.

Receipts from income tax show on increase of $15,104.13, franchise tax, $75 over; recordation tax, $456.16 over; beer tax, $5,996.62 over; license fees, $6,698 over; alcoholic beverage licenses, $341.75 over; traders' licenses, $394.15 over; marriage fees, $240 over; miscellaneous income, $1,422.15 over; state's share of assessor's salary, $993.75 over; motor vehicle fines, $438 over, for a total of $31,224.57 over the amount received for six months of 1955.

A tabulation in today's newspaper shows estimated receipts for 1956 and actual receipts for the first six months of the year. It also shows among the disbursements how much was estimated to be spent in each category of the levy, and the balance of funds still available in those categories.

H. D. Swartzentruber, president of the Commissioners, said a report of the County Roads department would appear in print next week.

Two Men Enlist

James E. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Martin; and Richard James Pike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Pike, both of Crellin, enlisted in the U.S. Marine corps for a period of two years on July 12. They were transferred to Parris Island, South Carolina, for ten weeks of basic training, according to Staff Sergeant S. K. Branson, Marine recruiter.

Sgt. Branson also announced there were unlimited openings for two, three and four-year tours in the Marine corps. A Marine recruiter will be in Oakland each Tuesday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

School Bonds Sold Tuesday At Favorable Figure

County Commissioners Will Receive $492,600 For School Building

The County Commissioners on Tuesday morning authorized the sale of $500,000 of public school bonds of 1956, to the low bidders, Alex Brown and Sons, John C. Legg and company, Robert Garrett and Sons and Mead, Miller and company. Two bids were received by the Commissioners, and according to persons connected with banking and finance, both bids were considered excellent ones. The other bid was received from the Mercantile Safe Deposit and Trust company, Baker-Watts and company, and Stein Brothers and Boyce.

The bid for the entire issue of $500,000 was for $98.52 and accrued interest for each $100.

A resolution calling for acceptance of the bid was passed unanimously by the Commissioners after the motion first was made by Aubrey C. Brenneman and seconded by Ervin A. Roth.

The cost to the county will run 3.029 percent in the over-all picture. The bonds were discounted at a figure of 1.48 which had to be added to the interest cost in determining the low bid.

Bonds in the amount of $75,000, due from 1960 to 1962, will bear interest at the rate of 2½ percent. Bonds in the amount of $150,000, due from 1963 to 1968, will bear interest at the rate of 2¾ percent. Bonds in the amount of $275,000, due from 1969 to 1979, will bear interest at the rate of 3 percent. The law prevented the interest rate from being more than 3 percent. There will be payment upon the principal until 1960.

The county will receive, according to the bid figures, $492,600, from the sale of the bonds. Costs of advertising for bids, attorneys' fees, cost of printing the bonds and other incidental expenses will come out of the total amount received. Both bidders sent certified checks for $10,000. The check of the unsuccessful bidder will be returned.

Money to pay the principal and interest will be available through an incentive fund received annually from the state which will amount to around $46,000. This is the result of a law passed at the last session of the Maryland legislature.

The money obtained will be used to provide two new elementary school buildings, one at Oakland and one along U. S. route 40, near Long Stretch. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, announced last week that the architect had promised to have plans completed and ready for bids by August 15, and that the Board of Education planned to have both buildings under contract by October 1.

New Industry Begun

A new industry has begun in Garrett County, although on a small scale. Thus far only one additional person has been employed, but there are possibilities for expansion.

The industry is the production of dairy and hog feed, produced under the label of the Grange Supply Center, of Mt. Lake Park, operated by W. Blair Simmons.

Formulas used in the preparation have been approved and tested by the Ralston Purina company. The dairy formula already is registered with the State of Maryland and the hog formula is in the process of being registered, as required by law.

Good local grains are to be used in the process, it was stated. Mr. Simmons said that already several tons of the feed had been produced and that he has stated that his product can be sold at a less price than feed on the market at present. The tests show that the feed is equal in quality to those now on the market, he said.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

The Past, Present and Future

This issue of "Tableland Trails" by Felix Robinson takes us back into the past history of our county. It shows us the mode of life of our pioneer settlers here, a life far removed from some of us today. However, it has many lessons to teach us, and we should be grateful to Mr. Robinson for the tremendous amount of research he has made to publish such a fine magazine.

There was a sturdiness, a strength about the older generation we need to hold fast to in ours. Life for them was not easy. They did not expect it to be, yet I am sure they must have found their toils rewarding. The labors of their hands brought them a sense of satisfaction, a feeling of achievement. We need to know these same satisfactions of work with our hands, of tasks accomplished, of work well done.

In my own thinking, I would like to evaluate some of the tremendous changes that have occurred in our county in the last fifty years. Since I have lived all of my life in this county, except 10 years in Pennsylvania, I am really a native.

In this year 1956, we look at our county. We have better roads, better schools, better hospital facilities, better clothes, more conveniences in our homes and better modes of travel and communication than our parents.

These are surface things, and they do represent change and great progress to be sure. They never quite show the whole picture, though.

Let's look at our county government. Have we more honest men in office today than we had fifty years ago? Do we have more people participating in our local affairs? Do we have more people unselfishly wanting to promote the public welfare? Do we have a greater understanding and appreciation of democratic processes? These are the real and genuine signs of progress and growth, in my opinion.

In our communities do we have more cooperation or less? Have we forgotten how to be a good neighbor?

In our work for others do we strive to do it honestly and well? Or do we think only of the amount of pay we are getting? These are the real signs of progress.

There are our public schools. Beautiful and useful, they serve a fine purpose. Yet, are our boys and girls learning to live together as well as we who have formed life long friendships in our little one room schools? I heard a girl from a senior class some years ago make the remark that her class could not get along with each other long enough to have a school play. I realize that was an extreme situation, yet there are times when some of the things I have seen and heard make me wonder if it is all progress. I am not proclaiming a return to the so-called "Good old days," but I am only wondering if some of our progress is just on the surface. Only as we honestly ask ourselves these questions can we make that progress real and genuine.

I take a look at myself. I have had more advantages of education than my mother, thanks to her far sighted labors and unselfishness. I have had some college training, some experience in teaching, belonged to many and varied clubs and had leadership training in various lines of work. Yet, I have not always been sure, with all of this, that I have become the excellent mother and homemaker that my mother was. I am sure I have not always had her unselfish devotion, her wisdom, her ability in making a fine home. So, as I look at others, it has not been all progress for me, either. I have much growing yet to do.

We drive a better car than my father ever owned. Yet, I am not sure that my own children have learned a very valuable lesson my father taught to me. Some years I spent with him in a mining town in Pennsylvania. We had no car at that time, and on Sunday mornings he and I walked several miles to church. He taught me that going to church was not a casual thing, but something extremely important; that the worship of God was as important to my life and well-being as the food I ate daily. How many other important things he taught me: That honesty is not only something you talk about, but something you live every day of your life, in thought, word and deed. He probably never read a book on child training, but he was the best father I have ever seen.

How many of our fathers are teaching their boys and girls these valuable lessons, lessons they will carry through life with them? Or do they look upon their children as tiresome responsibilities, to be shod for an evening spent in some local tavern? Only they can honestly answer these questions.

My life here in Garrett county has been good and rewarding, and happy. I would like for my children and all people to find it the same. But, when I look at myself, I am sure the past and those who lived in it can teach me many things I have not yet learned. They can do the same for you.

Only the newest version of Dynaflow gives completely smooth, swift acceleration — even at the first gas-saving inch of pedal pressure.

Trying is believing—this new 1956 Dynaflow is years ahead of any other transmission. And it's just one of the great new features that you're missing if you're still driving an older car.

So why wait for your present car to become another year older—and considerably less valuable as trade-in—when you can take advantage of today's prices? And enjoy a car so excitingly new?

Just look at Buick's new styling. "Massive" and "grace" are words that seem almost contradictory. But they're beautifully combined in these newest Buicks. And in a classic way that will still look fresh for years to come.

Just try the newest Buick ride. It's the steadiest yet. Based on deep-coil springs, deep-oil-cushioned shock absorbers, torque-tube drive, and a long list of new developments not even Buick has ever had before.

To get a softer, more buoyant ride than this, you'd have to repeal the laws of gravity.

And to say that this is a great time to buy a Buick is really an understatement. Come see the sensible, down-to-earth prices of Buick's tremendous range of models. Come hear the deal we can give you.

It's our deal—for your pleasure. Come draw up a chair—we're ready whenever you are.

Current Economic Conditions Reviewed

Current economic conditions in Garrett county were given the "once over" by a Baltimore Sun staff correspondent, Ernest B. Furgurson, last week and were related in two articles appearing in that paper Sunday and Monday.

The writer in one article gave a picture of the county's ghost towns and what still goes on in those areas, and in the second article stressed farming and recreation.

Less than one in ten of the houses in Vindex is lived in, with more than one of the houses sprouting a television antenna. Other ghost towns listed were Kempton and Shallmar. The writer described Kempton as a rotting town marked by a half-mile long scar of waste coal, with ducks honking in big mud puddles between piles of dust.

The second article was more optimistic with facts on the improvement in farming and recreation and the expanding promotion of the latter in the county. He tells of plans to develop the area as a winter resort to boost the economy the year around instead of just in the summer.

Dairy farming was listed as the county's number one agricultural industry, followed by live stock and poultry farming, beef, sheep and turkeys, then general and vegetable farming.

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1956

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

At 16 of the 25 national conventions which have been held by the Republican Party, presidential candidates were selected on the first formal ballot.

It seems certain that Mr. Eisenhower's renomination in San Francisco next month will boost the score to 17.

In anticipation of participating in the convention as one of Maryland's representatives on the Resolutions Committee, I thumbed through a history of past GOP assemblies and found some interesting facts.

First-Ballot Repeaters

The records show, for instance, that four Republican nominees for the presidency received first-ballot nomination twice—Ulysses S. Grant, in 1868 and 1872; William McKinley, 1896 and 1900; William Howard Taft, in 1908 and 1912, and Herbert Hoover, in 1928 and 1932.

On the other hand, it was not until the thirty-sixth ballot of the 1880 convention that James A. Garfield, who hadn't received a single vote on the first roll call, was chosen as the GOP standard-bearer. The selection of Garfield broke a two-day deadlock between former President Grant and James G. Blaine, of Maine.

Baltimore Convention

Most of the sessions at which Republicans have picked their national candidates have been held in Chicago, but in 1864 the host city was Baltimore.

Thirty-one states, including eight Southern States, were represented at the convention, and Abraham Lincoln was nominated for reelection on the first ballot.

The choice of the delegates for Vice President was Andrew Johnson.

Short but Enthusiastic

The GOP conclave in Baltimore lasted only two days, but it was reported that "its work was done amid the greatest enthusiasm."

One account of the opening session described the activities as follows:

"A splendid band, from Fort McHenry, animated the crowded (Front Street) theatre with national airs, and the assemblage was graced by the presence of many ladies, who were accommodated in one of the tiers of boxes.

"Major-General Lew Wallace, and staff, the Hon. John Lee Chapman, Mayor of the city, officers of the Army and Navy, and many other distinguished guests were spectators of the proceedings."

SWALLOW FALLS

Mr. and Mrs. Verlyn Carr, McHenry, visited Mrs. Daisy Savage on Saturday.

Callis Family Reunion

The Callis family reunion will be held Sunday, August 19, in Spoerlein's Grove at Accident, it was announced by Charles B. Callis, president, Cumberland.

All branches of Callis, Marriott, Bullough and Potter families and friends are invited.

The Play Reviewed

Some plays have such a profound message and such consistent characters that the actors merely fill rigidly defined parts and are carried along by the force of the play. And so it is with "An Inspector Calls," this week's Garrett County Playhouse presentation. Author J. B. Priestly poses, and answers, a thought-provoking question: How much should each of us be humanely and personally concerned about our fellow men. At times he sermonizes it, but he skillfully obscures any dryness by sprinkling fate, mystery, romance, family life, and tragedy in marvelous abundance.

This by no means waters down the plot, but enriches it. Industrialist Arthur Birling and family are celebrating the engagement of their daughter Sheila to Gerald Croft, of distinguished lineage, when an Inspector Goole calls, asking questions about a girl who has committed suicide. From there the plot takes unexpected twists and turns, baffling ones at that, and any explanation or rehashing only kills the enjoyment of those who haven't seen the play, and bores those who have. Much in the manner of "Dangerous Corner," Priestly can fasten your attention to one idea, then wrench it away almost at once. The process jiggles loose some unused thoughts about "fellowmen" and about canny playwrights, and is altogether invigorating. As the Inspector relentlessly digs for the truth, members of the family line up either for or against him as he tries to make them discover their real selves and their responsibilities to mankind. Quite apart from the plot, the play assumes the meaning of a Christian allegory.

The cast performs with considerable teamwork in this play, and each member seems to be doing his utmost. As a result, all the portrayals are highly commendable. D. G. Buckles plays the Inspector, penetrating, hardened, and righteously indignant; Tom Calkins, the father, blustering, worldly, and outspoken; Leonard Drum, the suitor, charming, changeable, and penitent; Suzanne Oglesby, the daughter, sensitive, emotional, and wise beyond her years; Bonnie Barton, the mother, imperious, haughty and scornful; Robert Morris, the son, sullen, remorseful and anguished. Indie Sue Thomasson, making only brief appearances as the maid, is creditable. To the credit of the actors, all the performances seem to blend harmoniously, giving a sense of complete naturalness and actuality, and allowing concentration on the superiority of the play itself.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

Some of the clearest, most effective writings on the danger of expanding government power has come out of England in the last 10 years, as political control over this once great nation has see-sawed from the Conservative Party to the Labor-Socialist Party and back again to a Conservative Party which well might now be labeled, "Conservative Socialist Party" since it is passively operating a nation that is pretty well socialized.

Some of the most powerful indictments of Socialism have come from writers such as Alfred Edwards and Ivor Thomas, both Labor-Socialist members of Parliament at the time the Socialists took over. As Labor-Socialist leaders they saw what State (or Government) control over the economic system did to the individual freedom and initiative of the people, and they loudly called for a "halt!" But their Party ran roughshod over them and continued to make the State the lord over all economic life in Britain.

Anthony LeJeune, member of a little band of Englishmen calling themselves "The Society for Individual Freedom," has written an article in the Society's quarterly magazine, "Freedom First," published in London. The article is entitled: "The Suffocation of Freedom."

"Individual freedom can be killed as effectively by economic suffocation as it can by the interdicts of a police state," LeJeune observes. "The combined effects of inflation, confiscatory taxes and ubiquitous 'social services' have gone a long way towards making us all (the people of England) pensioners of the State."

"As governmental activity increases, the State demands more money: as it gets more money, it becomes more powerful compared to the individual. Every time I am compelled to give the State an extra shilling, the State increases its economic power over me by two shillings—the shilling it gets and the shilling I lose. The process has been gradual and cumulative. Fifty years ago, nobody would have believed that free people would stand such a burden of taxation: but then nobody would have believed that free people would stand so much interference by the State . . . "

Holding down the growth of government is the only way any people can preserve their individual freedom. It is a lesson which I hope all Americans will learn before it is too late.

Is Your Name MILLER?

Do you know that:

Miller is one of the oldest of occupational names and has been used extensively in many countries. The miller was the owner of a grist mill and it was the name bestowed upon such a person when surnames came into vogue in about the year 1,000. It should be noted that Miller is to be distinguished from Millman which was the surname usually applied to employees of the miller. Equivalent names to Miller are Milne and Milner.

One of the earliest settlers of this country was William Miller, age 29, who sailed from the port of London to Virginia aboard the ship "George" in the year 1635.

Among the high ranking officers who served in the Continental troops during the Revolutionary War was Brigadier General Nathan Miller (1743-1790) of the Rhode Island militia.

The second court session in Garrett County was held in December 1873. Andrew Miller was one of its grand jurors and H. H. Miller served on its petit jury.

Abraham Miller was tax collector of Garrett County in the years 1876 and 1877. At about the same period W. M. Miller was a justice of the peace and John Miller was a constable.

Miller County, Arkansas is named for James Miller (1776-1851), a former governor of that state. Miller County, Missouri, is named for John Miller (1781-1846), also a former governor.

Warner Miller (1838-1918) was U. S. senator from New York.

Charles R. Miller (1857-1927) was governor of Delaware.

Charles William Emil Miller (1863 to 1934), an educator of note, was professor of Greek at Johns Hopkins University.

Bartlett T. Miller is vice-president, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, with headquarters in New York City.

Frederic Kelper Miller is president, Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pa.

James Roscoe Miller is president, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Leland Wilbur Miller is brigadier general, U.S. Air Force.

President Eisenhower resumed his White House duties July 15 after five weeks following an abdominal operation.

45 Marriage Permits Granted Past Week

Forty-five marriage licenses were issued during the past week ending Monday morning from the office of Richard L. Davis, clerk of the Circuit court. This brought the total for July thus far to 82. Seven licenses issued were marked "don't publish."

One explanation for the rather heavy marriage license business at the clerk's office is that a number of steel workers are coming to Oakland to get married while the strike is in progress. They don't want to miss any time from work once the strike is settled.

MARTIN REUNION
WILL BE HELD
SUNDAY, JULY 29
AT THE SWAN MEADOW SCHOOL HOUSE

NOTICE!

I wish to advise that I have sold my Ford Car, Truck and Farm Equipment business to Shaffer Ford Sales, Inc., effective July 25, 1956.

I also wish to thank all of my customers for the patronage they have given me over the past 21 years as your Ford Dealer in Oakland.

The principals in the new dealership are Harold S. Bierer, of Point Marion, Pa., and Willis T. Shaffer, of Indiana, Pa. Both have had experience in the Ford business and I take pleasure in recommending them as your new Ford dealers. I am sure they will live up to the fair dealing practices which I have tried to adhere to over the years. Mr. Bierer has been a Ford Dealer in Point Marion, Pa., also a farm equipment dealer for a number of years, and Mr. Shaffer has been Service Manager for a large Dealership in Indiana, Pa. This fact gives them both capabilities to give you top performance in both sales and service. I heartily recommend that you give them the same fine cooperation that you have given me over the years past.

All open accounts owing the Mason J. Glotfelty Garage are due as of August 10, 1956. All payments on notes, charge accounts, payments on cars, trucks, tractors, farm equipment and the renewal of notes may be taken care of at the same office and in the same manner as in the past. Your promptness in taking care of the above notes, accounts, etc., will be very much appreciated.

When last we saw your smiling faces
We did not think we would never meet in this life again;
But as the days go by
And so lonely it is to us,
We will never forget while this life lasts.
You all were taken without a goodbye,
In the lonely road
You all had to die;
And as God knows best
To Him we will cling
'Till this weary life is past
And we stand before the king.

Sadly missed by mother, grandmother and wife.
